PREFACE

This is the fifth edition of the Code of Laws of the District of Columbia prepared and published pursuant to Title 1 U.S. Code, section 202. This edition contains all the general and permanent laws relating to or in force in the District of Columbia, on January 9, 1967, except such laws as are of application in the District of Columbia by reason of being laws of the United States general and permanent in their nature. The Code was originally adopted as prima facie evidence of existing law. However, Part II, Judiciary and Judicial Procedure, comprising Titles 11–17, Part III, Decedents' Estates and Fiduciary Relations, comprising Titles 18–21, and Title 28, Commercial Instruments and Transactions (containing the Uniform Commercial Code), have since been enacted as law.

Many new features and improvements were incorporated in the 1940 edition, reflecting, as far as practicable, the preferences of the users of the Code who responded to a questionnaire sent out by the Committee on Revision of the Laws to several thousand attorneys and Government officers and employees within the District of Columbia. An entirely new arrangement of subject matter was adopted.

The 1940 edition was the first official Code containing the annotations of the court decisions interpreting these laws. Numerous cross references and historical notes have been added to increase the usefulness of this Code. These annotations, cross references and historical notes are brought up to the end of 1966 in this edition and will be kept current in the future annual supplements.

The work of preparing this edition was done by the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives with the assistance of the Equity Publishing Corporation under the supervision of Dr. Charles J. Zinn, law revision counsel for the Committee. Acknowledgement is also made to the numerous officials of the District and Federal governments and the members of the bench and bar of the District whose suggestions have been most helpful.

The Committee invites all criticisms and suggestions looking to the improvement of the Code.

Emanuel Celler

Chairman.

41–203. Other partners not discharged.
41–204. Partners' right of contribution.

Where a partnership is dissolved, by mutual consent or otherwise, any partner may make a separate composition or compromise with any creditor of the partnership; and such a composition or compromise shall be a full and effectual discharge to the debtor who makes the same, and to him only, of and from all and every liability to the creditor with whom the same is made, according to the terms thereof. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1414, ch. 854, § 1494.)

CROSS REFERENCE

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Negotiable instruments

It is not within the general scope of the authority of one partner to make or endorse negotiable paper in the firm name. Presbrey v. Thomas (1893, 1 App. D.C. 171).

§ 41–202. Memorandum of exoneration may be furnished—Use of memorandum in evidence or to release judgment.

Every such debtor who makes such composition or compromise may take from the creditor with whom he makes the same a note or memorandum, in writing, exonerating him from all and every individual liability incurred by reason of his connection with the partnership, which note or memorandum may be given in evidence by such debtor, in bar of such creditor's right of recovery against him; and if such liability be by judgment, then, on the production and filing with the clerk of the notes or memorandum, the clerk shall enter the judgment as released by the plaintiff as far as the compromising debtor is concerned. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1414, ch. 854, § 1495.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Discretion of commission

In public utility rate proceeding, Public Utility Commission's refusal of demand of intervening Price Administrator that thoroughgoing examination be made into rate base, rate of return, operating expenses, depreciation, and all other matters relative to establishment of fair return was not an abuse of discretion. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Byrnes (1943, 137 F. 2d 547, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 107, affirmed 64 S. Ct. 731, 321 U. S. 489, 88 L. Ed. 883).

Federal laws, scope of

The right conferred on Price Administrator to intervene in public utility rate proceeding does not include the power to compel the regulatory party to undertake a complete investigation against its better judgment or upon lines contrary to governing statute. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Byrnes (1943, 137 F. 2d 547, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 107, affirmed 64 S. Ct. 731, 321 U. S. 489, 88 L. Ed. 883).

Power to fix rates

The power to fix public utility rates is a legislative power which has been delegated by Congress to Public Utility Commission of District of Columbia, and in its exercise, within constitutional limits, discretion of commission may not be controlled even by courts. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Byrnes (1943, 137 F. 2d 547, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 107, affirmed 64 S. Ct. 731, 321 U. S. 489, 88 L. Ed. 883).

§ 41–203. Other partners not discharged.

Such compromise or composition with an individual member of a firm shall not be held to discharge the other partners, nor shall it impair the right of the creditor to proceed against such members of the partnership as have not been discharged; and the members of the partnership so proceeded against shall be permitted to set off any demand against the creditor which could have been set off had the suit been brought against all the individuals composing the firm. Nor shall the compromise or discharge of an individual member of a firm prevent the other members of the firm from availing themselves of any defense that would have been available had this title not been passed, except that they shall not set up the discharge of one individual as a discharge of the other partners, unless it appear that all were intended to be discharged; but the discharge of any such partner shall be deemed a payment to the creditor equal to the proportionate interest of the partner discharged in the partnership concern. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1414, ch. 854, § 1496.)

Such compromise or composition of a member of a firm with a creditor of such firm shall in no wise affect the right of the other partners to call on the member who makes it for his ratable proportion of any partnership debt which they may be compelled to pay. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1415, ch. 854, § 1497.)

RELATIONS OF PARTNERS TO PERSONS DEALING WITH PARTNERSHIP

§ 41–308. Partner agent of partnership as to partnership business.

(1) Every partner is an agent of the partnership for the purpose of its business, and the act of every partner, including the execution in the partnership name of any instrument, for apparently carrying on in the usual way the business of the partnership of which he is a member binds the partnership, unless the partners so acting has in fact no authority to act for the partnership in the particular matter, and the person with whom he is dealing has knowledge of the fact that he has no such authority.

(2) An act of a partner which is not apparently for the carrying on of the business of the partnership in the usual way does not bind the partnership unless authorized by the other partners.

(3) Unless authorized by the other partners or unless they have abandoned the business, one or more but less than all the partners have no authority to—

(a) assign the partnership property in trust for creditors or on the assignee's promise to pay the debts of the partnership,

(2) Where title to real property is in the name of the partnership, a conveyance executed by a partner, in his own name, passes the equitable interest of the partnership, provided the act is one within the authority of the partner under the provisions of paragraph (1) of section 41–308.

(1) When a person, by words spoken or written or by conduct, represents himself, or consents to another representing him to any one, as a partner in an existing partnership or with one or more persons not actual partners, he is liable to any such person to whom such representation has been made, who has, on the faith of such representation, given credit to the actual or apparent partnership, and if he has made such representation or consented to its being made in a public manner he is liable to such person, whether the representation has or has not been made or communicated to such person so giving credit by or with the knowledge of the apparent partner making the representation or consenting to its being made.

(a) When a partnership liability results, he is liable as though he were an actual member of the partnership.

(b) When no partnership liability results, he is liable jointly with the other persons, if any, so consenting to the contract or representation as to incur liability, otherwise separately.

(2) When a person has been thus represented to be a partner in an existing partnership, or with one or more persons not actual partners, he is an agent of the persons consenting to such representation to bind them to the same extent and in the same manner as though he were a partner in fact, with respect to persons who rely upon the representation. Where all the members of the existing partnership consent to the representation, a partnership act or obligation results; but in all other cases it is the joint act or obligation of the person acting and the persons consenting to the representation. (Sept. 27, 1962, 76 Stat. 639, Pub. L. 87–709, § 16.)

PART IV

RELATIONS OF PARTNERS TO ONE ANOTHER

§ 41–317. Rules determining rights and duties of partners.

The rights and duties of the partners in relation to the partnership shall be determined, subject to any agreement between them, by the following rules:

(a) Each partner shall be repaid his contributions, whether by way of capital or advances to the partnership property and share equally in the profits and surplus remaining after all liabilities, including those to partners, are satisfied; and must contribute toward the losses, whether of capital or otherwise, sustained by the partnership according to his share in the profits.

(b) The partnership must indemnify every partner in respect of payments made and personal liabilities reasonably incurred by him in the ordinary and proper conduct of its business or for the preservation of its business or property.

(c) A partner, who in aid of the partnership makes any payment or advance beyond the amount of capital which he agreed to contribute, shall be paid interest from the date of the payment or advance.

(d) A partner shall receive interest on the capital contributed by him only from the date when repayment should be made.

(e) All partners have equal rights in the management and conduct of the partnership business.

(f) No partner is entitled to remuneration for acting in the partnership business, except that a surviving partner is entitled to reasonable compensation for his services in winding up the partnership affairs.

(g) No person can become a member of a partnership without the consent of all the partners.

(h) Any difference arising as to ordinary matters connected with the partnership business may be decided by a majority of the partners; but no act in contravention of any agreement between the partners may be done rightfully without the consent of all the partners. (Sept. 27, 1962, 76 Stat. 639, Pub. L. 87–709, § 18.)

(1) Every partner must account to the partnership for any benefit, and hold as trustee for it any profits derived by him without the consent of the other partners from any transaction connected with the formation, conduct, or liquidation of the partnership or from any use by him of its property.

(2) This section applies also to the representatives of a deceased partner engaged in the liquidation of the affairs of the partnership as the personal representatives of the last surviving partner. (Sept. 27, 1962, 76 Stat. 640, Pub. L. 87–709, § 21.)

(b) If the right exists under the terms of any agreement,

(c) As provided by section 41–320.

(d) Whenever other circumstances render it just and reasonable. (Sept. 27, 1962, 76 Stat. 640, Pub. L. 87–709, § 22.)

PART V

PROPERTY RIGHTS OF A PARTNER

§ 41–322. Continuation of partnership beyond fixed term.

(1) When a partnership for a fixed term or particular undertaking is continued after the termination of such term or particular undertaking without any express agreement, the rights and duties of the partners remain the same as they were at such termination, so far as is consistent with a partnership at will.

(2) A continuation of the business by the partners or such of them as habitually acted therein during the term, without any settlement or liquidation of the partnership affairs, is prima facie evidence of a continuation of the partnership. (Sept. 27, 1962, 76 Stat. 640, Pub. L. 87–709, § 23.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

See note to section 41–301.

§ 41–323. Extent of property rights of a partner.

The property rights of a partner are (1) his rights in specific partnership property, (2) his interest in the partnership, and (3) his right to participate in the management. (Sept. 27, 1962, 76 Stat. 641, Pub. L. 87–709, § 24.)

§ 41–324. Nature of a partner's right in specific partnership property.

(1) A partner is coowner with his partners of specific partnership property holding as a tenant in partnership.

(2) The incidents of this tenancy are such that:

(a) A partner, subject to the provisions of this chapter and to any agreement between the partners, has an equal right with his partners to possess specific partnership property for partnership purposes; but he has no right to possess such property for any other purpose without the consent of his partners.

(b) A partner's right in specific partnership property is not assignable except in connection with the assignment of rights of all the partners in the same property.

(c) A partner's right in specific partnership property is not subject to attachment or execution, except on a claim against the partnership. When partnership property is attached for a partnership debt the partners, or any of them, or the representatives of a deceased partner, cannot claim any right under the homestead or exemption laws.

(d) On the death of a partner his right in specific partnership property vests in the surviving partner or partners, except where the deceased was the last surviving partner, when his right in such property vests in his legal representative. Such surviving partner or partners, or the legal representative of the last surviving partner, has no right to possess the partnership property for any but a partnership purpose.

(e) A partner's right in specific partnership property is not subject to dower, curtesy, or allowances to widows, heirs, or next of kin.

(Sept. 27, 1962, 76 Stat. 641, Pub. L. 87–709, § 25.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

See note to section 41–301.

§ 41–325. Nature of partner's interest in the partnership.

A partner's interest in the partnership is his share of the profits and surplus, and the same is personal property. (Sept. 27, 1962, 76 Stat. 641, Pub. L. 87–709, § 26.)

§ 41–326. Assignment of partner's interest.

(1) A conveyance by a partner of his interest in the partnership does not of itself dissolve the partnership, nor, as against the other partners in the absence of agreement, entitle the assignee, during the continuance of the partnership, to interfere in the management or administration of the partnership business or affairs, or to require any information or account of partnership transactions, or to inspect the partnership books; but it merely entitles the assignee to receive in accordance with his contract the profits to which the assigning partner would otherwise be entitled.

(2) In case of a dissolution of the partnership, the assignee is entitled to receive his assignor's interest and may require an account from the date only of the last account agreed to by all the partners. (Sept. 27, 1962, 76 Stat. 641, Pub. L. 87–709, § 27.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

§ 41–327. Partner's interest subject to charging order.

(1) On due application to a competent court by any judgment creditor of a partner, the court which entered the judgment, order, or decree, or any other court, may charge the interest of the debtor partner with payment of the unsatisfied amount of such judgment debt with interest thereon; and may then or later appoint a receiver of his share of the profits, and of any other money due or to fall due to him in respect of the partnership, and make all other orders, directions, accounts, and inquiries which the debtor partner might have made, or which the circumstances of the case may require.

(2) The interest charged may be redeemed at any time before foreclosure, or in case of a sale being directed by the court may be purchased without thereby causing a dissolution:

(a) With separate property, by any one or more of the partners, or

(b) With partnership property, by any one or more of the partners with the consent of all the partners whose interests are not so charged or sold.

(3) Nothing in this chapter shall be held to deprive a partner of his right, if any, under the exemption laws, as regards his interest in the partnership. (Sept. 27, 1962, 76 Stat. 641, Pub. L. 87–709, § 28.)

Except so far as may be necessary to wind up partnership affairs or to complete transactions begun but not then finished, dissolution terminates all authority of any partner to act for the partnership—

(1) with respect to the partners—

(2) A partner is discharged from any existing liability upon dissolution of the partnership by an agreement to that effect between himself, the partnership creditor and the person or partnership continuing the business; and such agreement may be inferred from the course of dealing between the creditor having knowledge of the dissolution and the person or partnership continuing the business.

(3) Where a person agrees to assume the existing obligations of a dissolved partnership, the partners whose obligations have been assumed shall be discharged from any liability to any creditor of the partnership who, knowing of the agreement, consents to a material alteration in the nature or time of payment of such obligations.

may have the partnership property applied to discharge its liabilities, and the surplus applied to pay in cash the net amount owing to the respective partners. But if dissolution is caused by expulsion of a partner bona fide under the partnership agreement and if the expelled partner is discharged from all partnership liabilities, either by payment or agreement under section 41–335(2), he shall receive in cash only the net amount due him from the partnership.

(2) When dissolution is caused in contravention of the partnership agreement the rights of the partners shall be as follows:

(a) Each partner who has not caused dissolution wrongfully shall have—

(I) all the rights specified in paragraph (1) of this section, and

(II) the right, as against each partner who has caused the dissolution wrongfully, to damages for breach of the agreement.

(b) The partners who have not caused the dissolution wrongfully, if they all desire to continue the business in the same name, either by themselves or jointly with others, may do so, during the agreed term for the partnership and for that purpose may possess the partnership property, provided they secure the payment by bond approved by the court, or pay to any partner who has caused the dissolution wrongfully, the value of his interest in the partnership at the dissolution, less any damages recoverable under clause (2) (a) (II) of this section, and in like manner indemnify him against all present or future partnership liabilities.

The terms of office of all successors shall expire three years after the expiration of the terms for which their predecessors were appointed; but any member appointed to fill a vacancy occurring prior to the expiration of the term for which his predecessor was appointed shall be appointed only for the unexpired term of his predecessor. The commission shall at least biennially elect a chairman by a majority vote of its members. No commissioner, other than the said Engineer Commissioner of the District of Columbia, shall, during his term of office, hold any other public office. The commissioners of the District of Columbia shall furnish the Public Service Commission with suitable offices and quarters. If any such commissioner shall voluntarily become so interested, his office shall ipso facto become vacant; and if any such commissioner shall become so interested otherwise than voluntarily he shall, within a reasonable time, divest himself of such interest, and if he fails to do so his office shall become vacant. Before entering upon the duties of his office each commissioner, the secretary of the commission, the counsel of the commission and every employee of said commission shall take and subscribe the constitutional oath of office, and shall in addition thereto make oath or affirmation before and file with the clerk of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia that he is not pecuniarily interested, voluntarily or involuntarily, directly or indirectly, in any public utility in the District of Columbia. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Utility companies

The Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia is the special agency created to perform in the first instance the relevant regulatory functions over public utility companies within its jurisdiction, and it may make orders, subject to court review, to carry out its decisions. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia v. Capital Transit Co. et al. (1954, 214 F. 2d 242, 94 U. S. App. D. C. 140).

§ 43-202. Quorum—Investigations, inquiries, may be undertaken by any Commissioner.

A majority of the commissioners shall constitute a quorum to do business, and any vacancy shall not impair the right of the remaining commissioners to exercise all the powers of the commission. Any investigation, inquiry, or hearing within the powers of the commission may be made or held by any commissioner, whose acts and orders, when approved by the commission, shall be deemed to be the order of the commission. The commission shall have power to adopt and publish rules and regulations for the administration of the provisions of chapters 1–10 of this title, including the conduct of its investigations, inquiries, hearings, and other proceedings. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 995, ch. 150, § 8, par. 97(b); Dec. 15, 1926, 44 Stat. 921, ch. 8, § 1.)

AMENDMENT

1926—Act Dec. 15, 1926, deleted "to govern its proceedings and to regulate the mode and manner of all investigations and hearings pertaining to public utilities" following the word "rules" in the last sentence, and substituted in lieu thereof "and regulations for the administration of the provisions of chapters 1–10 of this title, including the conduct of its investigations, inquiries, hearings, and other proceedings."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Administrative agency

Congress of the United States exercises exclusive legislative powers within the District of Columbia, and the Public Utilities Commission is merely an administrative agency. Patrick v. Smith (1931, 45 F. 2d 924, 60 App. D. C. 6).

Jurisdiction

Utility companies operating under public franchises and having monopolistic characteristics are subject to special regulations, and cases involving utility's operations are not governed by the ordinary rules applicable to judicial interference in the conduct of a business enterprise. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia v. Capital Transit Co. et al. (1954, 214 F. 2d 242, 94 U. S. App. D. C. 140).

Where transit company for the District of Columbia installed radio loudspeakers in its vehicles for radio broadcasts of music and commercial announcements, and on protest of passengers the Public Utilities Commission ordere an investigation and dismissed the investigation by final order which was appealed to the District Court which dismissed the petitions of the passengers on the grounds that no legal rights had been invaded, jurisdiction of the Commission and the District Court was present. Pollak et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia et al. (1951, 191 F. 2d 450, 89 U. S. App. D.C. 94, reversed on other grounds 72 S. Ct. 813, 343 U. S. 451, 96 L. Ed. 1068).

Sections 43–201 to 43–203 shall not be construed (1) to invalidate any subpœna, valuation, order, rule, regulation, or revocation, or any rescission, alteration, modification, amendment, or suspension thereof issued by the commission prior to the date on which the commissioners first appointed under section 43–201 take office; or (2) to invalidate any complaint served, or any investigation, inquiry, or hearing held or commenced, or any determination, or decision rendered by the commission prior to such date; or (3) to invalidate, abate, or discontinue any action, suit, trial, or proceeding commenced by or against such commission prior to such date. (Dec. 15. 1926, 44 Stat. 921, ch. 8, § 2.)

§ 43-204. Corporation counsel as counsel of Commission—Duties—Additional compensation—Employment of additional counsel—Enforcement of orders.

The corporation counsel of the District of Columbia shall be the general counsel of the commission and shall receive from and be paid out of the appropriations provided and to be provided for the expenses of the commission in addition to his compensation otherwise provided by law the sum of $1,000 per annum, payable in equal monthly installments. It shall be the duty of the general counsel to represent and appear for the commission in all actions and proceedings involving any question under chapters 1–10 of this title, or under or in reference to any act, order, or proceeding of the commission, and if directed to do so by the commission, to intervene, if possible, in any action or proceeding in which any such question is involved; to commence and prosecute all actions and proceedings directed or authorized by the commission, and to expedite, in every way possible, final and just determination of all such actions and proceedings; to advise the commission and each commissioner, when so requested, in regard to all matters in connection with the powers and duties of the commission and of the members thereof, and generally to perform all duties and services as attorney and counsel to the commission which the commission may reasonably require of him. The assistants to the corporation counsel shall perform such duties relating to matters arising under chapters 1–10 of this title and all other matters as the corporation counsel may prescribe. The commission may, if at any time it deems necessary, employ other attorneys at law as additional assistants to the said general counsel for the performance of such extraordinary legal services for or in behalf of the commission at such special compensation for such additional assistants as the commission may prescribe, which said compensation shall be paid out of the appropriations provided for the expenses of the commission. The said corporation counsel and any of his assistants designated by him or by the commission shall have the right to appear and prosecute any civil, quasi criminal, or criminal case to recover any penalty, forfeiture, fine, or for the imposition of any punishment provided for in chapters 1–10 of this title whether instituted by or on behalf of the United States of America or by or on behalf of the District of Columbia or otherwise, and on every appeal provided by law. The commission may enforce its orders in any case by mandamus or other legal or equitable remedy in any court of competent jurisdiction, and it shall be the duty of the corporation counsel or his assistants to represent the commission in every such proceeding. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 993, ch. 150, § 8, par. 91.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Injunction

Where it appeared that District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission, in determining whether transit company's depreciation reserve was adequate, might find it necessary to issue an order, which would be subject to judicial review, directing withdrawal of amount from earned surplus, but corporation proposed to pay a dividend from earned surplus, preliminary injunction would be issued restraining corporation from paying proposed dividend pending determination of adequacy of reserve. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia v. Capital Transit Co. et al. (1954, 214 F. 2d 242, 94 U. S. App. D. C. 140).

Where it did not appear that there was a substantial likelihood that Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia, after investigation of transit company's financial condition, would be able to conclude that proposed retirement of bond issue would so handicap the company as to require the cancellation or modification of retirement program, Commission was not entitled to preliminary injunction restraining retirement pending investigation. Id.

(Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 994, ch. 150, § 8, par. 95.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Determination of rate base—Generally

Where power company served District of Columbia and parts of Virginia and Maryland and certain interstate consumers, use by Public Utility Commission of District of Columbia of power company's system-wide revenues and revenue needs as part of process of reaching approved rate for District of Columbia was proper. Capital Transit Co. v. Public Utilities Commission et al. (1954, 213 F. 2d 176, 93 U. S. App. D. C. 194, certiorari denied 75 S. Ct. 25, 348 U. S. 816, 99 L. Ed. 643).

Gas rate making is primarily a legislative process, and District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission is not bound to the use of any single formula or combination of formulae in determining rates so long as result of rate order is not unjust or unreasonable, and commission can formulate its own standards so long as investor interest against confiscation and consumer interest against exorbitant rates are safeguarded. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U. S. App. D. C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 571, 340 U. S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

If gas rates are to be granted for emergency purposes in a summary proceeding before the District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission, provision should be made for adjustment of subsequent rates, as under the sliding scale arrangement, if upon a statutory full rate hearing it should be found that the emergency rates had produced either excessive or inadequate returns. Id.

The composition of gas rate base is within province of District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission, and commission can adopt any method of valuation so long as end result of rate order is not unjust and unreasonable and can even use a method of calculating rates other than the traditional one which depends on the finding of a rate base. Id.

District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission not inquiring into issues necessary to determination of fair rate of return in gas rate proceeding could not rely on finding in some prior rate proceeding that six per cent was fair rate of return, where risk factor had been materially reduced in recent years and pertinent local conditions and economic factors had not remained static. Id.

Gas company's expenditure for adapting customer's appliances to natural gas to permit changeover from manufactured to natural gas is a proper item of expense currently deductible from operating revenues for rate purposes and can be treated as a deferred expense allocable over period of future years. Id.

The inclusion of items in gas rate base must meet the test of justness and reasonableness to the consumer as well as to the investor. Id.

Under reproduction cost theory, it is unreasonable to burden public with gas rates based on cost of obsolete and abandoned property which no one will conceivably think of reproducing. Id.

—— Prudent investment theory of return

The District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission's statement that return of less than four per cent was inadequate to maintain gas company in sound financial condition was insufficient to support commission's conclusion that gas rates were reasonable, just and nondiscriminatory, where the commission adopted prudent investment theory of rate regulation but did not subject issue of rate of return to inquiry at the hearing. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U. S. App. D. C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 571, 340 U. S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

Whether gas company's expenditure for adapting customer's appliances to natural gas to permit changeover from manufactured to natural gas should be considered a prudent investment includible in the rate base is a matter for the District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission. Id.

In gas rate proceeding, whether risk of obsolescence has been borne by the investor in the past and whether he has been compensated for such risk is an inquiry which must be made in the first instance by the District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission. Id.

District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission awarding higher gas rates because of past inequities to investors must support the factual premise by evidence in the record, and if the factual premise that past earnings were not sufficient to compensate investors for inadequate depreciation charges is true the commission can properly require the burden to be borne by consumers or to be shared by investors and consumers depending upon the circumstances. Id.

Where conversion to natural gas makes retirement of gas manufacturing plant imminent, District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission, in order to depreciate plant at accelerated pace for gas rate purposes, must determine whether investors have already been compensated for the risk that annual depreciation charges would prove inadequate at time of retirement because of obsolescence. Id.

If District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission includes abandoned property in gas rate base, protection of consumer interest requires that such treatment of abandoned property be offset in the rate of return. Id.

In gas rate proceeding, compensation to investors for risk of obsolescence may be made either through inclusion of obsolescence as one of the elements used in calculating depreciation expense or as risk considered in fixing the permissible rate of return, so if in the past the risk of obsolescence was so provided for, abandoned property should not be included in the rate base. Id.

The prudent investment theory of gas rate base valuation contemplates that rates will enable investor to maintain his original prudent investment intact until it is recovered through annual charges to depreciation expense reflected in a depreciation reserve, and if a unit of property resulting from prudent investment becomes obsolete before it has been recovered in full by the investor it is not necessarily erroneous as a matter of law for the commission to include such property in the rate base until such recovery has occurred, and such a course may be necessary to assure efficiency and progress in the art and continued attraction of capital to the enterprise. Id.

The prudent investment theory of gas rate regulation requires determination by District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission of the rate base and of a rate of return on that rate base sufficient to produce adequate revenues above operating expenses, including depreciation, to pay interest on bonds, dividends on stock and maintain financial integrity of the enterprise, and it is essential to inquiry on fair rate of return that there be a study of capital costs of the business, such as service on debt and dividends on stock, in light of returns on other investments in other enterprises having similar risk factor. Id.

Gas rates

Commission is without power to fix rates at which gas piped from another State will be supplied to local distributing company. Galloway v. Bell (1926, 11 F. 2d 558, 56 App. D. C. 172).

Injunctive relief

Where telephone company, operating in the District, received a letter from U. S. attorney requesting company to discontinue service because phone was used in violation of District gambling statute, an injunction against the United States attorney would be improper because his action was that of the United States. Fay v. Miller (1950, 183 F. 2d 986, 87 U. S. App. D. C. 168).

Jurisdiction

Where transit company for the District of Columbia installed radio loudspeakers in its vehicles for radio broadcasts of music and commercial announcements, and on protest of passengers the Public Utilities Commission ordered an investigation and dismissed the investigation by final order which was appealed to the District Court which dismissed the petitions of the passengers on the grounds that no legal rights had been invaded, jurisdiction of the Commission and the District Court was present. Pollak et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia et al. (1951, 191 F. 2d 450, 89 U. S. App. D. C. 94, reversed on other grounds 72 S. Ct. 813, 343 U. S. 451, 96 L. Ed. 1068).

Previously established rates

The legality of past rates cannot be challenged in a gas rate proceeding, and past excessive earnings belong to the gas company and past losses must be borne by the company. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U. S. App. D. C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 571, 340 U. S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

Right to compel furnishing service

Appellant has no positive right to compel the power company to furnish service to him contrary to its own rules and regulations duly approved by the Commission, and the company's right to suspend or discontinue the service in accordance with its notice can neither be controlled nor restrained. Lewis v. Potomac Elec. Power Co. (1933, 64 F. 2d 701, 62 App. D. C. 63).

Service

Under the act of Congress applicable to the District of Columbia requiring public utilities to furnish service and facilities reasonably safe and adequate and in all respects just and reasonable, the term "service" is used in its broadest and most inclusive sense. Pollak et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia et al. (1951, 191 F. 2d 450, 89 U. S. App. D. C. 94, reversed on other grounds 72 S. Ct. 813, 343 U. S. 451, 96 L. Ed. 1068).

System rates

Where power company served District of Columbia and parts of Virginia and Maryland and certain interstate consumers, and system-wide method was pursued in determining rates for District of Columbia consumers, such rates would have to be reasonable, just, and nondiscriminatory as a part of, or in relation to, system rates contained in schedules for areas and services beyond jurisdiction of Public Utility Commission of District of Columbia so that District consumers would not subsidize non-District consumers or vice versa. Capital Transit Co. v. Public Utilities Commission et al. (1954, 213 F. 2d 176, 93 U. S. App. D. C. 194, certiorari denied 75 S. Ct. 25, 348 U. S. 816, 99 L. Ed. 643).

§ 43–302. Use of equipment of other companies—Application to Commission to require such use in event of disagreement.

Every utility doing business in the District of Columbia having tracks, conduits, subways, poles, wires, switchboards, exchanges, works, or other equipment shall, for a reasonable compensation, permit the use of the same by any other public utility whenever public convenience and necessity require such use, and such use will not result in irreparable injury to the owners or other users of such equipment; nor in any substantial detriment to the service to be rendered by such owners or other users. In case of failure to agree upon such use, or the conditions or compensation for such use, any public utility or any person, firm, copartnership, association, or corporation interested may apply to the commission, and if after investigation the commission shall ascertain that public convenience and necessity require such use and that it would not result in irreparable injury to the owners or other user of such equipment nor in any substantial detriment to the service to be rendered by such owners or other users of such equipment, it shall by order direct that such use be permitted and prescribe the conditions and compensation for such joint use. Such use so ordered shall be permitted and such conditions and compensation so prescribed shall be the lawful conditions and compensation to be observed, followed, and paid, subject to recourse to the courts upon the complaint of any interested party, as hereinafter provided, which provisions, so far as applicable, shall apply to any action arising on such complaint so made. Any such order of the commission may be from time to time revised by the commission upon application of any interested party or upon its own motion after hearing and notice by order in writing. § 43–304. Proposed changes in law to be submitted to Commission—Hearings—Recommendations to Congress.

Whenever any public utility or person shall propose any change in any law relating directly or indirectly to the property or operations of any public utility the said proposed change shall also and at the same time be submitted to the commission, which may take testimony and give a public hearing thereon, and the commission shall recommend such bills as will in its judgment protect the interests of the public and such public utility and transmit the same to the proper committees of the Senate and House of Representatives. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 978, ch. 150, § 8, par. 5.)

§ 43–305. Commission to ascertain cost of construction, replacement value, outstanding stock—Information to be printed in annual report.

The commission shall ascertain, as soon and as nearly as practicable, the amount of money expended in the construction and equipment of every public utility, including the amount of money expended to procure any right of way; also the amount of money it would require to secure the right of way, reconstruct any roadbed, track, depots, cars, conduits, subways, poles, wires, switchboards, exchanges, offices, works, storage plants, power plants, machinery, and any other property or instrument not included in the foregoing enumeration used in or useful to the business of such public utility, and to replace all the physical properties belonging to the public utility. It shall ascertain the outstanding stock, bonds, debentures, and indebtedness, and the amount, respectively, thereof, the date when issued, to whom issued, to whom sold, the price paid in cash, property, or labor therefor, what disposition was made of the proceeds, by whom the indebtedness is held, so far as ascertainable, the amount purporting to be due thereon, the floating indebtedness of the public utility, the credits due the public utility, other property on hand belonging to it, the judicial or other sales of said public utility, its property or franchises, and the amounts purporting to have been paid, and in what manner paid therefor, and the taxes paid thereon. The commission shall also ascertain in detail the gross and net income of the public utility from all sources, the amounts paid for salaries to officers and the wages paid to its employees, and the maximum hours of continuous service required of each class. Whenever the information required by this section is obtained it shall be printed in the annual report of the commission. In making such investigation the commission may avail itself of any information in possession of any department of the government of the United States or of the commissioners of the District of Columbia. NOTES TO DECISIONS

The valuation sections of the code are not binding on District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission in gas rate proceedings. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U.S. App. D.C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 571, 340 U.S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

Goodwill

Court when fixing rate base valuation of street railway property on appeal from the Public Utilities Commission could properly include the goodwill of one of the companies that had previously consolidated. Public Utilities Comm. v. Capital Trac. Co. (1927, 17 F. 2d 673, 57 App. D.C. 85).

Methods used by commission—In general

The composition of gas rate base is within province of District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission, and commission can adopt any method of valuation so long as end result of rate order is not unjust and unreasonable and can even use a method of calculating rates other than the traditional one which depends on the finding of a rate base. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U.S. App. D.C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 571, 340 U.S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

—— Segregation of properties

Where electric power company supplied from the same powerhouse electric current to customers in the District of Columbia and to customers in Maryland and Virginia, the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia, in determining whether rates for electric power should be increased, properly treated the business of the company as a single enterprise and refused to segregate properties or allocate costs attributable to the part of the business done in the District of Columbia. Leeman et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1952, 104 F. Supp. 553).

If part of the business of electric power company is subject to state regulation and part is subject to federal regulation, state, in fixing rates, must segregate properties used in the intrastate business and establish intrastate rates on basis of the segregated properties as a rate base, and costs must be allocated as between intrastate and interstate business, but such segregation is not mandatory if business of company is subject to regulation by two or more states, no part of it being subject to federal supervision. Id.

Normally, the unit for rate-making purposes for electricity is the entire inter-connected operating property of the utility, without regard to geographical subdivisions, though conditions may be such as to require or permit segregation of a smaller unit. Id.

§ 43–306. Property to be valued as of time of evaluation.

The commission shall value the property of every public utility within the District of Columbia actually used and useful for the convenience of the public at the fair value thereof at the time of said valuation. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 978, ch. 150, § 8, par. 7.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

The composition of gas rate base is within province of District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission, and commission can adopt any method of valuation so long as end result of rate order is not unjust and unreasonable and can even use a method of calculating rates other than the traditional one which depends on the finding of a rate base. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U.S. App. D. C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S.Ct. 571, 340 U. S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

Where consent decree fixed rate base, established a sliding scale of rates, and provided that if rates yielded more than a certain per cent return, one-half of excess should be used in reduction of future rates, and Public Utilities Commission, after full hearing on proper notice, directed electric company to file new lower rate schedules, the new rate order, which would allow fair return on fair valuation, was not invalid on ground that company had not consented thereto nor on ground that valuation requirements of this section had not been complied with. Potomac Elec. Power Co. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia (1947, 158 F. 2d 521, 81 U.S. App. D.C. 225, certiorari denied 67 S. Ct. 1303, 331 U.S. 816, 91 L. Ed. 1834).

Conclusiveness of valuation statutes

The valuation sections of the code are not binding on District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission in gas rate proceedings. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U.S. App. D.C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 571, 340 U.S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

§ 43–307. Valuation—Notice and hearing—Statement of valuation to be filed.

Before final determination of such value the commission shall, after notice of not less than thirty days to the public utility, hold a public hearing as to such valuation in the manner hereinafter provided for a hearing, which provisions, so far as applicable, shall apply to such hearing. The commission shall, within ten days after such valuation is determined, serve a statement thereof upon the public utility interested, and shall file a like statement with the District Committees in Congress. Every public utility engaged directly or indirectly in any other business than that of the conduct of a street railway, or the production, transmission, or furnishing of heat, light, water, or power, or the conveyance of telegraph or telephone messages, shall, if required by the commission, keep and render separately to the commission in like manner and form the accounts of all such other business, in which case all the provisions of chapters 1–10 of this title shall apply with like force and effect to the books, accounts, papers, and records of such other business. The commission shall prescribe the forms of all books, accounts, papers, and records required to be kept, and every public utility is required to keep and render its books, accounts, papers, and records accurately and faithfully in the manner and form prescribed by the commission, and to comply with all directions of the commission relating to such books, accounts, papers, and records. In so far as practicable for the purposes of chapters 1–10 of this title, the form prescribed shall be the form accepted by the Interstate Commerce Commission. § 43–312. Utilities to have office in the District of Columbia—Books and records of utilities not to be removed from the District of Columbia—Records may be kept at general office of utility.

Each public utility shall have an office within the District of Columbia in which it shall keep all such books, accounts, papers, and records as shall be required by the commission to be kept within the District of Columbia. No books, accounts, papers, or records required by the commission to be kept within the District of Columbia shall be at any time removed from the District of Columbia, except upon such condition as may be prescribed by the Commission: Provided, That public utilities operating in the District of Columbia and elsewhere who have their general or executive offices outside of the District, may continue to keep their books, accounts, records, and so forth, at their executive or general offices, such public utilities being required, however, to produce before the commission such books, accounts, records, § 43–315. Depreciation account—Rates of depreciation—Application of depreciation fund.

Every public utility shall carry a proper and adequate depreciation account. The commission shall ascertain and determine what are the proper and adequate rates of depreciation of the several classes of property of each public utility. These rates shall be such as will provide the amounts required over and above the expense of maintenance to keep such property in a state of efficiency corresponding to the progress of the industry. Each public utility shall conform its depreciation accounts to such rates so ascertained and determined by the commission. The commission may make changes in such rates of depreciation from time to time as it may find to be necessary. The commission shall also prescribe rules, regulations, and forms of accounts regarding such depreciation which the public utility is required to carry into effect. The commission shall provide for such depreciation in fixing the rates, tolls, and charges to be paid by the public. All moneys in this fund may be expended in keeping the property of such public utility in repair and good and serviceable condition for the use to which it is devoted, or invested, and, if invested, the income from the investments shall also be carried in the depreciation fund. This fund and the proceeds thereof shall be used for no other purpose than as provided in this section, unless with the consent and by order of the commission. Nothing in chapters 1–10 of this title shall be taken to prohibit a public utility, with the consent of the commission, from providing a sliding scale of rates and dividends according to what is commonly known as the Boston sliding scale, or other financial device that may be practicable and advantageous to the parties interested. No such arrangement or device shall be lawful until it shall be found by the commission, after investigation, to be reasonable and just and not inconsistent with the purposes of chapters 1–10 of this title. Such arrangement shall be under the supervision and regulation of the commission. The commission shall ascertain, determine, and order such rates, charges, and regulations, and the duration thereof, as may be necessary to give effect to such arrangement, but the right and power to make such other and further changes in rates, charges, and regulations as the commission may ascertain and determine to be necessary and reasonable, and the right to alter or amend all orders relative thereto, is reserved and vested in the commission notwithstanding any such arrangement and mutual agreement. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Deposits

Order of Public Utilities Commission which permits deposits in advance from those unable to establish financial responsibility was not discriminatory. Riegel v. Public Utilities Comm. (1931, 48 F. 2d 1023, 60 App. D. C. 111).

Emergency Fleet Corporation

The Emergency Fleet Corporation, although organized as a private corporation under District of Columbia laws, is entitled to the benefit of the provisions of the Post Roads Act of 1866 giving it special rates for telegraph service. United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corp. v. Western Union Tel. Co. (1928, 48 S. Ct. 198, 275 U. S. 415, 72 L. Ed. 345).

Emergency Price Control Act

In determining whether power of Public Utility Commission of District of Columbia to regulate utility rates had been restricted by amendment to Emergency Price Control Act, former section 901 et seq. and section 961 of title 50 U. S. Code App., the purpose of said act and amendment were required to be considered. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Byrnes (1943, 137 F. 2d 547, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 107, affirmed 64 S. Ct. 731, 321 U. S. 489, 88 L. Ed. 883).

On application of gas company to Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia for a rate increase in accordance with a sliding scale arrangement entered into in 1935, Commission should afford president's representatives the opportunity to intervene pursuant to amendment to Emergency Price Control Act, former section 901 et seq. and section 961 of title 50 U. S. Code App., and grant them opportunity to fully test the inflationary trend, if any, which proposed increase in rates might portend. Byrnes v. Flanagan (D.C.D.C. 1943, 48 F. Supp. 703).

Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia could not proceed on application of gas company for a rate increase in accordance with a sliding scale arrangement entered into in 1935 alone, in face of amendment to Emergency Price Control Act, former section 901 et seq. and section 961 of title 50 U. S. Code App., requiring public utilities seeking general increase in their rates which were in effect on September 15, 1942, to first give 30 days' notice to president, or such agency as he may designate, and consent to timely intervention by such agency before the federal, state or municipal authority having jurisdiction to consider such increase. Id.

Emergency purposes, rates for

If gas rates are to be granted for emergency purposes in a summary proceeding before the District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission, provision should be made for adjustment of subsequent rates, as under the sliding scale arrangement, if upon a statutory full rate hearing it should be found that the emergency rates had produced either excessive or inadequate returns. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U.S. App. D.C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 571, 340 U. S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

Previously established rates

District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission not inquiring into issues necessary to determination of fair rate of return in gas rate proceeding could not rely on finding in some prior rate proceeding that six percent was fair rate of return, where risk factor had been materially reduced in recent years and pertinent local conditions and economic factors had not remained static. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U. S. App. D. C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 571, 340 U. S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

§ 43–318. Utilities to furnish accounts and reports—Information to be included.

Each public utility shall furnish to the commission in such form and at such times as the commission shall require, such accounts, reports, and information as shall show in itemized detail: Depreciation; salaries and wages; legal expenses; taxes and rentals; quantity and value of material used; receipts from residuals, by-products, services, or other sales; total and net costs; net and gross profits; dividends and interest; surplus or reserve; prices paid by consumers; and in addition such other items, whether of a nature similar to those hereinbefore enumerated or otherwise, as the commission may prescribe, in order to show completely and in detail the entire operation of the public utility in furnishing its product or service to the public. NOTES TO DECISIONS

In proceeding by power company, which served District of Columbia and parts of Virginia and Maryland and certain interstate consumers, and which was also subject to regulation by other commissions, including Federal Power Commission, before Public Utility Commission of District of Columbia for rate increase, wherein power company's customer, a District of Columbia transit company, intervened as an interested party, burden upon customer to sustain its attack upon order granting rate increases was carried where findings rationally manifesting the method used in determining the rates, essential to adequate review, were lacking. Capital Transit Co. v. Public Utilities Commission et al. (1954, 213 F. 2d 176, 93 U. S. App. D. C. 194, certiorari denied 75 S. Ct. 25, 348 U. S. 816, 99 L. Ed. 643).

Discretion of commission

Gas rate making is primarily a legislative process, and District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission is not bound to the use of any single formula or combination of formulae in determining rates so long as result of rate order is not unjust or unreasonable, and commission can formulate its own standards so long as investor interest against confiscation and consumer interest against exorbitant rates are safeguarded. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U. S. App. D. C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 571, 340 U. S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

In public utility rate proceeding, Public Utility Commission's refusal of demand of intervening Price Administrator that thoroughgoing examination be made into rate base, rate of return, operating expenses, depreciation, and all other matters relative to establishment of fair return was not an abuse of discretion. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Byrnes (1943, 137 F. 2d 547, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 107, affirmed 64 S. Ct. 731, 321 U. S. 489, 88 L. Ed. 883).

Ordinarily, in determining electric power rate, question whether smaller unit of electric power should be used as a basis for rate making is a matter of discretion for the regulatory agency. Leeman et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1952, 104 F. Supp. 553).

Bus and street car transportation between points in the District of Columbia and points on the Virginia side of the Potomac River, which operations were performed within territorial limits of the District of Columbia municipal zone and involved intrastate transportation subject to regulation by the Commissions of Virginia and the District of Columbia, was not "interurban" but "urban transportation," and, as such, it was not within jurisdiction of Interstate Commerce Commission to regulate fares for such transportation. Capital Transit Co. v. United States (D.C.D.C. 1944, 55 F. Supp. 51).

Evidence

Evidence sustained orders of the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia increasing rates for electric power. Leeman et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1952, 104 F. Supp. 553).

Hearing, sufficiency of Record showed that the Director of Economic Stabilization and the Administrator of the Office of Price Administration of the United States as interveners in a rate proceeding before the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia were offered every opportunity for a full hearing. Vinson v. Washington Gas Light Co. (1944, 64 S. Ct. 731, 321 U. S. 489, 88 L. Ed. 883).

The District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission's statement that return of less than four per cent was inadequate to maintain gas company in sound financial condition was insufficient to support commission's conclusion that gas rates were reasonable, just and nondiscriminatory, where the commission adopted prudent investment theory of rate regulation but did not subject issue of rate of return to inquiry at the hearing. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U.S. App. D.C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 571, 340 U.S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

Jurisdictional lines

Where problem of determining rate for power company lies across jurisdictional lines and is not solved by the permissible formulae of allocating, as between jurisdictions, either properties, costs, and revenues, or costs and revenues, method which is adopted must be rationally manifested in findings and conclusions, the findings grounded in evidence and the conclusions grounded in evidence and reasoning, which enable the court to support the rates for one jurisdiction alone. Capital Transit Co. v. Public Utilities Commission et al. (1954, 213 F. 2d 176, 93 U. S. App. D. C. 194, certiorari denied 75 S. Ct. 25, 348 U. S. 816, 99 L. Ed. 643).

Where areas served by power company are found to be substantially the same with respect to all features bearing upon reasonableness of power company's rate, and areas are shown to be intimately bound together, there is not any occasion to separate costs and revenues of power company according to jurisdictional lines, but evidence and findings must bring the situation within such tests if such tests are to apply. Id.

Power to fix rates

The power to fix public utility rates is a legislative power which has been delegated by Congress to Public Utility Commission of District of Columbia, and in its exercise, within constitutional limits, discretion of commission may not be controlled even by courts. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Byrnes (1943, 137 F. 2d 547, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 107, affirmed 64 S. Ct. 731, 321 U. S. 489, 88 L. Ed. 883).

The Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, former section 901 et seq. of title 50 U. S. Code App., and the Inflation Control Act of 1942, former section 961 et seq. of title 50 U. S. Code App., did not limit powers conferred by law on regulatory commissions over utility rates nor prohibit such commissions from permitting any increase in utility rates which were not shown to be necessary to prevent actual hardship, nor endow a different federal agency with new and superior rights and powers over utility rates. Vinson v. Washington Gas Light Co. (1944, 64 S. Ct. 731, 321 U. S. 489, 88 L. Ed. 883).

Prudent investment theory

A commission, in reaching decision concerning reasonable rate of return for power company under the prudent investment theory of rate regulation, must make findings upon underlying issues of return necessary to service company's outstanding funded debt and its preferred stock, return necessary to attract investors in common stock, and return on funded debts, preferred stock, and common stock of other public utilities having a risk factor similar to that of the company, and upon issue whether local conditions, economic conditions generally, and risk factor have remained static since determination of rate of return in a previous proceeding involving the company. Capital Transit Co. v. Public Utilities Commission et al. (1954, 213 F. 2d 176, 93 U. S. App. D. C. 194, certiorari denied 75 S. Ct. 25, 348 U. S. 816, 99 L. Ed. 643).

Rate base

Where power company served District of Columbia and parts of Virginia and Maryland and certain interstate consumers, ascertainment of rate base on basis of system-wide operations of the well integrated power company without allocation of its properties, costs, or revenues to the different jurisdictions served was not illegal in itself nor upon facts peculiar to power company's case. Capital Transit Co. v. Public Utilities Commission et al. (1954, 213 F. 2d 176, 93 U. S. App. D. C. 194, certiorari denied 75 S. Ct. 25, 348 U. S. 816, 99 L. Ed. 643).

In aid of process of rate making within jurisdiction of Public Utility Commission of the District of Columbia, Commission may make findings upon evidence concerning conditions and events beyond its regulatory jurisdiction if such conditions and events are thought to affect rates to be determined by Commission. Id.

Where electric power company supplied from the same powerhouse electric current to customers in the District of Columbia and to customers in Maryland and Virginia, the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia, in determining whether rates for electric power should be increased, properly treated the business of the company as a single enterprise and refused to segregate properties or allocate costs attributable to the part of the business done in the District of Columbia. Leeman et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1952, 104 F. Supp. 553).

Reconsideration after intervention

Record showed that Director of Economic Stabilization and Administrator of the Office of Price Administration as interveners in a rate proceeding before the Public Utilities Commission in the District of Columbia requested the reconsideration of the basic principle of sliding scale arrangement and demanded the suspension of the sliding scale and re-examination of its basis in a complete investigation of all the elements that entered into the determination of a utility rate by a regulatory body and that such demands were properly denied. Vinson v. Washington Gas Light Co. (1944, 64 S. Ct. 731, 321 U. S. 489, 88 L. Ed. 883).

Tariff provisions, hearings on

Statute requiring Public Utilities Commission to permit increase in rates by a utility only upon application and after notice, hearing, and investigation did not make invalid the tariff provision, which was accepted by commission without notice, hearing, and investigation, and which limited liability of telephone company for omissions in telephone directory listings. J. F. Bird v. The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. (D.C. Mun. App. 1962, 185 A. 2d 917).

§ 43–402. Commission may adopt rules and regulations.

The commission shall have power to adopt reasonable and proper rules and regulations relative to all inspections, tests, audits, and investigations, and to adopt and publish reasonable and proper rules to govern its proceedings and to regulate the mode and manner of all investigations and hearings of public utilities and other parties before it. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 982, ch. 150, § 8, par. 32.)

CROSS REFERENCE

Rules and regulations generally, see § 43–202.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Federal laws, scope of

The right conferred on Price Administrator to intervene in public utility rate proceeding does not include the power to compel the regulatory party to undertake a complete investigation against its better judgment or upon lines contrary to governing statute. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Byrnes (1943, 137 F. 2d 547, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 107, affirmed 64 S. Ct. 731, 321 U. S. 489, 88 L. Ed. 883).

Intervention, effect of

The intervention of the Director of Economic Stabilization and Administrator of Office of Price Administration in rate proceeding before the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia was in subordination to Commission's standing rule that intervention should not change or enlarge the issues. Vinson v. Washington Gas Light Co. (1944, 64 S. Ct. 731, 321 U. S. 489, 88 L. Ed. 883).

§ 43–403. Commission to keep informed as to conduct of business—May obtain from utilities all necessary information.

The commission shall keep itself informed as to the manner and method in which the business of all public utilities is conducted, and shall have the right to obtain from any public utility all necessary information to enable the commission to perform its duties. The commission or any commissioner or any person or persons employed by the commission for that purpose shall, upon demand, have the right to inspect the books, accounts, papers, records, and memoranda of any public utility, and to examine, under oath, any officer, agent, or employee of such public utility in relation to its business and affairs. Any person other than one of said commissioners who shall make such demand shall produce his authority to make such inspection or examination. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 982, ch. 150, § 8, par. 34.)

Similar provisions, see § 43–314 et seq.

§ 43–405. Production of records of utilities compellable by summons—Attendance of witnesses—Duties of United States attorney and corporation counsel.

The commission may require, by order or subpœna, to be served upon any public utility in the same manner that a summons is served in a civil action in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, the production within the District of Columbia at such time and place as it may designate of any books, accounts, papers, or records kept by such public utility in any office or place without the District of Columbia, or verified copies in lieu thereof, if the commission shall so order, in order that an examination thereof may be made by the commission under its direction. Any public utility failing or refusing to comply with any order or subpœna shall for each day it shall so fail or refuse forfeit and pay to the District of Columbia the sum of one hundred dollars, to be recovered in an action to be brought in the name of said District.

Attendance of witnesses and the production of such documentary evidence may be required from any place in the United States. And in case of disobedience to a subpœna the commission, or any party to a proceeding before the commission may invoke the aid of any court of the United States or the United States District Court for the District of Columbia in requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, papers, and documents under the provisions of this section. And the said commission is hereby given power to call on any United States attorney, the corporation counsel of the District of Columbia or any counsel of the commission to enforce the provisions of chapters 1–10 of this title in the proper courts of the United States, and on such call it shall be the duty of the said United States attorney, corporation counsel, or any counsel of the commission, upon request of said commission, to enforce the provisions of this section, the cost and expenses incurred to be paid out of the appropriations for the expenses of the courts of the United States. The commission may conduct any number of such investigations contemporaneously through different agents, and may delegate to such agent or agents the taking of all testimony bearing upon any investigation or hearing. The decision of the commission shall be based upon its examination of all testimony and records. The recommendations made by such agents shall be advisory only, and shall not preclude the taking of further testimony, if the commission so order, nor further investigation. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 982, ch. 150, § 8, par. 36.)

§ 43–407. Utilities to furnish information required by Commission—Maps, books, reports to be delivered to Commission on request.

Every public utility shall furnish to the commission all information required by it to carry into effect the provisions of chapters 1–10 of this title, and shall make specific answers to all specific questions submitted by the commission. Any public utility receiving from the commission any blanks with directions to fill the same shall cause the same to be properly filled out so as to answer, fully and correctly, each question therein propounded, and in case it is unable to answer any question it shall give a good and sufficient reason for such failure; and said answer shall be verified under oath by the president, secretary, superintendent, or general manager of such public utility, and returned to the commission at its office within the period fixed by the commission. Whenever required by the commission, every public utility shall deliver to the commission any or all maps, profiles, contracts, reports of engineers, and all documents, books, accounts, papers, and records, or copies of any or all of the same, with a complete inventory of all its property, in such form as the commission may direct. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 983, ch. 150, § 8, par. 37.)

§ 43–408. Commission may investigate unjust discriminatory rates, schedules, or services—No order to be entered without formal hearing.

Upon its own initiative or upon reasonable complaint made against any public utility that any of the rates, tolls, charges, or schedules, or services, or time and conditions of payment, or any joint rate or rates, schedules, or services, are in any respect unreasonable or unjustly discriminatory, or that any time schedule, regulation, or act whatsoever affecting or relating to the conduct of any street railway or common carrier, or the production, transmission, delivery, or furnishing of heat, light, water, or power, or any service in connection therewith, or the conveyance of any telegraph or telephone message, or any service in connection therewith, is in any respect unreasonable, insufficient, or unjustly discriminatory, or that any service is inadequate or can not be obtained, the commission may, in its discretion, proceed, with or without notice, to make such investigation as it may deem necessary or convenient. But no order affecting said rates, tolls, charges, schedules, regulations, or act complained of shall be entered by the commission without a formal hearing. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 983, ch. 150, § 8, par. 38.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

It was within statutory authority of the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia to prohibit or to permit and regulate the receipt and amplification of transit radio programs on streetcars and busses under such conditions that total utility service would not be unsafe, uncomfortable or inconvenient. Public Utilities Commission v. Pollak (1952, 72 S. Ct. 813, 343 U. S. 451 96 L. Ed. 1068).

Administrative remedy

Where suit by transit company against carrier to obtain injunction against certain competitive bus operations alleged to be illegal, presented both judicial and administrative questions, but administrative action might be determinative of entire controversy, transit company would be required to exhaust its available administrative remedies before seeking injunctive relief. Capital Transit Co. v. Safeway Trails, Inc. (1953, 201 F. 2d 708, 92 U. S. App. D. C. 20).

Federal laws, scope of

The right conferred on Price Administrator to intervene in public utility rate proceeding does not include the power to compel the regulatory party to undertake a complete investigation against its better judgment or upon lines contrary to governing statute. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Byrnes (1943, 137 F. 2d 547, 78 U.S. App. D. C. 107, affirmed 64 S. Ct. 731, 321 U. S. 489, 88 L. Ed. 883).

Findings of commission

Where Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia conducted investigation of transit radio service on busses and streetcars in accordance with prescribed statutory procedure and found that radio reception was not an obstacle to safety of operation, that public comfort and convenience were not impaired and that in fact the creation of better will among passengers tended to improve conditions under which the public rode, concluding that such installation and use were not inconsistent with public convenience, comfort and safety, Board was within its discretion in dismissing investigation. Public Utilities Commission v. Pollak (1952, 72 S. Ct. 813, 343 U. S. 451, 96 L. Ed. 1068).

Legislative intent

It is not contemplated that any resident of the District, feeling himself aggrieved, may rush into the courts without first submitting his case to the Public Utilities Commission, whose duty it is primarily to hear and adjust and, if possible, finally dispose of such complaints. Hollis v. Kutz (1920, 265 F. 451, 49 App. D. C. 301).

Public opinion surveys

In proceeding by the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia to determine whether installation and use of radio receivers in streetcars and busses were consistent with public convenience, comfort and safety, weight to be attached to public opinion surveys was a proper matter for determination by the Commission. Public Utilities Commission v. Pollak (1952, 72 S. Ct. 813, 343 U. S. 451, 96 L. Ed. 1068).

Scope of review

In proceeding by the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia to determine whether installation and use of radio receivers in streetcars and busses were consistent with public convenience, comfort and safety, courts on review were expressly restricted to facts found by Commission insofar as those findings did not appear to be unreasonable, arbitrary or capricious. Public Utilities Commission v. Pollak (1952, 72 S. Ct. 813, 343 U. S. 451, 96 L. Ed. 1068).

§ 43–409. Commission to notify utility of complaints.

The commission shall prior to such formal hearing notify the public utility complained of that a complaint has been made, and ten days after such notice has been given the commission may proceed to set a time and place for a hearing and an investigation as hereinafter provided. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 983, ch. 150, § 8, par. 39.)

§ 43–410. Notice as to hearings—Compulsory attendance of witnesses.

The commission shall give the public utility and the complainant, if any, ten days' notice of the time and place when and where such hearing and investigation will be held and such matters considered and determined. Both the public utility and complainant shall be entitled to be heard and shall have process to enforce the attendance of witnesses. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 983, ch. 150, § 8, par. 40.)

§ 43–411. Reasonable rates may be ordered—Notice to be given utility affected thereby.

If upon such investigation the rates, tolls, charges, schedules, or joint rates shall be found to be unjust, unreasonable, insufficient, or unjustly discriminatory, or to be preferential or otherwise in violation of any of the provisions of chapters 1–10 of this title, the commission shall have power to determine and by order fix and order to be substituted therefor such rate or rates, tolls, charges, or schedules as shall be just and reasonable. If upon such investigation it shall be found that any regulation, time schedule, act, or service complained of is unjust, unreasonable, insufficient, preferential, unjustly discriminatory, or otherwise in violation of any of the provisions of this section, or if it be found that reasonable service is not supplied, the commission shall have power to determine and substitute therefor such other regulations, time schedules, service, or acts and to make such orders respecting and such changes in such regulations, time schedules, service, or acts as shall be just and reasonable. And upon any investigation for the purpose of determining upon and requiring any reasonable extension or extensions of lines or of service that shall promise to be compensatory within a reasonable time, the commission shall have power to fix, determine, and require every such extension or extensions to be made and the terms and conditions upon which the same shall be made: Provided, That no hearing shall be had and no order shall be made respecting such extension or extensions, without notice to the public utility affected thereby, as provided in section 43–410. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 983, ch. 150, § 8, par. 41.)

CROSS REFERENCE

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Constitutionality

The constitutional rights of private consumers of gas are not invaded by rates established by the Public Utilities Commission at a higher rate than is charged to the Government. Hollis v. Kutz (1921, 41 S. Ct. 371, 255 U. S. 452, 65 L. Ed. 727).

Cost of stock capital

In proceedings before Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia relating to fixing gas rates, question before Commission was what constitutes a reasonable allowance based on cost of common stock capital, and by "cost of capital" is meant interest charges and enough more to attract capital to the company and to maintain its credit. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia (D.C.D.C. 1944, 55 F. Supp. 627).

Determination of rates

Where power company's rates in District of Columbia are arrived at by formulating schedules on system-wide basis, extending into other jurisdictions, rates must be supported also by findings of similar conditions pertinent to rate-fixing where the other rates are similar or, where other rates are different, by findings of other relevant economic conditions which justify, on a rational basis, the District rates in relation to the other rates, and, if this can not be done, it would seem necessary to resort to allocation. Capital Transit Co. v. Public Utilities Commission et al. (1954, 213 F. 2d 176, 93 U. S. App. D. C. 194, certiorari denied 75 S. Ct. 25, 348 U. S. 816, 99 L. Ed. 643).

Gas rate making is primarily a legislative process, and District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission is not bound to the use of any single formula or combination of formulae in determining rates so long as result of rate order is not unjust or unreasonable, and commission can formulate its own standards so long as investor interest against confiscation and consumer interest against exorbitant rates are safeguarded. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U.S. App. D.C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 571, 340 U.S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

Where electric power company supplied from the same powerhouse electric current to customers in the District of Columbia and to customers in Maryland and Virginia, the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia, in determining whether rates for electric power should be increased, properly treated the business of the company as a single enterprise and refused to segregate properties or allocate costs attributable to the part of the business done in the District of Columbia. Leeman et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1952, 104 F. Supp. 553).

Extensions

A motor lines company which operated bus lines under routes the effect of which was to provide direct passenger service to downtown Washington, D. C., or by connecting carrier to any part of Washington, D. C., was entitled to such notice of hearing conducted by Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia, relative to whether routes of another bus company operating in area should be extended, as would afford such motor lines reasonable opportunity to protect any of its interests which might be involved, and mere presence of employee of motor lines at such hearing did not meet requirement of reasonable notice, nor did posting of notice in District building. Washington, Marlboro & Annapolis Motor Lines, Inc. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia (D.C.D.C. 1953, 114 F. Supp. 321).

Findings

Whatever formula is adopted by District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission for gas rate purposes, the commission's findings must be based on substantial evidence in the record. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U.S. App. D.C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 571, 340 U.S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

Hearing, sufficiency of

The District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission's statement that return of less than four per cent was inadequate to maintain gas company in sound financial condition was insufficient to support commission's conclusion that gas rates were reasonable, just and nondiscriminatory, where the commission adopted prudent investment theory of rate regulation but did not subject issue of rate of return to inquiry at the hearing. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U.S. App. D.C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 571, 340 U.S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

Increase in rates

Reasonableness of rates

Gas rates fixed by Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia, to be valid, must enable company to operate successfully, to maintain its financial integrity to attract capital, and to compensate its investors for risks assumed. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia (D.C.D.C. 1944, 55 F. Supp. 627).

§ 43–412. Expenses of investigation or revaluation to be borne by utility—Deposit for costs—Limitation of expenditures in rate and revaluation hearings.

The expenses of any investigation, valuation, revaluation, or proceeding of any nature by the Public Service Commission of or concerning any public utility operating in the District of Columbia, and all expenses of any litigation, including appeals, arising from any such investigation, valuation, revaluation, or proceeding, or from any order or action of the said commission, shall be borne by the public utility investigated, valued, revalued, or otherwise affected as a special franchise tax in addition to all other taxes imposed by law, and such expenses with interest at 6 per centum per annum may be charged to operating expenses and amortized over such period as the Public Service Commission shall deem proper and be allowed for in the rates to be charged by such utility. When any such investigation, valuation, revaluation, or other proceeding is begun the said Public Service Commission may call upon the utility in question for the deposit of such reasonable sum or sums as in the opinion of said commission, it may deem necessary from time to time until the said proceeding or the litigation arising therefrom is completed, the money so paid to be deposited in the treasury of the United States to the credit of the appropriation account known as "miscellaneous trust fund deposit, District of Columbia" and to be disbursed in the manner provided for by law for other expenditures of the government of the District of Columbia, for such purposes as may be approved by the Public Service Commission. Any unexpended balance of such sum or sums so deposited shall be returned to the utility depositing the same: Provided, That the amount expended by the commission in any valuation or rate case shall not exceed one-half of 1 per centum of the existing valuation of the company investigated, and that the amount expended in all other investigations shall not exceed one-tenth of 1 per centum of the existing valuation for any one company for any one year. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 984, ch. 150, § 8, par. 42; Mar. 3, 1927, 44 Stat. 1351, ch. 304; Aug. 27, 1935, 49 Stat. 884, ch. 742, § 3; Aug. 30, 1964, 78 Stat. 634, Pub. L. 88–503, § 21.)

CODIFICATION

Act Aug. 27, 1935, consolidated paragraphs 42 and 42a of act Mar. 4, 1913, and redesignated them as paragraph 42.

AMENDMENT

1935—Act Aug. 27, 1935, added the following: "and all expenses of any litigation, including appeals, arising from any such investigation, valuation, revaluation, or proceeding, or from any order or action of the said commission," in the first sentence.

CHANGE OF NAME

Section 21 of act, Aug. 30, 1964, Pub. L. 88–503, changed the name of the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia to "Public Service Commission of the District of Columbia." See section 2–2418.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Payment of expenses

Later statute requiring utility to bear expenses of investigation or revaluation by Public Utilities Commission prevails over a previous statute which requires a utility to pay expenses only where utility is at fault. Washington R. & Elec. Co. v. District of Columbia (1935, 77 F. 2d 366, 64 App. D. C. 243).

§ 43–413. Separate hearings on complaints—Complaints not to be dismissed because of absence of direct damage.

The commission may, in its discretion, when complaint is made of more than one rate or charge, order separate hearings thereon, and may consider and determine the several matters complained of separately and at such times as it may prescribe. No complaint shall of necessity at any time be dismissed because of the absence of direct damage to the complainant. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 984, ch. 150, § 8, par. 43.)

§ 43–414. Summary investigation.

Whenever the commission shall believe that any rate or charge may be unreasonable or unjustly discriminatory, or that any reasonable service is not supplied, or that an investigation of any matter relating to any public utility should for any reason be made, it may, on its own motion, summarily investigate the same with or without notice. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 984, ch. 150, § 8, par. 44.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

In general

Where suit by transit company against carrier to obtain injunction against certain competitive bus operations alleged to be illegal, presented both judicial and administrative questions, but administrative action might be determinative of entire controversy, transit company would be required to exhaust its available administrative remedies before seeking injunctive relief. Capital Transit Co. v. Safeway Trails, Inc. (1953, 201 F. 2d 708, 92 U. S. App. D. C. 20).

§ 43–415. Hearings after summary investigation.

If after making such investigation the commission becomes satisfied that sufficient grounds exist to warrant a formal hearing being ordered as to the matters so investigated, it shall furnish such public utility interested a statement notifying the public utility of the matters under investigation. Ten days after such notice has been given the commission may proceed to set a time and place for a hearing and an investigation as hereinbefore provided. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 984, ch. 150, § 8, par. 45.)

§ 43–416. Notice of hearing—Hearing to be conducted as though complaint had been filed.

Notice of the time and place for such hearing shall be given to the public utility and to such other interested persons as the commission shall deem necessary, as provided in section 43–410, and thereafter proceedings shall be had and conducted in reference to the matter investigated in like manner as though complaint had been filed with the commission relative to the matter investigated, and the same order or orders may be made in reference thereto as if such investigation had been made on complaint. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 984, ch. 150, § 8, par. 46.)

§ 43–417. Utility may make complaint.

Any public utility may make complaint as to any matter affecting its own product or service with like effect as though made by the commissioner or upon reasonable complaint as hereinbefore provided. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 984, ch. 150, § 8, par. 47.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Administrative remedy, exhaustion of

Where suit by transit company against carrier to obtain injunction against certain competitive bus operations alleged to be illegal, presented both judicial and administrative questions, but administrative action might be determinative of entire controversy, transit company would be required to exhaust its available administrative remedies before seeking injunctive relief. Capital Transit Co. v. Safeway Trails, Inc. (1953, 201 F. 2d 708, 92 U. S. App. D. C. 20).

§ 43–418. Commissioners and agents may administer oaths, issue subpoenas—Proceeding to punish for contempt.

Each of the commissioners and every agent provided for in section 43–406, for the purposes mentioned in chapters 1–10 of this title, shall have power to administer oaths, certify to official acts, issue subpœnas, compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, accounts, papers, records, documents, and testimony. In case of disobedience on the part of any person or persons to comply with any order of the commission or any commissioner, or any subpœna, or on the refusal of any witness to testify to any matter regarding which he may be interrogated before the commission or its agent authorized, it shall be the duty of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, or a judge thereof, on application of a commissioner, to compel obedience by attachment proceedings for contempt, as in the case of disobedience of the requirements of a subpœna issued from such court or a refusal to testify therein. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 984, ch. 150, § 8, par. 48; June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127.)

§ 43–419. Witness fees.

Each witness who shall appear before the commission or its agent by its order shall receive for his attendance the fees and mileage provided for witnesses in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia on March 4, 1913, which shall be audited and paid in the same manner as fees in criminal cases within the District of Columbia are audited and paid, upon the presentation of proper vouchers, sworn to by such witnesses and approved by the chairman of the commission. No witnesses subpœnaed at the instance of parties other than the commission shall be entitled to compensation for attendance or travel unless the commission shall certify that his testimony was material to the matter investigated, and that his attendance as a witness was reasonably necessary. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 985, ch. 150, § 8, par. 49; June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127.)

43–501. Assignment of franchise—Acquisition of stocks and bonds of competing utilities.
43–502. Antimerger law.
43–503. Merger of street railways permitted.

No franchise nor any right to or under any franchise to own or operate any public utility as defined in chapters 1–10 of this title or to use the tracks of any street railroad shall be assigned, transferred, or leased, nor shall any contract or agreement with reference to or affecting any such franchise or right be valid or of any force or effect whatsoever unless the assignment, transfer, lease, contract, or agreement shall have been approved by the commission in writing. The permission and approval of the commission to the assignment, transfer, or lease of a franchise under this section shall not be construed to revive or validate any lapsed or invalid franchise or to enlarge or add to the powers and privileges contained in the grant of any franchise or to waive any forfeiture. It shall be unlawful for any street railroad corporation, gas corporation, electric corporation, telephone corporation, telegraph corporation, or other public utility corporation, directly or indirectly, to acquire the stock or bonds of any other corporation incorporated for or engaged in the same or similar business as it is, unless authorized in writing to do so by the commission, and every contract, transfer, agreement for transfer or assignment of any such stock or bonds without such written authority shall be void and of no effect. Purchase of other companies

Under authority of this paragraph, the Washington Gas Light Company was granted permission by the Public Utilities Commission to purchase the stocks and bonds of various other gas-light companies. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Dann (1934, 70 F. 2d 746, 63 App. D. C. 142).

It shall be unlawful for any foreign public utility corporation, or for any foreign or local holding corporation, or for any local street railroad corporation, gas corporation, electric corporation, telephone corporation, telegraph corporation, or any other local public utility corporation, directly or indirectly, to own, control, or hold or vote stock or bonds of any public utility corporation organized under any general incorporation law or special Act of the United States or authorized under any law of the United States to do business in the District of Columbia, except as heretofore or hereafter expressly authorized by Congress; and it shall be unlawful for any public utility corporation organized or authorized as aforesaid to sell or transfer any portion of its stock or bonds to any other public utility corporation or holding corporation whatsoever, unless heretofore or hereafter expressly authorized by Congress so to do; and every contract, transfer, agreement to transfer, or assignment by any said public utility corporation organized or authorized as aforesaid of any portion of its stock or bonds without such authority shall be utterly void and of no effect. The United States District Court for the District of Columbia, on application of the District of Columbia by its commissioners or attorney, or on application of the United States by its proper officer, or on application of any shareholder interested in any such corporations, shall have jurisdiction in equity to dissolve any public utility corporation organized under any general incorporation law or special section[1] of the United States, or authorized under any law of the United States to do business in the District of Columbia, for violation of any of the provisions of this section or of their charters; and further, to require any foreign public utility corporation, or foreign or local holding corporation which owns, holds, or controls, or which shall hereafter own, hold, or control any such stock or bonds contrary to any of the provisions of this section, to sell or dispose of the same and to refrain from voting such stock or bonds: Provided, That in case the allegations in any bill filed in said court relate to the ownership of stock or bonds of a local corporation by any foreign corporation, then it must be shown to the satisfaction of the court that such ownership includes at least twenty per centum of the capital stock of the local corporation.

The inhibitions and restrictions contained in this section are hereby removed, so far and only so far, as they affect the acquisition by any corporation of the stocks or bonds of any of the corporations referred to in section 43–503: Provided, Congress reserves the right to alter, amend, or repeal this paragraph of this section.

The word "foreign" when used in this section shall be construed to mean foreign to the District of Columbia, and the word "local" when used in this section shall be construed to mean local in the District of Columbia.

Each provision of this section and every part of each provision is hereby declared to be an independent provision, and the holding of any provision or provisions, or part or parts thereof, to be void, ineffective, or unconstitutional for any cause shall not be deemed to affect any other provision or part thereof. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Evidence

In electric rate proceeding, an exhibit which allegedly contained information purporting to show that the holding companies owning common stock of the electric company involved were engaged in conspiracy to violate this section was properly excluded, since the Public Utilities Commission was justified in refusing to take into account the collateral issues posed by the tendered exhibit. United States v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia (1947, 158 F. 2d 533, 81 U. S. App. D. C. 237, certiorari denied 67 S. Ct. 1305, 331 U. S. 816, 91 L. Ed. 1835).

Such new corporation shall be incorporated under the provisions of chapter 2 of title 29 of this Code, as far as applicable, with issues of stock at a stated par value and/or of no par value, as may be approved by the Public Service Commission. Every gas corporation and electrical corporation shall provide, repair, and maintain such suitable premises and apparatus and facilities as may be required and approved by the commission for testing and proving the accuracy of gas and electric meters furnished for use by it, and by which apparatus every meter may be tested.

If any consumer to whom a meter has been furnished shall request the commission in writing to inspect such meter, the commission shall have the same inspected and tested; if the same, on being so tested, shall be found to be more than two per centum defective or incorrect to the prejudice of the consumer, the inspector shall order the gas or electrical corporation forthwith to remove the same and to place instead a correct meter, and the expense of such inspection and test shall be borne by the corporation; if the same, on being so tested, shall be found to be correct, the expense of such inspection and test shall be borne by the consumer.

Columbia petitioning said court to instruct them as to the element or elements of value to be by them considered as aforesaid, and the particular utility under valuation at the time shall be made party defendant in said action.

Any public utility or any other person or corporation affected by any final order or decision of the commission may, within thirty days after the publication thereof, file with the commission an application in writing requesting a reconsideration of the matters involved, and stating specifically the errors claimed as grounds for such reconsideration. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Agreement not to resell product

Utility may require agreement from user not to remeter and resell current. Lewis v. Potomac Elec. Power Co. (1933, 64 F. 2d 701, 62 App. D. C. 63).

Application or petition for reconsideration

Petition of motor lines company which operated bus lines under routes the effect of which was to provide direct passenger service to downtown Washington, D. C., or by connecting carrier to any part of Washington, D. C., for reconsideration by Public Utilities Commission of order which extended lines of another bus company which operated in area, was sufficient to comply with section of District Code permitting public utility affected by order of Commission to apply for reconsideration, as against contention that petition was insufficient and that therefore motor lines had not exhausted administrative remedies and could not seek relief in court. Washington, Marlboro & Annapolis Motor Lines, Inc. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia (D.C.D.C. 1953, 114 F. Supp. 321).

Where first order of the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia in proceedings for increase of rates for electric power was in effect an interlocutory order formulating merely principles on which new rate schedules should be prescribed, and second order prescribing actual rates was the final order, petition for reconsideration filed within 30 days of second order, though not filed within 30 days of first order, sufficiently complied with statutory requirement that in order to be qualified to appeal from an order of the commission party claiming to be aggrieved must make an application to commission for reconsideration within 30 days after publication of its final order or decision. Leeman et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1952, 104 F. Supp. 553).

Complaint and hearing

A formal complaint and hearing before the Commission are not necessary conditions precedent to a suit in equity. Hollis v. Kutz (1921, 41 S. Ct. 371, 255 U. S. 452, 65 L. Ed. 727).

Costs on appeal

Appeal taken by the Public Utilities Commission from the order of the District Court of the United States for the District in a rate case was an administrative proceeding and the costs of printing the record and the brief of the Commission upon the appeal were expenses of the proceeding, although the appeal wherein these expenses were incurred was dismissed as a result of changed conditions. Washington R. & Elec. Co. v. District of Columbia (1935, 77 F. 2d 366, 64 App. D. C. 243).

Exhaustion of administrative remedy

Petition of motor lines company which operated bus lines under routes the effect of which was to provide direct passenger service to downtown Washington, D.C., or by connecting carrier to any part of Washington, D.C., for reconsideration by Public Utilities Commission of order which extended lines of another bus company which operated in area, was sufficient to comply with this section permitting public utility affected by order of Commission to apply for reconsideration, as against contention that petition was insufficient and that therefore motor lines had not exhausted administrative remedies and could not seek relief in court. Washington, Marlboro & Annapolis Motor Lines, Inc. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia (D.C.D.C. 1953, 114 F. Supp. 321).

Legislative intent

Congress intended that the court shall revise the legislative discretion of the Commission by considering the evidence and full record of the case and entering the order it deems the Commission ought to have made. Keller v. Potomac Elec. Power Co. (1923, 43 S. Ct. 445, 261 U. S. 428, 67 L. Ed. 731).

§ 43–705. Appeal to District Court from certain orders—Precedence over other civil causes—Proceeding when additional evidence proper—Statement to accompany decision—Subsequent appeals—Commission not liable for costs or damages.

The United States District Court for the District of Columbia shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine any appeal from an order or decision of the Commission. Any public utility or any other person or corporation affected by any final order or decision of the Commission, other than an order fixing or determining the value of the property of a public utility in a proceeding solely for that purpose, may, within sixty days after final action by the Commission upon the petition for reconsideration, file with the clerk of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia a petition of appeal setting forth the reasons for such appeal and the relief sought; at the same time such appellant shall file with the Commission notice in writing of the appeal together with a copy of the petition. Within twenty days of the receipt of such notice of appeal the Commission shall file with the clerk of the said court the record, including a transcript of all proceedings had and testimony taken before the Commission, duly certified, upon which the said order or decision of the Commission was based, together with a statement of its findings of fact and conclusions upon the said record, and a copy of the application for reconsideration and the orders entered thereon: Provided, That the parties, with the consent and approval of the Commission, may stipulate in writing that only certain portions of the record be transcribed and transmitted. Within this period the Commission or any other interested party shall answer, demur, or otherwise move or plead. Thereupon the appeal shall be at issue and ready for hearing. All such proceedings shall have precedence over any civil cause of a different nature pending in said court, and the United States District Court for the District of Columbia shall always be deemed open for the hearing thereof. Any such appeal shall be heard upon the record before the Commission, and no new or additional evidence shall be received by the said court. The said court, or any judge or judges thereof, before whom any such appeal shall be heard, may require and direct the Commission to receive additional evidence upon any subject related to the issues on said appeal concerning which evidence was improperly excluded in the hearing before the Commission or upon which the record may contain no substantial evidence. Upon receipt of such requirement and direction the Commission shall receive such evidence and without unreasonable delay shall transmit to the said court the findings of fact made thereon by the Commission and the conclusions of the Commission upon the said facts.

Upon the conclusion of its hearing of any such appeal the court shall either dismiss the said appeal and affirm the order or decision of the Commission or sustain the appeal and vacate the Commission's order or decision. In either event the court shall accompany its order by a statement of its reasons for its action, and in the case of the vacation of an order or decision of the Commission the statement shall relate the particulars in and the extent to which such order or decision was defective.

Any party, including said Commission, may appeal from the order or decree of said court to the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, which shall thereupon have and take jurisdiction in every such appeal. Thereafter the Supreme Court of the United States may, upon a petition for certiorari granted in its discretion, review the said case.

Said Commission shall not, nor shall any of its members, officers, agents, or employees, be taxed with any costs, nor shall they or any of them be required to give any supersedeas bond or security for costs or damages on any appeal whatsoever. Said Commission, or any of its members, officers, agents, or employees, shall not be liable to suit or action or for any judgment or decree for any damages, loss, or injury claimed by any public utility or person, nor required in any case to make any deposit for costs or pay for any service to the clerks of any court or to the marshal of the United States. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 989, ch. 150, § 8, par. 65; Aug. 27, 1935, 49 Stat. 882, ch. 742, § 2; June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32 (a), (b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127.)

AMENDMENT

1935—Act Aug. 27, 1935, amended section generally. Prior to such amendment, section provided: "That every proceeding, action, or suit to set aside, vacate, or amend any determination or order of the Commission, or to enjoin the enforcement thereof, or to prevent in any way any such order or determination from becoming effective shall be commenced, and every appeal to the courts or right of recourse to the courts shall be taken or exercised, within one hundred and twenty [120] days after the entry or rendition of such order or determination, and the right to commence any such action, proceeding, or suit, or to take or exercise any such appeal or right of recourse to the courts, shall terminate absolutely at the end of such one hundred and twenty days."

CHANGE OF NAME

Act June 25, 1948, eff. Sept. 1, 1948, as amended by act May 24, 1949, substituted "United States District Court for the District of Columbia" for "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia", "judge" for "justice" and "judges" for "justices."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Administrative determinations which are not commands may for all practical purposes determine rights as effectively as the judgment of a court, and may be reexamined by courts under particular statutes providing for the review of "orders". Pollak et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia et al. (1951, 191 F. 2d 450, 89 U. S. App. D. C. 94, reversed on other grounds 72 S. Ct. 813, 343 U. S. 451, 96 L. Ed. 1068).

Ordinarily, in determining electric power rate, question whether smaller unit of electric power should be used as a basis for rate making is a matter of discretion for the regulatory agency. Leeman et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1952, 104 F. Supp. 553).

"Affected", definition

Where order of the Public Utilities Commission authorized District of Columbia transit company to use radio loudspeakers in its vehicles, persons who used the services of the transit and intervened before the Commission were "affected by" the Commission's order and could appeal. Pollak et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (1951, 191 F. 2d 450, 89 U.S. App. D. C. 94, reversed on other grounds 72 S. Ct. 813, 343 U. S. 451, 96 L. Ed. 1068).

The word "affected", as used in this section was chosen by Congress to expand the privilege of complaint and appeal beyond that contemplated by words it used in other statutes, and beyond the conventional tests used in equity suits seeking restraint of governmental action. U. S. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia (1945, 151 F. 2d 609, 80 U. S. App. D. C. 227).

Application for reconsideration

Where first order of the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia in proceedings for increase of rates for electric power was in effect an interlocutory order formulating merely principles on which new rate schedules should be prescribed, and second order prescribing actual rates was the final order, petition for reconsideration filed within 30 days of second order, though not filed within 30 days of first order, sufficiently complied with statutory requirement that in order to be qualified to appeal from an order of the commission party claiming to be aggrieved must make an application to commission for reconsideration within 30 days after publication of its final order or decision. Leeman et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1952, 104 F. Supp. 553).

Though the burden of proof was upon the party contesting a finding of the Commission, the court must exercise its own judgment where challenged for a mistake of law, failure of evidence or contrary to weight of evidence. Potomac Elec. Power Co. v. Public Utilities Comm. (1922, 276 F. 327, 51 App. D. C. 77).

Evidence to support findings

When supported by substantial evidence, Public Utilities Commission's choice between two conflicting views will not be disturbed, even though court might justifiably have reached a different conclusion had the matter been before it de novo. Washington, Marlboro & Annapolis Motor Lines, Inc. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1953, 114 F. Supp. 328, affirmed 206 F. 2d 490).

Where Public Utilities Commission's witness found that investors' appraisal of return required on common stock capital of gas company was 11.68 percent, and company's witnesses fixed it at 10.98 percent, both exclusive of cost of financing, and earnings-price ratio of companies involved to which Commission's witness testified was 10.54 percent, Commission's action in substituting 9 percent as a reasonable allowance in fixing rates and in amending sliding scale order so as to reduce primary rate of return from 6½ percent to 5¾ percent, was void, as not supported by substantial evidence. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia (D.C.D.C. 1944, 55 F. Supp. 627).

Exhaustion of administrative remedy

Petition of motor lines company which operated bus lines under routes the effect of which was to provide direct passenger service to downtown Washington, D. C., or by connecting carrier to any part of Washington, D. C., for reconsideration by Public Utilities Commission of order which extended lines of another bus company which operated in area, was sufficient to comply with section 43–704 permitting public utility affected by order of Commission to apply for reconsideration, as against contention that petition was insufficient and that therefore motor lines had not exhausted administrative remedies and could not seek relief in court. Washington, Marlboro & Annapolis Motor Lines, Inc. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia (D.C.D.C. 1953, 114 F. Supp. 321).

Final and conclusive orders

Where each year during which sliding scale arrangement under consent decree had been in effect, electric rates were fixed by an order of Public Utilities Commission, the annual orders became final and conclusive when no person affected thereby availed himself of right of appeal under this section, and therefore the rates so fixed became the legal rates for the periods during which they were to endure, and neither the United States, as a consumer, nor any other party affected thereby could brand them as illegal. United States v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia (1947, 158 F. 2d 533, 81 U. S. App. D. C. 237, certiorari denied 67 S. Ct. 1305, 331 U. S. 816, 91 L. Ed. 1835).

Findings of commission

Findings of administrative agency such as Public Utility Commission of District of Columbia, where there is evidence to support them, may not be set aside by court. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Byrnes (1943, 137 F. 2d 547, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 107, affirmed 64 S. Ct. 731, 321 U. S. 489, 88 L. Ed. 883).

A mere general opinion of Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia in relation to gas rates, unsupported by findings of fact based on substantial evidence is ineffective. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia (D.C.D.C. 1944, 55 F. Supp. 627).

Jurisdiction of courts

Congress may vest in the courts of the District power to review the discretion of a Public Utilities Commission fixing rates for a public service corporation, and enter the order which they deem the commission should have made. Keller v. Potomac Elec. Power Co. (1923, 43 S. Ct. 445, 261 U. S. 428, 67 L. Ed. 731).

Where order of the Public Utilities Commission dismissing investigation with respect to radio broadcasts on vehicles of the transit system for the District of Columbia was erroneous as matter of law and the District Court dismissed the petitions of appellants on the ground that no legal right of theirs had been invaded, the Court of Appeals was authorized to vacate the judgment of the District Court with instructions to vacate the Commission's order and remand the case to the Commission for further proceedings, and appellants whose constitutional rights were allegedly invaded, were not required to sue out an injunction under the court's general equity powers, in order to obtain relief. Pollak et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia et al. (1951, 191 F. 2d 450, 89 U. S. App. D. C. 94, reversed on other grounds 72 S. Ct. 813, 343 U. S. 451, 96 L. Ed. 1068).

Nature and scope of appeal

The right of appeal from order of public service commission is statutory in character, and extent of the right in each case depends upon meaning of language used in the statute, and not upon ordinary requirements of injunction suits. United States v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia (1945, 151 F. 2d 609, 80 U. S. App. D. C. 227).

If total effect of rates fixed by the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia for electric power cannot be said to be unjust and unreasonable, judicial inquiry is at an end. Leeman et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1952, 104 F. Supp. 553).

On appeals from orders of the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia increasing rates for electric power, federal District Court could consider whether commission committed any error of law vitiating its orders, whether conclusions were adequately supported by findings of fact, and whether findings of fact were sustained by substantial evidence. Id.

On appeals from orders of the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia increasing rates for electric power, federal District Court could consider whether commission committed any error of law vitiating its orders, whether conclusions were adequately supported by findings of fact, and whether findings of fact were sustained by substantial evidence. Id.

Persons affected

District Court should have found that one who filed petition to intervene in proceedings before Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia with respect to bus and streetcar fares was transit rider and entitled to appeal to District Court from Commission's order, where he made sworn statement in proceedings before Commission that he was regular commuter on carrier's vehicles. L. N. Bebchick & L. S. Goodman v. Public Utilities Commission etc. (1961, 287 F. 2d 337, 109 U.S. App. D.C. 298).

Transit riders on buses and streetcars of carrier were entitled to appeal to District Court from order of Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia raising cash fare for single trip from 20 cents to 25 cents, though order did not increase token fare of five for $1 or 20 cents each. Id.

District Court should have found that person, who filed petition in proceedings in Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia concerning bus and streetcar fares for reconsideration of order fixing fares, and who alleged therein that he was a transit rider, and who filed affidavit stating that he was occasional and casual customer and rider of buses and streetcars of carrier, was transit rider and entitled to appeal to District Court from Commission's order. Id.

Where order of the Public Utilities Commission dismissed its investigation of protests by passengers against use of radio loudspeakers on vehicles of transit company of the District of Columbia and the final decision of the Commission was that the transit company could use loudspeakers in its vehicles, the order was appealable. Pollak et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia et al. (1951, 191 F. 2d 450, 89 U. S. App. D. C. 94, reversed on other grounds 72 S. Ct. 813, 343 U. S. 451, 96 L. Ed. 1068).

The term "person affected", as used in this section includes a consumer of a public utility company. United States v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia (1945, 151 F. 2d 609, 80 U. S. App. D. C. 227).

The United States, as a customer of public utility company, had standing as a "person affected" to prosecute its petition of appeal in the District Court from an order of Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia determining rates which the company could charge for sale of electric energy in District of Columbia. Id.

Petitions of appeal

Where appellants' petition of appeal from an order of the Public Utilities Commission permitting use of radio loudspeakers on vehicles of transit system for the District of Columbia, stated that they were obliged to use the vehicles of the system and were thereby subjected against their will to the broadcasts in issue and the appellees moved to dismiss the petitions, allegations of the petitions were admitted. Pollak et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia et al. (1951, 191 F. 2d 450, 89 U. S. App. D. C. 94, reversed on other grounds 72 S. Ct. 813, 343 U. S. 451, 96 L. Ed. 1068).

Presumption of validity of orders

Orders of the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia increasing rates for electric power carried presumption of validity, and those who would upset the rate orders had heavy burden of making a convincing showing that orders were invalid because unjust and unreasonable. Leeman et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1952, 104 F. Supp. 553).

Record

Order of District Court vacating Public Utility Commission's order granting utility a rate increase could not be reversed on theory that district judge did not have before him record of case before commission where material parts of record were brought to attention of district judge at time of hearing and before his decision was rendered. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Byrnes (1943, 137 F. 2d 547, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 107, affirmed 64 S. Ct. 731, 321 U. S. 489, 88 L. Ed. 883).

Several orders

An order of Public Utilities Commission granting an increase in cash fare to be charged by transit company was not moot due to suppression of that order by subsequent order which continued in effect increased cash fare since validity of first order during time it was in effect remained in controversy, in that disposition of any excess funds which might have accumulated prior to subsequent order, by reason of invalidity of the increase, remained for decision. L. N. Bebchick et al. v. Public Utilities Commission et al. (1963, 318 F. 2d 187, 115 U.S. App. D.C. 216).

Validity

A section of the statute providing for review is not rendered wholly void by the inclusion in it of an invalid provision for ultimate appeal to the Supreme Court. Keller v. Potomac Elec. Power Co. (1923, 43 S. Ct. 445, 261 U. S. 428, 67 L. Ed. 731).

§ 43–706. Appeal limited to questions of law.

In the determination of any appeal from an order or decision of the Commission the review by the court shall be limited to questions of law, including constitutional questions; and the findings of fact by the Commission shall be conclusive unless it shall appear that such findings of the Commission are unreasonable, arbitrary, or capricious. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 989, ch. 150, § 8, par. 66; Aug. 27, 1935, 49 Stat. 883, ch. 742, § 2.)

AMENDMENT

1935—Act Aug. 27, 1935, amended section generally. Prior to such amendment, section provided: "That no injunction shall issue suspending or staying any order of the commission, except upon application to the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia or a judge thereof, and only upon notice to the commission and after hearing had."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

In general

The District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission should keep in mind its obligation to facilitate judicial review of its orders and should assemble record and make findings which cover all the relevant issues and should indicate the formula chosen and should make clear the evidentiary support for its findings under whatever formula adopted. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U. S. App. D. C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 571, 340 U. S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

Application for reconsideration

Where first order of the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia in proceedings for increase of rates for electric power was in effect an interlocutory order formulating merely principles on which new rate schedules should be prescribed, and second order prescribing actual rates was the final order, petition for reconsideration filed within 30 days of second order, though not filed within 30 days of first order, sufficiently complied with statutory requirement that in order to be qualified to appeal from an order of the commission party claiming to be aggrieved must make an application to commission for reconsideration within 30 days after publication of its final order or decision. Leeman et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1952, 104 F. Supp. 553).

Discretion of commission

Gas rate making is primarily a legislative process, and District of Columbia Public Utilities Commission is not bound to the use of any single formula or combination of formulae in determining rates so long as result of rate order is not unjust or unreasonable, and commission can formulate its own standards so long as investor interest against confiscation and consumer interest against exorbitant rates are safe-guarded. Washington Gas Light Co. v. Baker (1951, 188 F. 2d 11, 88 U. S. App. D. C. 115, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 571, 340 U.S. 952, 95 L. Ed. 686).

Evidence supporting findings

When supported by substantial evidence, Public Utilities Commission's choice between two conflicting views will not be disturbed, even though court might justifiably have reached a different conclusion had the matter been before it de novo. Washington, Marlboro & Annapolis Motor Lines, Inc. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1953, 114 F. Supp. 328, affirmed 206 F. 2d 490).

Evidence sustained orders of the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia increasing rates for electric power. Leeman et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1952, 104 F. Supp. 553).

On appeals from orders of the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia increasing rates for electric power, federal District Court could consider whether commission committed any error of law vitiating its orders, whether conclusions were adequately supported by findings of fact, and whether findings of fact were sustained by substantial evidence. Id.

Presumption of validity of orders

Orders of the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia increasing rates for electric power carried presumption of validity, and those who would upset the rate orders had heavy burden of making a convincing showing that orders were invalid because unjust and unreasonable. Leeman et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1952, 104 F. Supp. 553).

Rates, computation of

Ordinarily, in determining electric power rate, question whether smaller unit of electric power should be used as a basis for rate making is a matter of discretion for the regulatory agency. Leeman et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1952, 104 F. Supp. 553).

Normally, the unit for rate-making purposes for electricity is the entire interconnected operating property of the utility, without regard to geographical subdivisions, though conditions may be such as to require or permit segregation of a smaller unit. Id.

Reasonableness and justness of rates fixed

If Public Utilities Commission's order providing for increase in rate to be charged by transit company produces no arbitrary results, court's inquiry is at an end. Allied Civic Group, Inc., et al. v. Public Utilities Commission (D.C.D.C. 1955, 125 F. Supp. 453).

If total effect of rates fixed by the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia for electric power cannot be said to be unjust and unreasonable, judicial inquiry is at an end. Leeman et al. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1952, 104 F. Supp. 553).

Record

On appeal from order of Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia, case is not before court de novo, and court will not consider and review entire record. Washington, Marlboro & Annapolis Motor Lines, Inc. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1953, 114 F. Supp. 328, affirmed 206 F. 2d 490).

Review, limitations of Function of the Court of Appeals in reviewing the Public Utilities Commission's orders and decisions is limited to questions of law including constitutional questions and the Commission's findings of fact are conclusive unless it appears that the findings are unreasonable, arbitrary, or capricious. D.C. Transit System, Inc. v. Public Utilities Commission etc. (1961, 292 F. 2d 734, 110 U.S. App. D.C. 241).

§ 43–707. Orders to remain in force pending appeal—Suspension of order.

All orders and decisions of the Commission shall remain in full effect, except as provided in section 43–704 hereof, unless and until they are suspended, superseded, or rescinded by the Commission or are vacated by lawful order of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia: Provided, That if in any petition made to the said court appealing from an order or decision of the Commission it be alleged that substantial and irreparable property loss would be occasioned to the petitioner by the operation of the said order pending the determination of the said appeal, the court shall set a time and place for hearing upon the said allegation after not less than three days' notice to the Commission (during which period the execution of the order or decision shall be stayed), and the said court may then, upon a clear showing of the irreparable and substantial property loss as alleged, suspend the effective date of the said order. No such suspension shall be for a greater period than sixty days without further order after notice or hearing by the court. In the event of the issuance of an order suspending the operation of any order of the Commission, the court may include therein such provision as it deems advisable for the preservation of records or accounts and the impounding or otherwise securing of moneys necessary to give effect to the order of the Commission in the event the said order is sustained. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 989, ch. 150, § 8, par. 67; Aug. 27, 1935, 49 Stat. 884, ch. 742, § 2; June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127.)

AMENDMENT

1935—Act of Aug. 27, 1935, substituted the above section for paragraph 67 of § 8 of the 1913 act, which provided the procedure formerly followed upon introduction of new evidence.

CHANGE OF NAME

Act June 25, 1936, substituted "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia" for "Supreme Court of the District of Columbia."

Act June 25, 1948, eff. Sept. 1, 1948, as amended by act May 24, 1949, substituted "United States District Court for the District of Columbia" for "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Error of law

High profits of electric company and alleged fact that Public Utilities Commission had not been as vigilant as it might have been in driving down the company's rates did not establish an error of law requiring judicial remedy and did not justify retrospectively holding invalid rate schedules authorized by the Commission over a course of many years. U. S. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia (1947, 158 F. 2d 533, 81 U. S. App. D. C. 237, certiorari denied 67 S. Ct. 1305, 331 U. S. 816, 91 L. Ed. 1835).

The earnings, in percentages, are meaningful only when they are related to electric company's total capital structure which presents a task for the Public Utilities Commission, and federal appellate court should not impose its judgment to effect that earnings were unlawful unless it is clearly shown that the rates which gave rise to the earnings were invalid because they woefully neglected the interests of consumers. Id.

§ 43–708. Certification of question to United States Court of Appeals.

The United States District Court for the District of Columbia, or any judge thereof before whom an appeal from an order of the Commission is pending, may certify to the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia any questions or propositions of law concerning which instructions are desired for the proper disposition of the appeal; and thereupon the Court of Appeals may either give binding instructions on the questions and propositions certified or may require that the entire record in the cause be sent up for its consideration, and thereupon shall decide the whole matter in controversy in the same manner as if it had been brought there by writ of error or appeal. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 989, ch. 150, § 8, par. 68; Aug. 27, 1935, 49 Stat. 884, ch. 742, § 2; June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(a), (b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127.)

AMENDMENT

1935—Act Aug. 27, 1935, amended section generally. Prior to such amendment, section provided: "That if the commission shall rescind its order complained of the proceeding or suit shall be dismissed; if it shall alter, modify, or amend the same, such altered, modified, or amended order shall take the place of the original order complained of and judgment shall be rendered thereon as though made by the commission in the first instance. If the original order shall not be rescinded or changed by the commission, judgment shall be rendered upon such original order, and costs shall be taxed as may be deemed proper under the circumstances."

CHANGE OF NAME

Act June 25, 1936, substituted "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia" for "Supreme Court of the District of Columbia."

Act June 25, 1948, eff. Sept. 1, 1948, as amended by act May 24, 1949, substituted "United States District Court for the District of Columbia" for "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia", and "judge" for "justice."

§ 43–709. Authority of Commission to rescind its order after appeal is filed.

The Commission may at any time, rescind, alter, modify, or amend its order. If, after appeal is filed, the Commission shall rescind the order or decision appealed from, the appeal shall be dismissed; if it shall alter, modify, or amend the same, such altered, modified, or amended order or decision shall take the place of the original order and the court shall proceed thereon as though the late order had been made by the Commission in the first instance. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 989, ch. 150, § 8, par. 69; Aug. 27, 1935, 49 Stat. 884, ch. 742, §2.)

AMENDMENT

1935—Act Aug. 27, 1935, substituted the above section for paragraph 69 of § 8 of the 1913 act, which fixed the burden of proof on the party adverse to the Commission or seeking to set aside determination, requirement, or order of said Commission.

§ 43–710. Method of review exclusive.

The method of review of the orders and decisions of the Commission provided by sections 43–704 to 43–709, herein, shall be exclusive. (Mar. 4, 1913, ch. 150, § 8, par. 69a, as added Aug. 27, 1935, 49 Stat. 884, ch. 742, § 2.)

§ 43–711. Separability of provisions.

If any provisions of sections 43–412, 43–704 to 43–710 or the application to any person or circumstances is held invalid, the invalidity of the remainder of said sections and of the application of such provision to other persons and circumstances shall not be affected thereby. (Aug. 27, 1935, 49 Stat. 885, ch. 742, § 4.)

§ 43–712. Production of incriminating evidence compellable, immunity from prosecution.

No person shall be excused from testifying or from producing books, accounts, and papers in any proceeding based upon or growing out of any violation of the provisions of chapters 1–10 of this title, on the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to incriminate him or subject him to penalty or forfeiture; but no person having so testified shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter, or thing concerning which he may have testified or produced any documentary evidence: Provided, That no person so testifying shall be exempted from prosecution or punishment for perjury: Provided further, That the immunity hereby conferred shall extend only to a natural person who, in obedience to a subpœna, gives testimony under oath or produces evidence, documentary or otherwise, under oath. (Mar. 4, 1913, 37 Stat. 989, ch. 150, § 8, par. 70.)

43–802 Certificate of Commission showing authority to issue stock or pay dividends to be obtained.
43–803. Stocks not to be issued until certificate is recorded.
43–804. Repealed.

1947—Act July 16, 1947, fixed the rate of assessment for water mains at $1.90 per linear foot for water mains constructed on or after July 1, 1947.

1934—Act June 4, 1934, fixed the rate of assessment for service sewers at $1.50 per linear foot for sewers constructed on or after July 1, 1934.

1930—Act July 3, 1930, increased rate for water-mains to three dollars per linear foot.

1927—Act Dec. 22, 1927, provided that rates of assessment in effect on June 30, 1927, for laying or constructing water mains and service sewers in the District of Columbia under provisions of act of 1904 should continue in effect during the remainder of the fiscal year 1928 and thereafter.

1904—Act Apr. 22, 1904, amended section generally, and among other changes, included assessments for service sewers as well as water-mains.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Excess of cost, assessment in Assessment exceeding actual cost of the work is not bad where the laying of the main was a part of a water-system and the assessment included a fund to keep the system in efficient repair. Parsons v. District of Columbia (1898, 18 S. Ct. 521, 170 U.S. 45, 42 L. Ed. 943).

Frontage rule inapplicable

If the paving of an avenue be treated as an original improvement, converting a highway into a paved city street, its constitutional infirmities are emphasized by reason of the existence of physical conditions forbidding any equal, fair, or equitable application of the frontage rule of taxing benefits, and, if considered as a repair of the avenue, in the form of repaving, its validity must be condemned on theory that it taxes individual property fronting on the improvement for all or fixed portion of the expense, to exemption of all other property in the municipality. Johnson v. Rudolph (1927, 16 F. 2d 525, 57 App. D. C. 29.)

Necessity and benefits of work

This act must be deemed conclusive alike of the question of the necessity of the work, and of the benefits as against abutting property; and to open such questions for review by the courts, on the petition of any and every property holder, would create endless confusion; and when questions submitted to Commission, the inquiry becomes in its nature judicial. Parsons v. District of Columbia (1898, 18 S. Ct. 521, 170 U.S. 45, 42 L. Ed. 943). See, also, Wight v. Davidson (1901, 21 S. Ct. 616, 181 U. S. 900, 45 L. Ed. 900).

Powers of congress

Congress has the power to provide for assessments in the District of Columbia for the opening of streets. Wight v. Davidson (1901, 21 S. Ct. 616, 181 U. S. 371, 45 L. Ed. 900).

Congress of the United States has the entire control over the District for every purpose of government. Sims v. Rives (1936, 84 F. 2d 871, 66 App. D. C. 24).

§ 43–1511a. Increased rate of assessment for laying mains.

CODIFICATION

Section, act July 16, 1947, 61 Stat. 360, ch. 258, Act V, § 2, which established the rate of assessment for laying or constructing water mains in the District of Columbia, on and after July 1, 1947, at $1.90 per linear foot, is omitted as superseded by section 43–1511.

§ 43–1512. Assessor to give notice of assessments.

The assessor of the District of Columbia shall give notices as herein provided of the levying of assessments for water mains and service sewers. Assessments shall be levied within sixty days after the completion of the main or service sewer, and the owner or owners affected by such assessments shall be notified that the same have been levied by a notice which shall be served upon the owner of the lot or parcel of land if he or she be a resident of the District of Columbia, and his or her residence be known. If the owner be a nonresident or his or her residence be unknown, the notice shall be served on his or her agent or tenant. The service of such notice, where the owner or his or her agent or tenant resides in the District of Columbia, shall be personal or by leaving the same with some person of suitable age, either a member of his family or in his employ, at the residence or place of business of such owner, agent, or tenant; and return of such service, stating the manner thereof, shall be made in writing under oath and filed in the office of the assessor of the District of Columbia. If there be no agent or tenant known to said assessor, and the owner or owners be not residents of the District of Columbia, or if the owner be a resident of the District of Columbia and can not be found therein, and no person of suitable age as aforesaid can be found at his or her residence or place of business, notice shall be given by advertisement once a week for three successive weeks in some daily newspaper published in said District, and in said publication of said notice each several piece of property shall be described in a separate paragraph, and the cost of such advertisement shall be added to the amount of said assessment and collected in the same manner that said assessment is collected. (Apr. 22, 1904, 33 Stat. 245, ch. 1417, § 3.)

§ 43–1513. Water main and service sewer assessments payable in three installments.

Assessments for water mains and service sewers shall be payable in three equal installments, the first of which shall be due and payable without interest within thirty days from date of service of notice or of the last publication of notice as the case may be, the second within one year, and the third within two years from the date of assessment, and interest at the rate of six per centum per annum shall be charged on all amounts which shall remain unpaid at the expiration of thirty days from the date of service of notice or last publication as the case may be; but the owner of the property assessed may, at his option, at any time after the levying of such assessment, pay the same in full: Provided, That if any installment of any assessment for water main or service sewer levied under the provisions of sections 43–1510 to 43–1517, inclusive, shall not be paid when due and payable the property against which said assessment was levied may be sold for said delinquent installment at the next ensuing annual tax sale in the same manner and under the same conditions as property sold for delinquent general taxes, if said installment shall not have been paid prior to said sale. (Apr. 22, 1904, 33 Stat. 245, ch. 1417, § 4.)

§ 43–1514. Assessment of property in county of Washington for water mains and service sewers.

Property in the county of Washington, not subdivided into blocks or lots, or both, shall not be assessed for water mains or service sewers until subdivided: Provided, That where houses are built on any unsubdivided land and connection is made with a water main or service sewer, assessment shall be made as herein provided for in the case of subdivided property by assessing a frontage of fifty feet on each side of said connection with a depth of one hundred feet, except that no double assessment shall be levied; said assessment to be levied within sixty days after said connection is made; and if such unsubdivided land is thereafter subdivided into blocks or lots, such lots shall be assessed as herein provided as to subdivided lands, but the fifty feet on each side of said connection, with a depth of one hundred feet, shall not be again assessed: Provided further, That assessments at the rate and in the manner herein provided for shall be levied against each lot or parcel of land abutting any water main or service sewer in all subdivisions of land, within sixty days after the recording of such subdivision in the office of the surveyor of the District of Columbia, except in cases where said lots or parcels of land have been previously assessed for the same main or service sewer. (Apr. 22, 1904, 33 Stat. 246, ch. 1417, § 5.)

§ 43–1515. Relevying assessments when assessments declared void.

The assessor of the District of Columbia is hereby authorized and directed in cases where water-main assessments, or assessments for service sewers, may be quashed, canceled, set aside, or declared void by the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, or may otherwise be canceled or set aside, by reason of an imperfect or erroneous description of the lot or parcel of ground against which the same shall have been levied, by reason of such tax or assessment not having been authenticated by the proper officer or by reason of a defective return of service of notice, or for any technical reason other than the right of the authorities of the District of Columbia to levy assessment or lay the main or service sewer in respect of which assessment was levied, to relevy such assessment at the rate and in the manner provided for in sections 43–1510 to 43–1517, inclusive: Provided, That such reassessment shall be made within sixty days from date of such cancellation. In all cases where a water-main has heretofore been or may hereafter be laid in a public street or way, and in order to secure the laying of such main the cost or a part thereof has been paid to the District of Columbia prior to the laying of said main by any person or corporation, there shall be repaid from time to time to such person or corporation, out of the collections from the assessment for such main, all of the amounts so paid over and above the assessment chargeable against the land owned or controlled by said person or corporation. And after March 3, 1905, the said commissioners are authorized to cause to be refunded in the same manner and subject to the same limitations all money paid for water for any special purpose where the project is abandoned and the water not used, and for tapping water mains and for furnishing stopcock where the service is not rendered and the material is not furnished; and all money refunded under this section shall be paid from and charged to the water fund. (Mar. 3, 1905, 33 Stat. 912, ch. 1406.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Liability of collector of taxes

Where record showed that protest made upon payment of water bill was handed to water registrar with request that he show protest to commissioners, and there was no showing that collector of taxes took any part in the controversy or committed any of the acts which compelled the payment or that he had any notice that bill was being paid under protest no personal liability rested on collector upon showing that the collection was erroneously made. Farrell v. Ward (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 53 A. 2d 46).

§ 43–1520. Water rents—Rates.

The following schedule of water rents in the District of Columbia shall be fixed by the commissioners of said District:

For the use of water for domestic purposes through unmetered services, $9.85 per annum for all tenements two stories high, or less, with a front width of sixteen feet, or less; for each additional front foot or fraction thereof greater than one-half, 62 cents; and for each additional story or part thereof, one-third of the charges as computed above. For business places that are not required to install meters under existing regulations, the rates in effect June 30, 1930, to be increased by 40 per centum per annum. For the use of water through metered services, a minimum charge of $8.75 per annum for seven thousand five hundred cubic feet of water, and 7 cents per one hundred cubic feet for water used in excess of that quantity. For water for building construction purposes when not supplied through a meter, 6 cents per one thousand brick and 3 cents per cubic yard of concrete, with a minimum charge of $1 for each separate building project. All water required for purposes which are not covered by the foregoing classifications shall be paid for at such rates as may be fixed by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia. (July 3, 1930, 46 Stat. 988, ch. 848.)

§ 43–1520a. Increase in water rents.

Water rents charged by the District of Columbia for water used in the District of Columbia on and after July 1, 1947, shall be increased 25 per centum over the rents now in effect. Whenever the application of this increase to an existing rate results in a rate with a fractional part of a cent, the rate shall be, if the fraction be one-half cent or more, the nearest higher amount not containing a fraction, and, if the fraction be less than one-half cent, the nearest lower amount not containing a fraction. In computing the rent for the consumption of water in excess of the minimum amount allowed by law for metered service, if the rent is charged for a period beginning prior to July 1, 1947, and ending thereafter, the rent for such excess consumption shall be prorated. (July 16, 1947, 61 Stat. 360, ch. 258, Art. V, § 1.)

§ 43–1520b. Additional charge on unpaid water bills.

CODIFICATION

Section, act June 27, 1942, 56 Stat. 458, ch. 452, § 1, relating to arrearage charges is omitted as superseded by § 43–1521a.

§ 43–1520c. Commissioners to have authority to fix water rates.

(a) The Commissioners are authorized, in their discretion, to fix from time to time, the rates charged by the District for water and water services furnished by the District water supply system. Such rates so fixed, whether involving one or more changes in rate, or one or more changes in the basic quantity of water to be supplied at a given rate, or the combined effect of both such changes, shall not, in any event, result in increasing by more than 33⅓ per centum the rates in effect on the day preceding the effective date of this section. In computing the charge for the consumption of water in excess of the minimum amount allowed for metered service, if such charge is for a period beginning prior to so fixing such rates and ending thereafter, the charge for such excess consumption shall be prorated on a monthly basis, in accordance with the rates prevailing in the respective periods. Nothing in this title shall be construed to modify the provisions of section 43–1530 relating to the delivery of water from the District water supply system to the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a) of this section, the Commissioners are authorized, in their discretion, to increase the rates charged by the District for water and water services furnished by the District water supply system: Provided, That no such increase shall exceed 25 per centum of the rate in effect on January 1, 1961. (May 18, 1954, 68 Stat. 101, ch. 218, title I, § 101; Mar. 2, 1962, 76 Stat. 17, Pub. L. 87–408, § 501.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Date of liability

Where plaintiff was highest bidder at a foreclosure sale of realty under a deed of trust, plaintiff became owner as of date of sale and not as of date of delivery of deed for purposes of determining when plaintiff should give notice to Water Registrar of District of Columbia of purchase of such property. Urciolo v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 82 A. 2d 909).

Liability of prior tenant

A tenant, who became secondarily liable for water bill which accrued during prior tenancy by his failure to give written notice of acquiring control of premises within five days thereof as required by this section and order issued by Commissioners of District of Columbia, was entitled to pay accrued water rent without submitting to the cutting off of his water supply, and could look to prior tenant for indemnity regardless of prior tenant's lack of consent notwithstanding his protest. Simmons v. Quick (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 656).

Fact that a tenant, by failing to give written notice of acquiring control of premises within five days thereof as required by this section and order issued by Commissioners of District of Columbia, became secondarily liable for water bill which accrued during a prior tenancy, did not relieve prior tenant of his primary liability. Id.

A tenant who was seeking reimbursement for water bill which accrued during a prior tenancy stood in the shoes of a creditor and could not recover more than was actually due by prior tenant. Id.

A purchaser of property could not be compelled to pay for water used by former occupants of purchased property either by sections 1519 to 1522 of this title regulating water system or regulations issued by commissioners pursuant thereto. Farrell v. Ward (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 53 A. 2d 46).

Liability of purchaser

One purchasing property within District of Columbia without notifying Water Registrar may be compelled to pay full current water rates for property. Urciolo v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 82 A. 2d 909).

Scope of official duties

District of Columbia officials acted within their authority in refusing to turn water on for new principal tenant of premises where owners of premises had not, for many years, paid, or secured to be paid, water rents, and having voluntarily paid such arrearages in order to secure water supply, tenant could not recover from such officials the amount paid by him and damages claimed to have resulted from alleged conspiracy to illegally force him to pay such amount. Quick v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1952, 90 A. 2d 235).

Commissioners and water registrar, in requiring purchaser of property to pay for water used by former occupants of purchased property, were acting within scope of their official duties, and even though they made a mistake in exercise of judgment or acted on erroneous construction of the law, they could not be held personally liable to purchaser. Farrell v. Ward (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 53 A. 2d 46).

Voluntary payment

A tenant who failed to give written notice of acquiring control of premises within five days thereof as required by this section and order issued by Commissioners of District of Columbia, and who was thereafter required to pay water bill which accrued during a prior tenancy upon municipal authorities' threatening suspension of water service, was not a mere "volunteer," so as to preclude recovery from prior tenant. Simmons v. Quick (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 656).

§ 43–1521a. Additional charge on unpaid water bills.

An additional charge of 10 per centum shall be added to any water charge remaining unpaid after the expiration of thirty days from the date of rendition of a bill for such charge. (May 18, 1954, 68 Stat. 101, ch. 218, title I, § 102.)

§ 43–1521b. Discontinuance of water service for failure to pay water charges.

The Commissioners are authorized to provide for the collection of water charges, in advance or otherwise, from the owner or occupant of any building, establishment, or other place furnished water or water service by the District, and to shut off the water supply to any such building, establishment, or other place upon failure of the owner or occupant thereof to pay such water charges within thirty days from the date of rendition of the bill therefor. Such authority to shut off the water supply may be exercised by the Commissioners regardless of any change in ownership or occupancy of such building, establishment, or other place. When the water supply to any such building, establishment, or other place has been shut off for failure to pay such water charges, whether the water supply to such building, establishment, or other place was shut off before or after the enactment of this title, the Commissioners shall not again supply such building, establishment, or other place with water until all arrears of water charges, together with penalties and the costs actually incurred in shutting off and restoring the water supply, are paid. § 43–1521c. Lien for water charges.

The District shall have a continuing lien for water charges upon any land and the improvements thereon to which water or water service is or has been furnished. Such lien shall have priority over all other liens except liens for District taxes. If any water charges shall remain unpaid after the expiration of two years from the date of rendition of the bill for such charges, or two years from the effective date of this title, whichever is later, the property which has been furnished such water or water service may be sold for such unpaid water charges, together with penalties thereon and costs, at the next ensuing tax sale in the same manner and under the same conditions as property sold for delinquent general taxes, if such water charges, together with penalties thereon and costs, shall not have been paid in full prior to said sale. So much of the proceeds of said sale as represents said unpaid water charges shall be credited to the water fund of the District. (May 18, 1954, 68 Stat. 102, ch. 218, title I, § 104.)

§ 43–1522. Water rates not to be a source of revenue.

The water rates levied in the District of Columbia shall never be a source of revenue other than as a means of keeping up to said District a supply of water, but shall constitute a fund exclusively for the maintenance, management, and repair of the system of water-distribution. (R. S., D. C., § 198; July 12, 1876, 19 Stat. 87, ch. 180, § 18; Feb. 25, 1885, 23 Stat. 319, ch. 145.)

CODIFICATION

Act 1876 extended water taxes, water rents, and taxation for water mains, over all parts of the District of Columbia, and act 1885 extended points of water supply beyond Washington and Georgetown.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Governmental function

Circumstance that District was not permitted by Code to make profit on water sold would not convert function of selling water into purely governmental one, such as providing police force for protection of all, and District of Columbia could be held liable for negligent operation of motor vehicle by employee of District government in connection with installation of water mains. Scull et al. v. District of Columbia et al. (1958, 250 F. 2d 767, 102 U. S. App. D. C. 104, certiorari denied 78 S. Ct. 703, 356 U. S. 920, 2 L. Ed. 2d 715).

§ 43–1523. Water tax to be a fund to defray cost of water distribution.

The water tax authorized to be levied and collected by the provisions of this chapter shall constitute a fund to be used exclusively to defray the cost of distribution of the water, including all necessary fixtures and machines connected with such distribution. (R. S., D. C., § 203.)

§ 43–1524. Water rents from Washington Aqueduct to be applied to improvement of same.

All water rents derived from the Washington Aqueduct shall be applied to the improvement and repair of the same, and for no other purpose. (R. S., D. C., § 217.)

§ 43–1525. Fire plug tax.

To aid in the erection, maintenance, and efficiency of fire-plugs, a special annual tax may be levied on all buildings in the City of Washington within five hundred feet of any main water-pipe, into which, or the premises connected therewith, the water has not been introduced, and the owners or occupants of which do not pay any annual water-rate in accordance with law. (R. S., D. C., § 205; June 17, 1890, 26 Stat. 159, ch. 428.)

§ 43–1526. Same—Rates.

The fire-plug tax shall be levied with reference to the value of the building so taxed, and shall not be more than five dollars nor less than one dollar per year. (R. S., D. C., § 206.)

"Notwithstanding the provisions of this title [this chapter] any current appropriation available to the District for the construction, operation, maintenance, expansion, relocation, replacement, renovation, and repair of the sanitary sewage works of the District shall remain available for the purposes for which appropriated."

§ 43–1602. D. C. Sanitary Sewage Works Fund.

There is hereby created in the Treasury of the United States a special fund which shall be known as the D. C. Sanitary Sewage Works Fund, and which shall be composed of such sums as shall be deposited to the credit of such fund, including, but not limited to, sums received by the Commissioners under the provisions of sections 43–1510 to 43–1517, on account of assessments levied for the construction of sewers and including any payment made to the District by any governmental agency of the States of Maryland or Virginia on account of any sewer service furnished any such agency by the District. (May 18, 1954, 68 Stat. 104, ch. 218, title II, § 202.)

§ 43–1603. Use of the D. C. Sanitary Sewage Works Fund.

Subject to appropriations, the D. C. Sanitary Sewage Works Fund shall be available for use by or under the direction and control of the Commissioners for—

(b) payment of a portion of such administrative expenses as may not be wholly allocated to the sanitary sewage works or to any other sewage works of the District, but which expenses are incurred in connection with the operation of the sanitary sewage works and either or both the stormwater sewer system and the combined sewer system. The portion of such expenses to be paid from the D. C. Sanitary Sewage Works Fund shall be fixed from time to time by the Commissioners at such a percentage of the total of such expenses for the said sewer systems as the Commissioners, in their discretion, may determine;

(c) payment of such portion of all expenses for the construction, operation, maintenance, expansion, relocation, replacement, renovation, and repair of the combined sewer system of the District as the Commissioners, in their discretion, determine to be attributable to the sanitary sewer function of such combined sewer system;

(d) payment of the District's contribution to the expenses of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin;

(e) payments by the District to agencies in the State of Maryland providing services to the District for conveying, treating, or disposing of sanitary sewage: Provided, That the said fund shall not be available to pay the cost of providing sewage service to institutions of the District located in the State of Maryland;

(f) payments to the General Fund and other funds of the District for such expenses or estimated expenses as are or may be incurred in the administration of this chapter;

(g) payment to the United States Treasury of the interest, in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, on loans to the District for such Sanitary Sewage Works Fund;

(i) refund of part or all of any sanitary sewer service charges erroneously paid: Provided, That application for refund shall be made within two years after such erroneous payment. (May 18, 1954, 68 Stat. 104, ch. 218, title II, § 203.)

§ 43–1604. Advances for sanitary sewage works—Reimbursement for amounts advanced.

The Secretary of the Treasury, notwithstanding the provisions of the District of Columbia Appropriation Act, approved June 29, 1922 (42 Stat. 668), is authorized and directed to advance, on the requisition of the Commissioners, made in the manner now prescribed by law, out of any money in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, such sums as may be necessary, from time to time, to meet the expenses of the District in connection with the construction, operation, maintenance, expansion, relocation, replacement, renovation, and repair of the sanitary sewage works of the District, as authorized by Congress, and such amounts so advanced shall be reimbursed by the said Commissioners to the Treasury out of the moneys deposited to the credit of the D. C. Sanitary Sewage Works Fund. (May 18, 1954, 68 Stat. 105, ch. 218, title II, § 204.)

§ 43–1605. Service charges for sanitary sewer service—Authority of Commissioners.

The Commissioners are authorized to establish charges for the provision of sanitary sewer service, such charges to be collected in the same manner and at the same time as water charges are collected, and to be paid into the D. C. Sanitary Sewage Works Fund. (May 18, 1954, 68 Stat. 106, ch. 218, title II, § 206.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section 219 of act May 18, 1954, provided that: "The provisions of sections 206 to 211, inclusive, [this section, and §§ 43–1606 to 43–1610] of this title shall become effective on the first day of the third month following the enactment of this Act [May 18, 1954]."

§ 43–1606. Methods of determination of sanitary sewer service charges.

The sanitary sewer service charges established under the authority of this chapter shall be based on the water consumption of, and water service to, the properties served, and be determined by one of the following methods:

(a) Where water is supplied from the District water supply system at meter rates, the Commissioners shall establish the sanitary sewer service charge as a percentage of the water charge applicable in the District, but such percentage shall not exceed 75 per centum of the water charge.

(b) Where water is supplied from the District water supply system, which water is not measured by meter, but is supplied at special business and miscellaneous rates, the Commissioners shall establish the sanitary sewer service charge at a percentage of such special business and miscellaneous rates, but such percentage shall not exceed 75 per centum of such rates.

(c) For each property using water, all or part of which is from a source or sources other than the District water supply system, the Commissioners shall establish a sanitary sewer service charge separate from and in addition to any sanitary sewer service charge levied under paragraph (a) or (b) of this section. Such separate or additional sanitary sewer service charge shall be measured by the quantity of water from the source or sources other than the District water supply system discharged into the District sanitary sewer system from said property. The owner or occupant of each such property shall install and maintain, without cost to the District, a meter or meters to measure the quantity of water received from other than the water supply system of the District, and the sanitary sewer service charge based upon water received from other than the water supply system of the District shall be the same in amount as would be paid by the owner of a metered property receiving the same quantity of water from the water supply system of the District. No meter shall be installed or be used for such purpose without the approval of the Commissioners. In the event the owner or occupant of property fails or refuses to furnish and properly maintain such meter or meters as are prescribed herein in the manner required by the Commissioners, then the supply of water from the District water supply system to the property or premises may be suspended by the Commissioners and the said supply shall not be restored until the metering of such supplementary water source has been accomplished by the owner or occupant to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, and any costs devolving upon the District as a result of the suspension of service from the District water supply system shall be paid to the District prior to the restoration of water service from the District water supply system.

(d) Wherever a property upon which a sanitary sewer service charge is imposed uses water from the water supply system of the District for an industrial or commercial purpose in such manner that the water so used is not discharged into the sanitary sewage works of the District, the quantity of water so used and not discharged into the sanitary sewage works of the District may be excluded in determining the sanitary sewer service charge on such property, if such exclusion is previously requested in writing by the owner or occupant thereof. Upon such request, the quantity of water so used and not discharged into the sanitary sewage works of the District shall be measured by a device or devices approved by the Commissioners, installed and maintained without cost to the District, and the sanitary sewer service charge to be imposed on such property shall be not more than 75 per centum of the water charge which would have been charged such property if the amount of water so used and not discharged into the sanitary sewage works of the District had not been included in the amount of water used by such property: Provided, That all water from the water supply system of the District used by such property shall be paid for at established rates, whether or not such water is discharged into the sanitary sewage works of the District. Where in the opinion of the Commissioners, it is not practicable to install a measuring device to determine continuously the quantity of water used for such industrial or commercial purposes and not discharged into the sanitary sewage works of the District, the Commissioners shall determine periodically, in such manner and by such methods as the Commissioners may prescribe, the quantity of water from the water supply system of the District discharged into the sanitary sewage works of the District, and the sanitary sewer service charge shall be based on such estimated quantity of water at the percentage authorized by this paragraph. Any dispute as to such estimated amount shall be decided by the Commissioners and such decision shall be final; and in the event the owner or occupant fails to furnish and maintain such measuring devices or to facilitate the periodic determinations by the Commissioners as prescribed herein, then the privilege of excluding some portion of the water used from the District water supply system from the charges for sanitary sewer service shall be forfeited and the charges for sanitary sewer service shall be based on the full amount of the water used from the District water supply system. (May 18, 1954, 68 Stat. 106, ch. 218, title II, § 207; Mar. 2, 1962, 76 Stat. 18, Pub. L. 87–408, § 502.)

(a) The sanitary sewer service charges prescribed herein shall be applicable to all sanitary sewer services furnished by the sanitary sewage works of the District through any connection thereto for direct use by the Government of the United States or any department, independent establishment, or agency thereof, and such charges shall be predicated on the value of water and water services received by such facilities of the Government of the United States or any department, independent establishment, or agency thereof from the District water supply system. Payment of the said sanitary sewer service charge shall be made as provided in subsection (b) of this section: Provided, That the aggregate amount of such sanitary sewer service charge for each fiscal year shall be determined in the manner prescribed in section 43–1606: Provided further, That the obligation to pay for sanitary sewer services received by the Government of the United States or any department, independent establishment, or agency thereof shall be with respect to such service furnished on and after July 1, 1954.

(b) For the purpose of effectuating the provisions of subsection (a) of this section there shall be included annually in the budget estimates of the Commissioners beginning with the estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1955, the value as determined by the Commissioners of the sanitary sewer service furnished to the United States or to any department, independent establishment, or agency thereof during the most recent preceding fiscal year for which such value can be determined based on the rates for such charges prevailing during the period of such service, and there shall be appropriated annually for the

D. C. Sanitary Sewage Works Fund out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated (to be advanced on July 1 of each fiscal year beginning July 1, 1954) a sum corresponding to the said value of charges for sanitary sewer service furnished the United States. (May 18, 1954, 68 Stat. 108, ch. 218, title II, § 212.)

§ 43–1612. Loans from the United States Treasury for sanitary and combined sewer systems of the District.

§ 43–1615. Advancement and availability of funds from loans.

The loans authorized by this chapter shall be advanced to the Commissioners on their requisitions therefor, shall be available to the Commissioners for the construction, expansion, relocation, replacement, or renovation of all parts of the sanitary sewage works of the District, and shall be available until expended. C. Sanitary Sewage Works Fund: Provided, That the Commissioners may, in their discretion, make repayments in larger amounts at any time during the life of any such loan. Interest on such loans shall begin to accrue as of the dates the respective advancements are credited to the D. C. Sanitary Sewage Works Fund.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of the preceding subsection, the interest and principal payments on not to exceed $10,000,000 of the loans authorized by section 43–1613 shall be deferred whenever the Secretary of the Treasury finds that the income received from charges for sewage service attributable to sewage flowing into the District of Columbia sanitary sewage works from the Potomac interceptor (authorized by sections 43–1620 to 43–1624) is inadequate to provide for the payment of such interest or principal, or both interest and principal, and such deferred interest and principal shall be added to the sums payable to the Secretary of the Treasury in later years. Loans advanced pursuant to this chapter during any six-month period (beginning with the six-month period ending December 31, 1954) shall be at a rate of interest determined by the Secretary of the Treasury as of the beginning of such period, which, in his judgment, would reflect the cost of money to the Treasury for borrowings at a maturity approximately equal to one-half of the period of time the loan is outstanding. § 43–1620. Commissioners authorized to develop plan for interceptor and sewer line.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia (or their designated agents), hereinafter called the Commissioners, are hereby authorized to develop a plan for a sanitary interceptor and trunk sewer line to extend from Dulles International Airport to the District of Columbia system, hereinafter called the Potomac interceptor, which shall be of sufficient capacity to provide service for such airport and for the expected community growth and development in the adjacent areas in the States of Maryland and Virginia. Such plan shall be developed in consultation with the National Capital Planning Commission and the National Capital Regional Planning Council. (June 12, 1960, 74 Stat. 210, Pub. L. 86–515, § 1.)

§ 43–1621. Potomac interceptor—Acquisition of rights-of-way—Plans and specifications—Operation and maintenance of regional sanitary sewer system—Charges for use of interceptor—Deposit of funds.

(a) Upon completion of the plan authorized by section 43–1620, the Commissioners are authorized to provide for acquisition of rights-of-way, development of the detailed plans and specifications, and construction of the Potomac interceptor. When such interceptor is completed, it shall be operated and maintained by the Commissioners as a part of a regional sanitary sewer system in cooperation with the proper authorities of the State and local jurisdictions concerned, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Commissioners.

(b) The Commissioners are authorized to establish, by agreements with the appropriate agencies of the United States and with the proper authorities of the States and local jurisdictions concerned, charges for the use of the Potomac interceptor, which shall be based upon the costs of operation, maintenance, and amortization of the cost of all planning and construction (including acquisition of rights-of-way) of such interceptor, but which shall exclude such amount as may be appropriated pursuant to section 43–1622. The Commissioners shall credit all receipts from such charges for the use of the Potomac interceptor to a special fund which is hereby established and which shall be known as the Metropolitan Area Sanitary Sewage Works Fund of the District of Columbia. Such special fund shall be available in such amounts as may be appropriated from time to time for expenses necessary to plan, construct, maintain, and operate the Potomac interceptor.

(c) The Commissioners shall also charge all users of the Potomac interceptor, including any agency of the United States for carrying, treating, and disposing of sewage in the sewerage system of and within the District of Columbia consistently with the provisions of section 1–817c and section 1–817, and the receipts derived from said charges shall be deposited to the credit of the D.C. Sanitary Sewage Works Fund (created by section 43–1602). (June 12, 1960, 74 Stat. 211, Pub. L. 86–515, § 2.)

§ 43–1622. Authorization of appropriations.

For the purposes of carrying out the provisions of sections 43–1620 to 43–1624, there is authorized to be appropriated, without fiscal year limitation, to the Metropolitan Area Sanitary Sewage Works Fund the sum of $3,000,000, as the Federal contribution toward the cost of planning, acquiring rights-of-way for, and constructing the Potomac interceptor. Any loan advanced under this section shall be credited to the Metropolitan Area Sanitary Sewage Works Fund, and shall be repaid to the Secretary of the Treasury, from the receipts credited to said fund, in substantially equal annual payments including principal and interest, within a period of forty years beginning on July 1 of the second fiscal year following the date on which each such advance is credited to this fund: Provided, That interest and principal payments shall be deferred whenever the Secretary of the Treasury finds that the income received from charges for sewage services is inadequate to cover these and other expenses properly chargeable to these receipts, and such deferred interest and principal shall be added to the sums payable to the Secretary of the Treasury in later years. The interest rates on such loans shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of section 43–1617. (June 12, 1960, 74 Stat. 211, Pub. L. 86–515, § 4.)

(b) When any land under the jurisdiction of any department or agency of the United States may be needed for the construction or operation of the Potomac interceptor, the appropriate officer of such department or agency is authorized, upon request of the Commissioners, to transfer to the Commissioners jurisdiction over so much of such land, or of such interests therein, as the Commissioners shall request. (June 12, 1960, 74 Stat. 211, Pub. L. 86–515, § 5.)

(Jan. 14, 1933, 47 Stat. 759, ch. 10, § 3.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Application

Provision of this section prohibiting establishment of bus line, competitive with named transit company, over a given route on a fixed schedule, unless Public Utilities Commission has issued certificate to competing carrier that its line is necessary for convenience of public, gives transit company a status which is legally protectible. Capital Transit Co. v. Safeway Trails, Inc. (1953, 201 F. 2d 708, 92 U. S. App. D. C. 20).

Provision that no competitive street railway or bus line for transportation of passengers of character which runs over a given route on a fixed schedule shall be established without prior issuance of certificate by Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia to effect that competitive line is necessary for convenience of public covers all kinds of operations of a competitive bus line, regardless of whether they are intrastate or interstate, and such provision is not limited to interstate operations. Oriole Motor Coach Co. v. Public Utilities Commission (D.C.D.C. 1953, 111 F. Supp. 621).

Findings

There was no such absence of substantial evidence in support of Public Utilities Commission's finding that bus service extension was necessary for convenience of public as would overcome conclusiveness thereof. Washington, Marlboro & Annapolis Motor Lines, Inc. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1953, 114 F. Supp. 321).

Injunction

The Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia is not entitled to an injunction restraining a utility from retiring bonds and from paying a proposed dividend, pending Commission's investigation of utility's financial structure, even if neither stockholders nor bondholders nor utility would be significantly injured by delay, unless there appears a legal basis for issuance of injunction. Public Utilities Commissioner of District of Columbia v. Capital Transit Co. et al. (1954, 214 F. 2d 242, 94 U. S. App. D. C. 140).

Notice of hearing

Where, on appeal from order extending bus lines, court found it reasonably possible that a competitor's interests might be adversely affected thereby, but, being unable to determine if such were the fact, remanded the case to the Commission with direction that competitor be accorded a fair hearing after due notice, any defect in original proceeding caused by lack of notice to competitor was corrected by remand and subsequent action of competitor in proceeding. Washington, Marlboro & Annapolis Motor Lines, Inc. v. Public Utilities Commission of District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1953, 114 F. Supp. 321).

§ 44–202. Street railways to furnish sufficient cars—Power, equipment, appliances, and service—Rules and regulations—Penalties.

Every street railroad company or corporation owning, controlling, leasing or operating one or more street railroads within the District of Columbia shall on each and all of its railroads supply and operate a sufficient number of cars, clean, sanitary, in good repair, with proper and safe power, equipment, appliances and service, comfortable and convenient, and so operate the same as to give expeditious passage, not to exceed fifteen miles per hour within the city limits or twenty miles per hour in the suburbs, to all persons desirous of the use of the said cars, without crowding said cars. The Public Service Commission is hereby given power to require and compel obedience to all of the provisions of this section, and to make, alter, amend and enforce all needful rules and regulations to secure said obedience; and said commission is given power to make all such orders and regulations necessary to the exercise of the powers herein granted to it as may be reasonable and proper; and such railroad companies or corporations, their officers and employees, are hereby required to obey all the provisions of this section, and such regulations and orders as may be made by said commission. Any such company or corporation, or its officers or employees, violating any provision of this section, or any of the said orders or regulations made by said commission, or permitting such violation, shall be punished by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars. And each day of failure or neglect on the part of such company or corporation, its officers or employees, to obey each and all of the provisions and requirements of this section, or the orders and regulations of the commission made thereunder, shall be regarded as a separate offense. (May 23, 1908, 35 Stat. 250, ch. 190, § 16; Aug. 30, 1964, 78 Stat. 634, Pub. L. 88–503, § 21.)

Codification

As originally enacted, the words "not to exceed fifteen miles per hour within the city limits or twenty miles per hour in the suburbs" after the words "expeditious passage" were included. These speed limits have been superseded by various traffic regulatory laws. See §§ 40–602 (j), 40–603, 40–605.

§ 44–214a. Fares for schoolchildren not over 18 years of age—Formula for adjusting and payment of fare subsidy.

Notwithstanding provisions of the joint resolution entitled "Joint resolution to authorize the merger of street-railway corporations operating in the District of Columbia, and for other purposes", approved January 14, 1933, and the provisions of the unification agreement incorporated therein, and notwithstanding the provisions of the Act entitled "An Act or provide for the transportation of schoolchildren in the District of Columbia at a reduced fare", approved February 25, 1931, the Public Service Commission of the District of Columbia shall fix the rate of fare for transportation by street railway and bus of schoolchildren going to and from public, parochial, or like schools in the District of Columbia at not more than one-half the cash fare established from time to time by the Public Service Commission for regular route transportation within the District of Columbia, and shall establish rules and regulations governing the use thereof. No fares for schoolchildren shall be available to persons over eighteen years of age.

If, after giving effect to any and all motor vehicle fuel tax and real estate tax exemptions, the net operating income from mass transportation operations in the District of Columbia of any common carrier required to furnish transportation to schoolchildren at a reduced fare under this section for any twelve-month period ending August 31 is less than the rate of return established by the regulatory commission having jurisdiction in such carrier's last rate case, net after all taxes properly chargeable to transportation operations, including but not limited to income taxes, on its gross operating revenues in the District of Columbia, exclusive of any school fare subsidy, then the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Commission shall, as soon as practicable after such August 31, certify to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia or their designated agent with respect to such twelve-month period: (1) an amount which is the difference between the total of all reduced fares paid to each such carrier by schoolchildren in accordance with this section and the amount which would have been paid to each such carrier if such fares had been paid at the lowest adult fare established by the Commission for regular route transportation; and (2) an amount which is the amount by which each such carrier's net operating income from mass transportation operations in the District of Columbia is less than such rate of return established by the appropriate regulatory commission in the carrier's last rate case, after giving effect to the aforesaid tax exemptions, exclusive of any such school fare subsidy. Upon such certification, the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia shall pay to each such carrier an amount equal to the amount certified pursuant to clause (1) thereof; except that in no event shall such amount exceed the amount certified pursuant to clause (2) hereof. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Certificate of insurance

Where insurance company over its signature on certificate of insurance filed with Public Utility Commission of the District of Columbia by owner of taxicab recited that policy and endorsement on certificate would remain in full force and effect until cancelled, insurance company could not successfully contend that it never in fact executed the endorsement. Thompson v. Amalgamated Cas. Ins. Co., Inc. (1953, 207 F. 2d 214, 92 U. S. App. D.C. 307).

Coverage

Insurer of owner of taxicab, by signing certificate of insurance filed with Public Utility Commission of the District of Columbia and embodying endorsement stating that coverage was in accordance with provision providing that one operating or running motor vehicle for hire must file with the commission a bond or liability insurance covering any judgment for injury to any person arising from operation of motor vehicle assumed liability for judgment rendered in action for wrongful death occurring in Virginia, while taxicab was being driven by one other than owner, though policy provided for coverage only within District of Columbia while taxicab was being used with permission of owner. Thompson v. Amalgamated Cas. Ins. Co., Inc. (1953, 207 F. 2d 214, 92 U.S. App. D.C. 307).

Duty of superintendent of insurance

Ins. Co.* (1953, 200 F. 2d 129, 91 App. D.C. 279).

Display of stickers

Provisions requiring taxicab insurance and the display of a sticker evidencing such insurance is for the protection of pedestrians and others traveling the streets as well as for passengers, and the requirement is not limited to the times when the vehicle is being used or offered for hire. Stewart v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1944, 35 A. 2d 247).

Provision under this section requires taxicab to display current insurance sticker at all times, allegation in information charging failure to display sticker "while transacting business" may be treated as surplusage. Id.

§ 44–305. Alternate provisions for insurance coverage—Blanket policy for more than one vehicle—Sinking fund in lieu of insurance—Conditions for creation and maintenance of sinking fund—Proof of financial responsibility—Admission of liability by owner for tortious acts of drivers of vehicles—Sinking fund exempt from attachment or levy for other obligations of depositor.

(a) Any owner of a public vehicle required by this chapter to file a bond or policy of insurance may, in lieu thereof—

(1) file with the Commission a blanket bond or a blanket policy of liability insurance, in an amount to be approved by the Commission, but not to exceed $75,000, conditioned as required by this chapter, and covering all vehicles lawfully displaying the trade name or identifying design of any individual, association, company, or corporation; or

Such sinking fund shall not be created unless the Commission is satisfied that such owner is possessed and will continue to be possessed of financial ability to pay judgment obtained against such owner. If such a fund has been created, the Commission shall have authority to require whatever evidence of such owner's financial status may be necessary to satisfy the Commission that such owner is possessed and will continue to be possessed of financial ability to pay judgments obtained against such owner, and may at such time or times as, in its discretion, may be necessary, require such owner to submit in affidavit form detailed information from which such ability may be determined. When upon not less than five days' notice and a hearing pursuant to such notice (unless the right to such hearing is waived in writing by such owner) the Commission finds that any such owner having created and maintained a sinking fund is not possessed or probably will not continue to be possessed of financial ability to pay judgments obtained against such owner the Commission shall require that such owner file with the Commission a bond or policy of insurance as described in this chapter in lieu of such sinking fund and shall thereafter return to the owner the amount of such sinking fund when the Commission is satisfied that the maintenance thereof is not needed to assure the payment of any claim or judgment then outstanding against such owner. Failure to pay any judgment within thirty days after such judgment shall have become final shall constitute a reasonable ground for a finding by the Commission that the owner is not possessed of financial ability to pay judgments.

(b) If any owner elects to comply with paragraph (1) or (2) of subsection (a) of this section, he shall first file with the Commission an admission of liability, in conformity with the principle of respondeat superior, for the tortious acts of the driver or drivers of such vehicle or vehicles displaying the trade name or identifying design of the company or owner.

(c) Any cash or collateral deposit and/or any sinking fund provided for in this chapter shall be exempt from attachment or levy for any obligation or liability of the depositor except as provided in this chapter. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Act March 4, 1097, 34 Stat. 1415, ch. 2939, § 1, is materially different from Act June 11, 1906, 34 Stat. 232. Baltimore & O.R. Co. v. Interstate Commerce Comm. (1911, 31 S. Ct. 621, 221, U.S. 612, 55 L. Ed. 878). See, also United States v. Chicago, M. & P. R. Co. (1915, 218 F. 701).

This act relates solely to commerce. Southern R. Co. v. Taylor (1927, 16 F. 2d 517, 57 App. D. C. 21, certiorari denied 47 S. Ct. 571, 273 U.S. 767, 71 L. Ed. 882).

The intent of Congress in the enactment of this statute, was plainly to create liability on the part of the carriers to their employees and to curtail a part of the defenses which were before legal. Malloy v. Northern Pac. R. Co. (C. C. Wash. 1907, 151 F. 1019).

Act prospective in operation. Winfree v. Northern P. R. Co. (C. C. Wash. 1908, 164 F. 698, affirmed 173 F. 65, 97 C.C.A. 392, 44 L. R. A., N. S., 841, affirmed 33 S. Ct. 273, 227 U.S. 296, 57 L. Ed. 518).

This case distinguishes the extent of liability under this act and that of the act of 1908 (U. S. Comp. St. Supp., p. 1148). Taylor v. Southern R. Co. (C. C. Ga. 1910, 178 F. 380).

Application

Where appellant was injured while working in appellee's car barn, he could not recover under this section since § 36–501 has become the applicable workman's compensation act for the District and appellee was not a common carrier by railroad and is excepted from the operation of § 36–501. Keffer v. Capital Transit Co. (1950, 183 F. 2d 808, 87 U. S. App. D. C. 13).

Assumption of risk

This act so far as assumption of risk is concerned, as applied to the District of Columbia, is superseded by section 4 of the act of April 22, 1908. Washington Terminal Co. v. Sampson (1923, 289 F. 577, 53 App. D. C. 179).

Where plaintiff was injured while operating an unboxed saw in the car shops of defendant, an interstate railway company, by which he was employed, plaintiff did not assume the risk of voluntarily accepting employment in the shop, though the danger was obvious. Malloy v. Northern Pac. R. Co. (C.C. Wash. 1907, 151 F. 1019).

In all actions brought against any common carriers to recover damages for personal injuries to an employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery where his contributed negligence was slight and that of the employer was gross in comparison, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Assignments

Where testatrix devised realty to her daughter for life and then to testatrix's three sons and the issue of the daughter, if any, in fee simple, the issue to take a one-fourth part, and if daughter die without issue then to the three sons, their heirs and assigns forever share and share alike, a son's interests, whether contingent or vested, were assignable, but he could assign only that which he had. Pyne v. Pyne (1946, 154 F. 2d 297, 81 U. S. App. D. C. 11).

Where remainderman's interest was subject to be divested in event of his death, leaving a descendant, prior to death of life tenant, remainderman's assignment of his interest was ineffective as against his descendant on death of remainderman prior to death of the life tenant. Id.

Permanence

Once title vests, it stays vested until it passes by grant, by descent, by adverse possession or by some operation of law such as escheat or forfeiture; but title does not pass by inaction on the part of the owner. Faulks v. Schrider (1938, 99 F. 2d 370, 69 App. D. C. 137).

Reverter interests

A possibility of reverter is not an estate under the District Code but it is an interest in property and any interest in property may be disposed of by deed or will. Scott v. Powell (1950, 182 F. 2d 75, 86 U. S. App. D. C. 277).

§ 45–102. Perpetuities—Excepting charitable uses.

Except in the case of gifts or devises to charitable uses, every future estate, whether of freehold or leasehold, whether by way of remainder or without a precedent estate, and whether vested or contingent, shall be void in its creation which shall suspend, or may by possibility suspend, the power of absolute alienation of the property, so that there shall be no person or persons in being by whom an absolute fee in the same, in possession, can be conveyed, for a longer period than during the continuance of not more than one or more lives in being and twenty-one years thereafter. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1351, ch. 854, § 1023.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Rule against perpetuities was inapplicable. Hopkins v. Grimshaw (1897, 17 S. Ct. 401, 165 U. S. 342, 41 L. Ed. 739).

The provisions of this section are made applicable to personalty as well as realty by § 45–823. Burdick v. Burdick (D.C.D.C. 1940, 33 F. Supp. 921).

Agreement of parties

A decree affecting rights under will will be reversed on agreement of parties to enter decree in accordance with agreement. McDonald v. Maxwell (1926, 12 F. 2d 822, 56 App. D. C. 287).

Alienation of accumulations

There is in the District of Columbia no specific statutory limitation upon restraint on alienation of accumulations. Burdick v. Burdick (D.C.D.C. 1940, 33 F. Supp. 921).

Under the "common law" of the United States and of the District of Columbia, accumulation of income of a testamentary trust is permitted for as long as the period of the rule against perpetuities. Gertman v. Burdick, (1942, 123 F. 2d 924, 75 U. S. App. D. C. 48, 152 A. L. R. 645, certiorari denied 62 S. Ct. 917, 315 U. S. 824, 86 L. Ed. 1220).

The provision of a testamentary trust which did not violate the rule against perpetuities or this section in creating a trust to be effective for 21 years after death of two named nieces of testator, directing that remainder of trust income after the payment of certain annuities should be reinvested by trustee for increase and benefit of trust fund, was valid under the established common law, notwithstanding amount of income directed to be accumulated was quite large. Id.

Alternative contingency

If the testator distinctly makes his gift over to depend upon what is sometimes called an alternative contingency, or upon either of two contingencies, one of which may be too remote and the other cannot be, its validity depends upon the event. Wills v. Maddox (1916, 45 App. D.C. 128, certiorari denied 37 S. Ct. 113, 240 U.S. 640, 61 L. Ed. 541).

Charitable trust defined

One of the distinguishing elements of a charitable trust is the indefiniteness permitted as to beneficiaries so that a trust to be used for assisting deserving applicants for admission to a home, who are unable to furnish necessary money, is valid. Washington Loan & Trust Co. v. Hammond (1922, 278 F. 569, 51 App. D. C. 260).

Class membership

A life estate left to a class consisting of persons in being but which may open and let in other members who are not in being at the time of the testator's death would be obnoxious to the rule against perpetuities. Lewis v. Cockrell (D.C.D.C. 1948, 80 F. Supp. 380).

Construction avoiding repugnancy

Where will showed that testator intended to create life estate for widow, to be followed by life estates for his two daughters, and that upon daughters' deaths property should pass to testator's grandchildren and trust created by will provided that "the income thereof * * * shall be equally divided between my two daughters * * * and in the event of the death of either or both, to the use and benefit of their respective child or children" the last part of such provision would be construed to read "and in the event of the death of either or both, the remainder to the use and benefit of their respective child or children", particularly where a literal construction would be repugnant to prohibition against unlawful suspension of alienation and to the rule against perpetuities. Lewis v. Cockrell (D.C.D.C. 1948, 80 F. Supp. 380).

Contingent remainderman

Where remainder had not vested, the invalidity of prior devise would not benefit contingent remainderman but intestacy would result as to the property covered by the prior devise. Lewis v. Cockrell (D.C.D.C. 1948, 80 F. Supp. 380).

Devise to trustees

Devise to trustees did not create a perpetuity, that is, no limitation upon the property beyond the period of a life or lives in being and twenty-one years. Ould v. Washington Hosp. for Foundlings (1877, 95 U.S. 303, 5 Otto 303, 24 L. Ed. 450).

In suit involving validity of a devise of real estate to foreign cemetery association in trust, for care of lot in District of Columbia, such trust is valid by principle of comity and equity will not allow trust to fail for want of trustee and if necessary will appoint a trustee to carry it into effect. Iglehart v. Iglehart (1905, 26 App. D.C. 209, affirmed 27 S. Ct. 329, 204 U.S. 478, 51 L. Ed. 575).

Where will placed residue of estate in trust for benefit of testator's wife for life and at her death one-half of corpus was given to the testator's sisters and brothers, and the other half remained in trust for an adopted daughter at whose death the income was to go to her children then living or the issue thereof as might then be dead, leaving issue surviving, and upon the death of each, the share of the one so dying should go absolutely to the persons who should be their heirs at law, life estate to the adopted daughter's children had to vest, if at all, at the termination of the preceding life estates of the widow and adopted daughter, and where both children of the adopted daughter were lives in being at the testator's death, the remainders limited to their heirs must vest, if at all, within the period of the rule against perpetuities, and where the children of such children were born after the testator died, the remainders over at their deaths were invalid. American Security and Trust Co., etc., v. M. D. Cramer et al. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 175 F. Supp. 367).

Where testator left residuary estate to trustees to invest and reinvest for 21 years after death of two nieces, to pay annuities from the income and reinvest the remainder, the trustees had at all times power to alienate, and the trust did not violate the statute relating to restraint on alienation. Burdick v. Burdick (1940, 33 F. Supp. 921, reversed on other grounds 123 F. 2d 924, 75 U. S. App. D. C. 48, 152 A. L. R. 645, certiorari denied 62 S. Ct. 917, 315 U. S. 824, 86 L. Ed. 1220).

Future interests

If a will attempts to make income from testator's estate payable to testator's children for life and then to create life estates in offspring of children, if there be any, for an indefinite number of generations, the rule against perpetuities would be violated, and the gift would be void. Hilton v. Kinsey et al. (1951, 185 F. 2d 885, 88 U.S. App. D.C. 14, 23 A.L.R. 2d 830).

Under will creating a trust until 21 years after death of survivor of two named nieces of testator and directing that trust cease at expiration of 21 years after the two lives in being, the future interests created did not violate the "rule against perpetuities." Gertman v. Burdick (1942, 123 F. 2d 924, 75 U. S. App. D. C. 48, 152 A. L. R. 645, certiorari denied 62 S. Ct. 917, 315 U. S. 824, 86 L. Ed. 1220).

Gifts to charitable uses

"Gifts to charitable uses do not come within the purview of the law against perpetuities." Washington Loan & Trust Co. v. Hammond (1922, 278 F. 569, 51 App. D. C. 260).

Incapacity of ultimate taker

The capacity of the ultimate takers is irrelevant on the question whether a future estate violates this section, and it is the instrument creating the future estate which must be examined to determine whether the estate violates this section. Gertman v. Burdick (1942, 123 F. 2d 924, 75 U. S. App. D. C. 48, 152 A. L. R. 645, certiorari denied 62 S. Ct. 917, 315 U. S. 824, 86 L. Ed. 1220).

This section was not intended to make void in its creation any future estate which is limited to take effect immediately at the expiration of the statutory period for the reason that one of the takers has temporary incapacity to convey. Id.

Under will creating a trust until 21 years after death of survivor of two named nieces of testator and directing that trust cease at expiration of 21 years after the two lives in being, the future interests created did not violate this section merely because, at the termination of the trust, the taker might be an infant who would be a person incapable of alienating an absolute fee. Id.

Partial validity

Trust created by will was void except as to one provision, as an attempt to create a perpetuity. Landram v. Jordan (1907, 27 S. Ct. 17, 203 U.S. 56, 51 L. Ed. 88).

Where immediate testamentary trust gifts of life estate to widow and remainders to two nephews were valid and severable from subsequent gifts to others, if such subsequent gifts were invalid, such invalidity, under statutory rule against perpetuities, would not affect validity of prior gifts to widow and nephews. Bliss, Jr. v. McD. Shea, and National Savings and Trust Co. (1956, 230 F. 2d 825, 97 U. S. App. D. C. 275).

Where testamentary trust remote gifts were severable from immediate gifts to widow and nephews, court, in will construction case, would not actually determine validity of such remote gifts, but would construe will only, so far as necessary, to determine issue of validity of immediate gifts. Id.

Where there is a statutory permissible period, an accumulation of income of a testamentary trust is bad only with respect to the excess, whereas an accumulation that violates the common law of lives in being plus 21 years is void in its entirety. Gertman v. Burdick (1942, 123 F. 2d 924, 75 U. S. App. D. C. 48, 152 A. L. R. 645, certiorari denied 62 S. Ct. 917, 315 U. S. 824, 86 L. Ed. 1220).

Where testamentary exercise of power, which created trust for testator's widow for life and then for daughters until they should reach age of 25, was invalid as unduly suspending power of alienation, widow's life interest could not be validated by being separated from other provisions. Mondell v. Thom (1944, 143 F. 2d 157, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 145).

Power of appointment

A testamentary exercise of power of appointment, creating a trust for testator's widow for life and thereafter for daughters until they should reach age of 25, when daughters might take their shares outright, was invalid though widow was alive when donor of power died, since daughter might reach 25 more than 21 years after widow's death. Mondell v. Thom (1944, 143 F. 2d 157, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 145).

The rule that facts existing when donee of power dies, exercising the power by will, may be considered in determining whether absolute ownership vests under exercise of power during lives in being, plus 21 years, would not save testamentary exercise of power by one dying in 1942, where beneficiary born in 1940 would not have taken her share by reaching age of 25 within 21 years of her mother's death if mother had died before 1944. Id.

Facts existing when donee of power of appointment dies exercising the power by will, may be considered in determining whether absolute ownership is to vest under exercise of the power during lives in being, plus 21 years from death of donor. Id.

Power to alienate suspended

Where trustees under a will have at all times the power to alienate, the trust does not violate provisions of this section, and the possibility of suspension of the power of alienation because of infancy or disability of beneficiaries at date of distribution does not invalidate the trust, such suspension being made by law and not by the will. Burdick v. Burdick (D.C.D.C. 1940, 33 F. Supp. 921, reversed on other grounds 123 F. 2d 924, 75 U.S. App. D.C. 48, 152 A. L. R. 645, certiorari denied 62 S. Ct. 917, 315 U.S. 824, 86 L. Ed. 1220).

Sections construed

This section and § 669 (§ 27–113) can be harmonized and construed together—this section applying to cases other than those specially provided for in § 669 (§ 27–113). Iglehart v. Iglehart (1907, 27 S. Ct. 329, 204 U.S. 478, 51 L. Ed. 575).

Time when period begins

In determining validity of exercise of power of appointment, period during which power of alienation might be suspended began at death of donor of the power. Mondell v. Thom (1944, 143 F. 2d 157, 79 U.S. App. D.C. 145).

§ 45–103. Chattels real.

The provisions aforesaid as to future estates shall apply to limitations of chattels real as well as to freehold estates, so that the absolute ownership of a term for years and power to dispose of the same shall not be suspended for a longer period than the absolute power of alienation in respect to a fee simple. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1351, ch. 854, § 1024.)

§ 45–104. Estates created by deed or will.

Subject to the provisions aforesaid, a freehold estate as well as a chattel real may be created by deed or will to commence at a future day, absolutely or conditionally; an estate for life may be created in a term for years and a remainder limited thereon; a remainder of freehold or for years, either vested or contingent, may be created expectant on the determination of a term for years, and a fee may be limited on a fee upon a contingency which must happen, if at all, within the period herein prescribed. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1351, ch. 854, § 1025.)

§ 45–105. Conveyance of land held adversely.

Any person claiming title to land may convey his interest in the same, notwithstanding there may be an adverse possession thereof. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1269, ch. 854, § 513.)

§ 45–106. Creation of term in excess of one year to be by deed or will.

No estate of inheritance, or for life, or for a longer term than one year, in any real property, corporeal or incorporeal, in the District of Columbia, or any declaration or limitation of uses in the same, for any of the estates mentioned, shall be created or take effect, except by deed signed and sealed by the grantor, lessor, or declarant, or by will. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1267, ch. 854, § 492; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 531, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, substituted "or by will" for "and acknowledged in the manner herein provided."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Estoppel

"Where one of two contracting parties has been induced or allowed to alter his position on the faith of a contract within the statute, to such an extent that it would be fraud on the part of the other party to set up its invalidity, courts of equity hold that the clear proof of the contract and of the acts of part performance will take the case out of the operation of the statute, if the acts of part performance were clearly such as to show that they are properly referable to the parol agreement." Kresge v. Crowley (1917, 47 App. D.C. 13).

Leases—Acknowledgment

Lease for rooms in office building was perfectly valid conveyance as between the parties to it, and the parties to this action, although not acknowledged. Munsy Trust Co. v. Alexander (1930, 42 F. 2d 604, 59 App. D. C. 369).

—— Agents

Where rental agent executed a lease to owner's property for term of more than one year, such lease was ineffectual beyond one-year period even though agent had authority from owner to execute it, as such a lease was an attempt by an agent to convey an owner's interest in real estate and was prohibited by this section. Paul v. Holloway, Agent etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 124 A. 2d 587).

Where by terms of lease the agent-lessor formally let and demised property to lessee for a term and in the acknowledgment the instrument was referred to as deed of lease, deed, and "act and deed" of the parties and instrument was signed and sealed by agent-lessor, such instrument was a conveyance which satisfied this section requiring that a lease shall be evidenced by deed signed and sealed by the lessor and consequently lessee was not a tenant by sufferance. Paul v. Holloway (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 122 A. 2d 774).

—— Covenant of renewal

Where lessor had only a life estate, the rights under the lease expired with her and the remaindermen, by accepting rent after her death, are not estopped to defend against the covenant of renewal in the lease. Velati v. Dante (1912, 39 App. D.C. 372, certiorari denied 33 S. Ct. 462, 227 U.S. 679, 57 L. Ed. 700).

—— Designation of parties

Where body of lease properly designated corporate lessor and individual lessee as such, transposition in attestation clause of words lessee and lessor in such manner as to make clause indicate that individual lessee was the corporation did not invalidate the lease, since intent of parties was perfectly apparent from entire lease, and transposition was mere clerical error. Capital Linoleum Co. v. Savage (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 91 A. 2d 564).

—— Not under seal

Although contract for lease of office rooms was not under seal, it was entitled to specific performance, lessor having spent considerable money in remodeling and lessee having occupied for two years. Hoffman v. F. H. Duehay, Inc. (1933, 65 F. 2d 839, 62 App. D. C. 206).

A lease for more than a year must be in the form of a deed, signed and sealed by grantor, but there is no requirement that a lease for less than year be under seal. Binder et al. v. Jaffe (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 101 A. 2d 260).

—— Tenants in common

A lease for eight years (with privilege of renewal) by one tenant in common is void as to the other tenants who did not sign and seal the lease. The acknowledgment of the lessor was not and could not have been as agent or attorney for her co-owners. Velati v. Dante (1912, 39 App. D. C. 372, certiorari denied 33 S. Ct. 462, 227 U. S. 679, 57 L. Ed. 700).

No amount of acquiescence by the remaining tenants could affect their rights, in the absence of power in the lessor to act as trustee for them, in the execution of the lease. Id.

Parol agreement

An alleged parol agreement by lessor to give lessees after expiration of lease an additional five-year term was not enforceable in absence of evidence of lessor's fraud or execution of the agreement, in view of this section specifying the requirements for a lease for longer than one year and section 301 of title 12 that such a lease shall be an estate by sufferance. Ross v. Brainerd (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 54 A. 2d 859).

Statutory compliance

Measuring the instrument by the statutory requirements, enlightened by the forms set forth, which cannot be disregarded, it is not sufficient to grant or create any estate or use in the property since a deed is a written expression of the act of creating an estate or use in land. Schooler v. Schooler (1948, 173 F. 2d 299, 84 U. S. App. D. C. 147).

§ 45–107. Pension and employee trusts—Laws against perpetuities does not apply.

Any pension, profit-sharing, stock bonus, annuity, disability, death benefit, or other employee trusts heretofore or hereafter established by employers for the purpose of distributing the income or the principal thereof, or the principal and income thereof to some or all of their employees, or the beneficiaries of such employees, shall not be invalid as violating any laws of the District of Columbia against perpetuities, against restraints on the power of alienation of title to property, or against accumulation of income, but such trusts may continue for such period of time as may be required by the provisions thereof to accomplish the purposes for which they are established. (Aug. 25, 1959, 73 Stat. 428, Pub. L. 86–201, § 1.)

Chapter 2.—INTERPRETATION OF INSTRUMENTS

Sec.
45–201. Words of inheritance unnecessary.
45–202. Words "grant" or "bargain and sell" pass whole estate.
45–203. Remainder to heirs—Rule in Shelley's case abolished.
45–204. Posthumous children.
45–205. Die without issue or without leaving issue refers to time of death.

§ 45–201. Words of inheritance unnecessary.

No words of inheritance shall be necessary in a deed or will to create a fee simple estate; but every conveyance or devise of real estate shall be construed and held to pass a fee simple estate or other entire estate of the grantor or testator, unless a contrary intention shall appear by express terms or be necessarily implied therein. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1268, ch. 854, § 502.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Construction

Deeds and wills must be construed in accordance with intention of parties insofar as it can be discerned from text of instrument. V. M. Simmons and J. V. Queen v. T. V. Rosemond et al. (D.C.D.C. 1963, 223 F. Supp. 61).

Words of art

The requirement that words of art, such as "and his heirs" or "in fee simple," or any similar phrase, be used in order to create estate in fee simple has been abolished in District of Columbia by statute providing in effect that a conveyance or device to A without anything more grants an estate in fee simple unless the intention of the parties appears to be the contrary. V. M. Simmons and J. V. Queen v. T. V. Rosemond et al. (D.C.D.C. 1963, 223 F. Supp. 61).

Words of limitation

When word "heir" is used in will as one of limitation, it must be given that effect, but contrary is true, if its use in context clearly indicates that it is intended to constitute a disposition by purchase. Greenwood v. Page (1944, 138 F. 2d 921, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 166).

§ 45–202. Words "grant" or "bargain and sell" pass whole estate.

The word "grant," and the phrase "bargain and sell," or any other words purporting to transfer the whole estate shall be construed to pass the whole estate and interest in the property described, unless there be limitations or reservations showing a different intent. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1268, ch. 854, § 503; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 531, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, deleted "of the grantor" which appeared after "and interest."

§ 45–203. Remainder to heirs—Rule in Shelley's case abolished.

Where a remainder shall be limited to the heirs or heirs of the body of a person to whom a life estate in the same premises shall be given, the persons, who, on the termination of the life estate, shall be the heirs or the heirs of the body of such tenant for life shall be entitled to take in fee simple as purchasers by virtue of the remainder so limited. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1352, ch. 854, § 1027.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Construction

Deeds and wills must be construed in accordance with intention of parties insofar as it can be discerned from text of instrument. V. M. Simmons and J. V. Queen v. T. V. Rosemond et al. (D.C.D.C. 1963, 223 F. Supp. 61).

Prior law

Where death of decedent occurred in 1900, before enactment of statute, the common-law rule applied. Noyes v. Parker (1937, 92 F. 2d 562, 68 App. D. C. 13).

Shelley's case

The rule in Shelley's case has been abolished in District of Columbia by statute providing in effect that if one grants an estate to A for life, remainder to his heirs, A receives a life estate and his heirs take a fee simple upon his death. V. M. Simmons and J. V. Queen v. T. V. Rosemond et al. (D.C.D.C. 1963, 223 F. Supp. 61). Testatrix' daughter and granddaughter took life estates and not estates in fee simple under will devising realty to daughter and granddaughter share an share alike, with granddaughter's share going to daughter in event of granddaughter's death without issue and to granddaughter's issue in event of grandaughter's death with issue, and with daughter's share descending to her children per capita. Id.

§ 45–204. Posthumous children.

Where a future estate shall be limited to heirs, or issue, or children, posthumous children shall be entitled to take in the same manner as if living at the death of their parent; and a future estate depending on the contingency of the death of any person without heirs, or issue, or children shall be defeated by the birth of a posthumous child of such person. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1352, ch. 854, § 1028.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Unborn children

"A child en ventre sa mère is deemed to be in esse for the purpose of taking a remainder, or any other estate or interest which is for his benefit, whether by descent, by devise, or under the statute of distribution." Craig v. Rowland (1897, 10 App. D.C. 402).

§ 45–205. Die without issue or without leaving issue refers to time of death.

In any deed or will of real or personal estate in the District of Columbia, executed after Mar. 3, 1901, the words "die without issue," or the words "die without leaving issue," or the words "have no issue," or other words which may import either a want or failure of issue of any person in his lifetime or at the time of his death, or an indefinite failure of his issue, shall be construed to mean a want or failure of issue in the lifetime or at the time of the death of such person, and not an indefinite failure of his issue, unless a contrary intention shall appear in the instrument. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1268, ch. 854, § 504.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Effective date of devise over

Under a devise to one person in fee and in case he should die under age and without issue to another in fee, the devise over takes effect upon the death at any time of the first devisee under age and without children. Herrell v. Herrell (1917, 47 App. D.C. 30).

(Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1269, ch. 854, § 506.)

§ 45–305. Special warranty.

A covenant by a grantor, in a deed conveying real estate, "that he will warrant specially the property hereby conveyed," or a grant of real estate in which the granting words are followed by the words "with special warranty," shall have the same effect as if the grantor had covenanted that he, his heirs, devisees, and personal representatives will forever warrant and defend the said property unto the grantee, his heirs, devisees, personal representatives, and assigns against the claims and demands of the grantor and all persons claiming or to claim by, through, or under him. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1269, ch. 854, § 507.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Trust deed covenants

Where grantor executing trust deeds creating junior liens warranted the property against persons claiming through her and covenanted to execute any necessary further assurances, the effect of the covenants in the trust deeds creating the junior liens was limited by their terms and by the fact that the grantor possessed and intended to convey only an equity of redemption from prior trusts. Thompson v. Lawson (1942, 132 F. 2d 21, 77 U.S. App. D. C. 31, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1177, 319 U. S. 759, 87 L. Ed. 1711).

Waiver

A lessor may waive the breach of a specific covenant by delay in enforcement, or by subsequent acceptance of rent. Klein v. Longo (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 359).

§ 45–306. Covenant of quiet enjoyment.

A covenant by the grantor, in a deed of land, "that the said grantee shall quietly enjoy said land," shall have the same effect as if he had covenanted that the said grantee, his heirs, and assigns, shall, at any and all times after Mar. 3, 1901, peaceably and quietly enter upon, have, hold, and enjoy the land conveyed by the deed or intended to be so conveyed, with all the rights, privileges, and appurtenances thereunto belonging, and to receive the rents and profits thereof, to and for his and their use and benefit, without any eviction, interruption, suit, claim, or demand whatsoever by the said grantor, his heirs or assigns, or any other person or persons whatever. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1269, ch. 854, § 508.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Commercial use

Where landowner, as lessor, entered into a contract of lease for restaurant purposes, he impliedly warranted title and quiet possession, and, in such circumstances, it was not incumbent upon lessee to search lessor's title to determine if there was a covenant in lessor's deed against commercial use but lessee was entitled to rely upon the warranty. Schwartz v. Westbrook (1946, 154 F. 2d 854, 81 U.S. App. D.C. 64, 165 A.L.R. 1175).

§ 45–307. Covenant against having encumbered land.

A covenant by a grantor, in a deed of land, "that he has done no act to encumber said land," shall be construed to have the same effect as if he had covenanted that he had not done or executed or knowingly suffered any act, deed, or thing whereby the land and premises conveyed, or intended so to be, or any part thereof, are or will be charged, affected or encumbered in title, estate, or otherwise. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1269, ch. 854, § 509.)

§ 45–308. Covenant for further assurances.

A covenant by a grantor, in a deed of land, "that he will execute such further assurances of said land as may be requisite," shall have the same effect as if he had covenanted that he, his heirs or devisees, will, at any time, upon any reasonable request, at the charge of the grantee, his heirs or assigns, do, execute, or cause to be done and executed, all such further acts, deeds, and things, for the better, more perfectly and absolutely conveying and assuring the lands and premises conveyed unto the grantee, his heirs and assigns, as intended to be conveyed, as by the grantee, his heirs or assigns, or his or their counsel learned in the law, shall be reasonably devised, advised, or required. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1269 ch. 854, § 510.)

§ 45–309. Warranty by life tenant void as to heir.

All warranties which shall be made by any tenant for life, of any lands, tenements or hereditaments, the same descending or coming to any person in reversion or remainder, shall be void and of none effect, and likewise all collateral warranties, of any lands, tenements or hereditaments, by any ancestor, who has no estate of inheritance in possession in the same shall be void against the heir. (4 Ann, ch. 16, § 21, 1705; Kilty Rep., 246; Alex. Br. Stat. 662; Comp. Stat., D. C., 496, § 33.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Entry into possession

A lease for more than one year will be valid when the tenant enters into possession and expends large sums of money, notwithstanding the invalidity of the lease under the provision of this section that no deed may be executed by attorney. Kresge v. Crowley (1917, 47 App. D.C. 13).

Power of attorney

When power of attorney was given by two persons jointly to acknowledge deed for the grantor, which power was executed by one of them only, such defective acknowledgment was corrected by acts of Congress April 20, 1838, and March 3, 1865. Hevner v. Matthews (1894, 4 App. D.C. 380).

Power of attorney to sell and convey land of married woman and husband and acknowledged by them was valid both by statute and common law. The Civil War did not revoke such power although principals resided in insurrectionary States. Williams v. Paine (1895, 7 App. D.C. 116, affirmed 18 S. Ct. 279, 169 U.S. 55, 42 L. Ed. 658).

§ 45–402. Acknowledgment in the District.

Acknowledgment of deeds may be made in the District of Columbia before any judge of any of the courts of said District, the clerk of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, or any notary public, or the recorder of deeds of said District, and the certificate of the officer taking the acknowledgment shall be to the following effect:

I, A B, a notary public (or other officer authorized) in and for the District of Columbia, do hereby certify that C D, party to a certain deed bearing date on the _____ day of _____, and hereto annexed, personally appeared before me in said District, the said C D being personally well known to me as (or proved by the oath of credible witnesses to be) the person who executed the said deed, and acknowledged the same to be his act and deed.

Given under my hand and seal this ____ day of _____.

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, struck out "such acknowledgment" and inserted in lieu thereof "acknowledgment of deeds."

Act June 25, 1936, substituted "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia" for "Supreme Court of the District of Columbia."

Act June 25, 1948, eff. Sept. 1, 1948, as amended by act May 24, 1949, substituted "United States District Court for the District of Columbia" for "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Evidence to impeach

The evidence to impeach the acknowledgment to a deed for fraud must be clear and convincing. Ford v. Ford (1906, 27 App. D.C. 401).

Omission of words

Whether an acknowledgment is sufficient if the words "do hereby certify" as recited in the statute, are omitted, see Ohio Nat. Bank v. Berlin (1905, 26 App. D.C. 218).

A deed is fatally defective which omits to state that the grantor was personally known to the officer or that his identity had been proved by the oath of credible witnesses, and which fails to identify the instrument by recital of its date. The recordation of an instrument so acknowledged is erroneous and of no effect as constructive notice. Id.

Prima facie proof

"The true view is that the certificate of acknowledgment is prima facie proof of the facts it contains, if within the officers' range, but is open to rebuttal, between the parties, by proof of gross concurrent mistake or fraud. In favor of purchasers for valuable consideration without notice, it is conclusive as to all matters which it is the duty of the acknowledging officer to certify, if he has jurisdiction. As to all other persons it is open to dispute." Ford v. Ford (1906, 27 App. D.C. 401).

§ 45–403. Acknowledgment out of District.

When any deed or contract under seal is to be acknowledged out of the District of Columbia, but within the United States, the acknowledgment may be made before any judge of a court of record and of law, or any chancellor of a State, any judge or justice of the Supreme, District, or Territorial courts of the United States, any justice of the peace or notary public: Provided, That the certificate of acknowledgment aforesaid, made by any officer of the State or Territory not having a seal, shall be accompanied by the certificate of the register, clerk, or other public officer that the officer taking said acknowledgment was in fact the officer he professed to be. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1267, ch. 854, § 495; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 531, ch. 1329; Mar. 3, 1911, 36 Stat. 1167, ch. 231, §§ 289, 291.)

AMENDMENTS

1911—Act Mar. 3, 1911, "circuit" after "Supreme."

1902—Act June 30, 1902, "relating to land" after "seal" and a proviso which stated "that a certificate by any such register, clerk, or other public officer, in the form prescribed by the laws of the State or Territory in which such certificate is made or customarily used therein, shall be a sufficient certificate for the purposes of this section."

§ 45–404. Acknowledgment in foreign country.

Deeds made in a foreign country may be acknowledged before any judge or notary public, or before any secretary of legation or consular officer, or acting consular officer of the United States, as such consular officer is described in section 51 of title 22, U.S. Code; and when the acknowledgment is made before any other officer than a secretary of legation or consular officer or acting consular officer of the United States, the official character of the person taking the acknowledgment shall be certified in the manner prescribed in section 45–403. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1268, ch. 854, § 496; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 531, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, changed the reference from section 1674 of the Revised Statutes to 22 U.S.C. § 51.

§ 45–405. Acknowledgments in Guam, Samoa, and Canal Zone.

Deeds and other instruments affecting land situate in the District of Columbia may be acknowledged in the islands of Guam and Samoa or in the Canal Zone before any notary public or judge, appointed therein by proper authority, or by any officer therein who has ex officio the powers of a notary public: Provided, That the certificate by such notary in Guam, Samoa, or the Canal Zone, as the case may be, shall be accompanied by the certificate of the governor or acting governor of such place to the effect that the notary taking said acknowledgment was in fact the officer he purported to be; and any deeds or other instruments affecting lands so situate, so acknowledged since the 1st day of January, 1905, and accompanied by such certificate shall have the same effect as such deeds or other instruments hereafter so acknowledged and certified. (June 28, 1906, 34 Stat. 552, ch. 3585.)

CODIFICATION

Section is also classified to 48 U.S.C. § 1663.

§ 45–406. Acknowledgments in Philippine Islands and Puerto Rico.

Deeds and other instruments affecting land situate in the District of Columbia may be acknowledged in the Philippine Islands and Puerto Rico before any notary public appointed therein by proper authority, or any officer therein who has ex officio the powers of a notary public: Provided, That the certificate by such notary in the Philippine Islands or in Puerto Rico, as the case may be, shall be accompanied by the certificate of the executive secretary of Puerto Rico, or the governor or Attorney-General of the Philippine Islands to the effect that the notary taking said acknowledgment was in fact the officer he purported to be. (Mar. 22, 1902, 32 Stat. 88, ch. 273; Mar. 2, 1917, 39 Stat. 968, ch. 145, § 54; May 17, 1932, 47 Stat. 158, ch. 190.)

CODIFICATION

Section is also classified to 48 U.S.C. § 742.

AMENDMENT

1902—Act Mar. 2, 1917, deleted "or any territory of the United States" after "Columbia" and substituted "executive-secretary of Porto Rico" for "Attorney General of Porto Rico."

CHANGE OF NAME

The name of "Porto Rico" was changed to "Puerto Rico" by act May 17, 1932.

§ 45–407. Certain irregular acknowledgments validated.

All acknowledgments of deeds and other instruments of writing under seal made prior to March 3, 1879, in a foreign country, before any secretary of legation, consul, or consular officer of the United States, for lands lying in the District of Columbia, are hereby validated and confirmed, and the same, and the records of the said deeds and instruments, if the said deeds and instruments have been recorded, are declared to be as good and effectual, in behalf of the grantees therein named, and all persons claiming through or under them, as if the said acknowledgments and records had been respectively made and recorded under the provisions of existing laws: Provided, That nothing in this section shall be construed to divest just rights already acquired in good faith by creditors of or purchasers from the grantors in such deeds or instruments. (Mar. 3, 1879, 20 Stat. 353, ch. 174.)

§ 45–408. Certain defective acknowledgments and executions validated.

All deeds and acknowledgments recorded in the land records of the District prior to January 1, 1902, of any of the following designated classes shall, in favor of parties in actual possession, claiming under and through such deeds, be deemed and held and are declared to be of the same effect and validity to pass the fee simple or other estate intended to be conveyed, and bar dower in the real estate therein mentioned, as if such deeds had in all respects been executed, acknowledged, proved, certified, and recorded according to law, namely:

First. All deeds executed and acknowledged by married women, their husbands having signed and sealed the same, for conveying any real estate, or interest therein, situated in the District;

Second. All acknowledgments of deeds by married women, whether they executed the deed or not, for the purpose of releasing their claims to dower in the lands described therein, situated in the District, in which acknowledgments the form prescribed by law was not followed;

Third. All deeds executed and acknowledged by an attorney in fact duly appointed for conveying real estate situated in the District;

Fourth. All deeds executed and acknowledged, or only acknowledged by such attorney in fact, for conveying real estate situated in the District, as to which the acknowledgment was made before officers different from those before whom proof of the power of attorney was made, and as to which the power of attorney was proved before only one justice of the peace;

Fifth. All deeds for the purpose of conveying land situated in the District, acknowledged out of the District, before a judge of a United State court, or before two aldermen of a city, or the chief magistrate of a city, or before a notary public or other officer;

Sixth. All deeds for the purpose of conveying land situated in the District, acknowledged by an attorney in fact, duly appointed, or by an officer of a corporation, duly authorized, who acknowledged the same to be his act and deed, instead of the act and deed of the grantor or of the corporation; and

Seventh. All deeds for the purpose of conveying land situated in the District to which there was not annexed a legal certificate as to the official character of the officer or officers taking the acknowledgment. (R. S., D. C., § 459; Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1270, ch. 854, § 515; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 532, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, added at the end of the paragraph numbered "Fifth" the words "or other officer."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Prior law

Under laws of Maryland, in force in the District of Columbia in 1859, it was competent for a married woman to execute with her husband a power of attorney to convey her lands therein, which, when acknowledged by her according to this section relating to the acknowledgment by married women of deeds conveying their real property in the District, thereby became a valid and sufficient instrument to authorize the conveyance by attorney. Williams v. Paine (1898, 18 S. Ct. 279, 169 U.S. 55, 42 L. Ed. 658).

§ 45–409. Acknowledgments by married women.

In all cases mentioned in section 45–408 the certificate of acknowledgment by a married woman made prior to April 10, 1869, must show that the acknowledgment was made "apart" or "privily" from her husband, or use some other term importing that her acknowledgment was made out of his presence, and also that she acknowledged or declared that she willingly executed or that she willingly acknowledged the deed, or that the same was her voluntary act, or to that effect. (R. S., D. C., § 460; Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1270, ch. 854, § 516; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 532, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, inserted after the word "woman," the words "made prior to April 10, 1869."

§ 45–410. Power of attorney by married woman.

When the power of attorney mentioned in section 45–408 was executed by a married women, the same shall be effectual and sufficient if there is such an acknowledgment of the same as would be sufficient, under the provisions of section 45–409 to pass her estate and interest therein were she a party executing the deed of conveyance. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1270, ch. 854, § 518; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 532, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, substituted "section 45–408 was" for "section 45–408 is", and "section 45–409" for "this chapter."

§ 45–411. Absence of acknowledgment.

No deed or conveyance of squares or lots of public land in the city of Washington, made in pursuance of law prior to January 1, 1902, by the commissioner of public buildings or any other authorized officer, shall be deemed invalid in law for the want of an acknowledgment by the commissioner or other authorized officer before such judicial officers, as deeds of real property made between individuals are required by law to be acknowledged. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1269, ch. 854, § 514; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 532, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, changed the date from Mar. 3, 1863, to January 1, 1902.

In all cases of deeds executed and acknowledged prior to January 1, 1902, the Acts of Congress approved May 31, 1832 (4 Stat. 520, ch. 112), and April 20, 1838 (5 Stat. 226, ch. 57), in reference to the acknowledgment and recording of deeds of lands situated in the District, shall be taken and construed as cumulative with the Acts of Maryland on the same subject in force in the District at the passage thereof, and an acknowledgment made and certified in compliance with any one of said Acts, and before any officer authorized by either of said Acts to take an acknowledgment, whether in or out of the District, shall be good and effectual. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1271, ch. 854, § 520; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 532, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, added "In all cases of deeds executed and acknowledged prior to January 1, 1902,"

Chapter 5.—EFFECTIVE DATE AND RECORDING OF DEEDS

Sec.
45–501. When deeds take effect.
45–502. Deed first recorded has priority.
45–503. Instruments not executed or acknowledged according to law not to be recorded.
45–504. Record of deeds as evidence.
45–505. Bonds and contracts.
45–506. Maps and plats not to be recorded.

§ 45–501. When deeds take effect.

(Apr. 29, 1878, 20 Stat. 39, ch. 69; Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1268, ch. 854, § 499; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 531, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, deleted after the word "effect" the words "and pass the title in the property conveyed to said person from the date of the acknowledgment, provided the same be recorded within three months from said date."

CROSS REFERENCE

Criminal penalty for recording instrument by one who has no color of title, see § 22–1302.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Assignment of rents

An assignment of rents is not a transfer of an estate in the land, for the owner may transfer the rents and still retain his entire interests in the land. Commercial Credit Co. v. Campbell (1935, 74 F. 2d 468, 64 App. D.C. 64).

Constructive trust

Where vendor conveyed property and purchaser recorded deed but did not prepare and record trust instrument as agreed and thereafter creditors of purchaser obtained judgments against him becoming liens on the real estate, if facts disclosed a constructive trust inherently incapable of recording and no laches by vendor, vendor's constructive trust would have priority over judgment creditors, but if creditors were able to show affirmative reliance on state of record, without notice of any infirmity, they would be entitled to the same standing, as bona fide purchasers. Osin v. Johnson et al. (1957, 243 F. 2d 653, 100 U. S. App. D. C. 230).

"Creditors," construed

"Creditors mentioned (in this section) mean creditors who in the interval of time have fastened upon the property for the payment of their debts, and not general creditors." Crosby v. Ridout (1906, 27 App. D.C. 481).

Creditors having actual notice

The delivery of a deed for record is not a prerequisite to its validity as against creditors having actual notice of its existence. Staples v. Warren (1917, 46 App. D.C. 363),

Deed withheld from record

When deed of trust was not recorded until several weeks after the judgment of the bank was recovered, and there was no evidence that the bank ever had actual notice of its existence until after execution was issued and levied, the conveyance would be ineffectual against the bank, or any purchaser at the sale under that judgment. Hitz v. National Metropolitan Bank (1885, 4 S. Ct. 613, 111 U.S. 722, 28 L. Ed. 577).

"The fact that a deed once delivered is withheld from record for a long period or until the death of the grantor, either at or without the request of the latter, has no effect to impair its effect as a conveyance of title or to operate any extinguishment." Walker v. Warner (1908, 31 App. D.C. 76). See, also, Fitzgerald v. Wynne (1893, 1 App. D.C. 107); Bunten v. American Security & Trust Co. (1905, 25 App. D.C. 226).

Delivery essential; object of acknowledgment

"The act of delivery is essential to the existence of any deed, bond, or note. Although drawn and signed, so long as it is undelivered, it is a nullity; not only does it take effect only by delivery, but also only on delivery." Atlas Portland Cement Co. v. Fox (1920, 265 F. 444, 49 App. D.C. 292).

'The great object of the statutes in requiring deeds of conveyance to be acknowledged and recorded is to prevent the practice of fraud upon creditors and purchasers—to furnish the means of notice and protection to innocent third parties.' To prevent fraud and furnish notice when? At the time the credit is extended or the claim reduced to judgment, on the strength of the debtor's apparent title. Not before the title was acquired, but during its record existence." Fitzgerald v. Wynne (1893, 1 App. D.C. 107).

A deed conveying real property or any interest therein, or declaring or limiting any use or trust thereof, cannot take effect without delivery to the person in whose favor it is executed. Schooler v. Schooler (1949, 173 F. 2d 299, 84 U.S. App. D.C. 147).

General intent of registry

General intent of the statutes of registry is to protect innocent persons against prejudice from secret conveyances, by providing means through which they can know the condition of titles; that where they acquire such knowledge by means other than registry, they do not stand in need of such protection, and do not, as a general rule, come within the purview of the statutes; and that the statutes will be so construed unless their terms exclude such construction. Manogue v. Bryant (1899, 15 App. D.C. 245).

Illegal recording

"The record of an instrument that is not permitted by law to be recorded, or that is not proved for record as required by law, is constructive notice to no one." Clark v. Harmer (1895, 5 App. D.C. 114).

Where trustees released deed of trust securing note held by bank, recording of release did not give such "constructive notice" to bank or its receiver as would start running of limitations against action to recover damages from the trustees individually for alleged wrongful release. Young v. Howard, (1941, 120 F. 2d 712, 73 App. D.C. 340).

Judgment creditors

"Judgment creditors" are within meaning of the statute, but this applies only to cases where the credit has been extended or judgments have been secured while the record title remained in the debtor. Atlas Portland Cement v. Fox (1920, 265 F. 444, 49 App. D.C. 292).

Judgment liens

Judgment liens extend to all lands "held under apparently perfect legal title by the judgment debtor at the time of the rendition of the judgment, notwithstanding the same might be subject to some secret trust, capable of being placed upon record." American Sav. Bank v. Eisminger (1910, 35 App. D.C. 51).

Notice—Not required

"One is not required to take notice of everything which is put upon the records of the Land Office, even concerning his own property. One who has acquired title is entitled to rest upon his rights; nothing afterwards put upon record, otherwise than by himself or his procurement, can legally affect those rights." Armstrong v. Ashley (1903, 22 App. D.C. 368, affirmed 27 S. Ct. 270, 204 U.S. 272, 51 L. Ed. 482).

—— Prior equity

"A purchaser with notice of a prior equity superior to the rights of his grantor takes his place and is bound to do that which in equity his grantor was bound to do." Kresge v. Crowley (1917, 47 App. D.C. 13).

—— Required

"One who deals with land is required to take notice of all conveyances on record at the time at which he deals with it." Armstrong v. Ashley (1903, 22 App. D.C. 368, affirmed 27 S. Ct. 270, 204 U.S. 272, 51 L. Ed. 482). See, also, Sis v. Boarman (1897, 11 App. D.C. 116).

Particular form not required

"No particular form or ceremony is essential to the effective delivery of a deed. Words or acts showing an intention that the deed shall be complete and operative constitute a good delivery." Walker v. Warner (1908, 31 App. D.C. 76).

Passage of title

Under District of Columbia law, a deed conveying real property takes effect from the date of the delivery thereof, except that as to creditors, subsequent bona fide purchasers, mortgagees without notice of the deed, and others interested in said property, the deed takes effect from the time of delivery to the recorder of deeds for record. Owens v. Liff (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 921).

A deed conveying real property takes effect from the date of the delivery thereof and, except as to the statutory limitations, it shall take effect only from the time of its delivery to the recorder of deeds for record. Glennon v. Butler (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 66 A. 2d 519).

Possession prima facie evidence

Possession by the grantee is prima facie evidence of delivery. Walker v. Warner (1908, 31 App. D.C. 76), see also, Carusi v. Savary (1895, 6 App. D.C. 330).

Priority of judgment creditor

A judgment creditor who files a bill in equity to sell the equitable interest of the judgment debtor in real property, has priority over a grantee claiming under a deed executed before (but not filed for record until after) the filing of the bill. Ohio Nat. Bank v. Berlin (1905, 26 App. D.C. 218).

Recording as to third parties

"The requirement consists in the duty imposed upon the grantee to record, or suffer the penalty prescribed * * * of having the instrument * * * declared a nullity. * * * Though optional with the grantee as to certain parties as to innocent purchasers and creditors it is required for his protection." Dulany v. Morse (1913, 39 App. D.C. 523).

Recording of trust deed from stranger

Recordation of deed of trust from a stranger to the record title is not constructive notice that the grantor is the grantee of last record owner. Crosby v. Ridout (1906, 27 App. D.C. 481).

Superior equities of prior specific lien

"A judgment, being but a general lien, must be subordinated to the superior equities of a prior specific lien * * *. The judgment creditor stands in the place of his debtor, and can only take the property of his debtor subject to the equitable charges to which it was justly liable in the hands of the debtor at the time of the rendition of the judgment." Crosby v. Ridout (1906, 27 App. D.C. 481).

Superseding prior act

This section superseded prior recording act and applies to all instruments unrecorded at time of its passage. Dulany v. Morse (1913, 39 App. D.C. 523).

Trustee in bankruptcy

Trustee in bankruptcy does not, under our recording statutes, take the property as an innocent purchaser, but "subject to all equities, liens, or encumbrances, whether created by operation of law or by the bankrupt, which existed against the property in the hands of the bankrupt." Crosby v. Ridout (1906, 27 App. D.C. 481).

Unexpressed condition

"A deed cannot be delivered to the grantee upon a condition not expressed in the instrument." Walker v. Warner (1908, 31 App. D.C. 76). See, also, Newman v. Baker (1897, 10 App. D.C. 187); Bieber v. Gans (1905, 24 App. D.C. 517).

Unrecorded prior lien

Where vendor conveyed property and purchaser without disclosing the vendor's prior unrecorded lien against his title, borrowed money from defendant executing deeds of trust against the property, fraud in relationship between the vendor and the purchaser did not give vendor a claim superior to that of the trust holders, who occupied the position of bona fide purchasers. Osin v. Johnson et al. (1957, 243 F. 2d 653, 100 U. S. App. D. C. 230).

§ 45–502. Deed first recorded has priority.

When two or more deeds of the same property are made to bona fide purchasers for value without notice, the deed or deeds which are first recorded according to law shall be preferred. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1268, ch. 854, § 500.)

§ 45–503. Instruments not executed or acknowledged according to law not to be recorded.

The recorder shall not accept for record or record any instrument which shall not be executed and acknowledged agreeably to law by the person or party therein granting or contracting with respect to his right, title, or interest in the land therein described. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1276, ch. 854, § 555; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 533, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, "and the knowledge by any person of the fact of such record shall not be either constructive or actual notice of the existence of such instrument", following "land therein described."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Illegal recording

"The record of an instrument that is not permitted by law to be recorded, or that is not proved for record as required by law, is constructive notice to no one." Clark v. Harmer (1895, 5 App. D.C. 114).

Instruments to be recorded

"He is by law required to receive and file, or receive and record * * * such instruments as have been duly executed, and which purport on their face to be of the nature of instruments entitled to be filed or recorded." Dancy v. Clark (1905, 24 App. D.C. 487).

Mandamus to compel recordation

Use of mandamus to compel recordation. Dancy v. Clark (1905, 24 App. D.C. 487).

Validity of instruments

Recorder has no jurisdiction to pass on validity of instruments presented for record. Dancy v. Clark (1905, 24 App. D.C. 487).

§ 45–504. Record of deeds as evidence.

The record or a copy thereof of any deed recorded, as mentioned in sections 45–408 and 45–409, shall be evidence thereof, in the same manner and shall have the same effect as if such deed had been originally executed, acknowledged, and recorded according to law. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1271, ch. 854, § 519; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 532, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, "as deeds for the conveyance of land" which followed "manner."

§ 45–506. Maps and plats not to be recorded.

It shall not be lawful for any person or persons to record any map or plat of the subdivision of land in the District of Columbia in the office of the recorder of deeds for said District, whether such map or plat be attached to a deed or other document or is offered separately for record. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Generally

Deed declared a mortgage. Dulany v. Morse (1913, 39 App. D.C. 523).

Constructive trust

Where vendor conveyed property and purchaser recorded deed but did not prepare and record trust instrument as agreed and thereafter creditors of purchaser obtained judgments against him becoming liens on the real estate, if facts disclosed a constructive trust inherently incapable of recording and no laches by vendor, vendor's constructive trust would have priority over judgment creditors, but if creditors were able to show affirmative reliance on state of record, without notice of any infirmity, they would be entitled to the same standing, as bona fide purchasers. Osin v. Johnson et al. (1957, 243 F. 2d 653, 100 U. S. App. D. C. 230).

§ 45–602. How to be recorded.

It shall be the duty of the recorder of deeds to record all such mortgages and deeds of trust in the same manner as absolute deeds. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1271, ch. 854, § 523; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 532, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, deleted "and, after each mortgage, to leave a blank space wherein may be recorded any assignment or release of said mortgage" following "absolute deeds."

§ 45–603. Estate of mortgagee or trustee conveyed.

The legal estate conveyed to a mortgagee, his heirs and assigns, or to a trustee to secure a debt, his heirs and assigns, shall be construed and held to be a qualified fee simple, determinable upon the release of the mortgage or deed of trust, as hereinafter provided, or the appointment of a new trustee by agreement of the parties pursuant to section 45–614(b) or by judicial decree for the causes hereinafter mentioned: Provided, That nothing in this section contained shall prevent the passing of an absolute and unqualified estate in fee-simple under a deed made by the mortgagee, trustee, or new trustee in pursuance of the powers conferred by the mortgage or deed of trust. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1271, ch. 854, § 522; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 532, ch. 1329; Nov. 2, 1966, 80 Stat. 1100, Pub. L. 89–706, § 1(a).)

AMENDMENTS

1966—Act Nov. 2, 1966 inserted "by agreement of the parties pursuant to section 45–614(b) or" after "a new trustee" in provisions preceding the proviso; and, in proviso, substituted ", trustee, or new trustee" for "or trustee".

1902—Act June 30, 1902, added the proviso relating to the passing of an estate in fee simple.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1966 AMENDMENTS

Section 2 of act Nov. 2, 1966, 80 Stat. 1100, Pub. L. 89–706, provided: "The amendments made by the first section of this Act [to §§ 45–603, 45–611, 45–614 and 45–619] shall apply to all deeds of trust, whether entered into before, on, or after the date of enactment of this Act [Nov. 2, 1966]."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Mortgagee out of possession

Mortgagee out of possession has no such interest as will permit him to have partition; "much less is the beneficiary under a deed of trust entitled to have partition; for he has no estate whatever, and no possibility even of a right of possession. Nor has the trustee in the deed any such right * * *." Sis v. Boarman (1897, 11 App. D.C. 116).

Powers and duties of trustees

Powers and duties of trustees in deeds of trust as to time of sale and price of property are more restricted than trustees for distribution and partition, and the duties of the first type of trustees are measured by the deed of trust. Anderson v. White (1894, 2 App. D.C. 408).

Powers and duties of trustees are measured by terms of instrument appointing them, and they do not have the same discretion in exercise of duties as other trustees. Wheeler v. McBlair (1895, 5 App. D.C. 375, affirmed 19 S. Ct. 882, 172 U.S. 643, 43 L. Ed. 1182).

Recovery of possession by mortgagee

Mortgagee and mortgagor do not stand in relation of landlord and tenant, and mortgagee, after default, may not recover possession under Landlord and Tenant Act of the District, but must bring ejectment or foreclosure. Willis v. Eastern Trust & Banking Co. (1898, 18 S. Ct. 347, 169 U.S. 295, 42 L. Ed. 752).

Sale of mortgaged realty

A proposed contract of sale of mortgaged realty, in good faith, and in which mortgagor will participate, does not violate this section. Pearson v. Small (1936, 82 F. 2d 849, 65 App. D.C. 243).

Sale under deed of trust

The exercise of a power of sale under a deed of trust by a trustee who is, or is associated with, the owner of the debt secured, is improper. Canelacos v. Hollway (1942, 123 F. 2d 934, 75 U.S. App. D.C. 58, 138 A.L.R. 1010).

A fair sale under deed of trust, to an innocent purchaser for value, should not be set aside because of a trustee's interest in the debt which has been disclosed to the debtor, since under such circumstances there is no good reason for disappointing the reasonable expectations of the purchaser. Id.

Where trustees did not conceal their interest in property from debtor executing deed of trust, sale under deed of trust was well advertised and was conducted by reputable auctioneers, debtor made no objection to sale until nearly five months after sale, but expressed approval to purchasers, innocent purchasers for value and strangers to the trustees were entitled to specific performance of their contract of purchase together with their actual damages, if any, but not punitive damages, and judgment requiring the purchasers to account for rents and profits, less certain compensation and expenses on theory that the sale was void, was erroneous. Id.

Trustee holds legal title

Trustee holds legal title and a deed by it conveyed whatever title it had. Chesapeake Beach R. Co. v. Washington, P. & C. R. Co. (1905, 26 S. Ct. 25, 199 U.S. 247, 50 L. Ed. 175).

"The estate of the trustee is a naked legal title without any beneficial interest whatever * * * and they have always held the legal title in strict subordination to the beneficial interest of the debtor and creditor in the transaction." Marshall v. Kraak (1904, 23 App. D.C. 129).

Trustees sales for partition or distribution

In making a sale the trustee must not place himself in a position where his personal interest conflicts with his duty. Jackson v. Smith (1919, 41 S. Ct. 200, 254 U.S. 586, 65 L. Ed. 418).

Difference between rule applicable to cases of sales by trustees for partition or distribution and sales under ordinary trust to secure loans and enforceable upon stipulated terms. In the former, interests of the beneficiaries are identical, and trustee is charged with absolute duty to arrange and conduct sale; in the latter it is duty of trustee to conduct sale in manner and upon notice prescribed in the trust. Smith v. Jackson (1919, 48 App. D.C. 565, reversed on other grounds 41 S. Ct. 200, 254 U.S. 586, 65 L. Ed. 418).

Sale by a trustee substituted for the survivor of two trustees, who refused to act, is valid, without there being a substitute for the deceased trustee. Stokes v. Hinden (1936, 85 F. 2d 200, 66 App. D.C. 34).

§ 45–604. Survival of title.

Whenever a mortgage or deed of trust to secure a debt is executed to two or more mortgagees or trustees in fee simple, upon the death of any one or more of them the legal title and the trust attached to it shall be held to survive to the survivor or survivors and the heirs of the last survivor, subject to the provisions aforesaid. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1272, ch. 854, § 533.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Substituted trustee

The wording indicates no intention that a trustee should be substituted for each of the original Trustees, where there are more than one, but only for the surviving trustee. Stokes v. Hinden (1936, 85 F. 2d 200, 66 App. D.C. 34).

§ 45–605. In suit for money secured by mortgage or for ejectment, the money due may be paid into court and mortgagee required to release and discharge mortgage.

Where any action shall be brought on any bond for payment of the money secured by mortgage, or performance of the covenants therein contained, or where any action of ejectment shall be brought in any court of record by any mortgagee or mortgagees, his, her, or their heirs, executors, administrators, or assigns, for the recovery of the possession of any mortgaged lands, tenements, or hereditaments, and no suit shall be then depending in any court of equity, for or touching the foreclosure or redeeming of such mortgaged lands, tenements, or hereditaments; if the person or persons having right to redeem such mortgaged lands, tenements, or hereditaments, and who shall appear and become defendant or defendants in such action, shall at any time, pending such action, pay unto such mortgagee or mortgagees, or, in case of his, her, or their refusal, shall bring into court where such action shall be depending, all the principal monies and interest due on such mortgage, and also all such costs as have been expended in any suit or suits at law or in equity upon such mortgage (such money for principal, interest, and costs to be ascertained and computed by the court where such action is or shall be depending, or by the proper officer by such court to be appointed for that purpose) the monies so paid to such mortgagee or mortgagees, or brought into such court, shall be deemed and taken to be in full satisfaction and discharge of such mortgage, and the court shall and may discharge every such mortgagor, or defendant, of and from the same accordingly; and shall and may, by rule or rules of the same court, compel such mortgagee or mortgagees, at the costs and charges of such mortgagor or mortgagors, to assign, surrender, or reconvey such mortgaged lands, tenements, and hereditaments, and such estate and interest, as such mortgagee or mortgagees have or hath therein, and deliver up all deeds, evidences, and writings, in his, her, or their custody, relating to the title of such mortgaged lands, tenements, and hereditaments, unto such mortgagor or mortgagors, who shall have paid or brought such monies into the court, his, her, or their heirs, executors, or administrators, or to such other person or persons, as he, she, or they, shall for that purpose nominate or appoint. (7 Geo. 2, ch. 20, § 1, 1734; Kilty's Rep. 251; Alex. Br. Stat. 726; Comp. Stat., D. C., p. 395, § 1.)

§ 45–606. In foreclosure suits court may upon motion by defendant, and admission of right of plaintiff, make a final decree without suit being brought to regular hearing.

Where any bill or bills, suit or suits, shall be filed, commenced, or brought in the court of equity, by any person or persons having or claiming any estate, right, or interest, in any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, under or by virtue of any mortgage or mortgages thereof, to compel the defendant or defendants in such suit or suits (having or claiming a right to redeem the same) to pay the plaintiff or plaintiffs in such su t or suits, the principal money and interest due on any such mortgage, or the principal money and interest due on such mortgage, together with any sum or sums of money due on any encumbrance or specialty, charged or chargeable on the equity of redemption thereof, and in default of payment thereof, to foreclose such defendant or defendants of his, her, or their right or equity of redeeming such mortgaged lands, tenements, or hereditaments; such equity court, where such suit or suits shall be depending, upon application made to such court by the defendant or defendants in such suit, having a right to redeem such mortgaged lands, tenements, or hereditaments, and upon his or their admitting the right and title of the plaintiff or plaintiffs in such suit, may and shall at any time or times, before such suit or cause shall be brought to hearing, make such order or decree therein, as such court or courts might or could have made therein, in case such suit or cause had then been regularly brought to hearing before such court or courts; and all parties to such suit or suits shall be bound by such order or decree so made, to all intents and purposes, as if such order or decree had been made, by such court, at or subsequent to the hearing of such cause or suit. (7 Geo. 2, ch. 20, § 2, 1734; Kilty's Rep. 251; Alex. Br. Stat. 727; Comp. Stat. D. C., p. 396, § 2.)

RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

§ 45–607. Foreclosure—Exceptions to payment.

Sections 45–605, 45–606 or any thing therein contained, shall not extend to any case where the person or persons, against whom the redemption is or shall be prayed, shall (by writing under his, her, or their hands, or the hand of his, her, or their attorney, agent, or solicitor, to be delivered before the money shall be brought into such court at law, to the attorney or solicitor for the other side) insist, either that the party praying a redemption has not a right to redeem, or that the premises are chargeable with other or different principal sums, than what appear on the face of the mortgage, or shall be admitted on the other side; nor to any case where the right of redemption to the mortgaged lands and premises in question in any cause or suit shall be controverted or questioned by or between different defendants in the same cause or suit; nor shall be any prejudice to any subsequent mortgagee or mortgagees, or subsequent encumbrancer. (7 Geo. 2, ch. 20, § 3, 1734; Kilty's Rep. 251; Alex. Br. Stat. 728; Comp. Stat., D. C., p. 397, § 3.)

§ 45–608. Infant trustee or mortgagee may convey on petition to court by mortgagor, beneficiary, or guardian.

It shall and may be lawful to and for any person or persons, under the age of one and twenty years, by the direction of the court of chancery, signified by an order made upon hearing all parties concerned, on the petition of the person or persons for whom such infant or infants shall be seized or possessed in trust, or of the mortgagor or mortgagors, guardian or guardians of such infant or infants, or person or persons entitled to the monies secured by or upon any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, whereof any infant or infants are or shall be seized or possessed by way of mortgage, or of the person or persons entitled to the redemption thereof, to convey and assure any such lands, tenements, or hereditaments, in such manner as the said court of chancery shall, by such order so to be obtained, direct, to any other person or persons; and such conveyance or assurance so to be had and made, as aforesaid, shall be as good and effectual in law, to all intents and purposes whatsoever, as if the said infants or infant were, at the time of making such conveyance, or assurance, of the full age of one and twenty years. (7 Ann, ch. 19, § 1, 1708; Kilty's Rep. 247; Alex. Br. Stat. 679; Comp. Stat., D. C., p. 79, § 13.)

§ 45–609. Infant trustee or mortgagee may be compelled by order of court to make conveyance and assurance.

All and every such infant or infants, being only trustee or trustees, mortgagee or mortgagees, as aforesaid, shall and may be compelled by such order so, as aforesaid, to be obtained, to make such conveyance or conveyances, assurance or assurances, as aforesaid, in like manner as trustees or mortgagees of full age are compellable to convey or assign their trust, estates, or mortgages. (7 Ann. ch. 19, § 2, 1708; Kilty's Rept. 247; Alex. Br. Stat. 680; Comp. Stat. D. C., p. 79, § 14.)

§ 45–610. Mortgagee may redeem prior mortgage.

If it so happen there be more than one mortgage at the same time made, by any person or persons to any person or persons, of the same lands and tenements, the several late or under mortgagees, his, her, or their heirs, executors, administrators, or assigns, shall have power to redeem any former mortgage or mortgages, upon payment of the principal debt, interest, and costs of suit, to the prior mortgagee or mortgagees, his, her, or their heirs, executors, administrators, or assigns; any thing therein contained to the contrary thereof in any wise notwithstanding. (4 and 5 W. and M., ch. 16, § 4, 1692; Kilty's Rep. 242; Alex. Br. Stat. 579; Comp. Stat., D. C. 237, § 26.)

§ 45–611. Appointment of trustee to sell in event of death of mortgagee or trustee.

In case of the death of a sole mortgagee or trustee, or the last survivor of several, if the debt secured by the mortgage or deed of trust shall not have been paid, the party entitled thereto may file a petition in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, setting forth under oath the execution of the mortgage or deed of trust, the death of the mortgagee or trustee, and the fact that the debt secured by the said mortgage or deed of trust remains unpaid, and such other fact as may be necessary to entitle the petitioner to the relief prayed, and praying for the appointment of a trustee to execute the trusts of the said mortgage or deed of trust. It shall not be necessary to make the heirs at law or devisees of the deceased mortgagee or trustee parties to such proceeding. The court may thereupon lay a rule upon the debtor or parties whose property is bound by said mortgage or deed of trust, unless they shall voluntarily appear and admit the allegations of the petition, to show cause, under oath, on or before the 10th day, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, after the service of such rule, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. If said party or parties can not be found in said District, service of said rule shall be by publication, according to the practice in equity in said court. If no cause be shown, notwithstanding the service of said rule, against the prayer of said petition, the court may determine in a summary way whether said debt remains unpaid, and if satisfied thereof the said court may, by decree, appoint a new trustee in the place of the deceased mortgagee or trustee, and vest in him all the title at law and in equity, and all the powers that had been conveyed to and vested in the deceased mortgagee or trustee. Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the appointment of a new trustee pursuant to section 45–614(b) and the execution of the trusts of said deed of trust by such new trustee. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1272, ch. 854, § 534; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 532, ch. 1329; June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127; Nov. 2, 1966, 80 Stat. 1100, Pub. AMENDMENTS

1966—Act Nov. 2, 1966, added sentence: "Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the appointment of a new trustee pursuant to section 45–614(b) and the execution of the trusts of said deed of trust by such new trustee."

1902—Act June 30, 1902, inserted after "heirs at law" the words "or devisees."

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1966 AMENDMENT

Amendment of this section by act Nov. 2, 1966, as applicable to all deeds of trust, whether entered into before, on, or after Nov. 2, 1966, see § 2 of such act, set out as a note under § 45–603.

CHANGE OF NAME

Act June 25, 1936, substituted "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia" for "Supreme Court of the District of Columbia."

Act June 25, 1948, eff. Sept. 1, 1948, as amended by act May 24, 1949, substituted "United States District Court for the District of Columbia" for "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia."

FEDERAL RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

Forms of actions abolished, see Rule 2, 28 U.S.C. App.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

In general

Quaere: Whether this section and § 45–614 were intended to supersede the former course of procedure in equity for the removal and appointment of trustees. Marshall v. Kraak (1904, 23 App. D.C. 129).

New trustees appointed

Where trustees appointed under deed of trust died, new trustees were appointed to execute the trusts, and were invested with all the powers which had been conveyed to the deceased trustees. Dawson v. Taylor (1925, 4 F. 2d 430, 55 App. D.C. 237).

No provision requiring notice

This section does not contain a provision requiring notice, actual or constructive, to all parties in interest. Totten v. Harlowe (1937, 88 F. 2d 755, 66 App. D.C. 373).

Publication upon absconding trustee

Publication need not be had upon an absconding trustee, whose whereabouts is unknown. Marshall v. Kraak (1904, 23 App. D.C. 129).

Res judicata

Where mortgagor's successor, in suit by noteholder's successor for appointment of substitute trustee to sell the realty under deed of trust, raised question of laches and opposed appointment of substitute trustee, an unappealed from summary judgment appointing substitute trustee and directing him to sell the realty was res judicata, precluding mortgagor's successor from raising same question in subsequent suit to enjoin the sale. Mergardt v. Colonial-American Nat. Bank of Roanoke (1944, 140 F. 2d 701, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 348).

Trustees' refusal to perform

Trustees' "refusal or disability to perform the trust is the equivalent in equity of a renunciation of the legal estate." Marshall v. Kraak (1904, 23 App. D.C. 129).

§ 45–612. Defenses against foreclosure.

If matter of defense against the foreclosure of said mortgage or the enforcement of said deed of trust be set up in answer to said rule, the further proceedings shall be according to the practice in equity after answer filed. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1273, ch. 854, § 535.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Generally

Foreclosure may be had by proceeding in equity, without calling on trustees to sell under power of sale in deed of trust. Utermehle v. McGreal (1893, 1 App. D.C. 359, reversed on other grounds 17 S. Ct. 961, 167 U.S. 688, 42 L. Ed. 326).

Limitations or laches

Upon the ground of lapse of time alone, there is no room for the joint application of the statute of limitations and the doctrine of laches where they would conflict with each other, and the equitable doctrine would have the effect of reducing the statutory period of limitations. Sis v. Boarman (1897, 11 App. D.C. 116).

On petition by holder of note secured by mortgage to participate in proceeds of sale of mortgaged property in foreclosure proceedings instituted by holder of other note, the bar of limitation, or lapse of time, does not apply as in case of an action on the note, but to the remedy for the enforcement of an equitable right in land under the mortgage; hence the same period that would bar an ejectment is required. Cropley v. Eyster (1896, 9 App. D.C. 373).

§ 45–613. Replacement of deceased trustee.

In case of the death of any trustee appointed as aforesaid without having executed the trusts of the mortgage or deed of trust, a like proceeding to that provided for in section 45–611 may be had to appoint a successor to him in the said trusts. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1273, ch. 854, § 536.)

§ 45–614. Appointment of new trustee to sell in event of refusal or inability to act or removal of trustee from District, or for other good cause—Appointment of new trustee by agreement of parties.

(a) In case of the refusal of any trustee named in a deed of trust to secure a debt to accept the trusts thereby created, or of his resignation of said trust after accepting the same, which is hereby allowed, or of his removal from the District of Columbia, or of his inability to act, or for any other good cause shown, it shall be lawful for any party interested in the execution of such trusts to apply to said court by petition, setting forth the appropriate facts and asking for the appointment of a new trustee in his place, and a like proceeding shall be had for the appointment of such trustee as in the case of the death of a trustee, as directed in sections 45–611 and 45–619 of this title: Provided, That any rule to show cause issued in such case shall be served upon the existing trustee, as provided in said sections.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a) of this section, and notwithstanding any provision in a deed of trust to the contrary, whenever the grantors named in, and the persons secured by, the deed of trust (or their successors in interest) so desire, they may by written agreement executed and acknowledged in the same manner as an absolute deed substitute any trustee named in the deed of trust with a new trustee. No written instrument entered into pursuant to this subsection shall be effective as to any person not having actual notice thereof until a notice of the appointment of the new trustee signed, sealed, and acknowledged by the parties agreeing to the appointment of the new trustee shall be recorded among the land records in the Office of the Recorder of Deeds. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1274, ch. 854, § 538; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 532, ch. 1329; Nov. 2, 1966, 80 Stat. 1100, Pub. L. 89–706, § 1(d).)

AMENDMENTS

1966—Act Nov. 2, 1966, designated the then existing provisions as subsec. "(a)", and added subsec. (b).

1902—Act June 30, 1902, substituted "provided in said sections" for "well as upon the parties interested in the trust, if he and they can be found within the said District", and deleted "said trust being executed" following "good cause shown."

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1966 AMENDMENT

Amendment of this section by act Nov. 2, 1966, as applicable to all deeds of trust, whether entered into before, on, or after Nov. 2, 1966, see § 2 of such act, set out as a note under § 45–603.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Discretion of court

Where deed of trust named first and second successor trustees, one of whom was in jail and the other awaiting trial, the court could in its reasonable discretion appoint a new trustee. Wright v. Pitts (1933, 66 F. 2d 197, 62 App. D.C. 217).

Effect of order

Appointment of substitute trustee—conclusiveness of order. Bowen v. Mount Vernon Sav. Bank (1936, 85 F. 2d 396, 66 App. D.C. 139).

Laches

Alleged laches of noteholder's successor in seeking appointment of substitute trustee to sell property under deed to trust in accordance with a prior decree did not go to court's jurisdiction to order a sale under such decree. Mergardt v. Colonial-American Nat. Bank of Roanoke (1944, 140 F. 2d 701, 78 U.S. App. D.C. 348).

Party interested

Where holder of one of 490 notes brings suit to procure substitution of trustees, it was not necessary to have a class or representative suit. Totten v. Harlowe (1937, 88 F. 2d 755, 66 App. D.C. 373).

Res judicata

Where mortgagor's successor, in suit by noteholder's successor for appointment of substitute trustee to sell the realty under deed of trust, raised question of laches and opposed appointment of substitute trustee, an unappealed from summary judgment appointing substitute trustee and directing him to sell the realty was res judicata, precluding mortgagor's successor from raising same question in subsequent suit to enjoin the sale. Mergardt v. Colonial-American Nat. Bank of Roanoke (1944, 140 F. 2d 701, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 348).

§ 45–615. Terms of sale.

If the length of notice and terms of sale are not prescribed by the mortgage or deed of trust, or be not left therein to the judgment or discretion of the mortgagee or trustee, any person interested in such sale may apply to the court, before such sale is advertised, to fix the terms of sale and determine what notice of sale shall be given. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1274, ch. 854, § 539; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat 532, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, deleted "which terms shall be such as to secure to the creditor the payment of his debt in cash as nearly as may be consistent with justice; and the determination of the court in the premises shall be binding on all parties in interest", following "sale shall be given."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Judicial sale distinguished

Where trustee appointed by the court to succeed surviving trustee who refused to serve made a sale, such sale was not a judicial sale, but a sale in accordance with the terms of the trust and the question of notice is governed by this section. Stokes v. Hinden (1936, 85 F. 2d 200, 66 App. D.C. 34).

§ 45–616. Sale of property and deficiency decree in personam—Same relief in re vendor's lien.

In all cases of application to said court to foreclose any mortgage or deed of trust, the equity court shall have authority, instead of decreeing that the mortgagor be foreclosed and barred from redeeming the mortgaged property, to order and decree that said property be sold and the proceeds be brought into court to be applied to the payment of the debt secured by said mortgage; and if, upon a sale of the whole mortgaged property, the net proceeds shall be insufficient to pay the mortgage debt, the court may enter a decree in personam against the mortgagor or other party to the suit who is liable for the payment of the mortgage debt for the residue of said debt remaining unsatisfied after applying to said debt the proceeds of such sale: Provided, That the complainant would be entitled to maintain an action at law or suit in equity for said residue; which decree shall have the same effect and be enforced by execution in the same manner as a judgment at law. And in suits to enforce a vendor's lien on real estate for unpaid purchase money similar relief may be given by a decree of sale and a decree in personam for the unsatisfied residue of the purchase money due. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1204, ch. 854, § 95.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Judicial sale distinguished

Where trustee under deed of trust obtained leave of court in receivership proceeding to sell real estate, such sale did not constitute a judicial sale. Huffines v. American Security & Trust Co. (1934, 71 F. 2d 345, 63 App. D.C. 224).

Prior law

Prior to enactment of this act, R. S. § 808 applied to foreclosure of mortgages in the District of Columbia. Dodge v. Freedman's Sav. & Trust Co. (1882, 1 S. Ct. 335, 106 U.S. 445, 27 L. Ed. 206). See, also, Shepherd v. Pepper (1890, 10 S. Ct. 438, 133 U.S. 626, 33 L. Ed. 706).

Proceeds of sale

Sole action on a note secured by mortgage after foreclosure is an action for difference between what was realized at the sale and what is owed on the debt, and it is immaterial that both note and deed of trust are executed, and a creditor can have but one satisfaction, and after a foreclosure sale the proceeds must be applied to payment of the debt leaving the note actionable for the deficiency only. Finley Jr. and Finley v. Friedman (D.C. Mun. App. 1960, 159 A. 2d 668).

The statutes indicate that a deficiency judgment after mortgage foreclosure may properly be rendered by court at a judicial foreclosure, that after a sale pursuant to a power contained in a deed of trust, the purchasing creditor need pay to the trustee only the excess of purchase money over what is owed him, and it would be inconsistent with the statute to hold, that if the sale brings less than the amount of the debt, a purchasing creditor need not apply the amount realized to the debt before he can maintain an action on the debtor's personal obligation. Id.

Purpose

This section was intended to empower the court to combine in a single action relief by way of foreclosure and personal judgment. Hoffman v. Sheahin (1941, 121 F. 2d 861, 73 App. D.C. 374).

Time to enforce liability

This section does not extend the time for bringing an independent action to enforce personal liability after foreclosure by nonjudicial sale. Hoffman v. Sheahin (1941, 121 F. 2d 861, 73 App. D.C. 374).

§ 45–617. Creditor buying.

If a creditor, for the payment of whose debt property shall be sold under a deed of trust, shall become the purchaser at such sale, he shall be entitled to credit the amount of the purchase money against the debt, and shall be only required to pay to the trustee the excess of the purchase money over his debt, together with such additional amount as may be necessary to defray the expenses of the sale. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1274, ch. 854, § 544.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Generally

When the creditor becomes a purchaser at the sale, he is entitled to credit the amount of the purchase money to the debt. Orlove v. National Sav. & Trust Co. (1938, 98 F. 2d 259, 68 App. D.C. 387). See, also, Kosters v. Hoover (1938, 98 F. 2d 595, 69 App. D.C. 66).

Liability for profits from unlawful sale

Attorneys who knowingly confederated with receiver were liable for all profits resulting from purchase as foreclosure sale and resale of property, with interest and costs. Jackson v. Smith (1921, 41 S. Ct. 200, 254 U.S. 586, 65 L. Ed. 418).

Proceeds of sale

Sole action on a note secured by mortgage after foreclosure is an action for difference between what was realized at the sale and what is owed on the debt, and it is immaterial that both note and deed of trust are executed, and a creditor can have but one satisfaction, and after a foreclosure sale the proceeds must be applied to payment of the debt leaving the note actionable for the deficiency only. Finley Jr. and Finley v. Friedman (D.C. Mun. App. 1960, 159 A. 2d 668).

The statutes indicate that a deficiency judgment after mortgage foreclosure may properly be rendered by court at a judicial foreclosure, that after a sale pursuant to a power contained in a deed of trust, the purchasing creditor need pay to the trustee only the excess of purchase money over what is owed him, and it would be inconsistent with the statute to hold, that if the sale brings less than the amount of the debt, a purchasing creditor need not apply the amount realized to the debt before he can maintain an action on the debtor's personal obligation. Id.

Among the lawful expenses of a sale under a mortgage or deed of trust is to be allowed a commission on the proceeds of sale to the mortgagee or trustee. Where the mortgage or deed of trust does not fix the rate of commission the mortgagee or trustee shall be allowed a commission of five per centum on the first five hundred dollars and three per centum on the balance of the purchase money actually paid by the purchaser at any sale, and one and one-half per centum on the amount of the purchase money not paid into the hands of the mortgagee or trustee, but credited on the debt, when the creditor becomes a purchaser.

When the property is lawfully advertised for sale under a mortgage or deed of trust, and the sale is prevented by payment of the debt or is suspended or postponed by arrangement between the parties interested, the trustee shall be entitled to a commission of one per centum on the amount of the debt secured in addition to the expenses incurred by him, and he shall be entitled to such allowance as often as such advertisement shall be made necessary by the default of the debtor: Provided, That if a sale shall actually take place under any such advertisement, he shall not be entitled to more than one such allowance in addition to his commission on the proceeds of an actual sale. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1274, ch. 854, § 545.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Allocation

In action to foreclose a trust deed, it was for the District Court to allocate compensation and expenses of receiver who was appointed on defendant's motion, in accordance with justice, unburdened by any fixed rule. Camp v. Canelacos (1942, 131 F. 2d 236, 76 U.S. App. D.C. 337).

§ 45–619. Release after death of mortgagee or trustee.

In case of the death of a sole mortgagee or trustee or the last survivor of several, as aforesaid, if the debt secured by the mortgage or deed of trust shall have been paid, and it is desired by the party paying the same to obtain a deed of release, the said party may file a petition in said United States District Court for the District of Columbia, setting forth, under oath, the execution of said mortgage or deed of trust, the death of the mortgagee or trustee, the payment of the debt, and any other fact necessary to entitle the petitioner to the relief prayed, and praying for the appointment of a trustee in the place of the deceased mortgagee or trustee to execute a deed of release of said mortgage or deed of trust. It shall not be necessary to make the heirs or devisees of the deceased mortgagee or trustee a party to such proceeding. The court may thereupon lay a rule upon the creditor secured by said mortgage or deed of trust, unless he shall voluntarily appear and admit the allegations of the petition, to show cause, under oath, on or before the 10th day, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, after the service of said rule, why the prayer of the petition should not be granted. If said party can not be found in said District, service of said rule shall be by publication according to the practice in equity in said court. If no cause be shown, notwithstanding the service of said rule, against the prayer of the petition, the court may determine in a summary way whether said debt has been paid, and if satisfied thereof may, by decree, appoint a trustee in the place of the deceased mortgagee or trustee and invest in him the title, in law and in equity, that was in the deceased mortgagee or trustee, for the purpose of executing a deed of release as aforesaid. If matter of defense against the prayer for a release of said mortgage or deed of trust be set up in answer to said rule, the further proceedings shall be according to the practice in equity after answer filed. Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the appointment of a new trustee pursuant to section 45–614(b) and the execution of a deed of release by such new trustee. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1273, ch. 854, § 537; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 532, ch. 1329; June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127; Nov. 2, 1966, 80 Stat. 1100, Pub. L. 89–706, § 1(c).)

AMENDMENTS

1966—Act Nov. 6, 1966, added sentence: "Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the appointment of a new trustee pursuant to section 45–614(b) and the execution of a deed of release by such new trustee."

1902—Act June 30, 1902, inserted after the word "heirs" the words "or devisees."

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1966 AMENDMENT

Amendment of this section by act Nov. 2, 1966, as applicable to all deeds of trust, whether entered into before, on, or after Nov. 2, 1966, see § 2 of such act, set out as a note under § 45–603.

Written contract

Agreement for sale of business and leasehold of premises upon which business was conducted, covered an interest in land and was required to be in writing and signed by party to be charged. Jacobsen v. Sweeney (1953, 202 F. 2d 461, 92 U. S. App. D. C. 939).

§ 45–802. Fee simple estates—Estates tail abolished.

All estates of inheritance, including such as were formerly estates tail, shall be adjudged estates in fee simple. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1350, ch. 854, § 1012.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Fee tail converted into fee-simple estate

Devise created estate tail, and, therefore, under Maryland Act of 1786, converted into fee simple. Dengel v. Brown (1893, 1 App. D.C. 423).

Devise conveyed fee. Young v. Norris Peters Co. (1906, 27 App. D.C. 140). See, also, Atkins v. Best (1906, 27 App. D.C. 148).

Where a will gave to the granddaughter of testatrix real property until she should marry or attain the age of twenty-one years in either of which events, whichever happened first, the property was given to the granddaughter and her children, but if the granddaughter died before she attained the full age of twenty-one years without having been married, or if she married and died without leaving a child or children, then to testatrix' son, and the daughter married at twenty-four, had a son who predeceased her, she took a fee-simple title. Young v. Munsey Trust Co. (1940, 111 F. 2d 514, 72 App. D.C. 73).

§ 45–803. Absolute or qualified.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Recognized fees

Qualified, determinable, or defeasible fees were known at common law and are recognized in the District of Columbia. Roberds v. Markham (D.C.D.C. 1949, 81 F. Supp. 38).

§ 45–804. Freeholds—Chattels real—Chattel interests.

Estates of inheritance and estates for life shall continue to be denominated freeholds, and estates for years shall be chattels real; estates at will or by sufferance shall be chattel interests, but shall not be liable, as such, to sale under execution; and all estates may be subject to conditions precedent or subsequent. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1351, ch. 854, § 1014.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Distraint and sale

Sale of tenant taxpayer's leasehold interest as chattel was valid. Stagecrafters' Club Inc. v. District of Columbia Division of American Legion (D.C.D.C. 1953, 110 F. Supp. 481, supplemented 111 F. Supp. 127, affirmed 211 F. 2d 811, 94 U.S. App. D. C. 74).

Interests subject to execution

A leasehold interest in realty for term of years is personal property and subject to execution as such. Stagecrafters' Club, Inc. v. District of Columbia Division of American Legion (D.C.D.C. 1952, 110 F. Supp. 481, supplemented 111 F. Supp. 127, affirmed 211 F. 2d 811, 94 U.S. App. D. C. 74).

Landlord's consent

Where there was distraint and sale of personal property for federal taxes, leasehold interest distrained and sold passed by operation of law, and, therefore, landlord's approval thereof was not necessary even though lease contained covenant against assignment without landlord's consent. Stagecrafters' Club, Inc. v. District of Columbia Division of American Legion (D.C.D.C. 1953, 110 F. Supp. 481, supplemented 111 F. Supp. 127, affirmed 211 F. 2d 811, 94 U. S App. D. C. 74).

Leaseholds

Leaseholds for a term of years are "estates in land". Jacobsen v. Sweeney (1953, 202 F. 2d 461, 92 U. S. App. D. C. 93).

Where lease was forfeited upon tenant's breach of its covenant that it would not use premises for an unlawful purpose, tenant lost all rights under lease, including option to purchase, and, therefore, fact of existence of option provision in lease would not prevent leasehold interest from being distrained and sold as personal property for federal taxes owed by tenant. Stagecrafters' Club, Inc. v. District of Columbia Division of American Legion (D.C.D.C. 1953, 110 F. Supp. 481, supplemented 111 F. Supp. 127, affirmed 211 F. 2d 811, 94 U. S. App. D. C. 74).

Five year concurrent lease, which had been executed by lessors during continuance of monthly tenancy under prior lease of same premises and simultaneously with assignment of prior lease to new lessees, was chattel real and interest in land, and lease coupled with assignment entitled new lessees to all rents subsequently accruing on prior lease and all remedies available against tenant by his landlord. Gulf Motors Inc. et ano. v. Fenner et ano. (D. C. Mun. App. 1955, 114 A. 2d 543).

§ 45–805. Estates pur autre vie.

An estate for the life of a third person, whether limited to heirs or otherwise, shall be deemed a freehold only during the life of the grantee or devisee, but after his death it shall be deemed a chattel real and be a part of his personal estate. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1351, ch. 854, § 1015.)

§ 45–806. Estates classified—Possession—Expectancy.

Estates are either in possession or in expectancy. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1351, ch. 854, § 1016.)

§ 45–807. Estate in possession.

An estate in possession exists when the owner has an immediate right to the possession of the land. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1351, ch. 854, § 1017.)

§ 45–808. Estate in expectancy.

An estate in expectancy is either a reversion or a future estate. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1351, ch. 854, § 1018.)

§ 45–809. Reversions.

A reversion is the residue of an estate left in the grantor who has conveyed, or in the heirs of the devisor who has devised a particular estate less than his own, and which residue returns to his or their possession on the expiration of the particular estate. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1351, ch. 854, § 1019.)

§ 45–810. Future estates.

A future estate is one limited to commence at a future day, either without the intervention of a precedent estate or after the expiration or determination of a precedent estate created at the same time and by the same conveyance or devise. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1351, ch. 854, § 1020.)

§ 45–811. Remainder and conditional limitation.

If it is to commence upon the full expiration of such precedent estate, it is a remainder and may be transferred by that name. If it is to commence on a contingency which, if it happen, will abridge or determine such precedent estate before its expiration, it shall be known as a conditional limitation. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1351, ch. 854, § 1021.)

CROSS REFERENCE

Proceeding by remainderman to determine whether or not life tenant is still alive, reentry by life tenant, see §§ 16–1151 to 16–1158.

§ 45–812. Vested and contingent future estates.

A future estate is vested when there is a person in being who would have an immediate right to the possession of the land upon the expiration of the intermediate or precedent estate, or upon the arrival of a certain period or event when it is to commence in possession. It is contingent when the person to whom or the event upon which it is limited to take effect in possession or become a vested estate is uncertain. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1351, ch. 854, § 1022.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Adverbs of time construed

"Adverbs of time—as where, there, after, from, etc.—in a devise of a remainder are construed to relate merely to the time of the enjoyment of the estate, and not the time of the vesting in interest." Green v. Gordon (1912, 38 App. D.C. 443). See, also, Vogt v. Vogt (1905, 26 App. D.C. 46); Johnson v. Washington Loan & Trust Co. (1909, 33 App. D.C. 242, affirmed 32 S. Ct. 421, 224 U.S. 224, 56 L. Ed. 741); Breneman v. Herdman (1910, 35 App. D.C. 27).

Construction

A construction which may lead to intestacy is not favored. Caine v. Payne (1950, 182 F. 2d 246, 86 U.S. App. D.C. 404, 20 A.L.R. 2d 823, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 72, 340 U.S. 855, 95 L. Ed. 626).

Following the material tenor of the language, the use of the words "survivors" or "survivor" refers not to survival at the time of testator's own death, but means survivorship among the nephews at the time of the death of the sister or niece, the immediate precedent beneficiary in point of time. The court must construe the will so that the intent of testator will have vitality. Id.

Contingent estate

Where interest devised to grandniece followed a life estate to testator's widow, it was a "remainder," and where it was to become effective only on the death of testator's two daughters without descendants it was a "contingent remainder," and where only one daughter had died without descendants such contingent remainder had not vested, and until it had, the grandniece could take nothing. Lewis v. Cockrell (D.C.D.C. 1948, 80 F. Supp. 380).

Express or implied terms

Where "the absolute power of disposal was given in express and unequivocal terms, or clearly and unmistakably implied, to the first taker, the remainder over was void." Montgomery v. Brown (1905, 25 App. D. C. 490).

Interpretation

Adverbs of time, as "after", etc., are to be construed to relate to the time of the enjoyment of the estate and not to the time of vesting of an interest. District of Columbia v. Clark (1949, 175 F. 2d 821, 84 U.S. App. D.C. 88).

Limitations

In terms of the law of future interests, there are alternative limitations and supplanting limitations. The former requires survival of the remaindermen to the end of the preceding interests. The latter does not necessarily require such survival. It imposes a condition, the happening of which replaces the remaindermen with another. Scott v. Powell (1950, 182 F. 2d 75, 86 U.S. App. D.C. 277).

Remainder interests taxable

Under the statutory definition of vested interests, the interests herein presented are vested remainders. Simultaneously, the remainder interests are subject to be divested should the remaindermen, or any of them, fail to survive the life estate. Such interests are subject to taxation. Keep v. District of Columbia (1950, 181 F. 2d 789, 86 U.S. App. D.C. 206).

Substitution of remainderman

Where testatrix devised realty to her sister for life, then to her daughter for life, and then to testatrix's three sons and the issue of the daughter, if any, in fee simple, the issue to take a one-fourth part and if daughter should die without issue then to the three sons, their heirs and assigns forever share and share alike, and in any case, if the three sons should die leaving a descendant or descendants, the descendant or descendants to take the share his, her, or their parent would have taken had he lived, as to one-fourth of property, each designated remainderman took a contingent remainder subject to be divested in event of his death leaving a descendant prior to death of second life tenant, so that son's descendant became substituted remainderman when he died before event which constituted contingency on which his interest depended. Pyne v. Pyne (1946, 154 F. 2d 297, 81 U.S. App. D.C. 11).

Vested and contingent estates distinguished

Distinction between vested and contingent remainder. Fields v. Gwynn (1901, 19 App. D.C. 99). See, also, O'Brien v. Dougherty (1893, 1 App. D.C. 148); Richardson v. Penicks (1893, 1 App. D.C. 261); Marshall v. Augusta (1895, 5 App. D.C. 183); Craig v. Rowland (1897, 10 App. D.C. 402); Hauptman v. Carpenter (1900, 16 App. D.C. 524); Green v. Gordon (1912, 38 App. D.C. 443); Reeves v. American Security & Trust Co. (1940, 115 F. 2d 145, 72 App. D.C. 403, certiorari denied 61 S. Ct. 318, 311 U.S. 710, 85 L. Ed. 461).

Vested estate

Where testator devised his residuary estate to his wife for life and on her death to testator's daughters in fee simple share and share alike and "in the event that either of them be then dead unto the survivor of them", the daughters acquired a "vested interest" and not a "contingent interest" within section 47–1607 which recognizes and taxes separately vested interest and contingent interest. O'Neill v. District of Columbia (1943, 132 F. 2d 601, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 79).

Where testatrix devised realty to her daughter for life and then to testatrix's three sons and the issue of the daughter, if any, in fee simple, the issue to take a one-fourth part, and directed that, if daughter should die without issue, then to testatrix's three sons, their heirs and assigns forever share and share alike, the sons each had a vested remainder in one-fourth of property and contingent remainder in one-twelfth. Pyne v. Pyne (1946, 154 F. 2d 297, 81 U.S. App. D.C. 11).

Where testatrix devised realty to her sister for life, then to her daughter for life, and then to testatrix's three sons and the issue of daughter, if any, in fee simple, the issue to take a one-fourth part and, if daughter should die without issue, then to the three sons, their heirs and assigns forever share and share alike, and in any case, if the three sons should die leaving a descendant or descendants, the descendant or descendants to take the share his, her, or their parent would have taken had he lived, as to three-fourths of property on death of testatrix, each designated remainderman took a vested remainder in fee simple subject to be divested in event of his death leaving a descendant prior to death of second life tenant and upon the event of divestment, the substituted remainderman took the remainder. Id.

Under will giving life estate in testamentary trust created therein to testator's stepdaughter, and providing that remainder should be divided, in equal shares, among testator's nephews and nieces listed in will, with the further provision that "the child or children of any one or more of said nephews and nieces deceased taking the parents' share," each nephew and niece named in will, who survived testator, took a "vested remainder interest" upon testator's death, and not a "contingent remainder interest." American Sec. & Trust Co. v. Sullivan (D.C.D.C. 1947, 72 F. Supp. 925).

A future estate is vested when there is a person in being who would have an immediate right to possession upon the expiration of the intermediate or preceding estate, or upon the arrival of a certain period or event when it is to commence in possession. District of Columbia v. Clark (1949, 175 F. 2d 821, 84 U.S. App. D.C. 88).

Vested remainders

Where will bequeathed to niece all household furniture, jewelry and other personal property, except cash, and bequeathed to brother all the rest, residue and remainder of estate except that if brother should predecease testatrix or for any other reason could not personally take residue, then it was to go to niece, testatrix's vested remainder in estate subject to life estate, passed to brother who survived testatrix but who along with niece, predeceased life tenant. Bank of Galesburg etc. v. Lawrenson Jr., etc., and Waters etc. (1956, 240 F. 2d 31, 99 U. S. App. D. C. 345).

There may be vested remainders in equitable estates as well as in legal estates. District of Columbia v. Clark (1949, 175 F. 2d 821, 84 U.S. App. D.C. 88).

Vesting favored

"The law favors the vesting of estates, and is inclined to treat conditions as subsequent rather than precedent." Green v. Gordon (1912, 38 App. D.C. 443).

Estates vest at the earliest possible moment, in absence of testamentary intent to contrary. Id.

§ 45–813. Alternative future estates.

Two or more future estates may be created to take effect in the alternative, so that if the first in order shall fail to vest the next in succession may be substituted for it and take effect accordingly. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1352, ch. 854, § 1026.)

§ 45–814. Expectant estates not to be defeated.

No expectant estate can be defeated or barred by any alienation or other act of the owner of the intermediate or precedent estate, nor by any destruction of such precedent estate, by disseizin, forfeiture, surrender, merger, or otherwise, except when such destruction is expressly provided for or authorized in the creation of such expectant estate; nor shall an expectant estate thus liable to be defeated be on that ground adjudged void in its creation. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1352, ch. 854, § 1029.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Dower rights in expectant estate

This section and § 1030 (§ 45–815) do not change the common-law rule that a widow is not entitled to dower in lands to which her husband had a remainder in fee, if he predeceases the life tenant. Tolty v. Tolty (1913, 40 App. D. C. 587).

Estate subject to divestment

Where testatrix devised realty to her sister for life, then to her daughter for life, and then to testatrix's three sons and the issue of daughter, if any, in fee simple, the issue to take a one-fourth part and, if daughter should die without issue, then to the three sons, their heirs and assigns forever share and share alike, and in any case, if the three sons should die leaving a descendant or descendants, the descendant or descendants to take the share his, her, or their parent would have taken had he lived, as to three-fourths of property on death of testatrix, each designated remainderman took a vested remainder in fee simple subject to be divested in event of his death leaving a descendant prior to death of second life tenant and upon the event of divestment, the substituted remainderman took the remainder. Pyne v. Pyne (1946, 154 F. 2d 297, 81 U.S. App. D.C. 11).

Substitution of remainderman

Where testatrix devised realty to her sister for life, then to her daughter for life, and then to testatrix's three sons and the issue of the daughter, if any, in fee simple, the issue to take a one-fourth part and if daughter should die without issue then to the three sons, their heirs and assigns forever share and share alike, and in any case, if the three sons should die leaving a descendant or descendants, the descendant or descendants to take the share his, her, or their parent would have taken had he lived, as to one-fourth of property, each designated remainderman took a contingent remainder subject to be divested in event of his death leaving a descendant prior to death of second life tenant, so that son's descendant became substituted remainderman when he died before event which constituted contingency on which his interest depended. Pyne v. Pyne (1946, 154 F. 2d 297, 81 U.S. App. D.C. 11).

§ 45–815. Expectant estate descendible and alienable.

Expectant estates shall be descendible, devisable, and alienable in the same manner as estates in possession. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1352, ch. 854, § 1030.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Assignments

Where testatrix devised realty to her daughter for life and then to testatrix's three sons and the issue of the daughter, if any, in fee simple, the issue to take a one-fourth part, and if daughter die without issue then to the three sons, their heirs and assigns forever share and share alike, a son's interests, whether contingent or vested, were assignable, but he could assign only that which he had. Pyne v. Pyne (1946, 154 F. 2d 297, 81 U.S. App. D.C. 11).

§ 45–816. Tenancies in common and joint tenancies.

Every estate granted or devised to two or more persons in their own right, including estates granted or devised to husband and wife, shall be a tenancy in common, unless expressly declared to be a joint tenancy; but every estate vested in executors or trustees, as such, shall be a joint tenancy, unless otherwise expressed. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1352, ch. 854, § 1031; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 538, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, added "unless otherwise expressed."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Prior law

Prior to enactment of this section on January 1, 1902, there was in force in District of Columbia a common law rule that a conveyance or devise to two or more persons, whether as a class or by name, without sufficient indication in instrument of intention that they were to hold in severalty, should be construed as creating a joint tenancy and not a tenancy in common. American Sec. & Trust Co. v. Sullivan (D.C.D.C. 1947, 72 F. Supp. 925).

Construction of conveyance to two or more persons prior to adoption of this code, see O'Brien v. Dougherty (1893, 1 App. D.C. 148) (devise to a class); Carroll v. Reidy (1894, 5 App. D.C. 59) (to husband and wife as tenants in common); Alsop v. Fedarwisch (1896, 9 App. D. C. 408); Seitz v. Seitz (1897, 11 App. D. C. 358).

Where the death of the testator occurred before the enactment of this code, the common law applied. Noyes v. Parker (1937, 92 F. 2d 562, 68 App. D.C. 13).

Conveyances to husband and wife, their heirs and assigns forever, prior to adoption of this section, created a tenancy by the entirety, unaffected by the married woman's act. Blount v. United States (59 Ct. Cl. 328).

Estates by entireties

Where man and woman were disabled from holding property by the entireties because they were not legally married, deed conveying property to them and purporting to create a tenancy by the entireties created, instead, a joint tenancy, not a tenancy in common. Coleman v. Jackson (C.A.D.C. 1960, 286 F. 2d 98).

Estates by the entireties still exist in the District of Columbia in both personalty and realty. Flaherty v. Columbus (1914, 41 App. D.C. 525).

This section does not abolish common-law tenancies by entireties. Settle v. Settle (1926, 8 F. 2d 911, 56 App. D.C. 50, 43 A.L.R. 1079).

Land, which was conveyed to husband and wife as joint tenants, was held by husband and wife as "tenants by the entirety". Herb v. Gerstein (D.C.D.C. 1941, 41 F. Supp. 634).

Husband was entitled to maintain in his own name a suit against tenant for possession of an apartment in a building which he and his wife had purchased as tenants by the entirety. Sandler v. Wertlieb (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 222).

Severance of joint tenancy

Under circumstances, execution of deed of trust by daughter as one joint tenant in favor of mother as the second joint tenant did not serve either to "sever" the joint tenancy or establish that a joint tenancy never existed between mother and daughter. J. Maynard v. L. M. Sutherland (1962, 313 F. 2d 560, 114 U.S. App. D.C. 169).

Joint tenants are free to contract with each other for the use of the common property and even to provide for exclusive use of the property by one of them. Id.

Tenancies in common

Statutory presumption that a conveyance to two or more creates a tenancy in common applies only when there is no expression to the contrary in the conveyance. Coleman v. Jackson (C.A.D.C. 1960, 286 F. 2d 98).

This section providing that a conveyance to two or more should create a tenancy in common unless it expressly declares a joint tenancy does not excuse courts from determining and effecting the intention of the grantor as it appears on the face of the conveyance. Id.

This section providing that a conveyance to two or more should create a tenancy in common, unless expressly declared to be a joint tenancy, was intended to reverse the common-law rule that a grant or devise to a number of people, without more, creates a joint tenancy. Id.

Where brother and sister were engaged in a joint business venture regarding a piece of property, the title being in her name solely as a matter of convenience, they were in effect tenants in common. Sheehy v. O'Donoghue (1938, 94 F. 2d 252, 68 App. D.C. 127).

Where testator devises estate to named persons, to be divided equally, those persons take as tenants in common. Liberty National Bank of Washington v. Smoot et al. (D.C.D.C. 1956, 135 F. Supp. 654).

A tenant in common owns an undivided interest in the property, and such tenants have no separate estate or interest in any distinct portion of the property over which they have simultaneously rights of property, each being interested according to the extent of his share in every part of the whole property and its proceeds. Deming v. Turner (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 220).

Where testamentary trust created by will directing that children of deceased remainderman should take share that parents would have taken was created after January 1, 1902, children of a deceased remainderman took share of their parent as "tenants in common", and not as "joint tenants", and, hence, upon one of the children subsequently dying before life tenant, estate of the deceased child would take same equal share as surviving child or children would take. American Sec. & Trust Co. v. Sullivan (D.C.D.C. 1947, 72 F. Supp. 925).

§ 45–817. Coparcenary estates abolished.

There shall be no estate in coparcenary in the District, and where two or more persons inherit from an intestate they shall be tenants in common. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1343, ch. 854, § 956.)

§ 45–818. Estates for years.

An estate for a determined period of time is an estate for years. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1352, ch. 854, § 1032.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Leases

A lease for a term of years creates an estate in the grantee, and the rent reserved may be a lump sum, payable either at the commencement of the term or at its end, subject to such conditions as the lease imposes. Isquith v. Athanas (D. C. Mun. App. 1943, 33 A. 2d 733).

An ordinary lease of tenancy for years must be certain as to commencement, duration and termination or be capable of being made certain by reference to some collateral event or thing which in itself is certain. Smith's Transfer & Storage Co. v. Hawkins (D.C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 267).

Where lease provided that it should continue for one year and if at end of that period war of United States with Germany and Japan had not been terminated, lease should continue until "end of war" with Germany and Japan as determined by proclamation of President of United States or by joint resolution of Congress, the lease provided for termination by collateral event which was certain to happen and therefore the lease did not terminate at end of the primary term. Id.

§ 45–819. Estates from year to year.

An estate expressed to be from year to year shall be good for one year only. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1352, ch. 854, § 1033.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Holding over

A lease for one year, with a provision that unless the premises are vacated on the day of the expiration of the term, the lessee shall become a tenant for another year, creates a tenancy for one year only, and the tenant holding over becomes a tenant at sufferance. Morse v. Brainerd (1914, 42 App. D.C. 448). See, also, Soper v. Myers (1916, 45 App. D.C. 286).

§ 45–820. Estates by sufferance.

All estates which by construction of the courts were estates from year to year at common law, as where a tenant goes into possession and pays rent without an agreement for a term, or where a tenant for years, after the expiration of his term, continues in possession and pays rent and the like, and all verbal hireings by the month or at any specified rate per month, shall be deemed estates by sufferance. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1352, ch. 854, § 1034; June 30. 1902, 32 Stat. 538, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, substituted "hirelings" for "hirlings."

CROSS REFERENCE

Statute of frauds, see § 28–3501.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Common law

At common law a "tenant by sufferance" had no estate in premises, was not in privity with landlord, could not maintain action of trespass against landlord, was entitled to no notice to quit, was not liable for rent, and had little more than right to insist he was not trespasser. Hampton v. Mott Motors (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 32 A. 2d 247).

At common law, a tenant holding over and paying rent became a "tenant from year to year" and the holding over was impliedly subject to all covenants of expired lease. Id.

Court's finding of fact

Unless trial court's finding of fact are clearly erroneous, they cannot be disturbed. Bass v. American Security and Trust Co., Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 124 A. 2d 590).

Creation of new tenancy

Where landlord obtained a judgment which established her right to possession and tenant was granted a stay by the court conditioned upon payment of rent, and thereafter tenant bargained with landlord for additional time upon condition that rent would be paid and that it would be the last extension, tenant could not thereafter assert that landlord had created a new tenancy and had abandoned her right to enforce judgment of possession by accepting rent for the extended period. Trammel v. Estep (D.C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 501).

Expiration of lease

Where in lease tenant agreed to pay insurance, and paid same beyond term of lease, such payment did not extend the lease and he was tenant by sufferance. Forster v. Eliot (1922, 282 F. 735, 52 App. D.C. 107).

Tenants in possession of property under a lease which had expired were tenants by sufferance. Weaver v. Koester (1924, 294 F. 1011, 54 App. D.C. 80).

Tenant under six months' lease becomes tenant by sufferance on its expiration, notice of renewal having been verbal and not written. National Cafés v. Elite Laundry Co. (1927, 18 F. 2d 828, 57 App. D.C. 178).

Tenant on expiration of one-year lease became tenant by sufferance, and entitled to thirty days' notice to vacate. Rust Co. v. Drury (1934, 68 F. 2d 167, 62 App. D.C. 329).

Lessee who occupied commercial property as hold-over tenant after his three years' written lease had expired was a hold-over tenant by sufferance and his tenancy was subject to termination on thirty days' notice. Lake v. Angelo (D. C. Mun. App. 1960, 163 A. 2d 611).

Even though assignee of expired lease in taking title to property acted solely as agent or straw party for realty corporation, which was seeking to acquire a number of parcels of real estate in neighborhood, assignee was entitled to bring possessory action against lessee, who was hold-over tenant, since lessee could assert any right he had to possession in suit by assignee in same manner that he could have asserted such right if corporation had brought suit. Id.

A tenant who remained in possession paying rent after expiration of written lease became a "tenant by sufferance", not within common-law meaning of term, and hence such tenancy could be terminated by either party upon 30 days' notice. Hampton v. Mott Motors (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 32 A 2d 247).

The fact that tenant continued in possession of premises after expiration of term lease did not create a "tenancy by sufferance" so as to require landlord to give 30 day notice, where landlord brought action for possession immediately upon expiration of term and continuation in possession was result of temporary injunction order obtained by tenant and landlord rejected rent offered by tenant, notwithstanding landlord accepted damages for wrongful suing out of temporary restraining order. Bell v. Westbrook (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 264).

The fact that landlord called tenant a "tenant by sufferance" in complaint in action for possession of premises filed immediately upon expiration of term lease, did not create a "tenancy by sufferance" so as to require landlord to first give tenant a 30 day notice since quoted term was a legal conclusion. Id.

Lease covenants

A holding over by tenant after expiration of lease is subject to all covenants and terms of original lease applicable to new situation. Hall v. Henry J. Robb, Inc. (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 32 A. 2d 707).

Where tenant held over for about 30 months after expiration of written lease, and tenancy could have been terminated on 30 days' notice tenancy created by holding over was impliedly subject to covenant of lease imposing upon tenant liability for cost of needful repairs. Hampton v. Mott Motors (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 32 A. 2d 247).

A covenant in a lease against assigning or subletting without landlord's consent is for benefit of landlord because it is regarded as for his interest to determine who shall be his tenant. Keroes v. Westchester Apartments (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 36 A. 2d 263).

Liability for rent

Where plaintiff and defendant entered into an oral agreement for the rental of plaintiff's garage at a monthly rate, and defendant vacated garage on first day of August without giving any written notice of his intention to do so, in absence of any waiver by plaintiff, defendant was liable for rent for entire month of August. Miller v. Plumley (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 77 A. 2d 173).

Nature of section

This section is mandatory and neither parties nor courts are at liberty to disregard its express policy. Warthen v. Lamas (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 759).

Part of lease

This section was as much a part of lease which tenant claimed to have renewed by holding over after expiration thereof and paying rent as though this section had been written into lease. Warthen v. Lamas (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 759).

Payment and acceptance of rent after notice

Although tenant's wife on September 22 informed landlord's office that she and tenant would vacate apartment within 30 days, and also wrote landlord stating that they wished to move by October 1, where tenant paid and landlord accepted rent for October on October 4, even if notice was valid when given, neither landlord nor tenant was bound by it, and when tenant vacated on October 9, tenant vacated without giving required notice. Williams v. Tencher-Walker, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 125 A. 2d 58).

Renewal of lease

Where lease contained option to renew for additional term upon giving of written notice by lessee, the mailing of an unsigned renewal notice bearing a rubber stamped mark of tenant's trade name, enclosed in an envelope containing tenant's rental check signed by him and also bearing his trade name, was sufficient compliance with requirements of lease. Worthington v. Serkes (D. C. Mun. App. 1955, 111 A. 2d 877).

Under the rule that an election by tenant to renew a lease should precede or be concurrent with expiration of lease and not depend upon after events except insofar as they may reflect the understanding of the parties with respect to a precedent act, the fact that tenant remained in possession after expiration of lease and paid rent shed little light upon his intention to exercise option to renew, and, in absence of other evidence, such holding over presumptively created a mere tenancy by sufferance. Warthen v. Lamas (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 759).

Statutory tenancy by sufferance

Statutory tenancy by sufferance is entirely different from common-law tenancy by sufferance, and statutes declaring that certain tenancies are tenancies by sufferance and providing manner of terminating such tenancies are controlling. Cavalier Apartments Corp. v. McMullen (D.C. Mun. App. 1959, 153 A. 2d 642).

Under this section to effect that all verbal hirings by month shall be deemed estates by sufferance, tenant who rented premises under oral tenancy from month to month was a tenant by sufferance and her tenancy was terminable at any time by notice in writing of her intention to quit on 30th day after date of service of notice. Id.

Tenant holding over

Status of lessee upon remaining in possession of leased premises after purchaser's 90-day notice to quit expired was that of hold-over tenant or tenant by sufferance. Fisher v. Parkwood, Inc. (D.C. App. 1965, 213 A. 2d. 757).

Evidence sustained finding that person, who had been appointed as conservator of tenant's estate had orally agreed, as representative of tenant by sufferance, to pay increased rental for leased premises. W. E. Summerbell et ano. v. W. B. McDonnell, Individually etc. (D.C. App. 1964, 197 A. 2d 150).

A tenant holding over and paying rent becomes a "tenant by sufferance" in sense only that his tenancy may be terminated by tenant or landlord on 30 days' notice in accordance with section 45–904. Hampton v. Mott Motors (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 32 A. 2d 247).

A lapse of two weeks between the expiration of the lease and the filing of the suit is not sufficient to establish a tenancy by sufferance under the terms of the statute. Williams v. John S. Donohoe & Sons, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 239).

Termination by subletting

Where tenant under verbal hiring by the month removed herself from rented apartment and sublet it to another with landlord's consent for a designated period, after expiration of such period, landlord was entitled to possession of the apartment on ground that tenant was violating "obligation of tenancy" within Emergency Rent Act, § 45–1605 (b). Keroes v. Westchester Apartments (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 36 A. 2d 263).

In absence of restrictions, a tenant under lease for definite term may sublet the premises; but, where tenant has only an estate at sufferance, if tenant sublets contrary to landlord's wishes, landlord may terminate the tenancy immediately. Id.

Verbal renting by month

This section of the code provides that all verbal hirings by the month, or at any specified rate per month, shall be deemed estates by sufferance. Boss v. Hagan (1920, 261 F. 254, 49 App. D.C. 106, 8 A.L.R. 1508).

Tenancy under verbal hiring by the month, though deemed a tenancy at sufferance by this section is not an estate at sufferance within strict meaning of the common-law term, but is more in the nature of an estate from month to month, or an estate at will, and until the Emergency Rent Act, § 45–1605 (b), became effective was determinable at any time. Keroes v. Westchester Apartments (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 36 A. 2d 263).

Tenant holding apartment under verbal hiring by the month was a "tenant at sufferance". Westchester Apartments v. Keroes (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 32 A. 2d 869). See, also, Keroes v. Westchester Apartments (D.C. Mun. App. 1944, 36 A. 2d 263).

§ 45–821. Estates from month to month or from quarter to quarter.

An estate may be from month to month or from quarter to quarter, or, as otherwise expressed, it may be by the month or by the quarter, if so expressed in writing. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1352, ch. 854, § 1035.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Notice

A "tenancy from month to month" is a tenancy for a month certain plus an expectancy or possibility of continuation for one or more similar periods, and until rightful notice of termination is given this expectancy ripens at the turn of each month to a true tenancy for the ensuing month. Dorado v. Loew's Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 88 A. 2d 188).

§ 45–822. Estates at will—When terminated.

An estate at will is one held by the joint will of lessor and lessee, and which may be terminated at any time, as herein elsewhere provided, by either party; and such estate shall not exist or be created except by express contract: Provided, however, That in case of a sale of real estate under mortgage or deed of trust or execution, and a conveyance thereof to the purchaser, the grantor in such mortgage or deed of trust, execution defendant, or those in possession claiming under him, shall be held and construed to be tenants at will, except in the case of a tenant holding under an unexpired lease for years, in writing, antedating the mortgage or deed of trust. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1352, ch. 854, § 1036, part.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Construction

Where plaintiff fails to bring defendant within the statutory definition of a tenant at will, he will not prevail. Spruill v. Brooks (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 204).

Constructive eviction

Where new owner, following foreclosure sale of leased premises, made demand for August rent, tenant was not faced with constructive eviction, which would excuse tenant's nonpayment to landlord of rent which was payable in advance on date prior to foreclosure sale, in view of facts that leasehold interest antedated deed of trust and that tenant remained in possession without interruption under same conditions and terms after foreclosure sale as before. Hyde v. Brandler (D. C. Mun. App. 1955, 118 A. 2d 398).

Covenant of quiet enjoyment

Where holder of landlord's deed of trust caused trustees to foreclose and became new owner, foreclosure sale did not constitute a breach of covenant of quiet enjoyment, and tenant's payment to new owner of rent past due and payable was at tenant's own risk. Hyde v. Brandler (D. C. Mun. App. 1955, 118 A. 2d 398).

Lessee after foreclosure

Where plaintiff in acquiring a lease as purchaser under foreclosure did not become a landlord but became a substituted lessee entitled to those rights as tenants which had theretofore belonged to the debtor, no notice to quit to debtor as a condition precedent to the filing of a possessory action was required. Goody's, Inc. v. Stern's Equipment Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1954, 110 A. 2d 311).

Lessee of property sold under foreclosure proceedings becomes the tenant of the purchaser. Bliss v. Duncan (1915, 44 App. D.C. 93).

Notice and time to remove peaceably

Congress did not intend a remedy too expeditious to be fair, and recognized the justice of giving a former owner of real estate, or his tenant, when sold out under a mortgage or deed of trust, a reasonable notice and time peaceably to remove himself and his belongings from the property sold. Thornhill v. Atlantic Life Ins. Co. (1934, 70 F. 2d 846, 63 App. D.C. 184).

Right to possession

Where plaintiff sued for possession of property purchased at foreclosure sale against defendant who had previously owned the property but had defaulted on the second trust note, the defense that when the deed of trust was foreclosed defendants automatically became tenants at will under this section and could not be ousted by reason of § 45–1605 is not applicable since the property did not constitute housing accommodations within the meaning of § 45–1611. Surratt v. Real Estate Exchange, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 76 A. 2d 587).

§ 45–823. Provisions applicable to personal property.

All the provisions of this chapter and of sections 45–102 to 45–104, 45–203, 45–204, shall apply to personal property generally except where from the nature of the property they are inapplicable. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 1036, part, as added June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 538, ch. 1329.)

CROSS REFERENCE

Proceedings in ejectment apply to landlord and tenant, see § 16–1110.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Expiration of term

Where tenant was merely continuing in possession after expiration of lease against will of landlord, without payment of rent, tenant was not entitled to notice to quit. Nickles v. Sullivan (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 97 A. 2d 920).

When parties contract for a definite lease term no notice to quit need be given when the term expires. Keuroglian v. Wilkins (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 88 A. 2d 581).

The fact that landlord who immediately brought at expiration of term lease, an action for recovery of possession of leased premises, accepted damages from tenant for wrongful suing out of order temporarily restraining landlord from further proceeding with the action, did not constitute waiver of landlord's right to sue for recovery of premises. Bell v. Westbrook (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 264).

Landlord who filed on January 2, 1946, a suit for possession of premises was not required to first give a 30 day notice to quit, notwithstanding term lease expired December 31, 1945, since January 1, 1946, being a legal holiday, this section authorizing recovery of possession without notice immediately upon expiration of term was complied with. Id.

Where tenants claimed that landlord did not forcibly evict them from the premises, did not file suit for possession until two weeks after the lease had expired, and that the tenants continued to furnish heat and hot water for entire building, and that these acts created a tenancy by sufferance entitling them to a thirty-day notice to quit, the claims were without merit under the provisions of the statute. Williams v. John S. Donohue & Sons, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 239).

When real estate is leased for a certain term, no notice to quit is necessary and the landlord is entitled to possession immediately upon the expiration of the term. Alpert v. Wolf (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 73 A. 2d 525).

Subtenant, notice to

Where lessee of one portion of premises occupied, added space as subtenant of second lessee, and by supplemental agreement with landlord proposed to occupy added space under covenants of original lease if second lessee vacated, and both leases expired before second lessee vacated, and lessor did not recognize lessee as a tenant of added space by accepting rent from him for such space, lessee occupied added space as a subtenant holding over, and since second lessee had no right to a 30 day notice to vacate, his lease having expired, lessee, as subtenant, also was without right to such notice. Thayer v. Brainerd (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 787).

§ 45–902. Notices to quit—Month to month.

A tenancy from month to month, or from quarter to quarter, may be terminated by a thirty days' notice in writing from the landlord to the tenant to quit, or by such a notice from the tenant to the landlord of his intention to quit, said notice to expire, in either case, on the day of the month from which such tenancy commenced to run. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1382, ch. 854, § 1219.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Assignments

Landlord who without knowledge of dealings between tenant and corporation accepted corporate checks for rent was not thereby bound by transactions between tenant and corporation, and where there was no written assignment of rental agreement with tenant to corporation and landlord had never accepted corporation as a tenant, service of notice on tenant was sufficient to terminate lease as well as sublease expressly made subject thereto. Haje's, Inc. v. Wire (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 56 A. 2d 158).

Date notice terminates

While the landlord is not required to specify in the notice the date of the termination of the notice, having done it he is bound by that date. Merritt v. Thompson (1923, 289 F. 631, 53 App. D.C. 233).

The validity of a notice to quit a month to month tenancy does not depend upon whether the notice expires on a rent day, but upon whether it expires on the day of the month from which the tenancy began to run, thus notice given to expire on the corresponding current date to that of the leasehold origin was valid even though the parties had orally agreed to a change in the date of rental payments. Ourisman Chevrolet v. Zimmelman (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 91 A. 2d 709).

Notice of termination of tenancy from month to month cannot be made to expire at time other than end of month, notwithstanding § 45–908 allowing parties to lease to substitute a longer or shorter period of notice than the thirty days which would be otherwise required. Dorado v. Loew's, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 88 A. 2d 188).

Under lease "by the month" commencing on 20th day of month and providing that lessee would quit premises 24 hours after receiving notice to quit and that he would operate on a 24 hour notice to quit, waiving any and all other notices to quit, and that lessor would rebate any rent paid in advance for period after notice to quit, 24 hour notice served on the 26th of the month was ineffective and notice to be effective had to expire on day of month from which tenancy commenced to run. Id.

An agreement whereby property was conveyed to holder of a deed of trust did not affect lease of the premises previously made by owner, but the title taken was subject to the lease, in absence of foreclosure of the deed of trust, even though the lease was not of record, and to terminate the tendency it was necessary that notice to quit expire on the day on which the tenancy commenced to run. Knowles v. Mosher (D.C. Mun. App. 1946, 45 A. 2d 755).

A landlord is not required to specify, in notice to quit premises leased from month to month date of expiration of notice, but must give notice running for full 30-day period, excluding date of service, and expiring on day of month from which tenancy commenced to run. Young v. Baugh (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 35 A. 2d 242, appeal dismissed 39 A. 2d 478).

In fixing time when landlord's notice to tenant to quit leased premises expires, law does not take cognizance of fractions of a day or minute. Id.

Description of property

A notice to quit which describes the property in the same manner as in defendant's lease, and which gives more than 30 days' notice, was sufficient. Bliss v. Duncan (1915, 44 App. D.C. 93).

Dismissal of complaint

In proceeding in landlord and tenant court, where informality of pleading has always been the rule, to recover demised premises on the sole ground that tenancy had been terminated by notice failure of complaint to show that premises were exempt from § 45–1601 et seq. did not require dismissal. United States v. Wittek (D.C. Mun. App. 1946, 48 A. 2d 805, reversed and remanded 171 F. 2d 8, 83 U.S. App. D.C. 377 reversed and remanded 69 S. Ct. 1108, 337 U.S. 346, 93 L. Ed. 1406).

Where complaint alleged termination of tenancy by notice and sought recovery of demised premises, even if premises were housing accommodations governed by § 45–1601 et seq., it was still possible that plaintiff could have stated a cause of action by alleging that tenants had violated a condition of their tenancy, and proper procedure was to grant motion to dismiss with leave to amend. Id.

Due process

Attempted termination of tenancy by United States as landlord for sole reason that tenants refused to sign certification that they were not members of many of certain listed organizations which had been designated by Attorney General either as subversive or as otherwise within Executive Order No. 9835 was arbitrary and violative of due process requirements. Rudder v. United States of America (1955, 226 F. 2d 51, 96 U. S. App. D. C. 329).

Licensee

Party storing merchandise upon premises by permission but without any lease or agreement as to payment of rent was only permissive occupant and mere licensee, and, as such, not entitled to benefit of rule providing that when landlord gives notice to quit and later accepts rent for new term or part thereof he thereby waives his right to demand possession under notice. Shapiro v. Christopher (1952, 195 F. 2d 785, 90 U. S. App. D. C. 114).

Moot questions

When real estate is leased for a certain time, no notice to quit is necessary and the landlord is entitled to possession immediately upon the expiration of the term. It is not the duty of the court to give opinions upon moot questions or abstract propositions, or to declare principles or rules of law which cannot affect the matter in issue. Moreover, it has often been decided where possession of land was involved under an alleged lease that the question becomes moot after the expiration of such lease. Alpert v. Wolf (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 73 A. 2d 525).

Purpose of notice

The purpose of this section respecting tenants' notice of intent to vacate rented premises is not to penalize the tenant but to give the opportunity to the landlord to find a new tenant, and where the failure to give notice results in no loss to the landlord, due to reletting, an additional month's rent would penalize the tenant and unjustly enrich the landlord. First National Realty Corporation v. Oliver (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 134 A. 2d 325).

Where dwelling house was leased on a monthly basis and after paying the first month's rent in advance, the tenants vacated after ten days without notice, the landlord was not entitled to recover an additional month's rent where due to rerenting, it sustained no loss. Id.

Receipt of rent after notice

When landlord gives notice to quit and later accepts rent for new term or part thereof, he thereby waives his right to demand possession under notice, but a landlord's receipt of rent already in arrears merely obviates necessity of entering judgment for that amount and in no way affects landlord's right to judgment for possession. Shapiro v. Christopher (1952, 195 F. 2d 785, 90 U. S. App. D. C. 114).

"The receipt of rent by a landlord, after notice to quit, of rent for a new term or part thereof, amounts to a waiver of his right to demand possession under that notice * * *. But the receipt of rent for the current month, pending the notice to quit, cannot have that effect." Byrne v. Morrison (1905, 25 App. D.C. 72).

Acceptance of rent to November 30 is not a waiver of a notice to quit expiring on December 1. McCoy v. Duehay (1922, 279 F. 1001, 51 App. D.C. 363). See, also, Byrne v. Morrison (1905, 25 App. D.C. 72).

A notice to quit served on November 27, 1944, on a monthly tenant whose tenancy ran from the first day of the month would expire January 1, 1945, and acceptance of rent to January 1, 1945, after service of notice would not waive or invalidate such notice. Moncure v. Curry (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 143).

Whether landlord's agent had authority to accept rent paid after service of notice to quit would be immaterial unless payment was for rent beyond termination date of the notice. Id.

The acceptance of rent by landlord from month to month tenant only for a period during the running of notice to quit was not a waiver of such notice. Pointer v. Shepard (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 659).

Review

In action by landlord against one alleged to be a monthly tenant for possession of realty, appellate court could not pass on validity of defense of acceptance of a month's rent after service of notice to quit in absence of statement of proceedings and evidence showing when tenancy began to run or when notice to quit expired, since acceptance of rent to date of such expiration would not waive or invalidate notice. Moncure v. Curry (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 143).

Statutory tenancy by sufferance

Statutory tenancy by sufferance is entirely different from common-law tenancy by sufferance, and statutes declaring that certain tenancies are tenancies by sufferance and providing manner of terminating such tenancies are controlling. Cavalier Apartments Corp. v. McMullen (D.C. Mun. App. 1959, 153 A. 2d 642).

Under this section to effect that all verbal hirings by month shall be deemed estates by sufferance, tenant who rented premises under oral tenancy from month to month was a tenant by sufferance and her tenancy was terminable at any time by notice in writing of her intention to quit on 30th day after date of service of notice. Id.

Surrender and acceptance

Whether there has been a surrender of premises by a tenant under a tenancy from month to month and an unqualified acceptance by landlord such as to terminate tenancy and relieve tenant from further liability for rent is generally a question of fact, and mere acceptance of key and reentry for purpose of rerenting does not conclusively establish, as a matter of law, that tenant is relieved from further rent. Thomas D. Walsh, Inc. v. Moore (D. C. Mun. App. 1958, 141 A. 2d 754).

Termination by United States

Though private landlord can terminate tenancy from month to month by 30 days' notice and recover possession without furnishing reason for termination, United States in its capacity as landlord is still United States and is subject to requirements of due process and may not terminate tenancy arbitrarily. Rudder v. United States of America (1955, 226 F. 2d 51, 96 U. S. App. D. C. 329).

Thirty-day notice

Thirty-day notice, expiring on the day of the month from which the tenancy is alleged by defendant to run, is sufficient, whether estate be from month to month or by sufferance. McCoy v. Duehay (1922, 279 F. 1001, 51 App. D.C. 363).

Sundays and half holidays on Saturdays are not excluded in computing the time given in the notice. Id.

Notice is not bad because it gives 31 days' notice. Id.

A notice dated and served July 1, requiring tenant to vacate on July 31, is insufficient. "By the rule of interpretation, excluding the first day and including the last, there was not full 30 days." Merritt v. Thompson (1923, 289 F. 631, 53 App. D.C. 233).

Where Congress amended the District of Columbia Emergency Rent Act providing that for housing accommodations rented on January 1, 1941, maximum rent ceiling should be increased to 20 percent above freeze date rental, on filing by landlord with Rent Administrator of a new rent schedule form, tenants were obligated to pay such authorized increase on filing by landlord of his schedule, and tenants were not entitled to 30-day notice. Stoner v. Humphries (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 87 A. 2d 528).

Where tenancy by terms of written lease commenced on first day of each month, notice served on June 26, which ordered tenant to quit premises at expiration of 30 days after beginning of her next month's tenancy, complied with this section requiring landlord to give 30 day notice to quit in writing which must expire on day of month from which tenancy begins to run. Conrad v. Pisner (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 79 A. 2d 780).

Notices to quit demanding that occupants of houses in federal low rent housing project under month to month tenancies, commencing on first day of each month, vacate houses on or before first day of certain month over thirty days after giving notices, were valid as against contention that they should not have expired until 10th of month because of provisions in rental agreements for payment of rent in advance before 1 p. m. each day between 1st and 10th of each month. Miller et al. v. United States (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 77 A. 2d 171).

Where monthly tenancy commenced on December 15, 1942, landlord's notice, dated June 11, 1943, and served on tenant on June 12, directing him to vacate and quit leased premises 30 days after June 15, 1943, and adding that notice expired July 15, 1943, was not defective as commencing after June 15, less than 30 days before July 15. Klein v. Miles (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 35 A. 2d 243).

A tenant from month to month is entitled to full 30 days' notice to quit. Id.

A landlord's notice to quit, dated and served on month to month tenant June 30, 1943, and demanding that tenant quit leased premises at end of 30 days after beginning of next month's tenancy on July 1, 1943, complied with this section requiring 30 days' written notice to quit, expiring on day of month from which tenancy commenced to run, so as to entitle landlord to possession after August 1, on which date notice expired. Young v. Baugh (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 35 A. 2d 242, appeal dismissed 39 A. 2d 478).

A notice to quit served on tenant on or about May 14, 1946, requiring month to month tenant to vacate "on or before" July 1, 1946, was not defective because of use of words "on or before", since notice did not require tenant to quit before July 1. Gordon v. Tino (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 593).

Where month to month tenancy began on the third of the month, and rent was payable on that day, a notice to quit signed by both landlords, dated and served on October 18, 1946, requiring tenants to vacate premises on the third day of December, 1946, satisfied provision of this section respecting notice to terminate tenancy from month to month. Wynn v. Washington (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 53 A. 2d 275).

Thirty days' notice to tenant in defense housing project, written on a letterhead of the National Capital Housing Authority and signed by property manager of project, was sufficient though dispossessory proceedings were brought by the United States, rather than by the Authority. Wittek v. United States (D.C. Mun. App. 1947, 54 A. 2d 747, reversed on other grounds 171 F. 2d 8, 83 U.S. App. D.C. 377, reversed and remanded on other grounds 69 S. Ct. 1108, 337 U.S. 346, 93 L. Ed. 1406).

With respect to 30-day notice of termination of month to month tenancy, that midnight lying midway between the last day of the terminal month and the first day of the new month must be the termination of the thirtieth day of notice. Zoby v. Kosmadakes (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 618).

Tenant may be given more than 30 days' notice of termination of month to month tenancy without affecting validity of notice. Id.

Where tenant complained that the notice to quit was not in accordance with this section, and the facts show that counting in the usual way from June 1 to July 31 was the sixtieth day, and since the notice required only that the tenant vacate the premises "at the end of" such sixty days, it is clear that the notice gave far more than the thirty days required and fully complied with this section. Alpert v. Wolf (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 73 A. 2d 525).

Waiver

In action by landlord against tenant, who took possession as a tenant by the month, to recover a month's rent from tenant, who vacated without giving statutory 30-day notice of his intention to quit, evidence sustained finding that landlord, whose employee took key to premises from tenant without protest and on following day placed rental sign on premises, waived his right to notice. Thomas D. Walsh, Inc. v. Moore (D. C. Mun. App. 1958, 141 A. 2d 754).

On issue as to whether statutory tenant had, under lease provision, waived right to 30 days' notice by using premises for unlawful purpose, evidence would not sustain finding in favor of landlord. Dunnington v. Thomas E. Jarrell Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 274).

In landlord's action to recover leased premises, where trial court fixed amount of tenant's appeal bond at certain sum provided that tenant paid all rent in arrears, and continued to pay rent as due until final determination of appeal, acceptance of rent thereafter by landlord waived no rights that he had, and tenant was estopped from raising defense that landlord accepted rent after trial, that such constituted waiver of notice to quit. Conrad v. Pisner (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 79 A. 2d 780).

§ 45–903. Tenancy at will—Notice for termination.

A tenancy at will may be terminated by thirty days' notice in writing by either landlord or tenant. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1382, ch. 854, § 1220.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Licensee

Party storing merchandise upon premises by permission but without any lease or agreement as to payment of rent was only permissive occupant and mere licensee, and, as such, not entitled to benefit of rule providing that when landlord gives notice to quit and later accepts rent for new term or part thereof he thereby waives his right to demand possession under notice. Shapiro v. Christopher (1952, 195 F. 2d 785, 90 U. S. App. D. C. 114).

Notice to former owner

Congress did not intend a remedy too expeditious to be fair, and recognized the justice of giving a former owner of real estate, or his tenant, when sold out under a mortgage or deed of trust, a reasonable notice and time to peaceably remove himself and his belongings from the property sold. Thornhill v. Atlantic Life Ins. Co. (1934, 70 F. 2d 846, 63 App. D.C. 184).

Receipt of rent after notice

When landlord gives notice to quit and later accepts rent for new term or part thereof, he thereby waives his right to demand possession under notice, but a landlord's receipt of rent already in arrears merely obviates necessity of entering judgment for that amount and in no way affects landlord's right to judgment for possession. Shapiro v. Christopher (1952, 195 F. 2d 785, 90 U.S. App. D. C. 114).

Unlawful eviction

The eviction of tenant at will without statutory 30-day notice was unlawful and justified award of damages. Northeast Auto Wreckers v. Sanford (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 292).

§ 45–904. Tenancy by sufferance—When terminated.

A tenancy by sufferance may be terminated at any time by a notice in writing from the landlord to the tenant to quit the premises leased, or by such notice from the tenant to the landlord of his intention to quit on the 30th day after the day of the service of the notice. If such notice expires before any periodical instalment of rent fall due, according to the terms of the tenancy, the landlord shall be entitled to a proportionate part of such instalment to the date fixed for quitting the premises. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1382, ch. 854, § 1221.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Acceptance of rent

Acceptance of rent from lessee by purchaser and continued possession of premises by lessee after 90-day period in notice to quit had run did not revive the lease and did not amount to waiver of cancellation of lease by purchaser as acceptance of rent after lease was cancelled was for use and occupancy during hold-over period. Fisher v. Parkwood, Inc (D.C. App. 1965, 213 A. 2d 757).

When landlord gives notice to quit and later accepts rent for new term or part thereof, he thereby waives his right to demand possession under notice, but a landlord's receipt of rent already in arrears merely obviates necessity of entering judgment for that amount and in no way effects landlord's right to judgment for possession. Shapiro v. Christopher (1952, 195 F. 2d 785, 90 U. S. App. D. C. 114).

Where rental check was sent back and forth several times but was never accepted or redeposited, the question whether these series of events constituted acceptance of the rent and hence that notice to quit became ineffective, was properly submitted to the jury. Rubenstein v. Swagart (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 72 A. 2d 690).

Construction with other laws

Prior to enactment of District of Columbia Emergency Rent Act, § 45–1601 et seq., landlord could have evicted tenant by sufferance at any time and without any reason merely by serving on tenant a 30-day notice to quit followed with possessory action but said § 45–1601 et seq., restrict landlord's rights and protect tenant from eviction except on one of grounds specified. Westchester Apartments v. Keroes (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 32 A. 2d 869).

A roomer, although a tenant under section 1611 (f) of Title 45, was not a tenant for other purposes, and was not entitled to benefit of this section requiring a notice to quit for termination of a tenancy. Tamamian v. Gabbard (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 55 A. 2d 513).

Description of property

Notice to quit, served on tenant at sufferance who had sublet premises for definite period with landlord's consent on ground that tenant was violating obligation of tenancy within § 45–1605 three weeks before any such alleged violation occurred, was premature, and had no anticipatory effect to reach future violations. Westchester Apartments v. Keroes (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 32 A. 2d 869).

A tenant who remained in possession paying rent after expiration of written lease became a "tenant by sufferance", not within common-law meaning of term, and hence such tenancy could be terminated by either party upon 30 days' notice. Hampton v. Mott Motors (D.C. Mun. App. 32 A. 2d 247).

Expiration of notice

An agreement whereby property was conveyed to holder of a deed of trust did not affect lease of the premises previously made by owner, but the title taken was subject to the lease, in absence of foreclosure of the deed of trust, even though the lease was not of record, and to terminate the tenancy it was necessary that notice to quit expire on the day on which the tenancy commenced to run. Knowles v. Mosher (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 45 A. 2d 755).

Holding over

Lessee who occupied commercial property as hold-over tenant after his three years' written lease had expired was a hold-over tenant by sufferance and his tenancy was subject to termination on thirty days' notice. Lake v. Angelo (D.C. Mun. App. 1960, 163 A. 2d 611).

Even though assignee of expired lease in taking title to property acted solely as agent or straw party for realty corporation, which was seeking to acquire a number of parcels of real estate in neighborhood, assignee was entitled to bring possessory action against lessee, who was hold-over tenant, since lessee could assert any right he had to possession in suit by assignee in same manner that he could have asserted such right if corporation had brought suit. Id.

Tenant continuing in possession and paying rent under an expired lease becomes a tenant at sufferance and such tenancy is impliedly subject to the provisions of the expired lease. Friedman v. Sherman (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 74 A. 2d 57).

Improvements

Where tenant of a row house, shortly before expiration of five-year lease, made improvements on the property at a cost of more than $200, but the only improvement landlord was cognizant of was the painting of front porch by tenant, such repairs were not sufficient to have bound tenant for a renewal term of five years, and hence did not constitute notice to landlord that tenant was exercising option contained in lease to renew for a five-year period, and landlord was at liberty, after expiration of lease, to terminate the tenancy and recover possession for landlord's personal occupancy. Warthen v. Lamas (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 759).

Licensee

Party storing merchandise upon premises by permission but without any lease or agreement as to payment of rent was only permissive occupant and mere licensee, and, as such, not entitled to benefit of rule providing that when landlord gives notice to quit and later accepts rent for new term or part thereof he thereby waives his right to demand possession under notice. Shapiro v. Christopher (1952, 195 F. 2d 785, 90 U. S. App. D. C. 114).

Master and servant relationship

Where the servant was to do certain work, and while performing the same he was to occupy the premises without charge, the relationship was master and servant, not landlord and tenant. Turner v. Mertz (1925, 3 F. 2d 348, 55 App. D.C. 177, 39 A.L.R. 1140).

Notice generally

Tenancy of lessee after expiration of purchaser's 90-day notice to quit was subject to termination on 30 days' notice to quit and 30-day notice given by purchaser was effective. Fisher v. Parkwood, Inc. (D.C. App. 1965, 213 A. 2d 757).

A notice to terminate a tenancy by sufferance is sufficient which requires tenant to quit "at the end of 30 days from the date of service" upon him, instead of on the thirtieth day thereafter. Hayden v. Filippone (1922, 278 F. 329, 51 App. D.C. 246).

A landlord's notice to quit to tenant by sufferance, stating that notice expired on 30th day after day of service of notice, substantially complied with this section. Globe Clothing Shop v. Skolnick (D.C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 271).

A notice to tenant by sufferance to quit addressed to "Globe Clothing Shop" was not defective for failure to designate tenant as corporation, partnership, or individual, where notice was personally served on tenant and tenant was not misled by notice. Id.

To terminate a tenancy by sufferance, landlord must give tenant a 30-day notice to vacate, but such notice does not need to assign any reason. Warthen v. Lamas (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 759).

Where tenant held over after expiration of lease and landlord desired premises for personal occupancy, 30-day notice to vacate was sufficient to terminate the tenancy notwithstanding that notice did not specify any one of the several grounds which, under the Emergency Rent Control Act, § 45–1605, are made conditions to the right of a landlord to regain possession of residential property. Id.

Where one-year lease of rooming house gave lessor or his assignee right to terminate lease if property was sold during term of lease by giving lessee 90-days notice, it unambiguously provided for 90 days notice only during year lease was in effect, and tenant by holding over and paying rent after lease expired became "tenant by sufferance" and was entitled only to the usual 30-day notice. Arsenault v. Angle (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 709).

Where landlord gave tenant permission to install an air cooling system for leased premises and thereafter gave tenant "permission to use" certain space not covered by lease for purpose of installing parts of the air cooling machinery, the language used did not create a "tenancy by sufferance" so as to require landlord to give tenant a 30 day notice to quit after expiration of lease with respect to the space permissively used. Thayer v. Brainerd (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 787).

Where evidence was insufficient to establish that tenant had any special form of lease, he was merely a tenant at sufferance, and a notice to quit which expired 30 days from December 20 was valid although tenancy commenced on first of the month. Sandler v. Wertlieb (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 222).

Notice in writing

A notice served on tenant personally, wherein he is described as "Wm." instead of Richard, and giving him the required length of time in which to vacate is sufficient under this section. "The proceedings in landlord and tenant cases are informal, and if the substantial rights of both parties are preserved, a departure from strict procedure may be ignored." Creel v. Adams (1920, 265 F. 456, 49 App. D.C. 306).

To terminate a tenancy by sufferance, notice in writing must be given. Beyer v. Smith (1929, 32 F. 2d 423, 59 App. D.C. 32, certiorari denied 50 S. Ct. 17, 280 U.S. 557, 74 L. Ed. 613).

Payment and acceptance of rent after notice

Although tenant's wife on September 22 informed landlord's office that she and tenant would vacate apartment within 30 days, and also wrote landlord stating that they wished to move by October 1, where tenant paid and landlord accepted rent for October on October 4, even if notice was valid when given, neither landlord nor tenant was bound by it, and when tenant vacated on October 9, tenant vacated without giving required notice. Williams v. Tencher-Walker Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 125 A. 2d 58).

Purpose of notice

The purpose of a thirty days' notice to quit is to terminate a tenancy and upon the expiration of the time fixed in the notice to quit, the tenancy no longer exists Rubenstein v. Swagart (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 72 A. 2d 690).

Property used for business purposes

Where plaintiff served defendant notice to quit using language of statute, and said also, "The said premises being necessary for me for my immediate personal occupancy"; such notice is sufficient whether the property was being used for business purposes or not. Weaver v Koester (1924, 294 F. 1011, 54 App. D.C. 80).

Roomers and boarders

Evidence in eviction proceeding supported finding that defendant was a roomer, rather than a tenant, and thus subject to eviction by summary proceeding. Levy v. Parks et ano. (D.C. Mun. App. 1960, 157 A. 2d 462).

Statutory tenancy by sufferance

Statutory tenancy by sufferance is entirely different from common-law tenancy by sufferance, and statutes declaring that certain tenancies are tenancies by sufferance and providing manner of terminating such tenancies are controlling. Cavalier Apartments Corp. v. McMullen (D.C. Mun. App. 1959, 153 A. 2d 642).

Under § 45–820, to effect that all verbal hirings by month shall be deemed estates by sufferance, tenant who rented premises under oral tenancy from month to month was a tenant by sufferance and her tenancy was terminable at any time by notice in writing of her intention to quit on 30th day after date of service of notice. Id.

Stay of proceedings by payment

The principle, that tenant should be relieved from forfeiture by stay of proceedings upon payment of rent due before or after judgment, applies only in situations where tenant under unexpired lease fails to pay rent and his landlord sues for possession because of default, but, in such circumstances, if tenant pays arrears with interest and costs, lease is again in full vigor and he is entitled to retain possession for remainder of unexpired term. Shapiro v. Christopher (1952, 195 F. 2d 785, 90 U. S. App. D. C. 114.)

In landowner's action to recover possession and fair amount as rental from person in possession of property without right, it was error to permanently stay judgment for possession upon payment by defendant of amount adjudged to be due as rental. Id.

Surrender without notice

Where plaintiff and defendant entered into an oral agreement for the rental of plaintiff's garage at a monthly rate, and defendant vacated garage on first day of August without giving any written notice of his intention to do so, in absence of any waiver by plaintiff, defendant was liable for rent for entire month of August. Miller v. Plumley (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 77 A. 2d 173).

Waiver of possession

The receipt of rent by a landlord for a new term or parts thereof after service of a notice to quit amounts to a waiver of his rights to demand possession under the notice. Christopher v. Shapiro (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 76 A. 2d 781).

§ 45–905. Notice not to be recalled.

Neither landlord nor tenant, after giving notice as aforesaid, shall be entitled to recall the notice so given without the consent of the other party, but after the expiration of the notice given by the landlord as aforesaid the landlord shall be entitled to the possession as if he had given the proper notice to quit; and after the expiration of the notice given by the landlord as aforesaid the tenant shall be entitled to quit as if he had given the proper notice of his intention to quit. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1382, ch. 854, § 1222; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 542, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, inserted "he" after "be entitled to quit as if."

§ 45–906. Service of notice.

Every notice to the tenant to quit shall be served upon him personally, if he can be found, and if he can not be found it shall be sufficient service of said notice to deliver the same to some person of proper age upon the premises, and in the absence of such tenant or person to post the same in some conspicuous place upon the leased premises. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1382, ch. 854, § 1223.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Generally

A notice to quit leased premises is without judicial effect unless followed by court action. Fisher v. Parkwood, Inc. (D.C. App. 1965, 213 A. 2d 757).

The same exactness is not required in the serving of a notice to quit as in the serving of a summons in a landlord and tenant action. N. Custis v. S. Klein (D.C. Mun. App. 1962, 177 A. 2d 268).

Where one of the landlords personally handed month to month tenant a 30-day notice to quit, there was good service notwithstanding that tenant, after reading notice, stated she would not accept it and handed it back. Pointer v. Shepard (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 659).

Service of notice to quit upon tenant need not be made by landlord in person but may be made by any person acting for landlord so long as tenant receives notice in time to allow him the statutory period to vacate, the same exactness not being required in serving such a notice as in serving a summons. Craig v. Heil (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 871).

Deputy marshal was entitled to make the service upon the person obviously in charge of the premises, particularly when that person told him he was authorized by the tenant to accept service. Rubenstein v. Swagart (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 72 A. 2d 690).

This section describes the manner in which a notice to quit must be served to constitute valid service in this jurisdiction. There is nothing which requires that the landlord in person, or an officer, shall make the service. It may be made by any person acting for the landlord. Glenn v. Mindell (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 74 A. 2d 835).

Where appellant argues that the party who actually made the service should have been produced and that in his absence testimony was incompetent, the argument is completely without substance in the absence of a statute or decision which requires such mode of proof. Id.

Delivery to adult

Where one of the landlords went to rented dwelling and inquired for month to month tenant, and, upon being told that she was not at home, delivered 30-day notice to quit to an adult person who came to the door, there was good service of such notice. Pointer v. Shepard (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 659).

Delivery to minor son

A notice delivered by landlord to tenant's son, 17 years of age, at her request, and the same delivered to her by the boy, is served substantially in compliance with this section. Hockman v. Shreve (1921, 269 F. 482, 50 App. D.C. 140).

Delivery to tenant's wife

A landlord left notice to quit with tenant's wife, with a request that she deliver it to him, which was done. "There is nothing in this (section) which requires that the landlord in person or an officer shall make the service. It may be made by any person acting for the landlord. In this case the wife, at the request of the landlord, handed the notice to the tenant, and thus he was personally served. * * * In the case of a notice to quit, service by any person is enough, so long as the tenant receives the notice in time to allow the statutory period of vacate." Hardebeck v. Hamilton (1921, 268 F. 703, 50 App. D.C. 113).

Where defendant was not present at his place of business when marshal went there to serve summons and complaint, and marshal was informed by defendant's wife that defendant was not there, marshal properly left copies with wife and it was not necessary that marshal make second visit in attempt to make personal service. Lake v. Angelo (D.C. Mun. App. 1960, 163 A. 2d 611).

Posting on premises

Where attempt was made at 10:30 p. m. to serve on tenant a notice to quit and another attempt was made at 11 p. m. same evening, and an earlier attempt would have proved unsuccessful and notice to quit was tacked on door of premises, service of notice was sufficient. Lynch v. Bernstein (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 48 A. 2d 467)

Registered mail

Landlord could select Post Office Department as his delivering agent for service of a notice to quit upon tenant by the employment of registered mail, prescribing delivery to addressee only with demand for a return receipt, so long as such method resulted in notice being served personally upon tenant. Craig v. Heil (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 871).

§ 45–907. Refusal to quit, double rent.

If the tenant, after having given notice of his intention to quit as aforesaid, shall refuse, without reasonable excuse, to surrender possession according to such notice, he shall be liable to the landlord for rent at double the rate of rent payable according to the terms of tenancy for all the time that the tenant shall so wrongfully hold over, to be recovered in the same way as the rent accruing before the termination of the tenancy. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1382, ch. 854, § 1224.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Evidence

Evidence in landlord's suit for double rent supported finding that tenants had not refused to surrender possession without reasonable excuse in accordance with notice to quit. J. F. Paton v. J. C. Rose and A. L. Rose (D.C. App. 1964, 205 A. 2d 609).

There was no initiation of criminal proceeding, to support suit for malicious prosecution, where there was no warrant issued and no formal papers filed charging offense, but merely hearing scheduled by assistant corporation counsel to discuss complaint, at conclusion of which complaint was dropped. Id.

§ 45–908. Agreement as to notice.

Nothing herein contained shall be construed as preventing the parties to a lease, by agreement in writing, from substituting a longer or shorter notice to quit than is above provided or to waive all such notice. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1384, ch. 854, § 1236.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Generally

Under lease "by the month" commencing on 20th day of month and providing that lessee would quit premises 24 hours after receiving notice to quit and that he would operate on a 24 hour notice to quit, waiving any and all other notices to quit, and that lessor would rebate any rent paid in advance for period after notice to quit, 24 hour notice served on the 26th of the month was ineffective and notice to be effective had to expire on day of month from which tenancy commenced to run. Dorado v. Loew's, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 88 A. 2d 188).

Provision of lease that tenant, if not in default, was entitled to not less than 30 days' notice to vacate, which notice was to be given, in writing, at least 30 days before the tenancy was intended to be terminated, was a valid contract substitution for § 45–902 pertaining to notice to terminate a tenancy from month to month. Zoby v. Kosmadakes (D.C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 618).

Waiver of notice

Defendant agreed that in the event he should not pay the rent when due he should not be entitled to any notice to quit, the usual thirty days' notice being expressly waived; such contract was specifically authorized by this section. Rust Co. v. Drury (1934, 68 F. 2d 167, 62 App. D.C. 329).

A notice to quit is a condition precedent to the filing of an action by landlord to obtain premises from tenant but is not jurisdictional and may be waived when tenancy is created or at any later time. Morris v. Breaker (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 632). See, also, Craig v. Heil D.C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 871).

In landlord's action to recover premises from tenant where tenant testified that she had waived service of a notice to quit, tenant waived defense of failure of landlord to serve such notice. Morris v. Breaker (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 632).

In landlord's action to recover premises, landlord's failure to give notice to quit is not an automatic defense and can be waived or relinquished. Id.

Where lease provided that no notice to quit should be necessary if default in rent occurred, but in landlord's suit for possession, a confession of judgment and stipulation was filed permitting tenant to continue in possession and providing a new method of rent payment, the lease, including the waiver clause, remained in force and tenant was not entitled to a 30-day notice to quit before a new suit for possession could be filed against him. Klein v. Insurance Bldg. (D.C. Mun. App. 1946, 46 A. 2d 368)

Where in District of Columbia Municipal Court question whether 30 days' notice to quit had been waived by tenant was raised by pleadings but no evidence of waiver was adduced at trial, tenant's failure to call absence of proof to trial court's attention was equivalent to waiver or at least waiver of proof of notice. Zindler v. Buchanon (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 616).

§ 45–909. Recovery of real and personal property leased together.

Whenever real and personal property shall be leased together, as, for example, a house with the furniture contained therein, the landlord, either in an action of ejectment or in the summary proceeding for possession, before the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions provided for in sections 11–701 to 11–749 may have a judgment for recovery of the personalty as well as for the recovery of the realty. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1384, ch. 854, § 1235; Feb. 17, 1909, 35 Stat. 623, ch. 134; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

§ 45–910. Ejectment or summary proceedings.

Whenever a lease for any definite term shall expire, or any tenancy shall be terminated by notice as aforesaid, and the tenant shall fail or refuse to surrender possession of the leased premises, the landlord may bring an action of ejectment to recover possession in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia; or the landlord may bring an action to recover possession before the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions, as provided in sections 11–701 to 11–749. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Conforming pleadings to proof

Where only issue as to right of possession raised and tried in landowner's action against occupant was whether parties had intended lease of adjacent lot to cover also the premises in issue, and it appeared that occupant was not entitled to possession, although his entry had been lawful, landowner was not concluded by his allegation describing occupant as a "tenant by sufferance", in view of fact that complaint also alleged that occupant held "without right"; and if there was any doubt in trial judge's mind as to sufficiency of complaint as one in ejectment, it was his duty to permit plaintiff to amend by withdrawing allegations concerning tenancy by sufferance and clearly stating cause of action in ejectment in conformity with facts. Shapiro v. Christopher (1952, 195 F. 2d 785, 90 U. S. App. D. C. 114).

Continuing breach of lease

Keeping the same dog in leased apartment with knowledge of landlord from beginning of tenancy and for nearly five years thereafter would not constitute a continuing breach. Stewart v. Shannon & Luchs Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 46 A. 2d 863).

Due process

Attempted termination of tenancy by United States as landlord for sole reason that tenants refused to sign certification that they were not members of many of certain listed organizations which had been designated by Attorney General either as subversive or as otherwise within Executive Order No. 9835 was arbitrary and violative of due process requirements. Rudder v. United States of America (1955, 226 F. 2d 51, 96 U. S. App. D. C. 329).

Though private landlord can terminate tenancy from month to month by 30 days' notice and recover possession without furnishing reason for termination, United States in its capacity as landlord is still United States and is subject to requirements of due process and may not terminate tenancy arbitrarily. Id.

Emergency rent control

The effect of Emergency Rent Control Act, § 45–1605, restricting landlord's right to recover possession of housing accommodations is to create a noncontractual statutory right of possession in tenant, continuing at his option beyond expiration of his lease or rental agreement by depriving landlord, unless he claims under one of the permitted grounds, of right to maintain an action for possession. Warthen v. Lamas (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 759).

Under the Emergency Rent Control Act, § 45–1605, the procedure in landlord's action against tenant for possession of premises, except for restrictions as to grounds upon which landlord may claim right of possession, remains the same as it was previously. Id.

Estoppel

Where defendant in ejectment action claimed right of possession under lease from plaintiff, he was thereby estopped to deny plaintiff's title. Shapiro v. Christopher (1952, 195 F. 2d 785, 90 U. S. App. D. C. 114).

Evidence

In landlord's action to recover possession of storeroom from tenant after expiration of lease, testimony as to landlord's reasons for seeking of possession was inadmissible. Fowel v. Continental Life Ins. Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 55 A. 2d 205).

Improvements

Where tenant of a row house, shortly before expiration of five-year lease, made improvements on the property at a cost of more than $200, but the only improvement landlord was cognizant of was the painting of front porch by tenant, such repairs were not sufficient to have bound tenant for a renewal term of five years, and hence did not constitute notice to landlord that tenant was exercising option contained in lease to renew for a five-year period, and landlord was at liberty, after expiration of lease, to terminate the tenancy and recover possession for landlord's personal occupancy. Warthen v. Lamas (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 759).

Jurisdiction

Jurisdiction of the municipal court over summary suits to recover possession of real property under this section is limited explicitly to actions by landlord against tenant. Spruill v. Brooke (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 204).

Nonpayment of rent

A landlord could not dispossess tenant for nonpayment of rent and at the same time collect rent from tenant for period extending beyond time of filing of action. Gunn v. Brown (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 59 A. 2d 518).

Notice to former owner

Congress did not intend a remedy too expeditious to be fair, and recognized the justice of giving a former owner of real estate, or his tenant, when sold out under a mortgage or deed of trust, a reasonable notice and time to peaceably remove himself and his belongings from the property sold. Thornhill v. Atlantic Life Ins. Co. (1934, 70 F. 2d 846, 63 App. D.C. 184).

Parties

Where tenant terminated his tenancy by notice acceptable to landlord but tenant's estranged wife remained in possession of premises, landlord's action to recover possession of premises was properly brought against the tenant and it was not necessary that the tenant's estranged wife, who was not a party to lease, should be named as defendant. Scott v. H. G. Smithy Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 53 A. 2d 45).

Persons bound by judgment

Where owners of building, who had received from former landlord assignments in blank of various leases, directed that blanks be filled up in name of owners' building manager, thereby making him landlord, a judgment in a possessory action by manager against a tenant would be binding on owners. Koehne v. Harvey (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 45 A. 2d 780).

Questions for jury

In action by landlord for possession of leased apartment, tenant's testimony that prior to execution of lease, the landlord through its agent knew that tenant intended keeping dog on premises and assured tenant that it would be all right, that from beginning of tenancy and for nearly five years dog was kept on premises with knowledge of landlord who without objection accepted rent during that time, raised issue for jury of whether landlord had waived covenant in lease against keeping animals in apartment. Stewart v. Shannon & Luchs Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 46 A. 2d 863).

Evidence showing the circumstances surrounding the signing of the lease should have been admitted, at least tentatively, by the trial judge in order for him to determine whether such evidence should have gone before the jury. Newlin v. Weaver Brothers (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 69 A. 2d 500, rehearing denied 70 A. 2d 61, affirmed 74 A. 2d 65).

Where in an action on the breach of a lease on the ground that tenant had kept a dog in violation of the lease, a question of fact for the jury was presented where tenant claims as evidence of the waiver of the breach that the landlord accepted rent with the knowledge that a dog was being kept by the tenant. Id.

Real party in interest

Where leases were assigned to manager of building as landlord under express instructions of owners of building, in light of this section giving landlord right to sue for possession and in light of holding that manager was real landlord, manager was "real party in interest" within meaning of rule 17a restricting right to maintain suit to real party in interest. Koehne v. Harvey (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 45 A. 2d 780).

Waiver of covenant

Though oral testimony may not be used to vary the terms of a written lease, such testimony is admissible on the question of whether a written covenant has been waived by an oral estoppel or some other act inconsistent with reliance upon the covenant. Newlin v. Weaver Brothers, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 69 A. 2d 500, rehearing denied 70 A. 2d 61, affirmed 74 A. 2d 65).

Withdrawal of permission

Where lease prohibited keeping of dogs in apartment but landlord conditionally granted tenants permission to keep dog subject to withdrawal if other tenants complained, tenants' refusal to remove dog when permission was withdrawn entitled landlord to recover possession. Shay v. Randall H. Hagner & Co. (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 34 A. 2d 358).

Where lease contained covenant prohibiting keeping of dogs, and provided that waiver of breach of covenant could not be construed as waiver of covenant, even though landlord conditionally granted permission to tenants to keep dog, the covenant was not waived and could be enforced by action for possession of premises on withdrawal of permission. Id.

§ 45–911. Arrears of rent and double rent.

In either case the landlord may join with his claim for recovery of the possession of the leased premises a claim for all arrears of rent accrued to the termination of the tenancy, and, when the tenant has given the notice, for double rent from the termination of the tenancy to the verdict, or judgment, if the trial be by the court and for damages for waste: Provided, That in such action before the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions the amount so claimed shall be within its jurisdiction. If judgment for possession be rendered in favor of the plaintiff, he shall be entitled, at the same time, to a judgment for said arrears of rent, and for said double rent, as the case may be, to the date of the verdict or judgment as aforesaid, and for damages for waste. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1382, ch. 854, § 1226; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 542, ch. 1329; Feb. 17, 1909, 35 Stat. 623, ch. 134; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, deleted "for possession" following "by the court."

CHANGE OF NAME

"Municipal court" was substituted for "justice of the peace" to conform to act Feb. 17, 1909.

Act July 8, 1963, § 1, substituted "District of Columbia Court of General Sessions" for "municipal court for the District of Columbia". Said section 1 superseded act Oct. 23, 1962, 76 Stat. 1171, Pub. L. 87–873, § 1, which contained identical provisions.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Lessee breaching covenant

Where lessee had breached covenant against subletting and lessor returned check for rent payment but lessee had continued in possession, lessor was entitled to a judgment for possession and rent. Merrit v. Kay (1924, 295 F. 973, 54 App. D.C. 152).

Liability for rent

Rent as it fell due became a debt which tenant was bound to pay unless the parties entered into a contrary agreement supported by consideration. Crowder v. Lackey (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 46 A. 2d 699).

In an action for rent, in the absence of warranty, deceit, or fraud, the tenant has the duty to examine the premises and determine its adaptability for the desired use and there is no duty on the part of the landlord to ascertain the weight of a particular type of a machine which defendant desires to install on the premises. Soresi v. Repetti (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 76 A. 2d 585).

Money judgment

Under this section providing that landlord may join with his claim for recovery of possession of leased premises a claim for arrears of rent, recovery of money judgment is incidental to basic action for possession, the two claims are separate and distinct, and landlord is not required to join claims, but may sue for rent in separate action. Paregol v. Smith (D.C. Mun. App. 1954, 103 A. 2d 576).

The recovery of a money judgment for rent in landlord's action for possession of leased premises on ground of nonpayment of rent is but incidental to the main action, which remains basically one for possession. Shipley v. Major (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 44 A. 2d 540).

Pleading

Under this section providing that landlord may join with claim for recovery of possession of leased premises a claim for arrears of rent, claim for rent may be joined only when possessory action is commenced, and if omitted may not thereafter be added in that suit. Paregol v. Smith (D.C. Mun. App. 1954, 103 A. 2d 576).

Although proceedings in landlord and tenant actions are informal, tenant is entitled to be informed by complaint of nature of recovery sought against him. Shipley v. Major (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 44 A. 2d 540).

Tender of rent

Landlord's prior refusal of proffered rent would not constitute a waiver which would entitle tenant, when sued for possession because of nonpayment of rent, to a trial on the merits without tendering the rent due, in absence of agreement supported by consideration that tenant could remain in possession without charge. Crowder v. Lackey (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 46 A. 2d 699).

In action for possession of real property based on nonpayment of rent, defendant had right to defeat action by tendering the rent at the hearing. Id.

§ 45–912. Consolidation of actions.

If actions be brought separately, either in said United States District Court for the District of Columbia or in the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions, for arrears of rent and for the possession, they may be afterwards consolidated and one judgment rendered in them for the possession and also for the rent. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1383, ch. 854, § 1227; Feb. 17, 1909, 35 Stat. 623, ch. 134; June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

Act June 25, 1948, eff. Sept. 1, 1948, as amended by act May 24, 1949, substituted "United States District Court for the District of Columbia" for "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia."

"Municipal court" was substituted for "justice of the peace" to conform to act Feb. 17, 1909.

Act July 8, 1963, § 1, substituted "District of Columbia Court of General Sessions" for "municipal court for the District of Columbia". Said section 1 superseded act Oct. 23, 1962, 76 Stat. 1171, Pub. L. 87–873, § 1, which contained identical provisions.

§ 45–913. Procedure to eject married woman who is a tenant.

In all cases in which a married woman is or shall hereafter be a tenant of real estate in this District, and has defaulted in the payment of rent therefor or has made other default, it shall be lawful for the landlord to make such re-entry or bring such action for recovery of the demised premises as he or she might do if the lessee were a feme sole and had contracted for the payment of said rents or the performance of other acts and to suffer such re-entry to be made upon default therein. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1376, ch. 854, § 1169.)

§ 45–914. Plea of title.

If, in an action in the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions to recover possession the defendant shall plead a title in himself or in some person under whom he claims, not derived from the plaintiff, the further proceeding therein shall be as directed in sections 11–701 to 11–749. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1383, ch. 854, § 1228; Feb. 17, 1909, 35 Stat. 623, ch. 134; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

§ 45–915. Landlord's lien for rent.

The landlord shall have a tacit lien for his rent upon such of the tenant's personal chattels, on the premises, as are subject to execution for debt, to commence with the tenancy and continue for three months after the rent is due and until the termination of any action for such rent brought within said three months. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1383, ch. 854, § 1229.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Amount of lien

Although four months' rent was due operation of landlord's lien was properly restricted to three months' rent under this section creating lien. Klein v. Insurance Bldg. (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 46 A. 2d 368).

Bankruptcy of tenant

A landlord's statutory lien is not a "lien by legal proceedings" within U.S. Code, title 11, § 107(2), providing that liens obtained through legal proceedings against a person who is insolvent within four months prior to filing of petition in bankruptcy shall be void. Moses v. Labofish (1943, 132 F. 2d 16, 76 U.S. App. D.C. 401).

Where landlord brought action to recover possession of premises and rent due and recovered judgment under which levy was made on chattels which had been removed from leased premises after commencement of action, but, before the chattels were offered for sale, tenant filed voluntary petition in bankruptcy, the landlord's statutory lien and right to priority of payment out of proceeds was not impaired by the Bankruptcy Act, U.S. Code, title 11, § 1 et seq. Id.

Claim in bankruptcy

A landlord has a lien for rent on property of a bankrupt on leased premises, which may be enforced by making claim in bankruptcy. In re Caplan (D.C. Md. 1928, 23 F. 2d 680).

Duration of liens

Landlord's lien, once it attached, continued to attach no matter in whose hands the chattels may have come, unless displaced by removal of goods or sale in regular course of business, and sale of stock in mass which was not removed did not displace the lien. Fowler v. Rapley (1872, 82 U.S. 328, 15 Wall. 328, 21 L. Ed. 35).

Under this section, landlord acquired a statutory lien on personal property of tenant on premises from time of execution of lease and lien continued in full force for a period of three months after rent was due and until termination of any action to recover on lease. Moses v. Labofish (1943, 132 F. 2d 16, 76 U.S. App. D.C. 401).

The landlord's lien in District of Columbia is not dormant, but is in effect from the time personal chattels are brought upon leased premises and can only be displaced by a sale of the goods in the ordinary course of trade followed by their removal from the premises. Munday v. Bricklayers, Masons & Plasterers Intern. Union of America (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 398).

Landlord's lien attached to rug on office floor when it was brought on to premises by tenant and continued throughout period of tenancy. Id.

Lien surrender of lease

Surrender of lease and wrongful eviction of tenant by landlord as a defense to action for rent. Okie v. Person (1904, 23 App. D.C. 170). See, also, Richmond v. Cake (1893, 1 App. D.C. 447); Hume v. Riggs (1898, 12 App. D.C. 355).

Perfection of lien

The provisions of this section, giving landlord lien on such of tenant's personal chattels on premises as are subject to execution for debt, do not of their own force create a specific and perfected lien in the sense long understood as essential to overturn the priority granted to claim of United States. United States v. Harry Saidman, Trustee, etc. (1956, 231 F. 2d 503, 97 U.S. App. D.C. 344).

Landlord's claim under this section giving landlord rent lien on such of tenant's personal chattels on premises as are subject to execution for debt could not be granted priority over tax claims of United States for payment out of assets which were in hands of assignee for benefit of creditors, where landlord failed to perfect its lien by acquiring title or taking possession prior to the assignment. Id.

Where, on March 11, landlord filed complaint against tenant for possession of rented office and for $250 rental in arrears, on March 15, dealer engaged in buying, selling, and renting of office furniture purchased tenant's furniture and leased it to tenant and furniture remained on premises, sale did not affect landlord's lien. Recachinas v. Kressin etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1958, 146 A. 2d 443).

Invocation of statutory enforcement methods was not necessary to perfection of landlord's lien (at least in so far as liens other than for federal taxes were concerned), and priority enjoyed by such lien over lien of chattel deed of trust executed after tenancy commenced and after chattels had been brought on premises was not lost when foreclosure sale was had under trust deed. The Elmira Corp. v. Bulman and Goldstein, Trustees etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 135 A. 2d 645).

Priority

Landlords of taxpayer had no judgment lien and were not "judgment creditors" of taxpayer on August 4 when United States recorded its federal tax lien, and federal tax lien would prevail over judgment lien of landlords, where government assessed taxpayer on May 26 for unpaid federal taxes, and on July 5 landlords began suit for unpaid rent and obtained writ of attachment, and on July 11, 1961 writ was executed by United States marshal who seized goods belonging to taxpayer, and on August 4 government's tax lien was filed, and on August 18, 1961 landlords obtained judgment in municipal court. United States v. L. Leventhal et al. (1963, 316 F. 2d 341, 114 U.S. App. D.C. 340).

Where landlords of taxpayer had statutory lien on date when government assessed taxpayer for unpaid federal taxes, but no steps at all were taken to assert or enforce landlords' lien before federal tax lien was filed, landlords' lien was an inchoate unperfected lien which did not have precedence over lien of government. Id.

Lien of landlord, so far as respects chattels on the premises, was entitled to priority over deeds of trust, unless the statutory lien was displaced. Beall v. White (1876, 94 U.S. 382, 4 Otto 382, 24 L. Ed. 173).

When the landlord is attempting to enforce a lien against chattels of lessee, which chattels were purchased on a conditional sales contract, his lien must be consistent with title and he cannot prevail against vendor of chattels even though conditional sales contract was not recorded. Stern Co. of Washington v. Rosenberg (1937, 89 F. 2d 843, 67 App. D.C. 99).

Where lease provided that no notice to quit should be necessary if default in rent occurred, but in landlord's suit for possession a confession of judgment and stipulation was filed permitting tenant to continue in possession and providing a new method of rent payment, the landlord's lien for three months' rent subsequently accruing was superior to lien under chattel deed of trust executed more than two months after the tenancy commenced. Klein v. Insurance Bldg. (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 46 A. 2d 368).

Under this section, the landlord's lien takes priority over lien of a subsequently executed chattel deed of trust. Id.

Property covered

Where sale of rug on office floor to tenant's secretary was not made in ordinary course of trade and rug was not removed from premises, though no rent was due when sale was made, rug was subject to landlord's lien for three months' rent which subsequently accrued. Munday v. Bricklayers, Masons & Plasterers Intern. Union of America (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 398).

Punitive damages

Where landlord held tenant's furniture and personal property not only for purpose of collecting overdue rent, but also for purpose of collecting a penalty arbitrarily and illegally sought to be imposed by him, award of punitive damages in tenant's detinue action was proper. Katz v. Meyers (D. C. Mun. App. 1955, 114 A. 2d 75).

Scope of lien

Lien for rent should not be extended beyond terms of this section to include other items such as water charges unless clear intention of parties to make this a part of consideration for leasing premises is shown; and such intention did not appear from contract in which convenant to pay water charges was separate from provision setting out rent. The Elmira Corp v. Bulman and Goldstein, Trustees etc. (D.C. Mun. App. 1957, 135 A. 2d 645).

Landlord's claim for water charges was a claim for damages for breach of covenant, and did not come within lien for rent. Id.

A landlord's statutory lien exists independently of the several means of enforcement which section 45–916 permits. Moses v. Labofish (1943, 132 F. 2d 16, 76 U.S. App. D.C. 401).

Secured lien

Landlord to whom chattels are delivered as security for payment of rent "had a lien on the property for the payment of his rent, which was something more than the tacit lien given to a landlord by the statute" and his possession cannot be disturbed without previous payment of the claim. Brown v. Petersen (1905, 25 App. D.C. 359).

Time of attachment of lien

Landlord's lien attached to chattel the moment it was placed upon the premises, and as long as it remained on premises the lien continued until each instalment of rent became due and for three months thereafter, and then ceased as to that instalment. Webb v. Sharp (1871, 80 U.S. 14, 13 Wall. 14, 20 L. Ed. 478).

The landlord's lien for rent commences with the tenancy, and is superior to chattel mortgage given by tenant thereafter. Spilman v. Geiger (1932, 58 F. 2d 890, 61 App. D.C. 164).

Landlord's statutory lien attaches at the moment chattels of tenants come upon leased premises. Moses v. Labofish (1943, 132 F. 2d 16, 76 U.S. App. D.C. 401).

Statutory rent lien without possession parallels common-law lien accompanied by possession and, by virtue of statute, attaches the moment chattels are brought on premises and exists independently of means of enforcement authorized by statute. The Elmira Corp. v. Bulman and Goldstein, Trustees, etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 135 A. 2d 645).

§ 45–916. Lien—How enforced.

The said lien may be enforced—

First. By attachment, to be issued upon affidavit that the rent is due and unpaid; or, if it be not due, that the defendant is about to remove or sell some part of said chattels.

Second. By judgment against the tenant and execution, to be levied on said chattels, or any of them, in whosesoever hands they may be found.

Third. By action against any purchaser of said chattels, with notice of the lien, in which action the plaintiff may have judgment for the value of the chattels purchased by the defendant not exceeding the rent in arrear. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1383, ch. 854, § 1230.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Generally

Invocation of enforcement methods was not necessary to perfection of landlord's lien (at least in so far as liens other than for federal taxes were concerned), and priority enjoyed by such lien over lien of chattel deed of trust executed after tenancy commenced and after chattels and had been brought on premises was not lost when foreclosure sale was had under trust deed. The Elmira Corp. v. Bulman and Goldstein, Trustees, etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 135 A. 2d 645).

Statutory rent lien without possession parallels common-law lien accompanied by possession and, by virtue of statute, attaches the moment chattels are brought on premises and exists independently of means of enforcement authorized by this section. Id.

§ 45–917. How attachment enforced.

Such attachment may be issued in any action for the recovery of the possession of the leased premises by the landlord, in which the rent in arrear, or double rent, or both, shall be claimed as aforesaid, and it shall be lawful for any officer to whom the writ of attachment shall be delivered to be executed to break open an outer or inner door when necessary to the execution of the same. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1383, ch. 854, § 1231.)

§ 45–918. Property subject to lien for rent not to be taken on execution without first paying all rent due.

No goods or chattels whatsoever, lying or being in or upon any messuage, lands, or tenements, which are or shall be leased for life or lives, term of years, at will, or otherwise, shall be liable to be taken by virtue of any execution on any pretence whatsoever, unless the party at whose suit the said execution is sued out, shall before the removal of such goods from off the said premises, by virtue of such execution or extent, pay to the landlord of the said premises, or his bailiff, all such sum or sums of money as are or shall be due for rent for the said premises at the time of the taking such goods or chattels by virtue of such execution: Provided, The said arrears of rent do not amount to more than three months' rent, and in case the said arrears shall exceed three months' rent, then the said party, at whose suit such execution is sued out, paying the said landlord, or his bailiff, three months' rent, may proceed to execute his judgment as he might have done before the making of this section; and the marshal is hereby impowered and required to levy and pay to the plaintiff as well the money so paid for rent, as the execution money. (8 Ann, ch. 14, § 1, 1709; Kilty's Rep. 248; Alex. Br. Stat. 681; Comp. Stat. D. C., 325, § 41.)

§ 45–919. Distress not void because of irregularity—Party not trespasser ab initio—Special damages only recoverable—Tender of amends defeats recovery.

Where any distress shall be made for any kind of rent justly due, and any irregularity or unlawful act shall be afterwards done by the party or parties distraining, or by his, her, or their agents; the distress itself shall not be therefore deemed to be unlawful, nor the party or parties making it be deemed a trespasser or trespassers ab initio; but the party or parties aggrieved by such unlawful act or irregularity shall or may recover full satisfaction for the special damage he, she, or they shall have sustained thereby, and no more, in an action of trespass or on the case at the election of the plaintiff or plaintiffs: Provided always, That where the plaintiff or plaintiffs shall recover in such action, he, she, or they shall be paid his, her, or their full costs of suit, and have all the like remedies for the same as in other cases of costs: Provided nevertheless, That no tenant or tenants, lessee or lessees, shall recover in any action for any such unlawful act or irregularity as aforesaid, if tender of amends hath been made by the party or parties distraining, his, her, or their agent or agents, before such action brought. (11 Geo. 2, ch. 19, §§ 19, 20, 1738; Kilty's Rep. 251; Alex. Br. Stat. 741, 742; Comp. Stat. D. C., 334, §§ 66, 67.)

§ 45–920. Fraudulent removal, conveyance, or concealment of property to defeat lien subjects guilty party to forfeiture of double value of such property.

If any tenant or lessee shall fraudulently remove and convey away his or her goods or chattels, or if any person or persons shall wilfully and knowingly aid or assist any such tenant or lessee in such fraudulent conveying away or carrying off of any part of his or her goods or chattels, or in concealing the same; all and every person or persons so offending shall forfeit and pay to the landlord or landlords, lessor or lessors, from whose estate such goods and chattels were fraudulently carried off as aforesaid, double the value of the goods by him, her or them respectively carried off or concealed as aforesaid; to be recovered by action of debt in any court of record. (11 Geo. 2, ch. 19, § 3, 1738; Kilty's Rep. 251; Alex. Br. Stat. 732; Comp. Stat. D. C., 329, § 53.)

§ 45–921. Representatives of life tenant may recover from under-tenant proportion of rent.

Where any tenants for life shall happen to die before or on the day, on which any rent was reserved or made payable upon any demise or lease of any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, which determined on the death of such tenant for life, the executors or administrators of such tenant for life shall and may in an action on the case recover of and from such under-tenant or under-tenants of such lands, tenements, or hereditaments, if such tenant for life die on the day on which the same was made payable the whole, or if before such day then a proportion, of such rent according to the time such tenant for life lived, of the last year, or quarter of a year or other time in which the said rent was growing due as aforesaid, making all just allowances or a proportionable part thereof respectively. (11 Geo. 2, ch. 19, § 15, 1738; Kilty's Rept. 251; Alex. Br. Stat. 739; Comp. Stat. D. C. 333, § 64.)

§ 45–922. Debt may be brought for instalments of rent under lease for life.

It shall and may be lawful for any person or persons, having any rent in arrear, or due upon any lease or demise for life or lives, to bring an action or actions of debt for such arrears of rent, in the same manner they might have done, in case such rent were due, and reserved upon a lease for years. (8 Ann, ch. 14, § 4, 1709; Kilty's Rept. 248; Alex. Br. Stat. 682; Comp. Stat. D. C., 325, § 42.)

§ 45–923. Action of case for use and occupation—Parol agreement evidence of quantum of damages.

It shall and may be lawful to and for the landlord or landlords, where the agreement is not by deed, to recover a reasonable satisfaction for the lands, tenements, or hereditaments, held or occupied by the defendant or defendants, in an action on the case, for the use and occupation of what was so held or enjoyed; and if in evidence on the trial of such action any parol demise or any agreement (not being by deed) whereon a certain rent was reserved shall appear, the plaintiff in such action shall not therefor be nonsuited, but may make use thereof as an evidence of the quantum of the damages to be recovered. (11 Geo. 2, ch. 19, § 14, 1738; Kilty's Rep. 251; Alex. Br. Stat. 738; Comp. Stat. D. C., 333, § 63.)

§ 45–924. Lunatic, entitled to renewal of lease, or his guardian or committee, under order of court, may surrender lease—Also make new lease.

In all cases where any lunatic is or shall be intitled, or has right to renew any lease or leases made or granted, or to be made or granted, for the life or lives of one or more person or persons, or for any term or number of years, absolute or determinable on the death of one or more person or persons, or otherwise; it shall and may be lawful to and for such lunatic, or his or her guardian or guardians, committee or committees, of his estate, in his, her, or their name or names, by the direction of the chancellor, signified by an order made on hearing all parties concerned, upon petition, in a summary way, from time to time, to accept of a surrender or surrenders of such lease or leases; and to make and execute to any person or persons, bodies politic, or corporate or collegiate, aggregate or sole, a new lease or leases of the premises comprised in such lease or leases so to be surrendered by virtue of this section, for and during such number of lives, or for such term or terms of years, determinable upon such number of lives, or for such term or terms of years absolute, as was or were mentioned or contained in such lease or leases so surrendered, at the making thereof, or otherwise, as the chancellor for the time being, by any such order, so to be obtained as aforesaid, shall direct. (11 Geo. 3, ch. 20, § 1, 1771; Kilty's Rep. 253; Alex. Br. Stat. 791; Comp. Stat. D. C., 336, § 74.)

§ 45–925. Lease made pursuant to section 45–924 valid.

All and every such lease or leases so to be made or executed as aforesaid, shall be and be deemed as good and valid, and effectual in the law, to all intents and purposes, as if such lunatic was at the time of making or executing thereof of sane mind, and had executed the same in his or her own proper person. (11 Geo. 3, ch. 20, § 2, 1771; Kilty's Rep. 253; Alex. Br. Stat. 791; Comp. Stat. D. C., 336, § 75.)

§ 45–926. Accruals from renewals of leases, property of lunatic—Unapplied part at death of lunatic treated as real property, unless lunatic be tenant for life, then personal property.

All fines, premiums, foregifts, and sums of money, which shall or may be had, received, or paid for, or on account of the renewing of any such lease or leases as aforesaid, shall (after a deduction of all necessary incident charges and expenses) be paid to the guardian or guardians, committee or committees, of the said lunatic, and be applied and disposed of for the benefit of such lunatic, in such manner as the chancellor shall direct: but, upon the death of such lunatic or lunatics, all such sum or sums of money as shall arise by such fines, premiums, or foregifts, or so much as shall remain unapplied for the benefit of such lunatic or lunatics, at his, her or their death, shall, as between the representatives of the real and personal estates of all such lunatics, be considered as real estate, unless such lunatic or lunatics shall be tenants for life only; and then the same shall be considered as personal estate. (11 Geo. 3, ch. 20, § 3, 1771; Kilty's Rep. 253; Alex. Br. Stat. 792; Comp. Stat. D. C., 336, § 76.)

§ 45–927. Lunatic or infant, or guardian or committee, under order of court, may surrender and take new leases.

(29 Geo. 2, ch. 31, § 2. 1756; Kilty's Rep. 253; Alex. Br. Stat. 789; Comp. Stat. D. C., 335, § 71.)

§ 45–929. Renewed leases shall be to the same uses, trusts, charges, incumbrances, devises, and conditions as surrendered leases were.

The respective leases to be so renewed, shall operate, and be to the same uses, and be liable to the same trusts, charges, incumbrances, dispositions, devises and conditions, as the leases to be, from time to time, surrendered as aforesaid, were or would have been subject to, in case such surrender had not been made. (29 Geo. 2, ch. 31, § 3, 1756; Kilty's Rep. 253; Alex. Br. Stat. 790; Comp. Stat. D. C., 335, § 72.)

§ 45–930. Surrendered and renewed lease of lunatic or infant valid.

Every such surrender, and such lease or leases granted thereupon, shall be, and be deemed as valid and legal, to all intents and purposes, as if such surrender had been made by and on the behalf of a person of full age, or sane mind. (29 Geo. 2, ch. 31. § 4, 1756; Kilty's Rep. 253; Alex. Br. Stat. 790; Comp. Stat. D. C., 336, § 73.)

§ 45–931. Surrender for new lease good without surrender of under leases—Under leases continue unaffected—All rights and remedies to continue.

In case any lease shall be duly surrendered, in order to be renewed, and a new lease made and executed by the chief landlord or landlords, the same new lease shall, without a surrender of all the under leases, be as good and valid, to all intents and purposes, as if all the under leases derived thereout had been likewise surrendered at or before the taking of such new lease; and all and every person and persons in whom any estate for life or lives, or for years, shall, from time to time, be vested by virtue of such new lease, and his, her, and their executors and administrators, shall be entitled to the rents, covenants, and duties, and have like remedy for recovery thereof, and the under lessees shall hold and enjoy the messuages, lands, and tenements, in the respective under leases, comprised, as if the original leases, out of which the respective under leases are derived, had been still kept on foot and continued, and the chief landlord and landlords shall have, and be intitled to, such and the same remedy, by distress or entry in and upon the messuages, lands, tenements, and hereditaments comprised in any such under lease, for the rents and duties reserved by such new lease, so far as the same exceed not the rents and duties reserved in the lease, out of which such under lease was derived, as they would have had in case such former lease had been still continued, or as they would have had, in case the respective under leases had been renewed under such new principal lease. (4 Geo. 2, ch. 28, § 6, 1731; Kilty's Rep. 249; Alex. Br. Stat. 708; Comp. Stat. D. C., 328, § 50.)

§ 45–932. Assignee of reversion.

The grantee or assignee of the reversion of any leased premises shall have the same right of action against the lessee, his personal representatives, heirs, or assigns, for rent or for any forfeiture or breach of any covenant or condition in the lease which the grantor or assignor might have had; and the assignee of the lessee shall have the same rights of action against the lessor, his grantee, or assignee, upon any covenants in the lease which the lessee might have had against the lessor. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1384, ch. 854, § 1234.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Concurrent lease

Where, during monthly tenancy under two year lease containing provision that if tenant should remain in possession after expiration of term, he would become tenant by month, lessors executed five year lease of same property to third party with provisions that new lease was subject to prior lease, and that lessors would assign prior lease to the third parties, and where lessors then completed such assignment, new lease was "concurrent lease", involving assignment of part of reversion, and lessees thereunder could enforce covenants of prior lease against monthly tenant. Gulf Motors Inc. et ano. v. Fenner et ano. (D. C. Mun. App. 1955, 114 A. 2d 543).

"Concurrent lease" is one granted for term which is to commence before expiration or other determination of previous lease of same premises made to another person, and is assignment of part of reversion entitling lessee to all rents accruing on previous lease after date of concurrent lease, and all remedies as against tenants under previous lease as his lessor would have had except for assignment. Id.

Covenant against assigning

A covenant in a lease against assigning, being for the benefit of lessor, may be availed of only by him or his representative or assignee. Mars v. Spanos (1944, 139 F. 2d 369, 78 U.S. App. D.C. 230).

Where landlord made no objection to assignment of lease to partnership and ratified assignment by accepting from partnership and receiver for partnership business rent for two years as it became due, assignors could not question partnership's ownership of lease on ground that lease prohibited assignment except by consent of landlord. Id.

Covenant against subletting

Covenant against subletting runs with the land and may be enforced by assignee of reversion. Bailey v. Allan E. Walker & Co. (1923, 290 F. 282, 53 App. D.C. 307).

Evidence

Defendant could not urge that plaintiff did not have right to bring suit to recover possession of leased premises because there was no proof that lease had been transferred by original lessor to plaintiff, where defendant in answer admitted that he was holding premises as a monthly tenant of plaintiff. Banks v. Torre (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 56 A. 2d 52).

New owners' actions for rent, use, and occupation

When the new owners purchased the property, they acquired the same right of action for rent, or for use and occupation, against the lessee, if holding over his term, which the original owner had. Selden v. Lee (1925, 3 F. 2d 335, 55 App. D.C. 164).

§ 45–933. Grants of remainders, reversions, and rents good without attornment—Payment of rent without notice valid.

All grants or conveyances of any manors or rents or of the reversion or remainder of any messuages or lands, shall be good and effectual, to all intents and purposes, without any attornment of the tenants of any such manors, or of the land out of which rent shall be issuing, or of the particular tenants upon whose particular estates any such reversions or remainders shall and may be expectant or depending, as if their attornment had been had and made: Provided, nevertheless, That no such tenant shall be prejudiced or damaged by payment of any rent to any such grantor or conusor, or by breach of any condition for nonpayment of rent, before notice shall be given to him of such grant by the conusee or grantee. (4 Ann., ch. 16, §§ 9, 10, 1705; Kilty's Rep. 246; Alex. Br. Stat. 660, 661; Comp. Stat. D.C., 496, §§ 31, 32.)

§ 45–934. Fraudulent attornment void—Possession not changed by such attornment—Attornment pursuant to judgment excepted.

All and every fraudulent attornment and attornments of any tenant or tenants of any messuages, lands, tenements, or hereditaments, shall be absolutely null and void to all intents and purposes whatsoever; and the possession of their respective landlord or landlords, lessor or lessors, shall not be deemed or construed to be any wise changed, altered, or affected by any such attornment or attornments: Provided always, That nothing herein contained shall extend to vacate or affect any attornment made pursuant to and in consequence of some judgment at law, or decree or order of a court of equity, or made with the privity and consent of the landlord or landlords, lessor or lessors, or to any mortgagee after the mortgage is become forfeited. (11 Geo. 2, ch. 19, § 11, 1738; Kilty's Rep. 251; Alex. Br. Stat. 737; Comp. Stat. D. C., 332, § 60.)

A power is special—

(Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1353, ch. 854, § 1041.)

In all cases where such power of disposition is given and no remainder is limited on the estate of the grantee of the power, such grantee shall be entitled to an absolute fee. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1353, ch. 854, § 1043.)

§ 45–1008. Construction of power to particular tenant to devise the inheritance.

Where a general and beneficial power to devise the inheritance shall be given to a tenant for life or for years, such tenant shall be deemed to possess an absolute power of disposition, within the meaning and subject to the provisions of sections 45–1005 to 45–1007. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1353, ch. 854, § 1044.)

§ 45–1009. Right of grantor to reserve power.

The grantor in any conveyance may reserve to himself any power, beneficial or in trust, which he might lawfully grant to another, and every power thus reserved shall be subject to the provisions of this chapter as if granted to another. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1353, ch. 854, § 1045.)

§ 45–1010. Liability of beneficial powers in equity.

Every special and beneficial power shall be liable, in equity, to the claims of creditors, and the execution of the power may be decreed for the benefit of the creditors entitled. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1353, ch. 854, § 1046.)

§ 45–1011. General powers in trust.

A general power is in trust when any person or class of persons other than the grantee of such power is designated as entitled to the proceeds, or any portion of the proceeds or other benefits to result from the alienation of the lands, according to the power. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1353, ch. 854, § 1047.)

§ 45–1012. Special powers in trust.

A special power is in trust—

First. When the disposition which it authorizes is limited to be made to any person or class of persons other than the grantee of such power.

Second. When any person or class of persons other than the grantee is designated as entitled to any benefit from the disposition or change authorized by the power. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1353, ch. 854, § 1048.)

§ 45–1013. Trust powers imperative.

Every trust power, unless its execution or nonexecution is made expressly to depend on the will of the grantee, is imperative and imposes a duty on the grantee the performance of which may be compelled in equity for the benefit of the parties interested. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1354, ch. 854, § 1049.)

§ 45–1014. Selection under trust powers.

A trust power does not cease to be imperative where the grantee has the right to select any and exclude others of the persons designated as the objects of the trust. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1354, ch. 854, § 1050.)

§ 45–1015. Group of beneficiaries to take equally unless otherwise directed—Trustee with discretion may allot all to one person.

Where a disposition under a power is directed to be made to or among or between several persons, without any specifications of the share or sum to be allotted to each, all the persons designated shall be entitled to an equal proportion. But when the terms of the power import that the estate or fund is to be distributed between the persons so designated, in such manner or proportions as the trustee of the power may think proper, the trustee may allot the whole to any one or more of such persons in exclusion of the others. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1354, ch. 854, § 1051.)

§ 45–1016. Execution of trust powers for benefit of creditors and assignees.

The execution in whole or in part of any trust power may be decreed in equity for the benefit of the creditors or assignees of any person entitled to compel its execution when the interest of the objects of such trust is assignable. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1354, ch. 854, § 1052.)

§ 45–1017. Manner of executing powers.

No power can be executed except by some instrument in writing, which would be sufficient in law to pass the estate or interest intended to pass under the power if the person executing the power were the actual owner. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1354, ch. 854, § 1053.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Assignment by contract

Where power of appointment could be exercised only by will, attempt to assign part of donee's interest by a contract was invalid. Mondell v. Thom (1944, 143 F. 2d 157, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 145).

§ 45–1018. Power by grant may not be executed by will.

Where a power to dispose of lands is confined to a disposition by devise or will, the instrument of execution must be a will duly executed; and where a power is confined to a disposition by grant it can not be executed by will, although the disposition is not intended to take effect until after the death of the party executing the power. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1354, ch. 854, § 1054.)

CROSS REFERENCE

Wills, see §§ 18–108 and 18–303.

§ 45–1019. Instrument will be deemed execution of power if grantee had no other right to make it.

Every instrument executed by the grantee of a power conveying an estate or creating a charge, which such grantee would have no right to convey or create unless by virtue of his power, shall be deemed a valid execution of the power, although such power be not recited or referred to therein. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1354, ch. 854, § 1055.)

Chapter 11.—SALE OF CONTINGENT AND LIMITED INTERESTS

Sec.

45–1101. Sale of contingent interests.
45–1102. Application for sale by verified bill in equity showing all facts.
45–1103. Proceeds of sale of contingent interest held as real property.
45–1104. Sale of all limited interests.

§ 45–1101. Sale of contingent interests.

Where real estate is limited to one or more for life, with a contingent limitation over to such issue of one or more of the tenants for life as shall be living at the death of their parent or parents, and the deed or will does not prohibit a sale, said court may, on the application of the tenants for life, and if the court shall be of opinion that it is expedient to do so, order a sale of such estate and decree to the purchaser an absolute and complete title in fee simple (Mar. 3, 1901 31 Stat. 1205, ch. 854, § 97.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Generally

This section clothed the court with authority to sell a restricted and particular class of limited estates, and was therefore special legislation, the specific provisions of which had to be given effect as against the more general and more comprehensive provisions of § 100 (§ 45–1104) on the same subject matter. Simon v. Simon (1928, 26 F. 2d 530, 58 App. D.C. 158).

Bond of trustee

Bond of trustee for sale of property of a minor for reinvestment purposes may not be attacked as invalid by the surety. United States ex rel. Hine v. Morse (1911, 31 S. Ct. 37, 218 U.S. 493, 54 L. Ed. 1123).

§ 45–1102. Application for sale by verified bill in equity showing all facts.

Any application for such sale shall be by bill, verified by the oath of the party or parties, in which all the facts shall be distinctly set forth upon the existence of which it is claimed that such sale should be decreed, which facts shall be proved by competent testimony. All of the issue embraced in the limitation who are in existence at the time of the application shall be made parties defendant, together with all who would take the estate in case the limitation over should never vest; and minors of the age of fourteen years or more shall answer in proper person under oath, as well as by guardian ad litem, and all evidence shall be taken upon notice to the parties and the guardian ad litem. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1205, ch. 854, § 98.)

§ 45–1103. Proceeds of sale of contingent interest held as real property.

The proceeds of sale of said real estate shall be held under the control and subject to the order of the court, and shall be invested under its order and supervision upon real and personal security, and the same shall, to all intents and purposes, be deemed real estate and stand in the place of the real estate from the sale of which they are derived, and as such be subject to the limitations of the deed or will. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1205, ch. 854, § 99.)

§ 45–1104. Sale of all limited interests.

Wherever one or more persons shall be entitled to an estate for life or years, or a base or qualified fee simple, or any other limited or conditional estate in lands, and any other person or persons shall be entitled to a remainder or remainders, vested or contingent, or an interest by way of executory devise in the same lands, on application of any of the parties in interest the court may, if all the parties in being are made parties to the proceeding, decree a sale or lease of the property, if it shall appear to be to the interest of all concerned, and shall direct the investment of the proceeds so as to inure in like manner as provided by the original grant to the use of the same parties who would be entitled to the land sold or leased; and all such decrees, if all the persons are parties who would be entitled if the contingency had happened at the date of the decree, shall bind all persons, whether in being or not, who claim or may claim any interest in said land under any of the parties to said decree, or under any person from whom any of the parties to such decree claim or from or under or by the original deed or will by which such particular, limited, or conditional estate, with remainders or executory devises, were created. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1205, ch. 854, § 100.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Equity jurisdiction

Equity had no jurisdiction to decree sale of lands of a lunatic for the purpose of better investment. Clark v. Mathewson (1896, 7 App. D.C. 382).

Chapter 12.—USES AND TRUSTS

Sec.

45–1201. The legal estate in cestui que use.
45–1202. Where several are jointly seized of lands to the use of any so seized, the latter shall be deemed to have the possession and seizing of same.
45–1203. Purchaser for value.

§ 45–1201. The legal estate in cestui que use.

Where lands, tenements, or hereditaments are conveyed or devised to one person, whether for years or for a freehold estate, to the use of or in trust for another, no estate or interest, legal or equitable, shall vest in the trustee, but the person entitled, according to the true intent and meaning of such instrument, to the actual possession of the property and the receipt of the rents and profits thereof, in law or in equity, shall be deemed to have a legal estate therein of the same quality and duration and subject to the same conditions as his beneficial interest, except where the title of such trustee is not merely nominal but is connected with some power of actual disposition or management of the property conveyed. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1432, ch. 854, § 1617.)

CROSS REFERENCE

Fraudulent conveyances, see §§ 28–3101 to 28–3103.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Active trusts

Where, at time of his death, testator was sole owner of five parcels of real property and also owned an undivided one-third interest in a great number of other parcels of real property and properties had various types of improvements, in various states of repair, and would be most difficult to dispose of in an orderly fashion, will clause, directing executor-trustee to distribute to the beneficiaries, devisees and legatees any property of any character of which testator died the owner, required fiduciary to undertake sufficiently active duties so that fiduciary would have to take title to real estate and proceed with its distribution as will directed. Liberty National Bank of Washington v. Smoot et al. (D.C.D.C. 1956, 135 F. Supp. 654).

If testamentary trustee has duties to perform, trust is active and trustee will take title and administer and manage properties, but if trustee has no duties other than to convey title, trust is passive and title vests in devisees. Id.

Real property in interest

Even though assignee of expired lease in taking title to property acted solely as agent or straw party for realty corporation, which was seeking to acquire a number of parcels of real estate in neighborhood, assignee was entitled to bring possessory action against lessee, who was hold-over tenant, since lessee could assert any right he had to possession in suit by assignee in same manner that he could have asserted such right if corporation had brought suit. Lake v. Angelo (D. C. Mun. App. 1960, 163 A. 2d 611).

§ 45–1202. Where several are jointly seized of lands to the use of any so seized, the latter shall be deemed to have the possession and seizing of same.

Where divers and many persons be, or hereafter shall happen to be jointly seized of and in any lands, tenements, rents, reversions, remainders, or other hereditaments, to the use, confidence, or trust of any of them that be so jointly seized, in every such case those person or persons which have or hereafter shall have any such use, confidence, or trust in any such lands, tenements, rents, reversions, remainders, or hereditaments, shall from henceforth have, and be deemed and adjudged to have only to him or them that have, or hereafter shall have such use, confidence, or trust, such estate, possession, and seizin, of and in the same lands, tenements, rents, reversions, remainders, and other hereditaments, in like nature, manner, form, condition, and course, as he or they had before in the use, confidence, or trust of the same lands, tenements, or hereditaments; saving and reserving to all and singular persons, and bodies politick, their heirs, and successors, other than those person or persons which be seized, or hereafter shall be seized of any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, to any use, confidence, or trust, all such right, title, entry, interest, possession, rents, and action, as they or any of them had, or might have had before the year 1535. (27 Hen. 8, ch. 10, § 2, 1535; Kilty's Rep. 231; Alex. Br. Stat. 294; Comp. Stat. D. C., 537, § 2.)

§ 45–1203. Purchaser for value.

No implied or resulting trust shall be alleged or established to defeat or prejudice the title of a purchaser for a valuable consideration and without notice of such trust; and where an express trust is created, but is not contained or declared in the conveyance to the trustee, such conveyance shall be deemed absolute in favor of purchasers from the trustee for value and without notice of the trust. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1432, ch. 854, § 1618.)

Chapter 13.—WASTE

Sec.
45–1301. Writ of waste—Lease forfeited for waste and lessee pays treble damages.
45–1302. Waste not to be committed except with license in writing—Damages and amerciament for waste.
45–1303. Reversioner may forfeit lease for waste of tenant, though he has assigned to another.
45–1304. Joint tenant or tenant in common against cotenant.

§ 45–1301. Writ of waste—Lease forfeited for waste and lessee pays treble damages.

A man from henceforth shall have a writ of waste in the chancery against him that holdeth by law, or otherwise for term of life, or for term of years, or a woman in dower; and he which shall be attainted of waste, shall leese the thing that he hath wasted, and moreover shall recompense thrice so much as the waste shall be taxed at. (6 Edw. 1, ch. 5, § 1, 1278; Kilty's Rep. 211; Alex. Br. Stat. 83; Comp. Stat. D. C., 319, § 21.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Implied covenant

The covenant not to commit, or suffer waste to be committed, is implied in every lease. Klein v. Longo (D. C. Mun. App. 1943, 34 A. 2d 359).

Questions of fact

Whether a tenant by breach of covenant to make repairs has committed waste is a question of fact for trial court. Klein v. Longo (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 34 A. 2d 359).

Waiver

A lessor may waive the breach of a specific covenant by delay in enforcement, or by subsequent acceptance of rent. Klein v. Longo (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 34 A. 2d 359).

Where breach of an express covenant followed by other instances of abuse to property by tenant results in injury to reversion, the waiver implied by acceptance of rent and failure to terminate tenancy upon breach of covenant does not exclude covenant from consideration when issue in action to recover possession is whether conduct of tenant over a period of years justifies finding that waste has been commited. Id.

Waste

Acts constituting a breach of an express covenant, which are of such a nature that when followed by other instances of abuse of the property by the tenant result in injury to the reversion, constitute "waste". Klein v. Longo (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 34 A. 2d 359).

Breach of covenant to make repairs by failure to replace broken hinge of gate, to reset a fallen fence, to mend broken plaster, or to repaper walls, supplemented by acts evidencing a wanton disregard of landlord's rights, authorized a finding that "waste" has been committed, notwithstanding that each breach of itself might have been too inconsequential to justify a forefeiture of tenant's term. Id.

§ 45–1302. Waste not to be committed except with license in writing—Damages and amerciament for waste.

Fermors, during their terms, shall not make waste, sale or exile of house, or woods, nor of any thing belonging to the tenements, that they have to ferm, without special license had by writing of covenant, making mention, that they may do it; which thing if they do, and thereof be convict, they shall yield full damage, and shall be punished by amerciament grievously. (52 Hen. 3, ch. 23, § 2, 1267; Kilty's Rep. 209; Alex. Br. Stat. 46, 47; Comp. Stat. D.C., 318, § 19.)

§ 45–1303. Reversioner may forfeit lease for waste of tenant, though he has assigned to another.

Because that diverse people in times past have let their lands and tenements to divers persons, that is to say, some for term of life or of another man's life, and some for term of years, the said tenants have oftentimes let and granted their estate which they had in the same lands and tenements, to many persons, to the intent that they in the reversion, that is to say, their lessors, their heirs, or their assigns, might not have knowledge of their names, and after the said first tenants continually occupy the said lands and tenements, and thereof take the profits to their proper use, and in the said lands and tenements commit waste and destruction, to the disheritance of them in the reversion: It is ordained and established, that they in the reversion in such case may have and maintain a writ of waste against the said tenants for term of life, of another's life, or for years, and so recover against them the place wasted, and their treble damages, for the waste by them done, as they ought to have done for the waste committed by them before the said grant and lease of their estate. Provided always, that this ordinance hold not place, but where the first tenants before the lease and grant of their said estates, in the manner and form abovesaid, were unpunishable of waste; and also where after the said grant and lease the said first tenants of the said lands and tenements take the profits at the time of the waste done, to their own proper use. (11 Hen. 6, ch. 5, § 1, 1433; Kilty's Rep. 227; Alex. Br. Stat. 243; Comp. Stat. D. C., 320, § 26.)

§ 45–1304. Joint tenant or tenant in common against cotenant.

Any joint tenant or tenant in common may maintain an action for waste committed by his cotenant, or in a suit for a partition, or a sale for purpose of partition may have said waste charged against the share of the cotenant committing the same. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1433, ch. 854, § 1622.)

(Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 787, ch. 760, § 1; Aug. 10, 1939, 53 Stat. 1352, ch. 664, § 2.)

1939—Act Aug. 10, 1939, added the words "or business-chance salesman."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Generally

Real estate broker's failure to inform purchasers that broker's employee who showed house to purchasers, who obtained purchasers' signatures on contract and who handled other details of sale of real estate was not broker's authorized salesman was culpable omission on part of broker that amounted to use of unlicensed salesman, in violation of statute. Greene v. Real Estate Commission (D.C. App. 1966, 218 A. 2d 508).

Admission against interest

In prosecution for acting as a real estate broker without a license, affidavit of individual defendant, who was president of corporate defendant, reciting nature of one of sales transactions, was admissible as an admission against interest. Underwriters Construction Company, Inc., et al. v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1961, 170 A. 2d 236).

Construction of chapter

Purpose of Real Estate and Business Brokers' License Act of District of Columbia is to protect public against evil, fraudulent, and dishonest practices which sometimes occur in real estate brokerage business, and although act is in derogation of common law, it must be construed in the light of such purpose. V. Wickersham et ano. v. T. D. Harris (1963, 313 F. 2d 468, Tenth Circuit), The provisions of this chapter must be construed in light of purpose of this chapter and evils it was designed to protect against. Eberman v. Massachusetts Bonding & Ins. Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 41 A. 2d 844).

Evidence

In prosecution for acting as a real estate broker without a license, agreement between purchaser and another, to which individual defendant was a signatory, for construction of a house on a lot and a sales contract for one of lots signed by individual defendant as president of corporate defendant, were relevant to question of whether defendants had made a sale of lot. Underwriters Construction Company, Inc., et al. v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1961, 170 A. 2d 236).

—— Sufficiency

Evidence of culpable fault on part of broker for unlawful acts of unlicensed employee as salesman, violation of statute forbidding broker's use of unlicensed salesman and failure to obtain purchasers' consent to contract change was sufficient to sustain real estate commission's finding that broker was incompetent, justifying suspension of his license. Greene v. Real Estate Commission (D.C. App. 1966, 218 A. 2d 508).

Evidence was sufficient to sustain conviction for acting as real estate broker without a license. Draisner v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 131 A. 2d 297).

Police power

The Real Estate and Business Brokers' License Act of District of Columbia constitutes an exercise of police power for protection of public interest. V. Wickersham et ano. v. T. D. Harris (1963, 313 F. 2d 468, Tenth Circuit).

The protection of public interest is the basis for exercise of police power in enactment of this chapter. Eberman v. Massachusetts Bonding & Ins. Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 41 A. 2d 844).

Prosecution for acting without license

In prosecution for acting as a real restate broker without first having obtained a license from Real Estate Commission, conflicting evidence as to whether defendant was acting as a broker or as an attorney warranted submission of such question to the jury. Wagman v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1959, 148 A. 2d 308).

In prosecution for acting as real estate broker without first having obtained a license from Real Estate Commission, whether defendant was acting as a broker or as an attorney was a question of fact for determination by jury. Id.

In prosecution for acting as real estate broker without a license, instruction which conditioned defendant's acquittal on findings that defendant was attempting to negotiate the purchase of the real estate for himself only or that two persons named in the contracts as purchasers were only straw parties acting on behalf of the defendant only was proper. Draisner v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 131 A. 2d 297).

Sufficiency of information

Information charging defendants with acting as real estate brokers without a license was sufficient to inform them of charge against them and they were not prejudiced by denial of a motion for bill of particulars and to correct or dismiss the information. Underwriters Construction Company, Inc., et al. v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1961, 170 A. 2d 236).

Summary judgment

It was error to grant summary judgment for defendants on ground that claim of plaintiff rested on services as real estate broker in violation of statute because plaintiff was not licensed as broker, where legal issues could not be resolved without affording plaintiff opportunity to demonstrate facts in support of his claim that he was member of joint venture with defendants at some point before he engaged in what would be illegal activity except by licensed brokers and principals. I. I. Davidson v. M. B. Coyne et al. (1965, 347 F. 2d 471, 120 U.S. App. D.C. 377).

§ 45–1402. Definitions—Exceptions.

Whenever used in this chapter "real-estate broker" means any person, firm, association, partnership, or corporation (foreign or domestic) who, for another and for a fee, commission, or other valuable consideration, or who, with the intention or in the expectation or upon the promise of receiving or collecting a fee, commission, or other valuable consideration, lists for sale, sells, exchanges, purchases, rents, or leases or offers or attempts or agrees to negotiate a sale, exchange, purchase, lease, or rental of an estate or interest in real estate, or collects or offers or attempts or agrees to collect rent or income for the use of real estate, or negotiates or offers or attempts or agrees to negotiate, a loan secured or to be secured by a mortgage, deed of trust, or other encumbrance upon or transfer of real estate, or who is engaged in the business of erecting houses or causing the erection of houses for sale on his, their, or its land and who sells, offers, or attempts to sell such houses, or who, as owner or otherwise and as a whole or partial vocation, sells, or through solicitation, advertising, or otherwise, offers or attempts to sell or to negotiate the sale of any lot or lots in any subdivision of land comprising ten lots or more: Provided, however, That this definition shall not apply to the sale of space for advertising of real estate in any newspaper, magazine, or other publication. A "business-chance broker" within the meaning of this chapter is any person, firm, partnership, association, copartnership, or corporation who for a compensation or valuable consideration sells or offers for sale, buys or offers to buy, leases or offers to lease, or negotiates the purchase or sale or exchange of a business, business opportunity, or the good will of a business for others.

"Business-chance salesman" means any person employed by a licensed business-chance broker to list for sale, sell, or offer for sale, to buy or offer to buy, to lease or offer to lease, or to negotiate the purchase or sale or exchange of a business, business opportunity, or good will of an existing business for or in behalf of such business-chance broker.

Persons employed by a licensed broker in a clerical capacity or in subordinate positions who receive a fixed compensation and who receive no additional commission or compensation for specific acts of renting or leasing real estate and who do not sell or exchange, or offer or attempt to sell or exchange, real estate or a business, business opportunity, or the good will of a business shall not be required to obtain licenses.

One act for a compensation or valuable consideration of buying or selling real estate for or of another, or offering for another to buy, sell, or exchange real estate, or leasing, renting, or offering to lease or rent real estate, or negotiating or offering to negotiate a loan secured by a mortgage, deed of trust, or other encumbrance upon or transfer of real estate, except as herein specifically excepted, shall constitute a person, firm, partnership, copartnership, association, or corporation performing, or offering, or attempting to perform any of the acts enumerated herein, a real-estate broker, unless such act shall be performed or offered or attempted to be performed by a person for and in behalf of a real-estate broker in which event such act shall constitute such person a real-estate salesman.

One act for a compensation or valuable consideration of buying, selling or leasing or exchanging a business, business opportunity, or the good will of a business for or of another, or offering for another to buy, sell, exchange, or lease a business, business opportunity, or the good will of a business, except as herein specifically excepted, shall constitute the person, firm, partnership, copartnership, association, or corporation performing or offering or attempting to perform any of the acts enumerated herein, a business-chance broker, unless such act shall be performed or offered or attempted to be performed by a person for or on behalf of a business-chance broker, in which event such act shall constitute such person a business-chance salesman.

The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to receivers, referees, administrators, executors, guardians, trustees, or other persons appointed or acting under the judgment or order of any court; or public officers while performing their official duty, or attorneys at law in the ordinary practice of their profession; nor to any person, copartnership, association, or corporation, who, as owner or lessor, shall perform any of the acts aforesaid with reference to property owned or leased by them, or to the regular officers and employees thereof, with respect to the property so owned or leased, where such acts are performed in the regular course of, or as an incident to, the management of such property and the investments therein, except as otherwise provided in this chapter.

Every provision of this chapter applying specifically to an applicant or application for a license as a real-estate broker or a real-estate salesman, and to a real-estate license, and to a licensee licensed as a real-estate broker or a real-estate salesman, and to anyone acting in the capacity of a real-estate broker or a real-estate salesman without a license, shall likewise apply in a similar manner, respectively, to every applicant and application for a license as a business-chance broker or a business-chance salesman, and to every business-chance license, and to every licensee licensed as a business-chance broker or a business-chance salesman, and to anyone acting in the capacity of a business-chance broker or a business-chance salesman without a license. (Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 787, ch. 760, § 2; Aug. 10, 1939, 53 Stat. 1352, ch. 664, § 3.)

words beginning "unless such act" and concluding the said paragraph; added the sixth paragraph; added in the seventh paragraph the words beginning "nor to any person" and concluding the said paragraph; and, added the eighth paragraph.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Acts

Under this chapter limiting the causes for suspension or revocation of a license to obtaining a broker's license by false or fraudulent representations, and "where the licensee, in performing or attempting to perform any of the acts mentioned herein", has done certain things, the "acts" referred to are those activities set forth in this section defining the meaning of real estate broker and real estate salesman, which activities deal with sale, purchase, or rental of realty and negotiation of loans on realty by one who acts for another and for a consideration. Eberman v. Massachusetts Bonding & Ins. Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 41 A. 2d 844).

Admission against interest

In prosecution for acting as a real estate broker without a license, affidavit of individual defendant, who was president of corporate defendant, reciting nature of one of sales transactions, was admissible as an admission against interest. Underwriters Construction Company, Inc., et al. v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1961, 170 A. 2d 236).

Evidence

In prosecution for acting as a real estate broker without a license, agreement between purchaser and another, to which individual defendant was a signatory, for construction of a house on a lot and a sales contract for one of lots signed by individual defendant as president of corporate defendant, were relevant to question of whether defendants had made a sale of lot. Underwriters Construction Company, Inc., et al. v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1961, 170 A. 2d 236).

—— Sufficiency

Evidence was sufficient to sustain conviction for acting as real estate broker without a license. Draisner v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 131 A. 2d 297).

Prosecution for acting without license

In prosecution for acting as a real estate broker without first having obtained a license from Real Estate Commission, conflicting evidence as to whether defendant was acting as a broker or as an attorney warranted submission of such question to the jury. Wagman v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1959, 148 A. 2d 308).

In prosecution for acting as real estate broker without first having obtained a license from Real Estate Commission, whether defendant was acting as a broker or as an attorney was a question of fact for determination by jury. Id.

In prosecution for acting as real estate broker without a license, instruction which conditioned defendant's acquittal on findings that defendant was attempting to negotiate the purchase of the real estate for himself only or that two persons named in the contracts as purchasers were only straw parties acting on behalf of the defendant only was proper. Draisner v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 131 A. 2d 297).

Relationship of parties

Plaintiff, who did not have authority to submit, accept, or reject, offers or proposals but who did have authority to procure a prospective purchaser for property and who did find a prospective purchaser who in turn entered into a contract for purchase of land, was a "broker" within meaning of statute requiring licenses from one acting for compensation or consideration in buying or selling real estate for another and he could not recover for his services when he was not so licensed. V. Wickersham et ano. v. T. D. Harris (1963. 313 F. 2d 468, Tenth Circuit).

In action to recover secret profit allegedly made by broker in purchasing plaintiff's property on broker's own account and reselling it at a profit, evidence required denial of recovery on ground that there was no evidence establishing relationship of real estate broker and client between the parties. Urciolo v. O'Connor (1945, 149 F. 2d 386, 80 U.S. App. D.C. 112).

Where salesman employed by broker was entitled to one-half of the commissions on all sales either made or procured by him, a fiduciary relationship existed with the necessary incidents of good faith and mutual trust, and right of salesman to commission must be determined on such basis rather than the basis of rival or competing brokers. Henderson v. Porter (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 52 A. 2d 779).

Sufficiency of information

Information charging defendants with acting as real estate brokers without a license was sufficient to inform them of charge against them and they were not prejudiced by denial of a motion for bill of particulars and to correct or dismiss the information. Underwriters Construction Company, Inc., et al. v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1961, 170 A. 2d 236).

§ 45–1403. Real Estate Commission created—Membership—Seal—Records—Compensation.

There is hereby created the Real Estate Commission of the District of Columbia. The Commissioners of the District of Columbia shall appoint two persons, not more than one of whom shall have been actively engaged in or closely connected with the business or vocation of real-estate broker or real-estate salesman within five years immediately prior to appointment, who shall serve as members of said Real Estate Commission of the District of Columbia. In addition thereto, the assessor of the District of Columbia shall serve, ex-officio, as a member of said Real Estate Commission but without added compensation for his services as such. One member of said Commission shall be appointed for a term of one year; one member shall be appointed for a term of two years, and until their successors are appointed and qualified; thereafter the term of the members of said Commission shall be for three years and until their successors are appointed and qualified. Members to fill vacancies shall be appointed for the unexpired term. The Commissioners of the District of Columbia may remove members of the Real Estate Commission at any time for cause.

The assessor, ex-officio, shall be the chairman of said Real Estate Commission, which is hereby authorized and empowered to elect a treasurer of said Commission and to do all things necessary and convenient for carrying into effect the provisions of this chapter and the rules and regulations promulgated from time to time by the Commissioners.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia shall employ and remove at their pleasure a secretary and such assistants as shall be deemed necessary to discharge the duties imposed by the provisions of this chapter and shall prescribe their duties and fix their compensation in accordance with the provisions of section 305, chapter 51, subchapter III of chapter 53, and sections 5341, 5342, 5504, 5509 and 7154, of title 5, U.S. Code [relating to the classification of government employees and related matters].

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia shall provide for the use of the Real Estate Commission such office space, furniture, stationery, fuel, light, and other proper conveniences as shall be reasonably necessary for carrying out the provisions of this chapter.

The Commission shall adopt a seal with such design as it may prescribe engraved thereon by which it shall authenticate its proceedings. Copies of all records and papers in the office of the Commission, duly certified and authenticated by the seal of said Commission, shall be received in evidence in all courts equally and with like effect as the original. The Commission shall keep a record of all its proceedings and a complete stenographic record of all hearings authorized under this chapter.

All records kept in the office of the Commission under authority of this chapter shall be open to public inspection under reasonable rules and regulations to be prescribed by the Commission.

The compensation of members of the Commission, except the ex officio member, shall be $10 each for personal attendance at each meeting, but shall not exceed for any member $1,500 per annum.

The payment of such allowance shall be made from any unexpended balance in the treasury of said Commission remaining on June 30 of the year during which the services have been rendered, and if the unexpended balance is insufficient to meet the total amount of such allowance the rate of compensation shall be reduced to a rate which will permit payment from such unexpended balance. Such expenses shall in no event exceed the total receipts; and if at the close of each fiscal year any funds unexpended in excess of the sum of $1,000 shall be paid into the treasury of the United States to the credit of the District of Columbia: Provided, That no expenses incurred under this chapter shall be a charge against the funds of the United States or the District of Columbia.

All fees and charges payable under the provisions of this chapter shall be paid to the treasurer of the Commission. The Commission is hereby authorized to refund any license fee or tax, or portion thereof, erroneously paid or collected under this chapter.

It shall be the duty of the auditor of the District of Columbia to audit the accounts of the Commission at the end of each fiscal year and make a report thereof in writing to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia. The said auditor shall have free access to all books of accounts, papers, and records of the said Commission.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia are hereby authorized and empowered to make and enforce, revise, or repeal whatever reasonable regulations may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter. (Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 788, ch. 760, § 3; Aug. 10, 1939, 53 Stat. 1354, ch. 664, § 4; Oct. 28, 1949, 63 Stat. 972, ch. 782 title XI, § 1106(a).)

CODIFICATION

The reference in this section to "section 305, chapter 51, subchapter III of chapter 53, and sections 5341, 5342, 5504, 5509 and 7154, of title 5, U.S. Code [relating to the classification of government employees and related matters]" was substituted for "the Classification Act of 1949, as amended", on authority of § 7(b) of act Sept. 6, 1966, Pub. L. 89–554, set out in note under § 1–251. The Classification Act of 1949, as amended (Oct. 28, 1949, 63 Stat. 954, ch. 782, as amended), was repealed by act Sept. 6, 1966, 80 Stat. 632, Pub. L. 89–554, § 8(a) (of which § 1 revised and enacted title 5, U.S.C., into law), and is now covered by the provisions of title 5, U.S.C., cited.

1949—Act Oct. 28, 1949, § 1106(a), which was a part of the Classification Act of 1949, and which has since been repealed, substituted "Classification Act of 1949" for "Classification Act of 1923". See codification note above.

1939—Act Aug. 10, 1939, substituted "The compensation of members of the Commission, except the ex officio member, shall be $10 each for personal attendance at each meeting, but shall not exceed for any member $1,500 per annum" for "Each member of the Commission, except the ex-officio member, shall receive an allowance at the rate of $10 for each day of seven hours such member is actually engaged in the performance of duties as a member of the Commission: Provided, however, That no member shall receive in any one year a sum greater than $2,000."

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

All functions of the Office of the Auditor including the functions of all officers, employees and subordinate agencies were transferred to the Director, Department of General Administration by Reorg. Order No. 3 of the Board of Commissioners dated August 28, 1952, and effective September 2, 1952. The function of auditing the accounts of the Real Estate Commission was transferred from the Auditor of the District of Columbia to the Internal Audit Officer, Department of General Administration by Reorg. Order No. 19. These orders were issued by the Board of Commissioners pursuant to Reorg. Plan No. 5 of 1952. The orders and plan are set out in the Appendix to title 1, Administration.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Reasonable police regulations

Congressional legislation on particular subject can preclude regulation of that subject by district commissioners, but absent such unique limitations or congressional occupation of field, commissioners in exercising local legislative power may promulgate reasonable and usual police regulations. J. Filippo v. Real Estate Com. of the District of Columbia (D.C. App. 1966, 223 A. 2d 268).

Limitation on scope of reasonable and usual police regulations which may be adopted by District commissioners is primarily functional; such regulations must be necessary for protection of lives, limbs, health, comfort, and quiet of persons in protection of property within district. Id.

Police regulations promulgated by District commissioners must be reasonable, and may not extend to subject which does not endanger, disturb, annoy or incommode people and may not produce results at variance with purposes contemplated by joint resolution. Id.

District commissioners' regulation is reasonable if its subject is one which is naturally productive of material discomfort to persons of ordinary susceptibilities, tastes, and habits. Id.

District of Columbia fair housing regulations were "reasonable and usual police regulations" within authority delegated to commissioners. Id.

Validity of membership

District of Columbia Board of Commissioners had power, under Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1952, to determine number and composition of Real Estate Commission, and Commission, composed of five members as specified in Reorganization Order No. 59, had jurisdiction to suspend real estate broker's license. K. Kennedy v. Real Estate Commission etc. (D.C. App. 1964, 202 A. 2d 774.)

§ 45–1404. Qualifications for license.

No license under the provisions of this chapter shall be issued to any person who has not attained the age of twenty-one years, nor to any person who cannot read, write, and understand the English language; nor until the Commission has received satisfactory proof that the applicant is trustworthy and competent to transact the business of a real-estate broker or real-estate salesman or business-chance broker or business-chance salesman in such a manner as to safeguard the interests of the public: Provided, however, That a salesman shall have six months from the date of the issuance of his original license to prove his competency, and failure to prove his competency to the satisfaction of the Commission within that period will automatically cancel his original license or any renewal thereof.

In determining competency, the Commission shall require proof that every applicant for a license has a general and fair understanding of the obligations between principal and agent, as well as of the provisions of this chapter; and that an applicant for a license as a real-estate broker has a fair understanding of the general purposes and effect of deeds, mortgages, and contracts for the sale or leasing of real estate, and of elementary real-estate practices; and that an applicant for a license as a business-chance broker has a fair understanding of the general purposes and effect of bills of sale, chattel mortgages and trusts, and the provisions of the law governing sales in bulk.

No license shall be issued to any person, firm, partnership, copartnership, association, or corporation whose application has been rejected in the District of Columbia or any State within three months prior to date of application, or whose real-estate license has been revoked in the District of Columbia or any State within one year prior to date of application. (Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 789, ch. 760, § 4; Aug. 10, 1939, 53 Stat. 1354, ch. 664, § 5.)

AMENDMENT

1939—Act Aug. 10, 1939, added the words "or business-chance broker or business-chance salesman" and the proviso in the first paragraph; rearranged the wording of the first part of the second paragraph and added the words beginning "and that an applicant," the second time the said words appear, and concluding the said paragraph.

§ 45–1405. Application for license—Requirements—Location of business—Members—Individual broker's and real-estate salesman's license—Bond—Form, conditions.

Every applicant for a license under the provisions of this chapter shall apply therefor in writing upon blanks furnished by the Real Estate Commission.

The application of every person for a real-estate broker's license or a real-estate salesman's license shall be accompanied by the recommendation of at least two residents of the District of Columbia, real-estate owners, who have owned real estate in the District of Columbia for a period of at least one year and who are not related to the applicant but who have personally known the applicant for a period of at least six months prior to the date of application, which recommendation shall certify that the applicant bears a good reputation for honesty, truthfulness, fair dealing, and competency, and recommend that a license be granted to the applicant.

The application of every firm, partnership, copartnership, association, or corporation for a real-estate broker's license shall state the location of the place or places for which said license is desired and set forth the period of time, if any, which said applicant has been engaged in the real-estate business, together with a complete list of all former places where the applicant may have been engaged in any business for a period of thirty days or more during the five years preceding date of application, accounting for such entire period. Such applications shall also state the name and residence of each individual member or officer of said applicant who actively participates in the brokerage business thereof.

The application of every individual member or officer of a firm, partnership, copartnership, association, or corporation for a real-estate broker's license shall state the full name and residence address of the applicant and the full name and business address of the firm, partnership, copartnership, association, or corporation with which he is or will be associated, the length of time he has been so associated, and in what capacity. Such application shall also state the period of time, if any, during which said applicant has been engaged in the real-estate business, together with a complete list of all former places where the applicant may have resided and all former places where the applicant may have been engaged in any business for a period of thirty days or more during the five years preceding date of application, accounting for such entire period.

The application of each person for an individual real-estate broker's license shall state the full name of the applicant, his business address, and residence address. Such application shall also state the period of time, if any, during which said applicant has been engaged in the real-estate business, together with a complete list of all former places where the applicant may have resided and all former places where the applicant may have been engaged in any business for a period of thirty days or more during the five years preceding the date of application, accounting for such entire period.

The application of every person for a real-estate salesman's license shall state the full name of the applicant, his residence address, and the name and business address of the real-estate broker by whom he is or will be employed. Such application shall also state the period of time, if any, during which said applicant has been engaged in the real-estate business, together with a complete list of all former places where the applicant may have resided and all former places where the applicant may have been engaged in any business for a period of thirty days or more during the five years preceding the date of application, accounting for such entire period. Such application shall be accompanied by a written statement by the broker by whom the applicant is employed or is about to be employed, stating that in his opinion the applicant is honest, truthful, and of good reputation, and recommending that the license be granted to the applicant.

Every application for a license under the provisions of this chapter shall be sworn to by the applicant and shall be accompanied by the license fee herein prescribed. In the event that the Commission does not approve the application for a license the fee shall be returned to the applicant.

Every application for a license shall be accompanied by a bond in the sum of $2,500 in the case of a broker and $1,000 in the case of a salesman, running to the District of Columbia executed by a surety company duly authorized to do business in the District of Columbia: Provided, however, That no bond shall be required of any firm, partnership, copartnership, association, or corporation when the application of every member or officer of such firm, partnership, copartnership, association, or corporation actively participating in the brokerage business thereof is accompanied by a bond as provided for in this section. Said bond shall be in form approved by the Commission, and conditioned that the applicant shall conduct himself and his business in accordance with the requirements of this chapter; and for his failure so to do any person aggrieved thereby shall have, in addition to his right of action against the principal thereof, a right to bring suit against the surety on said bond either alone or jointly with the principal thereon, and to recover in an amount not exceeding the penalty of the bond any damages sustained by reason of any act, representation, transaction, or conduct of the principal which may be prohibited by this chapter or enumerated as one of the causes for suspension or revocation of a license granted hereunder. If a recovery be had on any bond the licensee shall restore the bond to its original amount.

Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to impose upon the surety on any such bond a greater liability than the total amount thereof or the amount remaining unextinguished by any prior recovery or recoveries as the case may be.

No suit or action against the surety on any such bond shall be brought later than one year from the accrual of the cause of action thereon. The surety may terminate its liability under such bond by giving thirty days' written notice thereof, served either personally or by registered mail, to the principal and to the Commission; and upon giving such notice the surety shall be discharged from all liability under such bond for any act or omission of the principal occurring after the expiration of thirty days from the date of service of such notice. Unless on or before the expiration of such period the principal shall duly file a new bond in like amount and conditioned as the original in substitution of the bond so terminated, the license of the principal shall likewise terminate upon the expiration of such period. Upon making any payment on account of its bond, the surety shall immediately notify the Commission

In the event the surety becomes insolvent or a bankrupt, or ceases to do business or ceases to be authorized to do business in the District of Columbia, the principal shall, within ten days after notice thereof, given by the Commission, duly file a new bond in like amount and conditioned as the original and if the principal shall fail so to do the license of such principal shall terminate.

The Commission, with due regard to the paramount interest of the public, may require other reasonable proof of the honesty, truthfulness, and integrity of the applicant. (Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 789, ch. 760, § 5; Aug. 10, 1939, 53 Stat. 1354, ch. 664, § 6.)

AMENDMENT

Accrual of cause of action

Owners' cause against surety of real estate broker engaged by them to manage their property and to protect them from foreclosure by forwarding rents collected to holder of first trust accrued when owners were notified of default by broker and of intention of holder or first trust to foreclose where there was nothing in agreement which would indicate that demand upon broker was prerequisite to performance, and action not brought within one year statutory period was barred. Phoenix Assurance Company of N.Y. v. S. and F. Basil (D.C. App. 1963, 189 A. 2d 365).

Bond, actions on

That plaintiffs recovered various sums on account of rents collected for them by decedent but never accounted for by decedent in an action on bond under this section given by decedent did not bar plaintiffs from asserting an equitable lien on the amount of a special rent account in the hands of decedent's administratrix as a trust fund, in view of provision of this section that the aggrieved person's remedy against the surety is in addition to his right of action against the principal, since remedies were cumulative and nothing less than complete satisfaction of plaintiffs' claims would operate as a bar. Brown v. Christman (1942, 126 F. 2d 625, 75 U.S. App. D.C. 203).

Where District of Columbia Commissioners had never exercised their enlarged authority under Additional Powers Act § 1–244(b), and as a consequence § 2–1404 providing that District of Columbia shall be kept harmless from consequences of any and all acts of said licensee plumber during period covered by plumber's indemnity bond was still in effect, purchasers of property upon which sewer pipe was allegedly negligently installed by plumber could not bring action against plumber's surety on indemnity bond which named only District of Columbia as obligee therein. Bolten v. Clarke and Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. (D.C. Mun. App. 1956, 125 A. 2d 60).

Where contract between investor and real estate broker involved nothing more than the entrusting of sum of money to broker by investor for investment, and no real estate transaction was involved, investor could not recover for loss of money entrusted to broker from broker's surety on broker's bond. Brooks v. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. (D.C. Mun. App. 1954, 109 A. 2d 377).

Recovery on bond

Real estate broker could not recover from surety on real estate salesman's bond of broker's sales manager who had failed to account for money received by him from broker's salesmen who had obtained the money from prospective purchasers. E. D. Collier v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. (D.C. Mun. App. 1962, 180 A. 2d 846).

A licensed broker who was owed a commission by another broker licensed in the District of Columbia and in Maryland, based on plaintiff broker's sale of certain realty located in Maryland, was not a "person aggrieved" under this section requiring a realty broker to secure a bond which "any person aggrieved" shall have a right to sue on, nor was broker a member of the "public" under Maryland statute providing that every licensed realty broker shall provide a corporate bond for the use and benefit of the "public", and therefore, broker was not entitled to recover on either District of Columbia bond or Maryland bond. Gilewicz v. Home Indemnity Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1959, 150 A. 2d 627).

A salesman of real estate broker who dealt with him as employer or business associate could not recover from surety on broker's bond the balance of commissions which broker failed to pay to salesman, since this section providing for bond to protect "any person aggrieved" by broker's conduct which constitutes fraudulent or dishonest dealings, limits recovery on bond to members of the public. Eberman v. Massachusetts Bonding & Ins. Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 41 A. 2d 844).

No liability exists on the bond since no obligation arises on the part of a broker to repay until demand is made. Moreover, the regulations of Real Estate Commission cannot be extended to the surety. Cundiff v. Wills and Martin v. Wills (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 76 A. 2d 55).

§ 45–1406. Procedure when license refused.

The Commission, after an application in proper form has been filed, shall, before refusing to issue a license, set the application down for a hearing and determination as provided in section 45–1409. (Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 791, ch. 760, § 6.)

§ 45–1407. Details relating to license.

The Commission shall cause to be issued to each licensee a license in such form and size as shall be prescribed by the Commission. Every license shall show the name and address of the licensee, and if licensee is a member or officer of a firm, partnership, copartnership, association, or corporation, the full name and address of such firm, partnership, copartnership, association, or corporation shall also be shown on said license. Licenses issued to real-estate salesmen shall in addition show the name and address of the real-estate broker by whom the said salesmen is or will be employed. Each license shall have imprinted thereon the seal of the Commission, and in addition to the foregoing shall contain such matter as shall be prescribed by the Commission. The license of each real-estate salesman shall be delivered or mailed to the real-estate broker by whom such real-estate salesman is employed and shall be kept in the custody and control of such broker. It shall be the duty of each real-estate broker to conspicuously display his license in his place of business.

At any time within six [6] months, but not thereafter, after the issuance of an original license the Commission may, upon its own motion, and shall, upon the verified complaint, in writing, of any person, provided such complaint, or such complaint together with evidence, documentary or otherwise, presented therewith, shall make out a prima facie case that the licensee is unworthy to hold such license, notify the licensee, in writing, that the question of his honesty, competency, truthfulness, and integrity will be reopened and determined de novo. Such written notice may be served by delivery thereof personally to the licensee or by mailing same by registered mail to the last known business address of the licensee. Thereupon the Commission may require and procure further proof of the licensee's trustworthiness and competency, and if such proof shall not be satisfactory such license shall be recalled and shall thereafter be null and void. Upon the recall of any such license it shall be the duty of the licensee to surrender to the Commission such license.

The fee for an original broker's license and every renewal thereof shall be $30: Provided, however, That the fee for an original broker's license and every renewal thereof for individual members, partners, and officers of firms, partnerships, and corporations shall be $30 for the first member, partner, or officer to be designated by the firm, partnership, or corporation and $10 for each additional member, partner, or officer of such firm, partnership, or corporation.

No fee shall be charged for any original license or renewal thereof issued to any firm, partnership, copartnership, association, or corporation all of whose members or officers actively participating in the brokerage business thereof have been issued a broker's license.

The fee for an original real-estate salesman's license and every annual renewal thereof shall be $10.

The fees provided herein for any original license shall be reduced by one-half in all cases where the application for such original license is filed between January 1 and July 1 of any year.

Every license shall expire on the 1st day of July of each year, except that the original or initial licenses, first issued under the provisions of this chapter shall expire on the 1st day of July, 1938, subject, however, to revocation as hereinbefore provided.

The Commission shall cause to be issued a new license for each ensuing year, in the absence of any reason or condition which might warrant the refusal of the granting of a license, upon receipt of the written request of the applicant and the annual fee therefor, as herein required: Provided, however, That an applicant who, on or before July 1, fails to file said written request and pay the annual fee must comply with all the provisions of this chapter applicable to an original applicant except that the Commission may waive the requirement of furnishing proof of competency. The revocation of a broker's license shall automatically suspend every salesman's license granted to any person by virtue of his employment by the broker whose license has been revoked, pending a change of employer and the issuance of a new license. Such new license shall be issued without charge if granted during the same license year in which the original license is granted.

No person, firm, partnership, copartnership, association, or corporation engaged in the business or acting in the capacity of a real-estate broker or a real-estate salesman, or a business-chance broker or a business-chance salesman, within the District of Columbia shall bring or maintain any action in the courts of the District of Columbia for the collection of compensation for any services performed as a real-estate broker or a real-estate salesman or a business-chance broker or business-chance salesman, or enforcement of any contract relating to real estate without alleging and proving that such person, firm, partnership, copartnership, association, or corporation was a duly licensed real-estate broker or real-estate salesman, or business-chance broker or business-chance salesman, at the time the alleged cause of action arose.

Every broker licensed hereunder shall maintain a place of business in the District of Columbia. If a broker maintains more than one place of business within the District of Columbia, a duplicate license shall be issued to such broker for each branch office maintained; and there shall be no fee charged for any such duplicate license.

When a broker changes the location of his principal place of business he must immediately notify the Commission in writing and return to the Commission his license together with the licenses of all salesmen in his employ, and the Commission shall issue a new license to the broker and to each of the salesmen without charge. Failure to notify the Commission and to return his license when the location of his principal place of business is changed, will automatically cancel the broker's license and the licenses of all salesmen in his employ. However, new licenses for the unexpired term may be issued by the Commission without the payment of any additional fee, provided a written request therefor accompanied by a new bond is filed.

When any real-estate salesman shall be discharged or shall terminate his employment with the real-estate broker by whom he is employed it shall be the duty of such real-estate broker to immediately deliver or mail by registered mail to the Commission such real-estate salesman's license. The real-estate broker shall at the time of delivering or mailing such real-estate salesman's license to the Commission, address a communication by registered mail to the last-known residence address of such real-estate salesman, which communication shall advise such real-estate salesman that his license has been delivered or mailed to the Commission. A copy of such communication to the real-estate salesman shall accompany the license when mailed or delivered to the Commission. It shall be unlawful for any real-estate salesman to perform any of the acts contemplated by this chapter, either directly or indirectly, under authority of said license from and after three days following such delivery or mailing of the said license by said broker to the Commission.

When a salesman shall be discharged or shall terminate his employment with the broker by whom he is employed, it shall be the duty of such salesman to immediately notify the Commission, and it shall be unlawful for him to perform any of the acts contemplated by this chapter either directly or indirectly from and after such termination of employment until such time as he has been employed by another licensed broker and a license has been reissued him by the Commission.

There shall be no additional fee for the reissuance of a salesman's license necessitated by the change of employers nor shall such change work a revocation or require a renewal of the salesman's bond.

A license issued to an individual cannot be transferred to another individual. However, an individual licensed as a broker may, upon written request to the Commission, change his status to that of an individual broker or to that of a partner of a partnership, or to that of an officer of a corporation, for any unexpired term of his license, without the payment of any additional fee, and such change shall not work a revocation or require a renewal of the bond of any such broker. This provision shall not be applicable to any real-estate broker in respect to a change of license to that of a business chance broker or vice versa.

No license shall be issued to any firm, partnership, association, or corporation unless every individual member, partner or officer of such firm, partnership, association, or corporation who actively participates in the brokerage business thereof is licensed as a broker. (Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 791, ch. 760, § 7; Aug. 10, 1939, 53 Stat. 1354, ch. 664, § 7.)

AMENDMENT

1939—Act Aug. 10, 1939, deleted the figure "$50" and inserted in lieu thereof the figure "$30," and added the rest of the third paragraph; added the sixth paragraph; added the proviso on the end of the first sentence of the eighth paragraph; added the words "or a business-chance broker or a business-chance salesman" as they appear in the ninth paragraph; deleted the words "real estate" as they appeared in the 1937 act as the second and third words of the first sentence and the third and fourth words of the second sentence of the tenth paragraph; reworded the eleventh paragraph to provide as it now appears, the former paragraph having provided that notice be given "by each licensee" and not having provided for a new bond; and, added the thirteenth, fifteenth, and sixteenth paragraphs.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Commission's authority to suspend

Where real estate broker's license was renewed on July 1, 1958, for one year and on July 2, he was served with an order of Real Estate Commission charging him with three acts of alleged misconduct occurring prior to July 1, 1958, commission had power to suspend broker's license by reason of charges of misconduct even though commission had knowledge thereof on renewal date of license. Eiland v. Ahearn et al., etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1959, 153 A. 2d 312).

Prerequisite to suit

This section prohibiting broker or salesman from maintaining action for compensation as such without alleging and proving that he was duly licensed when alleged cause of action arose does not mean that one earning commission for services in procuring purchaser of realty while duly licensed as real estate salesman cannot recover commission because of his voluntary surrender of license on resigning as salesman in broker's office before execution of sale contract. Riddell v. Howar (D.C. Mun. App. 1952, 90 A. 2d 925).

Proof of license

In action for real estate broker's commission on sale of realty, where answer admitted allegation that broker was duly licensed, testimony of broker that he was licensed was sufficient proof without production of the license. McManus v. Newcomb (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 36).

Relationship of parties

Under statutes requiring real estate broker to have a license and prohibiting a person, who is engaged in business or acting in capacity of real estate broker or salesman, from bringing an action for compensation for any services performed as such without proving that he is licensed, a contract for payment of compensation to an unlicensed broker or salesman for services rendered as such is not merely unenforceable but is void. V. Wickersham et ano. v. T. D. Harris (1963, 313 F. 2d 468, Tenth Circuit).

Essential feature of real estate broker's conventional employment is to procure a purchaser for property ready, able, and willing to buy at the price and on terms of the listing or at a different price and on different terms mutually agreed upon by owner and purchaser, and it is not a prerequisite to right to compensation that broker conduct negotiations between the parties after they have been brought into contact with each other through his efforts. Id.

This section prohibiting broker or salesman from maintaining action for compensation as such without alleging and proving that he was duly licensed when alleged cause of action arose did not bar one who was licensed as real estate salesman in broker's office at time of performing services in procuring purchaser of realty from recovering half of commission under agreement with broker, though such salesman was not licensed when sale contract was executed after salesman's resignation. Riddell v. Howar (D.C. Mun. App. 1952, 90 A. 2d 925).

Sufficiency of evidence

Evidence was sufficient to sustain revocation of real estate broker's license for 90 days for substantial misrepresentation, for failing within a reasonable time to account for or to remit money, valuable documents, or other property coming into his possession which belonged to others, and for fraudulent and dishonest dealing. Eiland v. Ahearn et al., etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1959, 153 A. 2d 312).

§ 45–1408. Suspension or revocation of license—Causes enumerated.

The Commission may, upon its own motion, and shall, upon the verified complaint in writing of any person, provided such complaint or such complaint together with evidence, documentary or otherwise, presented in connection therewith, makes out a prima facie case, investigate the conduct of any real-estate broker or real-estate salesman, or business-chance broker or business-chance salesman, and shall have the power to suspend or to revoke any license issued under the provisions of this chapter, at any time where the licensee has by false or fraudulent representation obtained a license, or where the licensee, in performing or attempting to perform any of the acts mentioned herein, has—

(a) Made any substantial misrepresentation;

(b) Made any false promises of a character likely to influence, persuade, or induce;

(c) Pursued a continued and flagrant course of misrepresentation, or making of false promises through agents or salesmen, or advertising or otherwise;

(d) Acted for more than one party in a transaction without the knowledge of all parties for whom he acts;

(e) Accepted a commission or valuable consideration as a real-estate salesman or as a business-chance salesman for the performance of any of the acts specified in this chapter from any person, except the broker under whom he is licensed;

(f) Represented or attempted to represent a real-estate broker or a business-chance broker other than the employer, without the express knowledge and consent of the employer;

(g) Failed, within a reasonable time, to account for or to remit any money, valuable documents, or other property coming into his possession which belong to others;

(h) Demonstrated such unworthiness or incompetency to act as a real-estate broker or real-estate salesman or a business-chance broker or a business-chance salesman as to endanger the interests of the public;

(i) While acting or attempting to act as agent or broker, purchased or attempted to purchase any property or interest therein for himself, either in his own name or by use of a straw party, without disclosing such fact to the party he represents;

(j) Been guilty of any other conduct, whether of the same or a different character from that hereinbefore specified, which constitutes fraudulent or dishonest dealing;

(k) Used any trade name or insignia of membership in any real-estate organization of which the licensee is not a member;

(l) Disregarded or violated any provisions of this chapter;

(m) Guaranteed or authorized or permitted any broker or salesman to guarantee future profits which may result from the resale of real property, or a business, business opportunity, or the goodwill of any existing business;

(n) Placed a sign on any property offering it for sale or for rent or offering it for sale or rent without the written consent of the owner or his authorized agent;

(o) Accepted a compensation from more than one party to a transaction without the knowledge of all the parties to the transaction; or

(p) Failed to restore the bond to its original amount after a recovery on the bond as provided in section 45–1405. (Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 793, ch. 760, § 8; Aug. 10, 1939, 53 Stat. 1356, ch. 664, § 8.)

AMENDMENT

1939—Act Aug. 10, 1939, added "or business-chance broker or business-chance salesman" in the first paragraph; "or as a business-chance salesman," and deleted "except an employer who is a licensed real-estate broker" and inserted in lieu thereof the last eight words in paragraph (e); added "or a business-chance broker" in paragraph (f); deleted "salesman" and inserted in lieu thereof the words "real-estate salesman or a business-chance broker or a business-chance salesman" in paragraph (h); inserted paragraph (i) in lieu of the former paragraph which read, "Paid or offered to pay a commission or valuable consideration to any person for acts or services in violation of this act, with knowledge of such violation or where reasonable diligence has not been exercised to acquire such knowledge;" added the words "or a business, business opportunity, or the goodwill of any existing business" at the end of paragraph (m); changed the verbs in paragraph (m) and (n) from the present to the past participle; and, inserted paragraph (o) in lieu of the former paragraph which read, "Soliciting, selling, or offering for sale real property by offering free lots, or conducting lotteries, or contests, or offering prizes for the purpose of influencing a purchaser or prospective purchaser of real property."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Generally

Statute that empowered real estate commission to revoke or suspend license of broker who has demonstrated such unworthiness or incompetency to act as real estate broker as to endanger interests of public, when reasonably interpreted, punishes only conduct relating to broker's business and not to some outside activity. Greene v. Real Estate Commission (D.C. App. 1966, 218 A. 2d 508).

Accrual of cause of action

Owners' cause against surety of real estate broker engaged by them to manage their property and to protect them from foreclosure by forwarding rents collected to holder of first trust accrued when owners were notified of default by broker and of intention of holder of first trust to foreclose where there was nothing in agreement which would indicate that demand upon broker was prerequisite to performance, and action not brought within one year statutory period was barred. Phoenix Assurance Company of N.Y. v. S. and F. Basil (D.C. App. 1963, 189 A. 2d 365).

Amount of recovery

Where broker makes a secret profit at expense of principal, the principal is entitled only to the net, rather than the gross profit realized by broker. Jay v. General Realties Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 752).

Where broker secretly purchased property for herself without informing principal and later resold property at a profit, broker was entitled to credit for $650 paid for repairs and for $400 paid as commission on resale of the property. Id.

The seller is not entitled by reason of the false representation of the broker to be put in a better position than she would have been had his representation been true. Murphy v. O'Donnell (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 340).

Commission

Where real estate salesman's efforts produced sale while he was licensed under broker who collected commission, this section making it unlawful for a salesman to accept a commission from anyone other than broker under whom he is licensed, did not bar salesman's recovery for his agreed share of commission even though he had transferred to another broker's office before compensation became due. Chesser v. Kahn (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 124 A. 2d 850).

This section providing that license of real estate or business chance salesman or broker may be revoked or suspended for various acts including the act of placing a sign on any property, or offering it for sale or for rent without written consent of the owner or his agent, should not be interpreted to nullify a broker's contract for commission merely because contract is oral. Shaffer v. Berger (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 469).

Where first broker rather than second broker was suing for commission, the argument that listing upon which second broker acted was not in compliance with this section listing among grounds for revoking a real estate broker's license the offering of property for sale without written consent of owner or owner's authorized agent, was immaterial. First National Realty Corporation v. Blackwell Realty Co., Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 77 A. 2d 319).

Where salesman employed by broker was entitled to one-half of the commissions on all sales either made or procured by him, a fiduciary relationship existed with the necessary incidents of good faith and mutual trust, and right of salesman to commission must be determined on such basis rather than the basis of rival or competing brokers. Henderson v. Porter (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 52 A. 2d 779).

Where salesman was employed on commission basis by broker, salesman would be entitled to commission where he initiated the negotiations and consented that broker might conduct them because of his greater experience and broker agreed that salesman would receive his share of commission in event sale should be made. Id.

That subsection (n) of this section authorized the suspension or revocation of broker's license for offering property for sale without written consent from owner did not prevent broker from recovery of commissions in such a case where owners had entered into a contract for sale of the property with purchaser produced by broker. Murphy v. Mallos (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 59 A. 2d 514).

In a broker's suit against the purchaser who took subject to the present lease, such a lease did not obligate the purchaser to pay the rental commission which the former owners had agreed to pay where the purchaser never assumed any obligation to pay the broker. An agreement merely to take land subject to a specified encumbrance is not an agreement to assume and pay the encumbrance and there must be words importing that he will pay the debt to make him personally liable. Schwartz v. Brown (D.C. Mun. App. 1948, 64 A. 2d 298).

Consent of owner

A broker's failure to secure written consent of owner before offering realty for sale constitutes ground for suspension or revocation of license, but a broker who offers property without written consent of owner and secures a qualified buyer does not lose his right to commission, and hence broker's failure to obtain a written listing from attorney acting for owner did not per se invalidate broker's claim for commission. P. T. Apostolides, etc. v. G. Colecchia, et al. (D.C. App. 1966, 221 A 2d 437).

Statute providing that license of broker shall be subject to revocation or suspension if he offers property for sale or rent without written consent of owner does not nullify oral brokerage contracts, but it constrains court to interpret such oral contracts strictly against broker. A. A. Riskin v. Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, a corporation, et al. (D.C.D.C. 1964, 234 F. Supp. 979).

Where owner of dry cleaning and tailoring business orally agreed to sale of the business to purchaser procured by real estate brokers and to commission for brokers, owner was estopped from denying his obligation on ground that brokers did not first obtain a written listing from owner to sell the business. Shaffer v. Berger (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 469).

Real estate brokers were not precluded from recovering commission for obtaining a purchaser for dry cleaning and tailoring business because brokers did not first obtain a written listing from owner of business. Id.

In action brought by real estate broker for damages resulting from alleged breach by defendant of agreement whereunder defendant allegedly promised to pay to broker and defendant's son an amount equal to retail price of realty over specified amount, if broker and defendant's son would assist defendant in obtaining title to realty for specified price, this section prohibiting real estate broker from offering property for sale without written authorization from owner was not applicable and afforded no defense. Kyle v. Wiley (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 78 A. 2d 769).

Under this section, no broker may offer property for sale or rent without the written consent of the owner or his authorized agent. Coldicott v. W. C. & A. N. Miller Development Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 518).

Constitutional rights

Where real estate agent was not prevented from remitting money due to her principal and asserting her claim against principal in separate complaint but chose instead unsuccessfully to attempt to set off her claim against principal, she was not denied constitutional right of free access to courts. S. V. Watwood v. Real Estate Commission etc. (D.C. App. 1964, 196 A. 2d 635).

Discrimination

Finding of fair housing violation by broker, in offering house for sale to Negro at price higher than that for which it was offered to white person, justified license suspension. J. Filippo v. Real Estate Com. of the District of Columbia (D.C. App. 1966, 223 A. 2d 268).

Duty of broker

A broker owes his principal the highest fidelity and is bound to inform him fully of every development affecting his interest and particularly not to take any step secret or otherwise from which he may reap a personal profit at the expense of the principal. Jay v. General Realties Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 752).

Generally speaking, a broker who has secured his employment by a false representation, or who has by false representation induced his principal to accept an offer, is not entitled to a commission. The law requires the utmost good faith on the part of a broker in his dealings with his principal. Ellis v. Morgan (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 797).

Where broker received deposit from plaintiff as down payment, he was not only an agent but also a trustee of the funds deposited and as such he was subject to the duty to act solely for the benefit of his principal. One may not be an agent of both parties to a transaction without making full disclosure to both and obtaining their consent. Keith v. Berry (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 64 A. 2d 300).

Listing card

The listing card usually constitutes agreement between property owner and broker, and unless it is superseded by some later writing, or otherwise modified by the parties, it evidences the understanding between them. Coldicott v. W. C. & A. N. Miller Development Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 518).

Misrepresentation

Record on review by Municipal Court of Appeals sustained decision of Real Estate Commission suspending petitioner's license as a real estate broker on the grounds that she had made a substantial misrepresentation and had demonstrated such unworthiness to act as broker as to endanger interests of the public. D. B. Quander v. The Real Estate Commissioners of the District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1962, 179 A. 2d 386).

In reviewing ruling of Real Estate Commission suspending broker's license, Municipal Court of Appeals was bound to credit testimony adverse to license holder. Id.

Penalty of suspension or revocation of license, to be imposed upon a broker guilty of conduct in violation of statute, was a matter wholly within discretionary power of real estate commission. P. R. Kelley v. Real Estate Commission of the District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1961, 172 A. 2d 415).

In proceeding to review decision of Real Estate Commission suspending petitioners' licenses for period of ten days, record supported Commission's findings that petitioners had made substantial misrepresentation in advertising property in area zoned against multiple-family dwellings as having apartment, and that petitioner had demonstrated such unworthiness to act as licensed real estate brokers as to endanger interests of public. Ehrlich et ano. v. Real Estate Commission (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 118 A. 2d 801).

Where seller informed broker that if she sold she would have to have another place and signed deed when broker said he had another available apartment, which in fact was unavailable, broker is liable for his misrepresentation. Murphy v. O'Donnell (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 340).

Notice of hearing

Although the record did not affirmatively show that notice of rescheduled hearing for suspension of real estate broker's license was given to all the members of the commission, in the absence of any showing to the contrary, notice would be presumed. Kaiser v. Real Estate Commission of D.C. (D.C. Mun. App. 1959, 155 A. 2d 715).

Punishment

When charges brought by real estate commission against broker relate directly to activity as a broker, and there is evidence to support charges, punishment may follow under statute authorizing commission to suspend or revoke license of broker who has demonstrated such unworthiness or incompetency to act as real estate broker as to endanger interests of public. Greene v. Real Estate Commission (D.C. App. 1966, 218 A. 2d 508).

Question of fact

Where broker contended that he secured suitable accommodations and seller arbitrarily refused them, a question of fact was presented. Murphy v. O'Donnell D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 340).

Quorum

Proceedings for suspension of real estate broker's license were not invalid on ground that only two members of the three member commission were present when hearing was conducted and the order of suspension rendered, where statute was silent as to how many members were necessary to constitute a quorum and original order containing the charges and time and place of hearing was signed by all the members. Kaiser v. Real Estate Commission of D.C. (D.C. Mun. App. 1959, 155 A. 2d 715).

Recovery of commission

To be entitled to recover commission, broker must produce a purchaser who is ready, able and willing to buy on the terms authorized by the principal. Purchaser's signature on contract is some evidence of willingness to proceed but not that he is financially able or ready to do so. Long v. Murchison (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 370).

Recovery of secret profit

In action to recover secret profit allegedly made by broker in purchasing plaintiff's property on broker's own account and reselling it at a profit, evidence required denial of recovery on ground that there was no evidence establishing relationship of real estate broker and client between the parties. Urciolo v. O'Connor (149 F. 2d 386, 80 U.S. App. D.C. 112).

In principal's action against broker for secret profit realized by broker in purchasing property herself through straw men without informing principal and later reselling it at a profit, evidence sustained findings that broker had purchased the property herself through straw men without informing principal. Jay v. General Realties Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 752).

Review

An order suspending the license of a real estate broker was not invalid on the ground that Commission failed to determine whether petitioner was acting as a "real estate broker", where petitioner and his counsel were clearly advised at hearing that claimed violations occurred while he was acting as a real estate broker, and where his counsel admitted that petitioner committed the acts in question while he was acting as such broker, and Commission in its findings, conclusion of law and decision made a determination that petitioner was acting as such broker when he performed the acts that it found constituted a violation of the statute. Kaiser v. Real Estate Commission of D.C. (D.C. Mun. App. 1959, 155 A. 2d 715).

Statute of limitations

Statutes of limitation are not applicable to proceeding by Real Estate Commission of District of Columbia suspending real estate broker's license. Posner v. Martin, Adams, and Jones, as members of Real Estate Commission, etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 135 A. 2d 156).

Sufficiency of evidence

Evidence of culpable fault on part of broker for unlawful acts of unlicensed employee aso salesman, violation of statute forbidding broker's use of unlicensed salesman and failure to obtain purchasers' consent to contract change was sufficient to sustain real estate commission's finding that broker was incompetent, justifying suspension of his license. Greene v. Real Estate Commission (D.C. App. 1966, 218 A. 2d 508).

Evidence sustained findings of the Real Estate Commission, which suspended broker's license for 120 days, that broker violated the code by failure, within a reasonable time, to account, by demonstrating unworthiness or incompetency to act as a real estate broker, and by fraudulent or dishonest dealing. R. A. Brawner v. The Real Estate Commission of the District of Columbia (D.C. App. 1963, 190 A. 2d 818).

Evidence supported finding that broker, who allegedly agreed to manage apartment buildings for 5 per cent of gross rentals but charged substantial amounts over and above 5 per cent without knowledge or consent of clients, violated statutory provisions proscribing making of substantial misrepresentation or demonstration of unworthiness or incompetency to act as real estate broker but did not violate other provisions proscribing failure within reasonable time to account for or remit property of others or fraudulent or dishonest dealing. G. F. Worthington III v. Real Estate Commission of the District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1962, 184 A. 2d 639).

Evidence sustained finding of real estate commission, which revoked broker's real estate license, that broker in violation of statute made a substantial misrepresentation, and engaged in conduct which constituted fraudulent and dishonest dealing. P. R. Kelley v. Real Estate Commission of the District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1961, 172 A. 2d 415).

Evidence that real estate broker secured notary public to notarize signature of one of the owners of realty to contract for sale of the realty and recorded the contract with knowledge that signatory had not been before notary and that title was not in the name of the signatory alone, but in her name and that of her son, sustained finding of Real Estate Commission that broker's license as a real estate and business chance broker should be suspended for 60 days. Brown v. Winston (1952, 197 F. 2d 601, 91 U. S. App. D. C. 58).

Evidence was sufficient to sustain revocation of real estate broker's license for 90 days for substantial misrepresentation, for failing within a reasonable time to account for or to remit money, valuable documents, or other property coming into his possession which belonged to others, and for fraudulent and dishonest dealing. Eiland v. Ahearn et al., etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1959, 153 A. 2d 312).

Trust funds

Broker was not guilty of failing to account and conversion, or of incompetency or unworthiness, justifying license suspension, for failure to turn over subtenant's rent money to purchaser, where broker had correctly turned money over to tenant who was entitled thereto. S. Blackwell v. Real Estate Commission etc. (D.C. App. 1965, 210 A. 2d 544).

Broker's mere error of judgment with respect to person to whom rent money should be turned over, largely due to lack of proper notice of changes in status of parties, would not merit license suspension. Id.

Real estate agent who on behalf of property owner receives money from tenants is trustee of such funds and cannot set off personal debt owed him by owner against payments due under trust; equity treats fiduciary as holding res in separate capacity. S. V. Watwood v. Real Estate Commission etc. (D.C. App. 1964, 196 A. 2d 635).

Where real estate agent by attempting to set off from rent money which he owed to property owner a debt owed him by owner violated statute requiring accounting and remittance of money or other property within reasonable time, agent's good faith was not defense but only fact to be considered in mitigation of punishment. Id.

§ 45–1409. Hearing before suspension—Court review—Appeal.

The Commission shall, before denying an application for license, or before suspending or revoking any license, set the matter down for a public hearing, and at least ten days prior to the date set for the hearing it shall notify the applicant or licensee in writing of any charges made and shall afford said applicant or licensee an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel in reference thereto. Such written notice may be served by delivery of same personally to the applicant or licensee or by mailing same by registered mail or by certified mail to the last-known business address of such applicant or licensee. If said applicant or licensee be a salesman the Commission shall also notify the broker employing him, or whose employ he is about to enter, by mailing notice by registered mail or by certified mail to the broker's last-known address. The hearing on such charges shall be at such time and place as the Commission shall prescribe. The Commission shall have the power to issue subpenas or take testimony of any person by deposition in the same manner as prescribed by law in judicial procedure in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia in civil cases. It shall also have the power to require the production of books, records, papers, and documents by subpena or otherwise. Any party to any hearing before the Commission shall have the right to the attendance of witnesses in his behalf at such hearing upon making request therefor to the Commission and designating the person or persons sought to be subpenaed. If the Commission shall determine that any applicant is not qualified to receive a license, a license shall not be granted to said applicant, and if the Commission shall determine that any licensee is guilty of a violation of any of the provisions of §§ 45–1401 to 45–1418 this chapter, his or its licenses shall be suspended or revoked.

A final decision or determination of the Commission denying, suspending, or revoking a license may be reviewed in the District of Columbia Court of Appeals in the manner provided by sections 11–742, 17–303, 17–304, 17–305(b), 17–306 and 17–307 of the District of Columbia Code.

Any party to the proceedings desiring it shall be furnished with a copy of such stenographic notes, upon the payment to the Commission of such reasonable fee as it shall, by general rule or regulation, prescribe. (Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 794, ch. 760, § 9; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127; June 11, 1960, 74 Stat. 203, Pub. L. 86–507 § 1(50); Dec. 23, 1963, 77 Stat. 617, Pub. L. 88–241, § 9.)

AMENDMENTS

1963—Sec. 9 of act Dec. 23, 1963, amended the section by striking out the 9th and 10th sentences in the first paragraph and the entire second paragraph and inserted in lieu thereof a new paragraph.

1960—Act June 11, 1960, inserted words "or by certified mail" following "registered mail" in two instances.

CHANGE OF NAME

Act June 25, 1948, eff. Sept. 1, 1948, as amended by act May 24, 1949, substituted "United States District Court for the District of Columbia" for "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia."

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1963 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act Dec. 23, 1963, was made effective on Jan. 1, 1964. See note preceeding ch. 1, Title 11.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Abuse of discretion

Where petitioner for rehearing of determination which suspended his real estate broker's license for a period of 120 days, had an opportunity to present his testimony at hearing, and had offered facts in mitigation, Real Estate Commission of District of Columbia did not abuse its discretion in refusing to grant rehearing especially in view of fact that Commission had before it counter-affidavits which sharply contradicted the material allegation of petitioner's affidavit for rehearing. Posner v. Martin, Adams, and Jones, as members of Real Estate Commission, etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 135 A. 2d 156).

Hearing, when required

Proceeding to revoke license issued by Real Estate Commission of District of Columbia for conviction of licensee of forgery, embezzlement, obtaining money under false pretenses, or like offense does not necessarily require hearing and if Commission receives certified copy of court record showing such conviction no further proof is required and Commission must revoke license. O. T. Whiting, Jr. v. Real Estate Commission of the District of Columbia (D.C. App. 1964, 198 A. 2d 742).

If Real Estate Commission of District of Columbia receives certified copy of court record showing conviction of licensee of forgery, embezzlement, obtaining money under false pretenses or like offense evidence cannot be received controverting record and there is no room for argument. Id.

License of real estate broker convicted of engaging in business of wagering without registering or paying occupational tax should not have been revoked by Real Estate Commission without hearing to determine whether offense was "like offense" under statute requiring revocation upon conviction for forgery, embezzlement, obtaining money under false pretenses, extortion, criminal conspiracy to defraud, or other like offense. Id.

Offense of engaging in business of wagering without registering or paying occupational tax was not ground for revoking license under statute requiring revocation of license by Real Estate Commission of District of Columbia when licensee is convicted of forgery, embezzlement, obtaining money under false pretenses, extortion, criminal conspiracy to defraud, or other like offense. Id.

Matters considered on rehearing

Although, once a motion for rehearing is granted by administrative agency, and a rehearing is had, the agency must base its findings on matters introduced in evidence, such rule does not apply where agency is merely considering whether it should exercise its discretion and grant motion for rehearing, and therefore Real Estate Commission of District of Columbia on petitioner's petition for rehearing of suspension of his real estate broker's license, could consider, in addition to petitioner's affidavit for rehearing, counter-affidavits. Posner v. Martin, Adams, and Jones, as members of Real Estate Commission, etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 135 A. 2d 156).

Recovery of commissions

A broker procuring a purchaser for real property who entered into a binding contract with the vendor earned his commission and was entitled to receive it from the vendor when the transaction was abandoned by the parties when the vendor resold the property to others. S. Blanken v. Bechtel Properties, Inc. (D.C.D.C. 1961, 194 F. Supp. 638; affirmed 299 F. 2d 928).

§ 45–1410. Provisions applicable to nonresident brokers and salesmen.

A nonresident of the District of Columbia may become a real-estate broker or a real-estate salesman in the District of Columbia by conforming to all of the conditions of this chapter, except that the application of such person for a license need not be accompanied by the recommendation of real-estate owners in the District of Columbia prescribed in paragraph 2 of section 45–1405, but in lieu thereof the Commission shall require the filing of like recommendations by similarly qualified real-estate owners of property in the state, territory, or county of such applicant's residence, and with the further exception that a nonresident of the District of Columbia need not maintain a place of business within the District of Columbia if he is licensed in and maintains a place of business in the state in which he resides.

(2) The Commission may recognize, in lieu of the recommendation and statements otherwise required by this chapter to accompany an application for a license, the valid and existing license issued to a nonresident to act as a real-estate broker or salesman by any state having a law for the licensing of such brokers and salesmen similar to this chapter, upon payment of the license fee prescribed by this chapter and the filing by the applicant with the commission of a duly authenticated copy of applicant's license issued by such state: Provided, however, That every nonresident applicant shall file an irrevocable consent that suits and actions may be commenced against such applicant in the proper courts of the District of Columbia by the service of any process or pleadings authorized by the laws of the United States applying to the District of Columbia on the secretary of the Commission, said consent stipulating and agreeing that such service of such process or pleadings on said secretary shall be taken and held in all courts to be as valid and binding as if due or personal service had been made upon said applicant in the District of Columbia. Said instrument containing such consent shall be duly acknowledged and if made by a corporation shall be authenticated by the seal thereof. All such applications, except from individuals, shall be accompanied by a duly certified copy of the resolution of the proper officers or managing board, authorizing the proper officer to execute the same. In case any process or pleadings mentioned in this chapter are served upon the secretary of the Commission, it shall be by duplicate copies, one of which shall be filed in the office of the Commission and the other immediately forwarded by registered mail or by certified mail to the residence address given by the applicant against which said process or pleadings are directed: And provided further, That every nonresident of the District of Columbia shall file a bond in form and contents the same as is required of applicants under section 45–1405. (Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 795, ch. 760, §10; Aug. 10, 1939, 53 Stat. 1357, ch. 664, § 9; June 11, 1960, 74 Stat. 203, Pub. L. 86–507, § 1 (51).)

AMENDMENTS

1960—Act June 11, 1960, inserted words "or by certified mail" following "registered mail" in last sentence.

1939—Act Aug. 10, 1939, inserted "and with the further exception that a nonresident of the District of Columbia need not maintain a place of business within the District of Columbia if he is licensed in and maintains a place of business in the state in which he resides."

CROSS REFERENCE

§ 45–1411. Power to obtain evidence.

Each member of the Commission and its duly authorized representatives may administer oaths to witnesses.

In case of the refusal of any person to comply with any subpena issued hereunder or to testify to any matter regarding which he may lawfully be interrogated, the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, or any judge thereof, on application of any member of the Commission, shall issue an order requiring such person to comply with such subpena and to testify or either, and any failure to obey such order of the court may be punished by the court as a contempt thereof. (Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 796, ch. 760, § 11; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107; ch. 139, § 127.)

CHANGE OF NAME

Act June 25, 1948, eff. Sept. 1, 1948, as amended by act May 24, 1949, substituted "United States District Court for the District of Columbia" for "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia."

§ 45–1412. Further exemptions—Exceptions.

It shall not be necessary for any trustee or auctioneer acting under authority of a power of sale in a mortgage, deed of trust, or similar instrument securing the payment of a bona fide debt nor any bank, trust company, building and loan association, insurance company, or any land-mortgage or farm-loan association, organized under the laws of the United States, when engaged in the transaction of business within the scope of its corporate powers and provided by law, to obtain a license under this chapter.

The exemption contained in this section shall not apply to any bank, trust company, building and loan association, insurance company, or any land-mortgage or farm-loan association, which for another and for a compensation, performs any of the acts defined herein as the acts of a real-estate broker or business-chance broker in connection with any property, wherein such bank, trust company, building and loan association, insurance company, land-mortgage or farm-loan association has no fiduciary interest such as receiver, referee, administrator, executor, guardian, or trustee. (Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 796, ch. 760, § 12; Aug. 10, 1939, 53 Stat. 1357, ch. 664, § 10.)

AMENDMENT

1939—Act Aug. 10, 1939, added the second paragraph relating to the application of the exemption.

CROSS REFERENCE

Other exemptions, see § 45–1402.

§ 45–1413. List of licensees to be published.

The Commission shall publish at least annually a list of the names and addresses of all licensees licensed by it under the provisions of this chapter and of all persons whose license has been suspended or revoked within one year, together with a succinct report of its work during the year. Such list shall be mailed by the Commission to any person in the District of Columbia upon request. (Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 796, ch. 760, § 13.)

§ 45–1414. Fraudulent transfers or loans.

It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, association, partnership, or corporation to enter into or become a party to any contract, agreement, or understanding, or in any manner whatsoever to consider, combine, conspire, or act with another or others, (a) to execute a deed conveying real property in the District of Columbia that is not a bona-fide sale but is instead a simulated sale of such property executed for the purpose and with the intent of misleading others as to the value of such property, and which in fact does so mislead and/or defraud others, to their detriment; or (b) to execute a mortgage or deed of trust upon real property situated in the District of Columbia that does not in fact represent security for a bona-fide indebtedness, but which is in reality a simulated transaction, executed for the purpose and with the intent of misleading or deceiving others as to the value of the property and which does mislead, deceive, or defraud others to their detriment.

It shall be unlawful within the District of Columbia for any person, firm, partnership, association, or corporation, foreign or domestic, either as owner or otherwise, to offer, give, award, or promise, or to use any method, scheme or plan offering, giving, awarding, or promising free lots in connection with the sale or the offering for sale or an attempt to sell or negotiate the sale of any real estate or interest therein, wherever situated, for the purpose of attracting, inducing, persuading, or influencing a purchaser or a prospective purchaser; or to offer, promise, or give prizes of any name or nature for attendance at or participation in any sale of real estate, by auction or otherwise.

It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, partnership, association, or corporation knowingly to pay a fee, commission, or compensation to anyone for the performance within the District of Columbia of any service or act defined in this chapter as the act of a real-estate broker, real-estate salesman, business-chance broker, or business-chance salesman, who was not duly licensed as such at the time such service or act was performed: Provided, That this paragraph shall not apply to the division of commission by a broker licensed hereunder with a nonresident cooperating broker. (Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 796, ch. 760, § 14; Aug. 10, 1939, 53 Stat. 1357, ch. 664, § 11.)

AMENDMENT

1939—Act Aug. 10, 1939, added the second and third paragraphs.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Action for compensation

This section, prohibiting broker or salesman from maintaining action for compensation as such without alleging and proving that he was duly licensed when alleged cause of action arose did not bar one who was licensed as real estate salesman in broker's office at time of performing services in procuring purchaser of realty from recovering half of commission under agreement with broker, though such salesman was not licensed when sale contract was executed after salesman's resignation. Riddell v. Howar (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 90 A. 2d 925).

This section prohibiting broker or salesman from maintaining action for compensation as such without alleging and proving that he was duly licensed when alleged cause of action arose does not mean that one earning commission for services in procuring purchaser of realty while duly licensed as real estate salesman cannot recover commission because of his voluntary surrender of license on resigning as salesman in broker's office before execution of sale contract. Id.

Remedy of nonresident co-operating broker

Under this section, only a District of Columbia broker is authorized to share a commission with a nonresident co-operating broker, and hence nonresident real estate broker could not recover from one who was not a licensed broker, but only a salesman a percentage of commission received from a sale of property in the District. Metzler v. Edwards (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 53 A. 2d 42).

Provision of this section permitting a broker duly licensed in the District of Columbia to share commission on the sale of real estate with a nonresident co-operating broker establishes that agreements to that effect are not in contravention of public policy and gives, not only a right to a co-operating nonresident broker, but an enforceable remedy as well, and such agreements are enforceable in local courts, notwithstanding prohibition under section 1407 of this title against the maintenance of suits in local courts by an unlicensed broker to recover a commission. Id.

§ 45–1415. License revoked on conviction of crime.

Where during the term of any license issued by the Commission the licensee shall be convicted in a court of competent jurisdiction in the District of Columbia or any State (including Federal courts) of forgery, embezzlement, obtaining money under false pretenses, extortion, criminal conspiracy to defraud, or other like offense or offenses and a duly certified or exemplified copy of the record in such proceedings shall be filed with the Commission, the Commission shall revoke forthwith the license by it theretofore issued to the licensee so convicted.

In the event that any licensee shall be indicted in the District of Columbia or any State or Territory (including Federal courts) for forgery, embezzlement, obtaining money under false pretenses, extortion, criminal conspiracy to defraud, or like offense or offenses, and a certified copy of the indictment be filed with the Commission, or other proper evidence thereof be to it given, the Commission shall have authority, in its discretion, to suspend the license issued to such licensee pending trial upon such indictment.

No license shall be issued by the Commission to any person known by it to have been, within five years theretofore, convicted of forgery, embezzlement, obtaining money under false pretenses, extortion, criminal conspiracy to defraud, or other like offense or offenses, or to any copartnership of which such person is a member, or to any association or corporation of which said person is an officer, director, or employee, or in which as a stockholder such person has or exercises a controlling interest either directly or indirectly. In the event of the revocation or suspension of the license issued to any member of a copartnership, or to any officer of an association or corporation, the license issued to such copartnership, association, or corporation, shall be revoked by the Commission, unless, within a time fixed by the Commission, where a copartnership, the connection therewith of the member whose license has been revoked shall be severed and his interest in the copartnership and his share in its activities brought to an end, or where an association or corporation, the offending officer shall be discharged and shall have no further participation in its activity. (Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 796, ch. 760, § 15.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Hearing, when required

Proceeding to revoke license issued by Real Estate Commission of District of Columbia for conviction of licensee of forgery, embezzlement, obtaining money under false pretenses, or like offense does not necessarily require hearing and if Commission receives certified copy of court record showing such conviction no further proof is required and Commission must revoke license. O. T. Whiting, Jr. v. Real Estate Commission of the District of Columbia (D.C. App. 1964, 198 A. 2d 742).

If Real Estate Commission of District of Columbia receives certified copy of court record showing conviction of licensee of forgery, embezzlement, obtaining money under false pretenses or like offense evidence cannot be received controverting record and there is no room for argument. Id.

License of real estate broker convicted of engaging in business of wagering without registering or paying occupational tax should not have been revoked by Real Estate Commission without hearing to determine whether offense was "like offense" under statute requiring revocation upon conviction for forgery, embezzlement, obtaining money under false pretenses, extortion, criminal conspiracy to defraud, or other like offense. Id.

§ 45–1416. Penalties—Prosecutions.

Any person or corporation violating any provision of this chapter shall upon conviction thereof, if a person, be punished by a fine of not more than $500, or by imprisonment for a term not to exceed six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court; and, if a corporation, be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000. Any officer, director, employee, or agent of a corporation, or member, employee, or agent of a firm, partnership, copartnership, or association, who shall personally participate in or be accessory to any violation of this chapter by such firm, partnership, copartnership, association, or corporation, shall be subject to the penalties herein prescribed for individuals

This chapter shall not be construed to release any person, partnership, association, or corporation from civil liability or criminal prosecution under the laws applying to the District of Columbia.

All prosecutions for violation of this chapter shall be begun in the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions in the name of the District of Columbia and under the direction and charge of the corporation counsel of the District of Columbia. The corporation counsel of the District of Columbia and his assistants shall also be counsel for the Commission in all suits to which it may be a party, and shall advise the Commission and at its request attend any and all hearings which it may hold in the performance of its duties hereunder. (Aug. 25, 1937, 50 Stat. 797, ch. 760, § 16; Apr. 1, 1942, 56 Stat. 190, ch. 207, § 1; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

CHANGE OF NAME

"Municipal Court for the District of Columbia" was substituted for "police court of the District of Columbia" to conform to act Apr. 1, 1942, which consolidated the Police Court and the Municipal Court.

Act July 8, 1963, § 1, substituted "District of Columbia Court of General Sessions" for "Municipal Court for the District of Columbia". Said section 1 superseded act Oct. 23, 1962, 76 Stat. 1171, Pub. L. 87–873, § 1, which contained identical provisions.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Instructions

In prosecution for acting as real estate broker without a license, instruction which conditioned defendant's acquittal on findings that defendant was attempting to negotiate the purchase of the real estate for himself only or that two persons named in the contracts as purchasers were only straw parties acting on behalf of the defendant only was proper. Draisner v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 131 A. 2d 297).

Sufficiency of evidence

§ 45–1417. Bond required for renewal of licenses.

No license heretofore issued under the authority of this chapter, where the application therefor was accompanied by a bond which does not conform with the requirements of said chapter as amended hereby, shall be reissued or renewed unless the application for such reissuance or renewal shall be accompanied by a bond in accordance with this chapter as amended by this Act. (Aug. 10, 1939, 53 Stat. 1358, ch. 664, § 12.)

It shall be unlawful for any person not a citizen of the United States or who has not lawfully declared his intention to become such citizen, or for any corporation not created by or under the laws of the United States or of some State or Territory of the United States, to hereafter acquire and own real estate, or any interest therein, in the District of Columbia, except such as may be acquired by inheritance: Provided, That the prohibition of this section shall not apply to cases in which the right to hold and dispose of lands in the United States is secured by existing treaties to the citizens or subjects of foreign countries, which rights, so far as they exist by force of any such treaties, shall continue to exist so long as such treaties are in force, and no longer, and shall not apply to the ownership of foreign legations or the ownership of residences by representatives of foreign governments or attachés thereof. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1252, ch. 854, § 396.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Setting aside judgment

A stipulation that tenant who was granted 60-day stay of execution would consent to judgment for landlords suing for possession of leased housing accommodations, would not be set aside for newly discovered evidence that landlords were aliens incapable of owning realty in District of Columbia, where one landlord had declared his intention of becoming a citizen, and the record intimated that the other landlord was an attaché of a foreign legation. Conrad v. Medina (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 562).

Voidable title

Under this section, title of alien to land in District of Columbia is merely voidable and is not void until such time as the land is forfeited by due process of law. Conrad v. Medina (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 562).

§ 45–1503. Corporations controlled by aliens.

No corporation or association of which over fifty per centum of the stock is or may be owned by any person or persons, corporation or corporations, association or associations not citizens of the United States shall hereafter acquire or own any real estate hereafter acquired in the District of Columbia. And in every such suit or proceeding that may be commenced to enforce the provisions of this chapter it shall be the duty of the court to determine the very right of the matter, without regard to matters of form, joinder of parties, multifariousness, or other matters not affecting the substantial rights either of the United States or of the other parties concerned. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1252, ch. 854, § 398.)

§ 45–1505. Ownership by foreign governments or representatives.

An act entitled "An Act to restrict the ownership of real estate in the Territories to American citizens, and so forth," approved March 3, 1887, be so amended that the same shall not apply to or operate in the District of Columbia, so far as relates to the ownership of legations, or the ownership of residences by representatives of foreign governments, or attaches thereof. (Mar. 9, 1888, 25 Stat. 45, ch. 30.)

§ 45–1601. Purposes—Time limit.

(a) It is hereby found that the national emergency and the national-defense program (1) have aggravated the congested situation with regard to housing accommodations existing at the seat of government; (2) have led or will lead to profiteering and other speculative and manipulative practices by some owners of housing accommodations; (3) have rendered or will render ineffective the normal operations of a free market in housing accommodations; and (4) are making it increasingly difficult for persons whose duties or obligations require them to live or work in the District of Columbia to obtain such accommodations. Whereupon it is the purpose of this chapter and the policy of the Congress during the existing emergency to prevent undue rent increases and any other practices relating to housing accommodations in the District of Columbia which may tend to increase the cost of living or otherwise impede the national-defense program.

(b) The provisions of this chapter, and all regulations, orders, and requirements thereunder, shall terminate on July 31, 1953; except that as to offenses committed, or rights or liabilities incurred, prior to such expiration date, the provisions of this chapter and such regulations, orders, and requirements, shall be treated as still remaining in force for the purpose of sustaining any proper suit, action, or prosecution with respect to any such right, liability, or offense. EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1951 AMENDMENT

Section 2 of act of June 30, 1951, provided that: "This Act [this chapter] shall take effect on the day following the date of its enactment [June 30, 1951]."

SHORT TITLE

Section 14 of act Dec. 2, 1941, as amended by act June 30, 1951, § 1, provided that: "This Act [this chapter] may be cited as the 'District of Columbia Emergency Rent Act of 1951'."

SEPARABILITY PROVISIONS

Section 12 of act Dec. 2, 1941, as amended by act June 30, 1951, § 1, provided that: "If any provision of this Act [this chapter] or the application of such provision to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the validity of the remainder of the Act and the applicability of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby."

APPROPRIATION

Section 13 of act Dec. 2, 1941, as amended by act June 30, 1951, § 1, provided that: "There is hereby authorized to be appropriated such funds as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act [this chapter], to be paid out of money in the Treasury of the United States to the credit of the District of Columbia not otherwise appropriated."

RECONTROL OF ACCOMMODATIONS

Section 7 of act Apr. 19, 1949, provided that: "Nothing in this Act [amending §§ 45–1601, 45–1602, 45–1605 and 45–1610] shall be construed as authorizing or permitting the recontrol of any housing accommodations which have been heretofore decontrolled."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Generally

This chapter is justified by public crisis in housing caused by great influx of wartime employees. Heindrich v. Dimas-Aruti (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 138).

Actual use

Although a tenant may not at will commit his landlord to a use not intended by landlord, nevertheless if tenant, contrary to lease provision, uses premises for housing with knowledge of landlord who thereafter accepts rent, such actual use determines application of this chapter, and not intent expressed in lease. Hohensee v. Manchester (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 90 A. 2d 830).

Constitutionality

The amendatory Rent Act did not in any way impair the rights and obligations of appellant's contract of purchase and therefore appellant was not deprived of any vested right. Kahn v. Wall (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 862).

Argument that the sixty-five percent clause is discriminatory class legislation and therefore void is without foundation because Congress has the power to make reasonable classifications in order to effectuate the purposes of the act. Id.

Retroactive or retrospective laws are not forbidden by the Constitution merely because of such feature. Assuming that the amendatory Rent Act may be classed as retrospective legislation, it cannot be on that count alone declared unconstitutional. Id.

We do not think that the office of the Administrator of Rent Control is the proper place for an attack on the constitutionality of the Rent Act. Block v. Tenants (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 70 A. 2d 59).

Construction

This chapter must be liberally construed to effect its obvious purpose and afford relief from conditions which would otherwise impede the war effort. Moore v. Coates (D.C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 68).

This chapter was enacted to prevent injustices which would be expected to flow from acutely overcrowded conditions of a wartime capital, and it should be reasonably construed so as to accomplish its purposes. Gould v. Butler (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 32 A. 2d 867). See, also, Mayer v. Buchanan (D.C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 595).

The District Emergency Rent Act was designed as a model, pre-war, temporary, emergency measure to forestall the skyrocketing of rentals of housing accommodations for defense workers, then concentrating in the District of Columbia. The act is directed primarily at private landlords. United States v. Wittek (1949, 69 S. Ct. 1108, 337 U.S. 346, 93 L. Ed. 1406).

Rent Act must be considered as a whole and its sections must be read in connection with each other. Dunning v. Randall Hagner Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 770).

Construction with other laws

If § 15–201 regarding issuance of execution was in conflict with this chapter which was subsequently adopted, to the extent of the conflict said § 15–201 was required to give way to this chapter. Myers v. H. L. Rust Co. (1943, 134 F. 2d 417, 77 U.S. App. D.C. 218).

The provisions of this chapter supersede older code enactments wherever there is conflict between them. Lingo v. Wolfe (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 270).

Expiration of law

Notwithstanding this chapter expired on July 1, 1953, the right to sue for a prior rent overcharge survived. Jeziorski et al. v. Hollod (D. C. Mun. App. 1954, 106 A. 2d 698).

Where only defense to suit for possession was that premises were protected by this chapter, after this chapter expired, defendant's appeal became moot, and would be dismissed, as remaining question of costs in trial court did not provide justiciable question. Smith v. Worksman (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 99 A. 2d 712).

Findings of fact

Where rental agent learned that premises leased for office were being used at least in part for housing, but continued to accept rent, award of possession of whole premises to landlord presumably on basis that premises were commercial and were not subject to this chapter, was erroneous in absence of finding as to whether uses were severable and, if not, as to which was primary use. Hohensee v. Manchester (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 90 A. 2d 830).

Primary use

Under this chapter, if rental unit is used for both housing and commercial purposes and is not subject to severability, either commercial or housing use must be given precedence, and which is controlling use is question of fact, and ultimate question is whether use as housing is primary or whether it is merely incidental to commercial use. Hohensee v. Manchester (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 90 A. 2d 830).

Purpose

This chapter is designed to prevent increases in cost of living and other impediments to the national defense program, and the purpose of this chapter is to freeze landlord-tenant relationships existing at the time of the adoption of this chapter. Myers v. H. L. Rust Co. (1943, 134 F. 2d 417, 77 U.S. App. D.C. 218).

This chapter was not intended to restore possession to occupant, who had violated obligations, against owner of premises who in good faith sought to recover possession of property for immediate and personal use as a dwelling. Leonardo v. Leonardo (1945, 145 F. 2d 849, 79 U.S. App. D. C. 258).

A primary purpose of rent control legislation is to freeze existing tenancies and assure right of continuing possession to tenants of dwelling property. Stoner v. Humphries (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 87 A. 2d 528).

Though this chapter was enacted primarily for benefit of tenants, it did not intend that rights given tenants should be used to frustrate rights reserved to landlord, and where rights of purchaser of leased property to be used for purchaser's residence were clearly established, tenant must yield regardless of hardships involved. Arsenault v. Angle (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 709).

This chapter was passed primarily for protection of tenants, but did not intend to prevent free sale of dwelling property and did not intend that rights given tenant should be used to frustrate rights reserved to landlord. National Metropolitan Bank of Washington v. Judge (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 446). See, also, Hicks v. Bigelow (D.C. Mun. App. 1948, 55 A. 2d 924).

It is practically inconceivable that Congress would have subjected its government-owned low-rent housing program in the District to the additional controls prescribed by the District of Columbia Emergency Rent Act. United States v. Wittek (1949, 69 S. Ct. 1108, 337 U.S. 346, 93 L. Ed. 1406).

The claim that the chapter is unconstitutional because the emergency ceased to exist is without merit, for it must be assumed that Congress, by its latest extension, found a continuing existence of the emergency justifying continued existence of the chapter. The court is not prepared by the process of judicial notice to override a judgment of Congress so recently exercised. Kahn v. Wall (D.C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 862).

§ 45–1602. Maximum rent ceilings and minimum service standards.

Subject to such adjustments as may be made pursuant to sections 45–1603 and 45–1604, maximum-rent ceilings and minimum-service standards for housing accommodations in the District of Columbia shall be the following:

(1) For housing accommodations rented on January 1, 1951, and not under control under this chapter prior to that date, the rent and service to which the landlord and tenant were entitled on that date.

(2) For housing accommodations not rented on January 1, 1951, but which had been rented within the year ending on that date, and not under control under this chapter during that year, the rent and service to which the landlord and tenant were last entitled within such year.

(3) For housing accommodations not rented on January 1, 1951, or within the year ending on that date, and not covered by subsection (4) hereof, the rent and service generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations as determined by the Administrator.

(4) For housing accommodations under control under this chapter on December 31, 1950, the rent and service to which the landlord and tenant were entitled on June 30, 1951; except that upon the filing, by any landlord of any housing accommodations covered by this subsection, of a new rent schedule on a form prescribed by the Administrator and setting forth the pertinent circumstances as indicated by such form, the rent and service shall be adjusted and automatically effective upon the date of filing thereof, (A) for housing accommodations rented on January 1, 1941, or within the year ending on that date, so that the maximum-rent ceiling shall be increased to 20 per centum above the rent heretofore frozen at the level of January 1, 1941, or the last rent in the year 1940, whichever was applicable, plus the upward adjustments heretofore authorized by General Orders 12 and 13 of the Administrator; and (B) for housing accommodations not rented on January 1, 1941, or within the year ending on that date, so that the maximum-rent ceiling shall be increased by 2 per centum per year for each calendar year ending after rent schedules for such housing accommodations were first filed in the office of the Administrator, for the calendar years 1941 to 1950, inclusive, to the extent applicable, plus the upward adjustments heretofore authorized by General Orders 12 and 13 of the Administrator.

(Dec. 2, 1941, 55 Stat. 788, ch. 553, § 2; Apr. 29, 1948, 62 Stat. 205, ch. 243, § 2; Apr. 19, 1949, 63 Stat. 49, ch. 73, §§ 2, 3, 5; June 30, 1950, 64 Stat. 310, ch. 428, § 2; June 30, 1951, 65 Stat. 99, ch. 192, § 1.)

1951—Act June 30, 1951, amended the section generally.

1950—Act June 30, 1950, added subsection (5).

1949—Act April 19, 1949, amended subsection (2)(e), added the words "except as hereinafter provided" to subsection (3)(b), and added subsection (4).

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1951 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act June 30, 1951, effective July 1, 1951, see § 2 of act June 30, 1951, set out as a note under § 45–1601.

RECONTROL OF ACCOMMODATIONS

See note under § 45–1601.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Accommodations subject to control

The 1950 amendatory rent control act decontrolling nonhousekeeping housing accommodations rented as rooms and buildings used as rooming houses containing decontrolled housing accommodations, and 1951 act decontrolling furnished nonhousekeeping accommodations and buildings used as licensed rooming houses, decontrolled rooming houses including establishments classified as lodging houses for certain purposes, so that a leased building, known as hotel, but operating under lodging house license, containing nonhousekeeping furnished rooms, and accommodating both transient and permanent guests, was not subject to rent control after effective date of first of such acts. Zeppos et al. v. Lewis (D. C. Mun. App. 1954, 107 A. 2d 661).

Administrator's determination

Implicit in rental formula for units rented on January 1, 1941, but improved so as to constitute new housing accommodations, under this section providing that maximum rent ceiling for housing accommodations not rented on January 1, 1941, nor within the year ending on that date, shall be rent and service generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations and determined by Administrator, is need for factual determination by Administrator, after application by landlord, as to rent and service generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations. Janifer v. Werner (1952 196 F. 2d 244, 90 U. S. App. D. C. 406).

Filing by landlord of application with Rent Administrator for determination of rent ceilings is condition precedent to recognition of contractual interim ceilings entered into between landlord and tenant pending determination of rental ceilings by Administrator under Act providing that maximum rent ceilings for housing accommodations not rented on January 1, 1941, nor within the year ending on that date, shall be rent and service generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations as determined by Administrator. Id.

Adjustment in rent ceiling granted by administrator had no retroactive effect and operated prospectively only. Morning Star Lodge No. 40 v. Harris (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 93 A. 2d 288).

Under this section requiring, for accommodations not rented during 1940, the rent and service generally prevailing for comparable accommodations "as determined by the Administrator," 1944 order of Administrator fixing rent ceiling for particular premises, and prescribing future minimum service standard therefor, was not retroactive, and hence no rent ceiling existed until determined by the Administrator, but until then rights of lessor and lessee were fixed by the lease. Moore v. Coates (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 68).

Under this chapter, no maximum rent ceiling existed until determined by Rent Administrator, and until then the rights of the parties were those fixed by their lease agreement. Wilkerson v. Montgomery (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 102).

Under this chapter, Rent Administrator cannot set aside a valid and subsisting lease between parties providing for lower rentals than rent ceiling established by Administrator. Hildebrand v. Nee (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 54 A. 2d 640).

After Administrator of Rent Control had determined rent ceiling for particular premises, he was without jurisdiction to order that such determination constituted fair and reasonable rent as of beginning of tenancy or to order refund by landlord and rule that upon payment of such refund, landlord should not be liable for damages or penalties. Kern v. Cogswell (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 59 A. 2d 793).

The ruling of the Administrator that since the records of expenses for the year 1941 had become unavailable, he was entitled to take a later year as a base and compare subsequent years with such base year, was error. The Administrator may not substitute 1945 or any other year for the base year for this would amount to an administrative amendment of an act of Congress. Corey v. Fitzgerald (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 73 A. 2d 230).

The Rent Administrator acted beyond his scope of authority when he ordered that there was no proper reason for the subdivision of housing accommodations into two units when in fact for some time there have been and are actually two tenants in occupancy and by improvements landlord has provided accommodations which now lend themselves better than before to double or even triple occupancy. Block v. Means (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 64 A. 2d 163).

The order of the Rent Administrator fixing the rent ceiling made under § 45–1602 (1) (c) of Rent Act is not appealable. A finding of fact is not an appealable order. Weiner v. McMahon (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 67 A. 2d 525).

There is nothing in the Rent Act to compel an owner to continue to re-rent his property for housing purposes, and when a vacancy occurs, he may remove it from the rental market, occupy it himself, re-lease it or convert it to commercial use. But when the landlord permits its actual use as housing accommodations, even though the lease may state otherwise and even though the property was once free from rent control, the Rent Act applies. White v. Allen (D.C. Mun. App. 1950, 70 A. 2d 252).

Where proceedings before Administrator were under § 2 (1) (c) of the Rent Act, under which the Administrator determined the rent ceilings for housing accommodations not rented on January 1, 1941, no appeal lies from such determination. Id.

Adoption of ceiling

Rent ceiling established by Administrator under Emergency Rent Act constituted a maximum and did not affect lower amounts agreed to by parties. Rosenthal v. J. Leo Kolb, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 97 A. 2d 925).

A general order of Administrator of Rent Control requiring landlords to file petitions for determination of maximum rent ceilings, and reciting that, until further notice, Administrator will assume, but not concede, that first rent collected by landlord is fair and reasonable, was not an adoption of rent then charged as a "maximum rent ceiling", and landlord's petition for court review of adjustment of rent or service on basis of such order was properly dismissed. Sager v. Stamps (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 113).

Automatic rent increase

Under amendment to this chapter, providing that maximum rent ceilings for accommodations rented on January 1, 1941, should be increased to 20 percent above rent existing on such date, and that upon filing of a new rent schedule by landlord with administrator, new rent should be adjusted and automatically effective, increased rent became binding upon tenant upon landlord's filing of rent schedule, and a thirty day notice to quit was not a necessary prelude to the increase. De Foe v. Weaver Bros. (D. C. Mun. App. 1954, 101 A. 2d 515).

Where tenants, petitioning for adjustments in rent and service, at no time made argument that wrongly apportioned taxes or error in calculating automatic statutory increases to landlord had created "peculiar circumstances" or permitted receipt of unduly high rent, questions as to whether two percent calendar year increase in rent had been determined by using proper calendar year basis as provided by law and as to whether taxes had been properly apportioned as to premises were not properly raised, and petitioners' motions for findings with regard thereto were properly denied. Reynolds v. Korman (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 362).

Ceiling rent as retroactive

Where premises were not rented during 1940, lessee could not recover excess of rent paid for 1942 and 1943 over the ceiling fixed by Rent Administrator in 1944 for such premises. Moore v. Coates (D.C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 68).

Under this section requiring for accommodations not rented during 1940 the rent and services generally prevailing for comparable accommodations, "as determined by the Administrator", an order by Administrator fixing maximum rent ceiling for particular premises effective March 16, 1943, was intended to apply only prospectively, and hence tenant could not recover excess of rent paid prior to effective date of order over ceiling fixed by Rent Administrator. Dekelbaum v. Lloyd (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 41 A. 2d 174).

Rent Administrator's interpretation of maximum rent regulation as authorizing only prospective rent adjustments was entitled to persuasive weight in determining whether rent adjustment order should have been made retroactive. Id.

An order of Rent Administrator fixing maximum rent ceiling on apartment, which was entered after commencement of action to recover amount paid in excess of rent ceiling, had no retroactive effect. Wilkerson v. Montgomery (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 102).

Construction with other laws

Without an existing maximum rent ceiling or maximum service standard as defined in this section, a proceeding for adjustment under § 45–1604 was unauthorized, and the procedural and review provisions of §§ 45–1608 and 45–1609 were inapplicable. Sager v. Stamps (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 113)

Section 1608 of this title expressly provides that under stated circumstances, witnout action of Rent Administrator, the findings and recommended order of examiner in proceeding under section 1604 of this title relating to adjustment of rent ceiling and service standards may be deemed findings and order of Administrator, does not require that examiner's findings and order in proceeding under subsection (1) (c) of this section, for establishment of minimum service standard, be regarded as a determination by Administrator, without action on Administrator's part. Sager v. Parker (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 55 A. 2d 349).

Equitable estoppel

Where landlord petitioned under Section 4 of Rent Act for an adjustment and where Administrator made no determination, such act did not preclude landlord from asserting a defense to tenant's suit for damages that the examiner's recommended order was not a sufficient basis for tenant's suit. The principles of equitable estoppel do not apply where the legal position first asserted is not successfully maintained. Parker v. Sager (1949, 174 F. 2d 657, 85 U.S. App. D.C. 4).

Evidence

On appeal from order of rent administrator refusing rent ceiling adjustment to landlord for the furnishing of an apartment, evidence sustained administrator's finding that landlord's rent was sufficiently high in the first instance without requiring any upward adjustment to compensate him for the furnishings. Zenith Apartments v. Adams (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 90 A. 2d 223).

Trial court, in considering motion to dismiss, was entitled to take into account the text of the Rent Administrator's findings and also defendant's affidavit. Banks v. Thorwarth (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 906).

Findings of examiner

Plaintiff was not bound in the present action by the rent examiner's findings where the finding was made by a rent examiner and the record does not show consideration and approval of such findings by the Administrator himself. Banks v. Thorwarth (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 906).

Furnished premises

Where tenant rents unfurnished premises at ceiling price and rents furniture from a third person in a bona fide arrangement which is not designed to evade section 45–1601 et seq., landlord would have a valid defense against a claim of violation thereof. Fulton R. Gordon, Inc. v. Schram (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 44 A. 2d 662).

Landlord whose rent ceiling is fixed on basis of unfurnished rental cannot evade regulation against increase in rent without prior approval of Rent Administrator by renting property furnished. Id.

Graduated rentals

Where lease for a term of years provided for a fixed rental for the full term payable monthly on a graduated scale beginning at $125 per month, the monthly payment of $125, payable at time of effective date of this chapter which "froze" rent as of that date, was not a "monthly rental" which controlled rent for remainder of term. Isquith v. Athanas (D. C. Mun. App. 1943, 33 A. 2d 733).

New housing accommodations

Where new housing accommodation was not rented on critical date under this chapter, rent payable under lease was controlling and valid for period prior to administrator's finding as to rent generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations. Delsnider v. Gould (1946, 154 F. 2d 844, 81 U.S. App. D.C. 54).

Where premises rented on critical date under this chapter, was a frame building described as a "shack", and after that date a new owner installed water, plumbing and electricity and a bathroom with tub and overhanging shower, finished walls, installed electric refrigerator and electrically controlled kerosene furnace, rebuilt front entrance, planted flowers in yard and made repairs and completely furnished the house except for silver and linen, the completely equipped and furnished house was a new "housing accommodation" within subsection (1) (A–C) of this section which was not rented on critical date so that ceiling rent was the rent generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations. Id.

In action by tenants against landlord under this chapter to recover overcharges of rent for apartment, wherein landlord contended that apartment came within decontrol provisions of amendment to the act exempting from rent control any housing accommodations, construction of which was completed after March 31, 1948, or which are additional housing accommodations created by conversion after March 31, 1948, evidence sustained finding that conversion of apartment was substantially completed before March 31, 1948, and that therefore apartment was not exempt from rent control. Wilson v. Ann Kurimoto (D.C. Mun. App. 1954, 104 A. 2d 604).

Where landlord, after critical date, improved a four room house by adding a new room, in a part of which was enclosed a toilet and a bath tub, improved house did not constitute a new housing accommodation necessary for removal of rent ceiling prevailing on critical date. Marcellino v. Gaither (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 86 A. 2d 529).

Where defendant on rent freeze date was renting apartment unfurnished and subsequently sublet apartment to plaintiffs completely furnished and supplied with various services, the accommodations sublet to plaintiffs were new accommodations to which ceilings on old accommodations did not apply, and, in absence of a determination of a rent ceiling for such new accommodations, the agreement of the parties controlled as to amount of rent payable, precluding an action by plaintiffs for overceiling rents. James v. Noorbolm (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 105).

Painting interior and exterior, replacing gutters and downspout, installing new hot water heater and gas range, and repairing and finishing floor did not constitute complete rehabilitation of leased premises, or "substantial capital improvements" or create "new housing accommodations" authorizing overceiling rent. Mayer v. Buchanan (D.C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 595).

What constitutes new housing accommodations so as to authorize overceiling rent, as distinguished from improvements to old accommodations within this section is ordinarily question of fact, but becomes question of law where evidence is compelling one way or the other. Id.

Where landlord removed a staircase and built a bathroom and made other improvements but did not make room for a larger number of tenants, the accommodations did not differ sufficiently to constitute new or different housing accommodations from that previously rented. Block v. Means (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 64 A. 2d 163).

The change in the use of space from occupancy by a number of roomers to occupancy of the same space as an apartment by one or more persons, without more, results as a matter of law in the creation of new housing accommodations under the statute. All the circumstances surrounding the change, including details of the use of the space and services rendered should be considered whereupon it becomes a question of fact. Banks v. Thorwarth (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 906).

The question whether accommodations involved are new, or are old ones with substantial capital improvement, is a question of fact for a jury. Sawyer v. Warner (D.C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 653).

Notice of increase

Where Congress amended the District of Columbia Emergency Rent Act providing that for housing accommodations rented on January 1, 1941, maximum rent ceiling should be increased to 20 percent above freeze date rental, on filing by landlord with Rent Administrator of a new rent schedule form, tenants were obligated to pay such authorized increase on filing by landlord of his schedule, and tenants were not entitled to 30-day notice. Stoner v. Humphries (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 87 A. 2d 528).

Owner's responsibilities

If a rent ceiling is automatically created by statute prior to determination by Administrator of Rent Control, owner must determine for himself the rent he may charge and service he must furnish, and assume responsibility for violation of rent ceiling or minimum service standards, making him liable civilly, though not criminally. Moore v. Coates (D.C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 68).

When a maximum rent ceiling is established for particular housing accommodations, landlord is entitled to charge and receive that amount and no more regardless of number of occupants, unless order fixing ceiling provides for a carrying rent dependent upon number of occupants. Glassman v. Graver (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 56 A. 2d 160).

Purpose

Central purpose of this chapter providing for maximum rent ceilings and minimum service standards is to provide rent ceilings for all housing accommodations. Janifer v. Werner (1952, 196 F. 2d 244, 90 U. S. App. D. C. 406).

Res judicata

An order of the Administrator would not be res judicata or give rise to the application of the doctrine of estoppel by judgment under the circumstances here presented. Banks v. Thorwarth (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 906).

Service standard

Under this chapter, assuring a tenant a standard of minimum service and creating a correlative duty to furnish that standard, such duty rested upon landlord and not upon rental collection agent which was not the owner, had no interest in the property, and had not by contract or otherwise undertaken to discharge the duties. Reyman v. Edward H. Jones & Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 42).

Roomer could not recover against owners of rooming house for penalty provided by this chapter for depriving roomer of minimum service standards where roomer did not establish the minimum service standard under any of the tests enumerated in the chapter. Lindsey v. Watson (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 83 A. 2d 226).

Where rental schedule filed by landlord under this section listed "storage locker" as one of services supplied the tenants, this section, if it had effect of requiring continuance by landlord of the "service" of furnishing storage facilities, did not place a greater responsibility on landlord for care of goods stored than that expressly agreed upon by the parties. Barclay, Inc., v. Maxfield (D.C. Mun. App. 1946, 48 A. 2d 768).

The word "entitled" in provision of this section and § 45–1610 (a) authorizing tenant to recover damages from landlord upon proof of failure to furnish minimum service standard to which tenant was entitled on freeze date under this chapter, means having a right to, and indicates that service standard consists only of services tenant was entitled to as of right on freeze date, and not those which were furnished gratuitously or as a matter of courtesy. Roumel v. Goldberg (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 46 A. 2d 114).

In order to entitle tenant to recover damages from landlord for violation of minimum service standard under this section and § 45–1610, such service need not be specifically contracted for in lease or rental agreement. Id.

In landlord's action for possession of leased premises and for money judgment for rent, landlord's alleged failure to make repairs did not constitute a defense on ground that such failure violated "minimum service standard" under this section, where no services from the landlord were required under any criteria for minimum service permitted under this section. Mitchell v. David (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 51 A. 2d 375).

The minimum service standard under subsection (1) (c) of this section is a question of fact to be determined by Administrator of Rent Control, and his determination is not an exact computation but is his judgment based on his view of evidence before him. Sager v. Parker (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 55 A. 2d 349, affirmed 174 F. 2d 657, 85 U.S. App. D.C. 4).

A determination of minimum service standard under subsection (1) (c) of this section by an examiner could not be accepted by Rent Administrator without his personal consideration of evidence on which examiner arrived at his conclusion, notwithstanding that examiner's order stated that it would be deemed to be that of Administrator unless written request for review was filed within fixed time or unless a rehearing or extension of time was granted within discretion of examiner or Administrator. Id.

Unit for rent ceilings

The unit for which a rent ceiling is fixed by this chapter is not the real estate or the premises but the combination of real estate, all personal property, all facilities and all services connected with the use or occupancy and for which rent was payable. Delsnider v. Gould (1946, 154 F. 2d 844, 81 U.S. App. D.C. 54). See, also, James v. Noorbolm (D.C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 105).

§ 45–1603. General and special adjustments.

(a) Whenever in the judgment of the Administrator a general increase or decrease since January 1, 1951, in taxes or other maintenance or operating costs or expenses has occurred or is about to occur in such manner and amount as substantially to affect the maintenance and operation of housing accommodations generally or of any particular class of housing accommodations, he may by regulation or order increase or decrease the maximum-rent ceiling or minimum-service standard, or both, for such accommodations or class thereof in such manner or amount as will in his judgment compensate, in whole or in part, for such general increase or decrease. Thereupon such adjusted ceiling or standard shall be the maximum-rent ceiling or minimum-service standard for the housing accommodations subject thereto.

(b) Upon a showing by any landlord of good cause in the judgment of the Administrator that the maximum-rent ceiling on any housing accommodation is substantially lower than the maximum-rent ceiling for comparable housing accommodations located within the same building or group of buildings operated by the same landlord as a single operation, the Administrator may, by special order under this section, adjust such lower ceiling so as to equalize the same with such higher ceiling, and thereupon such adjusted ceilings shall be the maximum-rent ceilings for the housing accommodations subject to such special order.

(c) Upon the showing by any landlord to the satisfaction of the Administrator that the maximum-rent ceilings, on any comparable housing accommodations located within the same building or group of buildings operated by the same landlord as a single operation, will vary in amount due to the effect of General Orders 12 and 13 or similar general orders, the Administrator may, by special order under this section, adjust any or all of such ceilings so as to equalize the same, and thereupon such adjusted ceilings shall be the maximum-rent ceilings for the housing accommodations subject to such special order. (Dec. 2, 1941, 55 Stat. 789, ch. 553, § 3; June 30, 1951, 65 Stat. 100, ch. 192, § 1.)

1951—Subsec. (a) was amended by act June 30, 1951, which substituted "Jan. 1, 1951" for "Jan. 1, 1941."

Subsecs. (b) and (c) were added by act June 30, 1951.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1951 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act June 30, 1951, effective July 1, 1951, see § 2 of act June 30, 1951, set out as a note under § 45–1601.

§ 45–1604. Petition for adjustment.

(a) Any landlord or tenant may petition the Administrator to adjust the maximum-rent ceiling applicable to his housing accommodations on the ground that such maximum-rent ceiling is, due to peculiar circumstances affecting such housing accommodations, substantially higher or lower than the rent generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations; whereupon the Administrator may by order adjust such maximum-rent ceiling to provide the rent generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations as determined by the Administrator.

(b) Any landlord may petition the Administrator to adjust the maximum-rent ceiling or minimum-service standard, or both, applicable to his housing accommodations to compensate for (1) a substantial rise in taxes or other maintenance or operating costs or expenses over those prior to January 1, 1951, or (2) a substantial capital improvement including furniture and furnishings or alteration made since January 1, 1951; whereupon the Administrator may by order adjust such maximum-rent ceiling or minimum-service standard in such manner or amount as he deems proper to compensate therefor, in whole or in part, if he finds such adjustment necessary or appropriate to carry out the purposes of this chapter: Provided, That no such adjusted maximum-rent ceiling or minimum-service standard shall permit the receipt of rent in excess of the rent generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations as determined by the Administrator.

(c) Any tenant may petition the Administrator on the ground that the service supplied to him is less than the service established by the minimum-service standard for his housing accommodations; whereupon the Administrator may order that the service be maintained at such minimum-service standard, or that the maximum-rent ceiling be decreased to compensate for a reduction in service, as he deems necessary or appropriate to carry out the purposes of this chapter.

(d) Any landlord may petition the Administrator for permission to reduce the service supplied by him in connection with any housing accommodations; whereupon the Administrator, if he determines that the reduction of such service is to be made in good faith for valid business reasons and is not inconsistent with carrying out the purposes of this chapter, may, by order, reduce the minimum-service standard applicable to such housing accommodations and adjust the maximum-rent ceiling downward in such amount as he deems proper to compensate therefor.

(e) Any tenant may petition the Administrator to adjust the maximum-rent ceiling applicable to his housing accommodations on the ground that such maximum-rent ceiling permits the receipt of an unduly high rent; whereupon the Administrator may by order adjust such maximum-rent ceiling in such manner or amount as shall, in his judgment, effectuate the purposes of this chapter and provide a fair and reasonable rent for such housing accommodations, but not less than the generally prevailing rate for comparable housing accommodations.

(f) A petition made pursuant to this section shall be subject to the provisions of sections 45–1608 and 45–1609 of this chapter. Any adjusted maximum-rent ceiling or minimum-service standard ordered pursuant to this section shall be the maximum-rent ceiling or minimum-service standard for the housing accommodations subject thereto; except that, in the event that the adjustment order is stayed or set aside by the court in accordance with section 45–1609 of this chapter, the maximum-rent ceiling and minimum-service standard theretofore applicable to such housing accommodations under this chapter remain in full force and effect.

(g) Upon the expiration of forty-five days after the date of the filing of any petition by any landlord for adjustment of the maximum-rent ceiling under the provisions of subsection (b) of this section, the maximum-rent ceiling for the housing accommodations covered by such petition automatically shall become the ceiling requested in such adjustment petition, unless and until such adjustment petition shall have been finally disposed of by the Administrator or his office, pursuant to the provisions of this section and the provisions of sections 45–1608 and 45–1609. Upon such final disposition, if the maximum-rent ceiling provided by this subsection during the pendency of such adjustment petition shall exceed the maximum-rent ceiling as finally disposed of by the Administrator or his office, any tenant having paid such excess or any part thereof shall be entitled to a refund to the extent of such payment, but the landlord shall not be liable for any penalties under the provisions of this chapter. (Dec. 2, 1941, 55 Stat. 790, ch. 553, § 4; June 30, 1950, 64 Stat. 310, ch. 428, § 3; June 30, 1951, 65 Stat. 100, ch. 192, § 1.)

1951—Act June 30, 1951, amended section generally, and among other changes, added subsec. (g).

1950—Subsec. (b) was amended by act June 30, 1950, which added the proviso thereto.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1951 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act June 30, 1951, effective July 1, 1951, see § 2 of act June 30, 1951, set out as a note under § 45–1601.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Administrator's determination

Ruling of Administrator that since the records of expenses for the year 1941 had become unavailable, he was entitled to take a later year as a base and compare subsequent years with such base year, was error. The Administrator may not substitute 1945 or any other year for the base year, for this would amount to an administrative amendment of an act of Congress. Corey v. Fitzgerald (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 73 A. 2d 230).

Admissibility of evidence

A landlord, basing his right under subsection (b) of this section to increased ceilings for rents because of increased costs, must show an increase in present and anticipated future costs, and records showing costs of landlord's predecessor are entirely competent to make such a showing, if the landlord shows that such records are applicable to himself. Stokes v. Realest Corp. (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 532).

Facts agreed to by petitioner's counsel but which did not appear in the examiner's statement of evidence or in any other evidentiary form in the record and carrying neither the approval nor certification of the Rent Administrator, are not part of the record and cannot be considered on appeal. Bailey v. Maple (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 333).

Adoption of ceiling

A determination of rent ceiling is made when no frozen ceiling exists, and an adjustment is made under this chapter for cause shown. Parker v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 653).

Under this chapter, rental rate of premises, rented on January 1, 1941, became the automatic or frozen ceiling. Id.

A general order of Administrator of Rent Control requiring landlords to file petitions for determination of maximum rent ceilings, and reciting that, until further notice, Administrator will assume, but not concede, that first rent collected by landlord is fair and reasonable, was not an adoption of rent then charged as a "maximum rent ceiling", and landlord's petition for court review of adjustment of rent or service on basis of such order was properly dismissed. Sager v. Stamps (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 113).

Where petitioner did not submit rent schedule for approval but instead accepted previously approved schedules, as the legal rent ceilings, and abided by those schedules, the established rent ceilings were legal, at least from the time of acquisition of the property by the present landlord. Fairmac Corp v. Roberts (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 67 A. 2d 684).

Capital improvement

Moneys spent for new electric refrigerators and for installation of an oil burner are not such expenditures as to be considered capital improvements. Sharpe v. Goldwyn (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 185).

The term "substantial capital improvement" means a substantial betterment from the viewpoint of housing accommodations and not necessarily from the viewpoint of the landlord's investment. A replacement of the coal and heating unit with an oil burning unit does not constitute a substantial capital improvement. Rosen v. Powers (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 200).

Commercial and noncommercial portions

Where there is a single tendency and nothing in the record to show that either landlord or tenant ever regarded it as divisible, no separate toilet facilities for the housing and alleged commercial part thereof, only one heating unit, one meter for electricity, gas and water, it was error for Rent Administrator to rule that the unit was both a commercial and housing accommodation. Wayne v. Burke (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 669).

Conclusiveness of rulings

An administrator is not bound to follow an earlier ruling which he considered improper. Bailey v. Maple (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 333).

Construction with other laws

Without an existing maximum rent ceiling or maximum service standard as defined in § 45–1602, a proceeding for adjustment under this section was unauthorized, and the procedural and review provisions of §§ 45–1608 and 45–1609 were inapplicable. Sager v. Stamps (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 113).

Discretion of administrator

Under this section relating to adjustments of maximum rent, power of rent administrator is discretionary and is coupled with duty to maintain rent ceilings in a given instance to that of the rent scale generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations, and the director is not required as a matter of law to grant a landlord adjustments for capital improvements. Zenith Apartments v. Adams (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 90 A. 2d 223).

Dismissal

There was no error in summarily dismissing tenant's petition for adjustments in rent and service where tenant was no longer a resident of premises. Reynolds v. Korman (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 362).

Where it appears that after reversal of the original judgment and remand, there was a lapse of eleven months before case was calendared for trial, under rule 37 (e) of the Municipal Courts, defendant was entitled at most to a dismissal without prejudice. If an order of dismissal had been entered, plaintiff would be free to file action anew since dismissal would not have been an adjudication on the merits, and defendant was not prejudiced by denial of motion to dismiss. Clarke v. Cleckley (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 71 A. 2d 616).

Landlord's contention that there is no authority in law for dismissal of the petition except for want of prosecution is clearly without merit. Where petitioner fails to show a basis for relief, the administrator must of necessity deny relief. Whether such denial takes the form of a dismissal or otherwise is immaterial. Rosen v. Powers (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 200).

Equitable estoppel

Where landlord petitioned under Section 4 of Rent Act for an adjustment, and where Administrator made no determination, this did not preclude landlord from asserting a defense to tenant's suit for damages that the examiner's recommended order was not a sufficient basis for tenant's suit. The principles of equitable estoppel do not apply where the legal position first asserted is not successfully maintained. Parker v. Sager (1949, 174 F. 2d 657, 85 U. S. App. D. C. 4).

Where findings as to maximum rent ceilings were not appealed from and were made as necessary part of order by rent administrator increasing rent on petition of landlord, landlord, who accepted such increases, was estopped from attacking findings on which increases were based. Cogswell v. Aiken (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 82 A. 2d 749).

Evidence

On appeal from order of rent administrator refusing rent ceiling adjustment to landlord for the furnishing of an apartment, evidence sustained administrator's finding that landlord's rent was sufficiently high in the first instance without requiring any upward adjustment to compensate him for the furnishings. Zenith Apartments v. Adams (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 90 A. 2d 223).

Expense ratio

Where examiner averaged the expenses for the years 1942 through 1947, inclusive, and had allowed a sufficient rental increase to make up for the excess of such averaged operating expenses over the operating expenses for 1941, such method was improper because it failed to take into account the various items of operating expenses for the base year and intervening years. Shapiro v. Bombardier (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 772).

Findings conclusive

Where the Rent Administrator, upon review of the findings of the examiner, states his findings of fact or affirms the facts as found, such findings are conclusive if supported by substantial evidence. Winkler v. Ballard (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 669).

Findings of fact

Rent Administrator's finding of fact, concededly authorized and material to unappealed ruling made by him in proceeding to adjust upward the rent ceilings, could not subsequently be attacked in another proceeding between the same parties. Aiken v. Cogswell et al. (1952, 201 F. 2d 705, 91 U. S. App. D. C. 339).

Where, after remand of the case by the court, the examiner went to the premises and inspected them in the presence of the landlord, the actual appearance and condition of the units certainly constituted evidence which probably spoke louder and clearer on the issue than would any other type of evidence. Accordingly, the findings must be sustained. Block v. Tenants (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 70 A. 2d 59).

In a petition for increased rent because of increased operating costs and substantial rise in taxes, Administrator was justified in using the fiscal year basis rather than the calendar year. Dysert v. Ring Management Company (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 69 A. 2d 655).

Where the Administrator, by reference in his findings to page numbers of the record, has made the actual figures used by the examiner or Administrator easily ascertainable, it is sufficient to indicate the basis of calculation of formula adopted by the Administrator. Id.

The basis of calculation used by the Rent Administration must be in sufficient detail so that the parties may, if they desire, raise suitable objections before the Administrator and on appeal. The basis of calculations used in different cases must be reasonably consistent and if a different method is used in an individual case, reasons for such change in method must be shown. Ostrow v. Horning, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 69 A. 2d 277).

Evidence substantiated findings of Administrator that a distinction exists between apartments on the one hand and hotel rooms for transit guests on the other, and that the cost of supplying maid service, linen, etc. is approximately the same for different rooms regardless of size, location, or relative rental value, and that room rent as distinguished from apartment rent had been customarily increased on a flat dollarwise basis. Sulzer v. Bellevue Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 66 A. 2d 407).

Administrator, under the statute, may not use different methods in ordering rent increases in different cases except where a reasonable basis exists for such variations. Id.

Whether, as a result of peculiar circumstances, the rent ceilings are substantially lower than the rent generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations is a question to be decided by the Rent Administrator. Fairmac Corp. v. Roberts (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 67 A. 2d 684).

Grounds for increase

Landlords are entitled to receive increased rentals due to increased price levels only, and not because of other elements, such as those making up for deferred maintenance. Proctor v. Miller (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 665).

Housing and rent act

The authority of Congress to enact legislation for control of rents in the states is not the same exercised in controlling rents in the District of Columbia, and the Housing and Rent Acts of 1947 and 1948, U. S. Code, title 50 App., §§ 1894, 1901, authorizing a 15 percent increase in rent when voluntarily agreed to by landlord and tenant is not unconstitutional because specially made inapplicable to the District of Columbia. Thorn v. Miller (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 223).

In enacting the Housing and Rent Acts of 1947 and 1948, U. S. Code, title 50 App., §§ 1894, 1901, Congress did not intend thereby to amend this chapter to authorize a 15 percent increase in rent where voluntarily agreed to between landlord and tenant by written lease. Id.

Insufficiency of petition

Burden was on the petitioner to supply a full and complete statement of all the evidence introduced at the hearing. If such statement failed to supply several necessary elements which may or may not have been included in the evidence, the Administrator might assume that any statement of evidence not submitted contained substantial support for the findings of fact and recommended order of the examiner. Crisp v. Giles (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 204).

Where petition failed to state the total rents collected by the landlord before petition was filed or those authorized by the Rent Administrator's order, and was otherwise incomplete, decision of Administrator will be affirmed. Crisp v. Caldwell (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 206).

Minimum service

Where Rent Administrator had refused to grant relief on tenant's petition charging landlord with failing to maintain minimum service and tenant did not seek review of that determination, the same matter could not be reexamined in action against landlord for damages for failure to maintain minimum service. Hicks v. Behrend (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 78).

If a tenant feels that landlord fails to comply with minimum service standard, tenant may seek relief before Rent Administrator or he may bring a court action for double value of services refused or for $50, whichever is greater, but he cannot pursue his remedy before Administrator and, failing in that, retry the same issues in action for damages. Id.

Though Administrator committed an error in his findings, it was harmless where petitioner alleged that there had been a diminution in the minimum service standard on ground that owners had withdrawn a resident manager, and instead of paying rent on the premises to the manager the petitioner was thereafter compelled to pay it at a downtown office. Moreover no evidence was submitted as to how much the rental value of the apartment was reduced. Newberry v. H. L. Rest Company (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 342).

Nature of proceeding

Before Administrator of Rent Control can make an adjustment of rent ceiling, there should be some written petition therefor, stating grounds on which adjustment is sought, in order that all parties, including Administrator, may be informed of nature of proceeding and go forward in an orderly manner. Marcellino v. Gaither (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 86 A. 2d 529).

In tenant's proceeding for rent reduction, where landlord did not file petition for adjustment of rent ceiling and did not formally ask for affirmative relief, but instead at close of hearing moved orally for an order setting a ceiling on premises, request was too informal in nature and was properly denied. Id.

Landlord's petition filed with Rent Administrator for an increase in rentals to compensate for increased maintenance, operating costs, taxes, and capital improvements was not in the nature of an "in rem" action, but designation of the proceedings by an examiner of the Rent Administration as an in rem action, if error, was harmless. Stokes v. Realest Corp. (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 532).

Operating expenses or costs

Legal fees paid to an attorney for the dissolution of a corporation formerly owning the building, and expenditures for refinancing the mortgage thereon, are not operating expenses. Sharpe v. Goldwyn (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 185).

Peculiar circumstances

Where tenants, petitioning for adjustments in rent and service, at no time made argument that wrongly apportioned taxes or error in calculating automatic statutory increases to landlord had created "peculiar circumstances" or permitted receipt of unduly high rent, questions as to whether two per cent calendar year increase in rent had been determined by using proper calendar year basis as provided by law and as to whether taxes had been properly apportioned as to premises were not properly raised, and petitioners' motions for findings with regard thereto were properly denied. Reynolds v. Korman (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 362).

Permissibility of increased rent ceilings under revised statute for housing accommodations used by rent control administrator as comparables in establishing rent ceiling for other property, without any statutory provision allowing increase of rent for such property, did not constitute "peculiar circumstances" entitling owner thereof to increase in rent. Torre v. Berkowitz (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 93 A. 2d 87).

"Peculiar circumstances" rendering rent ceiling for certain housing accommodations lower than that generally prevailing for comparable accommodations, so as to authorize rent increase under this chapter, are unusual or special circumstances preventing landlord and tenant from bargaining freely. Id.

"Peculiar circumstances" means unusual or special circumstances which keep the landlord and tenant from bargaining freely and does not include improvements in streets, paving or planting of shrubbery, etc. Bailey v. Maple (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 333).

Peculiar circumstances are those which negate the existence of ordinary bargaining considerations or are abnormal circumstances not generally present in a normal rental bargain. Fairmac Corp. v. Roberts (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 67 A. 2d 684).

Peculiar circumstances are those which negate the existence of ordinary bargaining considerations or are abnormal circumstances not generally present in a normal rental bargain. Cox v. Cogswell (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 69 A. 2d 659).

Prerequisites for new ceiling

Realty broker's filing of petition for adjustment of rent with rent administrator did not automatically increase rent ceiling or entitle landlord to charge the requested increase. J. Leo Kolb Co., Inc. v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1955, 111 A. 2d 469).

Fact that a landlord has so changed housing accommodations on which rent ceiling had been established as to convert accommodations into new accommodations, does not entitle landlord to collect a contractual interim ceiling without first filing an application for rent increase. Fowler v. Stanford (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 89 A. 2d 885).

Prerequisites for petition

Prerequisite to a § 4 proceeding for adjustment is a rent ceiling in effect and without such a ceiling, the petition for adjustment does not apply. Section 4 clearly covers improvements made after rent ceiling are in effect. Cox v. Cogswell (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 69 A. 2d 659).

Question of fact

In suit by tenants against landlord for overcharges of rent for period of 46 weeks, wherein it appeared that for the last three weeks only, receipts had been issued by landlord containing words "including parking lot", question whether for the last three weeks a new and separate agreement had been reached for charge of rent for parking space, or whether landlord continued to exact an overcharge in the guise of a parking charge, was one of fact. Clark v. Coziahr et al. (D. C. Mun. App. 1954, 102 A. 2d 311).

An acceptance comprehends receipt of something and intention to retain it, and that intention is usually a question of fact. It is always a question of fact where, from other uncontroverted facts relative to intention, contradictory inferences may be drawn. Little v. French (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 71 A. 2d 534).

In an action for possession of the apartment for landlord's immediate and personal use, trial judge was correct when he refused to take from the jury the question as to whether the landlord had accepted rent payments for period after the expiration of the notice to quit. Id.

Rent for comparable accommodations

Where premises rented on critical date under Emergency Rent Act, was a frame building described as a "shack", and after that date a new owner installed water, plumbing and electricity and a bathroom with tub and overhanging shower, finished walls, installed electric refrigerator and electrically controlled kerosene furnace, rebuilt front entrance, planted flowers in yard and made repairs and completely furnished the house except for silver and linen, the completely equipped and furnished house was a new "housing accommodation" within Emergency Rent Act which was not rented on critical date so that ceiling rent was the rent generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations. Delsnider v. Gould (1946, 154 F. 2d 844, 81 U. S. App. D. C. 54).

Under subsection (a) of this section, authority of the administrator to adjust rents is not based merely upon peculiar circumstances, but is limited to adjustments only when the rent ceiling is due to peculiar circumstances affecting the complained of housing accommodations substantially higher or lower than the rent prevailing for comparable housing accommodations. Thorn v. Miller (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 223).

Where petitioner had received two increases, making rent ceiling not greatly disproportionate to ceiling on neighboring property, and fixed with tenant's consent, Administrator is not bound to grant additional increase. Bailey v. Maple (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 333).

Where an increase was granted for some apartments, including that of the petitioner, to compensate for increased expenditures made on the entire apartment house, such a result could be justified only if there were a finding that the 1950 rentals for some of the apartments were, due to peculiar circumstances, substantially lower than the rentals generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations. Since no such finding was made, the Administrator was without power to act. Newberry v. H. L. Rest Company (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 342).

Rental and expense ratio

Subsection (b) of this section providing that any landlord may petition Rent Administrator to adjust maximum-rent ceiling or minimum service standard applicable to his accommodations to "compensate" for substantial rise in taxes or other maintenances or operating costs or expenses or a substantial capital improvement or alteration, was not intended to make up for past losses, but to permit administrator to maintain in whole or in part same ratio between rentals and expenses as existed on freeze date, or to balance rentals with expenses. Stokes v. Realest Corp. (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 532).

Administrator is not concerned with net income from housing accommodations but only with increase in rent sufficiently to compensate in whole or in part for increased operating expenses. Hall v. Ring Management Company (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 656).

Where petitioner rested entire case on position that since 1947 operating expenses exceeded those of 1940 by more than 25 percent, the rental should be similarly increased, such a contention is erroneous since it is not the yardstick laid down by the Rent Act. To compensate the landlord properly, a comparison between a dollar increase in expenses and a similar dollar increase in rentals must be made. Crips v. Giles (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 204).

The Rent Administrator is not to adjust rent on a net income basis. Therefore, on a petition for the adjustment of rent on account of increased costs, the previous increases allowed on a different basis are neither relevant nor material. Rosen v. Powers (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 200).

Where Rent Administrator averaged expenses for the years 1941 to 1947 inclusive, deducted the 1941 expenses from such average and granted a sufficient rent increase to produce the difference, it is improper and orders based thereon must be reversed. Proctor v. Miller (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 665).

Rent Act makes no provision for a fair return to the landlord and we have ruled that net income is not a proper basis for adjustment of rents. Cox v. Cogswell (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 69 A. 2d 659).

Increases may be granted where a proper showing is made that costs and expenses have increased and where a finding is made, based upon substantial evidence, that the new schedules do not exceed those existing for comparable housing accommodations. Ostrow v. Horning, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 69 A. 2d 277).

Where only a portion of the units in a building are involved, there is no reason why they should not be compared with other units in the same building since units such as these are likely more comparable to other units in the same building than to units in another building in another location. Block v. Tenants (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 70 A. 2d 59).

Where, in prior action against member-tenant for possession of apartment in a cooperatively owned apartment house, issue of rent overcharge was considered and determined by a court having jurisdiction of the parties and subject matter, such determination would have to be considered a final adjudication and would, so long as judgment in the prior action remained unmodified, be res judicata on issue of overcharge in subsequent action between the same parties for double the overcharge. Usher v. 1015 N. Street, N. W. Cooperative Association, etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 120 A. 2d 921).

Where, in prior action for possession of apartment in cooperatively owned apartment house for nonpayment of rent, member-tenant's contention that there had been an overcharge of rent was determined adversely to member-tenant, and judgment therein remained unmodified, such judgment, which was res judicata as to cooperative association, was also res judicata as to association's agents, who collected the rent, in subsequent action by member-tenant against association and the agents for double overcharges of rent for the apartment. Id.

Retroactive effect

Where, because of substantial improvements made to apartment after January 1, 1951, adjustment of rent ceiling was sought in petition filed by realty broker on June 20, 1951, but rent administrator did not act upon petition, District of Columbia Emergency Rent Act of 1951, which became effective on July 1, 1951, and which provided that 45 days after filing of petition requested adjusted ceiling would automatically become legal rent ceiling unless and until adjustment petition should have been finally disposed of, was applicable, even though 1951 act did not refer to pending petitions, but retroactive effect could not be given to 45 day period fixed in statute and increased rent could not be charged until 45 days had elapsed after effective date of act. J. Leo Kolb Co., Inc. v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1955, 111 A. 2d 469).

Adjustment in rent ceiling granted by administrator had no retroactive effect and operated prospectively only. Morning Star Lodge No. 40 v. Harris (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 93 A. 2d 288).

Substitution of parties

Where a new landlord appears during the pendency of a proceeding, a substitution of parties may be made, even on appeal, because the fundamental issue is whether the expenses of the operation of the property, regardless of ownership, have increased. Dysert v. Ring Management Company (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 69 A. 2d 655).

Records show that the Rent Administrator was fully justified in his finding that the landlord's records for recent years were not kept according to sound accounting principles. Where it is apparent that the accountant's statement was prepared from such records, such evidence is insufficient. Rosen v. Powers (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 200).

§ 45–1605. Prohibitions.

(a) It shall be unlawful, regardless of any agreement, lease, or other obligation heretofore or hereafter entered into, for any person to demand or receive any rent in excess of the maximum-rent ceiling, or refuse to supply any service required by the minimum-service standards, or otherwise to do or omit to do any act in violation of any provision of this chapter or of any regulation, order, or other requirement thereunder, or to offer or agree to do any of the foregoing.

(b) No action or proceeding to recover possession of housing accommodations shall be maintainable by any landlord against any tenant, notwithstanding that the tenant has no lease or that his lease has expired, so long as the tenant continues to pay the rent to which the landlord is entitled, unless—

(1) The tenant is (A) violating an obligation of his tenancy (other than an obligation to pay rent higher than rent permitted under this chapter or any regulation or order thereunder applicable to the housing accommodations involved or an obligation to surrender possession of such accommodations) or (B) is committing a nuisance or using the housing accommodations for an immoral or illegal purpose or for other than living or dwelling purposes; or

(2) The landlord seeks in good faith to recover possession of the property for his immediate and personal use and occupancy as a dwelling: Provided, That in the case of housing accommodations in a structure or premises owned or leased by a cooperative corporation or association no such action or proceeding under this paragraph or paragraph (3) of this section shall be maintained unless the landlord is a bona fide owner of stock in, or member of, such cooperative corporation or association and has actually paid in in cash at least 20 per centum of the full purchase price of the stock, proprietary lease, or other evidence of ownership entitling the landlord to possession of such housing accommodations, or was, immediately prior to July 1, 1951, entitled to recover possession.

(3) The landlord has in good faith contracted in writing to sell the property for immediate and personal use and occupancy as a dwelling by the purchaser and that the contract of sale contains a representation by the purchaser that the property is being purchased by him for such immediate and personal use and occupancy; or

(4) The landlord seeks in good faith to recover possession for the immediate purpose of substantially altering, remodeling, or demolishing the property and replacing it with new construction, the plans for which altered, remodeled, or new construction having been filed with, and approved by, the Commissioners of the District of Columbia; or

(5) The landlord seeks in good faith to recover possession for the immediate purpose of discontinuing the housing use and occupancy for a continuous period of not less than six months, during which period, commencing on the date possession is recovered under this subsection, it shall be unlawful for the owner of such housing accommodations or his agent to demand or receive rent for the same, and any person paying such rent may bring an action for double the amount of rent so paid, pursuant to the provisions of section 45–1610; or

(6) The landlord, being a recognized school or an accredited nonprofit university has a bona fide need for the premises for educational, research, administrative, or dormitory use.

(c) It shall be unlawful for any person to remove, or attempt to remove, from any housing accommodations the tenant or occupant thereof or to refuse to renew lease or agreement for the use of such accommodations because such tenant or occupant has taken or purposes to take action authorized or required by this chapter or any regulation, order, or requirement thereunder. (Dec. 2, 1941, 55 Stat. 791, ch. 553, § 5; Sept. 26, 1942, 56 Stat. 759, ch. 564, § 1; Aug. 1, 1947, 61 Stat. 721, ch. 442; Apr. 19, 1949, 63 Stat. 49, ch. 73, § 4; June 30, 1951, 65 Stat. 102, ch. 192, § 1.)

AMENDMENTS

1951—Subsec. (a) was amended by act June 30, 1951, which deleted the last sentence of the first paragraph referring to refunds.

Subsecs. (b) (2) and (5) were substantially amended by said act which also added subsec. (b) (6).

1949—Subsec. (b) (2) was amended by act Apr. 19, 1949, which added the proviso.

1947—Subsec. (b) was amended by act Aug. 1, 1947, which added paragraph 6.

1942—Subsec. (b) was amended by act Sept. 26, 1942, which added paragraph (5).

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1951 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act June 30, 1951, effective July 1, 1951, see § 2 of act June 30, 1951, set out as a note under § 45–1601.

RECONTROL OF ACCOMMODATIONS

See note under § 45–1601.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Agent

Where complaint in action under this chapter stated only that landlord's rental agent failed to provide minimum service in violation of standards fixed by rent administrator, and neither claimed nor showed any other basis for liability, and neither this chapter nor lease agreement imposed such duty on agent, under no stated facts which could be proved in support of tenant's claim would tenant be entitled to relief, and summary judgment for agent was properly granted. Reyman v. Edward H. Jones & Co. (D.C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 42).

Agreement of parties

Unless premises have been decontrolled, rent ceiling remains effective regardless of any agreement to the contrary made by the landlord and tenant. Jess Fisher & Co. v. Hicks (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 86 A. 2d 177).

Approval of plans

Where department of building inspection had issued raze permit authorizing demolition of demised buildings and had issued a building permit authorizing erection of shed on the leveled lot, which was to be used as a parking lot, there was sufficient approval of parking lot project plans by District of Columbia commissioners as to entitle landlord to possession of demised premises under this chapter. Ancher v. Lamb (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 86 A. 2d 533).

Bad faith

Evidence of ill will between landlord and tenant and a desire by the landlord to dispossess the particular tenant is not evidence of bad faith precluding landlord from obtaining possession under this section giving landlord right of possession if for any reason he in good faith is willing to discontinue the housing use and occupancy for a continuous period of not less than six months. Beckwith et al. v. Klein (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 93 A. 2d 283).

In tenant's suit against landlords to recover for alleged rental overcharges, fact that landlords had, prior to beginning of tenancy, rented premises to another person at the January 1, 1941, frozen rent ceiling of $41 a month, was sufficient to raise an inference of lack of good faith on part of landlords when they subsequently collected $77.50 a month rental. Parker v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 653).

"Ill will" of landlord seeking possession against tenant on ground that he desires possession in good faith for his own personal occupancy is not automatically established from evidence that there had been a prior rent control proceeding between the parties or from reasonable regulation of tenant's use of leased premises. Dant v. Forsythe (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 84).

In action by landlord to recover possession of leased premises on ground that he had in good faith contracted to sell property for immediate and personal use, and occupancy as dwelling by purchaser, evidence of looseness and some suspicious circumstances attending sale were by no means strong enough to require trial court or appellate court sitting in review to hold as a matter of law that there was bad faith in transaction or that purchaser had not acquired property for his own use. Sigmond v. Kern (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 78 A. 2d 236).

In action by landlord to recover possession of rooming house, petition of landlord filed with rent administrator for an increase of rent could not form basis of a charge of bad faith on part of landlord as attempting to evade this chapter. Downes v. Karsh (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 33 A. 2d 620).

The issue of good faith is usually one of fact. Ill will on the part of the landlord toward a tenant, while properly considered as bearing on the landlord's good faith, does not necessarily establish bad faith as a matter of law. McMahon v. Weiner (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 67 A. 2d 682).

Broker's commission

Where broker was not a party to alleged illegality of sale contract under this chapter, and in procuring, purchaser did not act with knowledge that alleged illegality existed, broker's right to commission when purchaser was ready, able and willing to proceed with contract, but owner refused to do so, was unimpaired. Harris v. Young (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 86 A. 2d 414).

Ceiling prevailing at hearing date

Where order of Rent Administrator stated that maximum rent ceiling on premises was determined to be $135 per month effective January 26, 1943, the order did not have effect of determining the rent ceiling prevailing on the property at the hearing date. Hicks v. Behrend (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 78).

Choice of occupancy

A landlord who has the choice of several properties should not be prejudiced in desiring occupancy of particular living quarters from tenant thereof. Dant v. Forsythe (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 84).

This chapter does not prevent an owner from occupying his own premises provided such occupancy is sought in good faith and not for purpose of evading this chapter. Colwell v. Stonebraker (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 31 A. 2d 866).

This chapter does not prevent an owner from occupying his own premises provided such occupancy is sought in good faith and not for purpose of evading this chapter. Shaffer v. Bowes (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 31 A. 2d 690).

Where defendant occupied room having lowest rental in house at time plaintiff leased entire premises for purpose of making her home there and renting other rooms in house, and plaintiff requested defendant to move to another room as plaintiff desired possession of that room because it was best room from which to operate premises, plaintiff was entitled to possession of such room notwithstanding this chapter. Id.

Where owner has several properties available, and it is necessary for him to occupy one, and thereby remove a tenant by sufferance, choice of which property he shall occupy is for owner. Downes v. Karsh (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 33 A. 2d 620). See, also, McSweeney v. Wilson (D.C. Mun. App. 1946, 48 A. 2d 469).

Under this chapter where owner has several properties available, choice of which one he shall occupy is for him, provided such occupancy is sought in good faith and not for purpose of defeating this chapter. Colwell v. Stonebraker (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 31 A. 2d 866). See, also, Shaffer v. Bowes (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 31 A. 2d 690); Staves v. Johnson (D.C. Mun. App. 1946, 44 A. 2d 870).

Consent judgment

Where tenant, in landlord's action to recover premises, consented to entry of judgment for landlord after a hearing on the merits, judgment was valid and tenant's subsequent motions to quash writ of restitution and for an indefinite stay of execution were properly overruled. Morris v. Breaker (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 632).

A writ of restitution would not be quashed for failure of clerk of court to give tenant notice of entry of judgment, where trial court ordered judgment for landlords suing for possession of premises, pursuant to stipulation by which tenant receiving 60-day stay of execution consented to judgment for landlords. Conrad v. Medina (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 562).

A stipulation that tenant who was granted 60-day stay of execution would consent to judgment for landlords suing for possession of leased housing accommodations, would not be set aside for newly discovered evidence that landlords were aliens incapable of owning realty in District of Columbia, where one landlord had declared his intention of becoming a citizen, and the record intimated that at least one of the landlords was an attaché of a foreign legation. Id.

Constitutionality

Subsection (b) of this section does not violate U. S. Const. Amend. 5. Walsh v. Cooper (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 31 A. 2d 883).

Construction

Court, in construing this section with reference to right of landlord to bring an action against tenant for possession, cannot imply congressional intent to require notice by landlord to tenant stating reasons for terminating tenancy or attach any condition to the right to bring suit which Congress did not authorize. Warthen v. Lamas (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 759).

The privileges reserved to owners by this chapter must be reasonably construed and enforced. Heindrich v. Dimas-Aruti (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 138).

This chapter must be considered as a whole and its sections must be read in connection with each other. Dunning v. Randall Hagner Co. (D.C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 770).

Actual use of the premises as housing accommodations governs, even though a lease may employ terms other than housing accommodations and indicate a different use intention as in case of property zoned for commercial use. Lease provisions, like the ones here involved, are subservient to the provisions of the Act. White v. Allen (D.C. Mun. App. 1950, 70 A. 2d 252).

Creation of new tenancy

Where landlord obtained a judgment which established her right to possession under § 45–1601 et seq. and tenant was granted a stay by the court conditioned upon payment of rent, and thereafter tenant bargained with landlord for additional time upon condition that rent would be paid and that it would be the last extension, tenant could not thereafter assert that landlord had created a new tenancy and had abandoned her right to enforce judgment of possession by accepting rent for the extended period. Trammell v. Estep (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 501).

Defense housing project

This chapter did not apply to defense housing project which had been erected by Navy Department in Washington so as to require United States bringing dispossess proceedings to allege grounds of possession required by subsection (b) of this section, since this chapter does not specifically mention the United States as a landlord, and since statutes which in general terms divest preexisting rights or privileges may not be applied to the sovereign without express words to that effect. Wittek v. United States (D.C. Mun. App. 1947, 54 A. 2d 747, reversed 171 F. 2d 8, 83 U.S. App. D.C. 377, reversed and remanded 69 S. Ct. 1108, 337 U.S. 346, 93 L. Ed. 1406).

Estoppel

In landlord's action to recover possession, where judgment for possession was entered on December 2, 1941, the fact that tenant had received benefit of stipulation staying execution of judgment to January 31, 1942, did not "estop" tenant from claiming benefit of this chapter which was approved on December 2, 1941, since it was intervention of this chapter which changed the relationship of the parties. Myers v. H. L. Rust Co. (1943, 134 F. 2d 417, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 218).

Evidence

In action by landlord for possession of housing accommodations pursuant to this section authorizing same if landlord seeks in good faith to recover possession for immediate purpose of discontinuing housing use for continuous period of not less than six months, evidence on behalf of tenant was insufficient to show lack of good faith of landlord. Beckwith v. Klein (D.C. Mun. App. 1953, 93 A. 2d 283).

While evidence of ill will toward a tenant is properly received in evidence in determining whether landlord seeks possession in good faith or whether his dominant motive is to rid himself of tenant, such evidence must be based on more than mere speculation. Dant v. Forsythe (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 84).

Where there was no evidence that landlords seeking possession of premises from tenant on ground that landlords desired possession in good faith for personal occupancy was actuated by caprice or malice, landlords were entitled to judgment granting possession, in absence of challenging evidence sufficient to justify a finding of lack of good faith. Id.

In landlord's action under this section to recover possession of leased premises for immediate purpose of substantially altering and remodeling property, evidence was sufficient to justify conclusion that possession was sought in good faith. Conrad v. Pisner (D.C. Mun. App. 1951, 79 A. 2d 780).

In action by landlord against tenant to recover possession of dwelling house on ground that he had in good faith contracted to sell property for immediate and personal use and occupancy as dwelling by purchaser, evidence sustained trial court's finding that plaintiff had in good faith contracted as alleged. Sigmond v. Kern (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 78 A. 2d 236).

In action by landlord to recover possession of leased premises on ground that he had in good faith contracted to sell property for immediate and personal use and occupancy as dwelling by purchaser, trial court did not err in accepting evidence tending to destroy any presumption of bad faith which might have arisen from fact that landlord had prosecuted three earlier suits for possession, unsuccessfully, within period of seven months. Id.

In possessory action, evidence that landlord on leasing city dwelling for one year informed tenant that landlord wished dwelling back at expiration of year on July 31, 1942, and that landlord's period of occupancy of farm was to expire at end of 1942, sustained determination that landlord sought possession in "good faith" for personal use within this chapter. Gould v. Butler (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 31 A. 2d 867).

Evidence that landlord, when leasing property for precisely one year, made it plain that at expiration of lease he wished premises back, reiterated it almost two months before expiration of lease, and sued for possession two months after expiration of lease, sustained determination that landlord required property for "immediate" use, within this chapter. Id.

In landlord's action to recover possession of premises for personal use as dwelling, that rent of selected premises is low when contrasted with that of similar housing units, availability of other quarters, objection to or even ill will toward particular tenant, are matters properly admitted in evidence as bearing on "good faith" of landlord, but no one, or all in combination, necessarily constitute "bad faith". Colwell v. Stonebraker (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 31 A. 2d 866).

In landlord's action to recover possession of apartment for her personal use, evidence that gasoline rationing made it impossible for landlord's husband to continue to commute from their home to his office in the apartment building supported finding of "good faith" of landlord in seeking possession of apartment. Id.

Where tenant submitted question of landlord's failure to maintain minimum service to Rent Administrator, it was tenant's duty to present all evidence bearing on the question and fact that certain matters existing at date of hearing before Administrator were not mentioned in petition before Administrator would not authorize action for damages. Hicks v. Behrend (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 78).

Where landlord sues for possession of dwelling house, claiming that she required property for immediate purpose of making substantial alterations and remodeling, evidence as to whether landlord could obtain from War Production Board necessary priority orders for the work, was sufficient for jury and would not justify ruling as matter of law that there was not good faith in landlord's claim or that her need for property was not immediate within this section. Klein v. Hilton (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 77).

Under subsection (b) (1) of this section landlord seeking possession of dwelling house, claiming that she required property for immediate purpose of making substantial alterations and remodeling, was not required to prove that she could obtain from the War Production Board the necessary priority orders for the work. Id.

In action by landlord to recover possession of apartment for his immediate and personal use, where landlord's good faith is an issue, evidence of the existence of other available apartments in the building is admissible. Abbott v. Fant (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 618).

Evidence sustained plaintiff's claim that possession of dwelling was sought for her own immediate personal use as a residence under exception to this section. Miller v. Prophet (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 450).

Evidence sustained finding that religious corporation, which sought to recover house from tenant for use for students to whom corporation was obligated to provide free food and shelter, sought recovery of premises in good faith as required by this section. Hoffman v. Apostolic Works (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 848).

In action by purchaser of leased rooming house for possession thereof for her own residence purposes after expiration of one-year lease under which tenant was holding over as tenant by sufferance, testimony concerning price paid for rooming house business by tenant and amount thereof she had recouped was properly excluded as having no bearing on question of plaintiff's good faith, legality of notice of termination of tenancy, or any other question. Arsenault v. Angle (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 709).

Evidence of ill will toward a tenant is properly received in evidence in determining whether landlord seeks possession in good faith, within meaning of subsection (b) (2) of this section, or whether his dominant purpose is to rid himself of a tenant he considers undesirable. Staves v. Johnson (D.C. Mun. App. 1946, 44 A. 2d 870).

Evidence tending to show animosity toward tenant and her children and a desire that they leave the property was sufficient to sustain trial court's finding of lack of good faith of landlord in attempting to recover possession of leased premises allegedly for his personal use, so as to justify denial of possession to landlord under subsection (b) (2) of this section. Id.

Under subsection (b) (2) of this section, good faith is ordinarily a question of fact, and finding of good faith or lack thereof when supported by substantial evidence will not be disturbed. Black v. Tamamian (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 547).

Where prior judgment had determined that landlord did not seek possession of housing accommodation in good faith under subsection (b) (2) of this section, evidence of new facts arising since prior suit concerning mainly health of landlord's wife and increasingly injurious effect on her health of lack of adequate and comfortable sleeping quarters sustained finding that possession in subsequent action was sought by landlord in good faith for his immediate personal use and occupancy. Id.

Evidence authorized finding that landlord required premises for his own use and occupancy within provisions of this section and was entitled to possession. Craig v. Heil (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 871).

The fact that a house is not available for occupancy as a family residence until extensive alterations and repairs are completed is a matter of evidence to be considered, along with other evidence, in determining the good faith of an owner seeking possession. Brauer v. O'Daniel (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 89).

In action by owner against occupant to recover possession of a four-story, 14-unit, walkup apartment building, which owner had allegedly purchased for use as a residence, evidence that, though some apartments in building had been vacant for several months, owner had made no attempt to rent them out, was an element properly considered by the jury as indicative of owner's state of mind, in determining the question of his good faith. Id.

In landlord's suit to recover possession of house, complaint describing defendant as a tenant at sufferance and evidence showing that he was a tenant by the month did not disclose a fatal variance. Gordon v. Tino (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 593).

In landlord's action to recover rent on basis of ceiling fixed by Rent Administrator, trial court should have admitted evidence of lease which provided for lower monthly rental and which gave lessee option to extend lease upon same terms for two year period, and copy of a letter exercising renewal option, and determined whether alleged original lease was valid and whether option to extend had been validly exercised. Hildebrand v. Nee (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 54 A. 2d 640).

In action for possession of premises for personal use of landlord court properly refused to permit tenant to show ownership of premises in some one else where it was alleged and undisputed that the plaintiff was landlord and that the defendant was plaintiff's tenant. Mancuso v. Santucci (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 697).

In action by landlord to recover possession of premises for personal use evidence as to whether the landlord would rent to tenant the house next door which landlord owned and which was vacant was properly excluded as irrelevant. Id.

Evidence was insufficient to show that former owners and their son to whom dwelling house was conveyed were engaged in conspiracy to evict tenant which would prevent son who was purportedly engaged to be married from taking possession for his own occupancy. Resnick v. Hammond (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 495).

Evidence sustained finding that owner of apartment in co-operative building sought possession of apartment in good faith for personal use. Hicks v. Bigelow (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 55 A. 2d 924).

Evidence entitled purchaser of the perpetual use and equity contract to the rights of a landlord within the Rent Act when the substantial nature of these rights, rather than the form of the transaction, is considered. Abbot v. Bralove (D.C.D.C. 1949, 81 F. Supp. 532, affirmed 176 F. 2d 64, 85 U.S. App. D.C. 189).

Where landlord sued for possession, the situation disclosed a genuine issue as to whether landlord sought the premises in good faith for immediate personal use and was a material factual issue. The court must disregard the tenants' affidavits which were based on information and belief and did not conform to the rules. Dewey v. Clark (1950, 180 F. 2d 766, 86 U.S. App. D.C. 137).

The trial court, on timely motion of the tenant, should have taken evidence on the question of whether the tenant voluntarily surrendered possession of the premises and if it held that the surrender was not voluntary but resulted from the previous judgment or from actions of the landlord based thereon, the court should have ordered restitution of their premises to the tenant. Quick v. Paregol (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 211).

Even though the evidence complained of may not have been admissible on other grounds, it was clearly admissible in support of the counterclaim on the question as to whether there had been an evasion of the Rent Act. White v. Allen (D.C. Mun. App. 1950, 70 A. 2d 252).

Examination of witnesses

Where landlord sought possession of a dwelling house in order to demolish a building and erect an apartment building thereon, denying cross-examination of plaintiff as to whether she had materials available and subcontracts arranged for the construction of the proposed apartment building in order to shed light on the issue of plaintiff's good faith, was error. Tatum v. Townsend (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 478).

Forcible entry and detainer

Subsection (b) of this section, prohibiting suit for possession by landlord except for specified reasons, is inapplicable to forcible entry and detainer action. Brooks v. Trigg (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 51 A. 2d 302).

Furnished premises

Where tenant rents unfurnished premises at ceiling price and rents furniture from a third person in a bona fide arrangement which is not designed to evade section 45–1601 et seq., landlord would have a valid defense against a claim of violation of the rent act. Fulton R. Gordon, Inc. v. Schram (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 44 A. 2d 662).

Landlord whose rent ceiling is fixed on basis of unfurnished rental cannot evade regulation against increase in rent without prior approval of Rent Administrator by renting property furnished. Id.

Good faith

This section, permitting landlord to obtain possession of housing accommodation if landlord seeks in good faith to recover possession for immediate purpose of discontinuing housing use and occupancy for a continuous period of not less than six months, was enacted for benefit of landlords, and enables a landlord to obtain possession if, for any reason, he is in good faith willing to discontinue housing use and occupancy for required period, with good faith being dependent on his willingness, intention and purpose to discontinue use for required period. Beckwith v. Klein (D.C. Mun. App. 1953, 93 A. 2d 283).

"Good faith" in respect of landlord desiring possession of premises in good faith for his own personal occupancy means that the landlord honestly intends to actually occupy the premises and that the occupancy for his own use is his primary motive. Dant v. Forsythe (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 84).

In examining question of good faith of landlord seeking possession of house for her own use as dwelling, all circumstances should be considered which will shed light upon whether proper case for possession has been established, and among these circumstances is state of mind, intent and purpose of landlord. Kelley v. Potomac Development Corp. (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 81).

Motive of landlord in seeking possession from tenant not motive of landlord's predecessors in title, is at issue when tenant challenges good faith of landlord in seeking possession for her own use as dwelling, unless there is convincing evidence of collusion or subterfuge. Id.

Issue of good faith of landlord seeking to recover possession of leased premises for immediate purpose of substantially altering and remodeling property within Rent Law lies particularly within province of triers of fact. Conrad v. Pisner (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 79 A. 2d 780).

The fact that owners suing to recover possession of residential property under this chapter desired their married daughter and her two children to live with them, and that if they found rooms available after they took possession they would rent such rooms to others, did not impugn their "good faith." Klein v. Fields (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 32 A. 2d 398).

Under this chapter, in determining question of landlord's "good faith" in seeking possession of premises, state of mind, intent, and purposes of landlord as reflected in the evidence may be considered. Gould v. Butler (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 31 A. 2d 867).

In examining question of good faith of landlord in seeking possession of premises under this chapter all circumstances should be considered which will shed light on whether a proper case for possession has been established. Id.

Evidence supported finding that owners of dwelling house were acting in good faith in filing proceeding under this chapter to gain possession of dwelling for their immediate personal use and as a dwelling. De Bobula v. Coppedge (D.C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 255).

Where substantial evidence supported finding that owners of leased premises, suing for possession, were seeking to occupy their own property as a dwelling, owners' good faith as affecting their rights under this section was an issue of fact for trial judge. Heindrich v. Dimas-Aruti (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 138).

Purchaser of residential property having established that he sought possession in good faith for his personal occupancy as a dwelling, was entitled to recover possession from vendor's tenant who had received the notice of termination of lease provided for therein. Mason v. Curro (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 41 A. 2d 164).

"Good faith", within subsection (b) (2) of this section, means generally that the landlord honestly intends to actually occupy the premises, that occupancy for his own use is primary motive, and that he is not guided by an ulterior motive to evade or defeat the purposes of this chapter. Staves v. Johnson (D.C. Mun. App. 1946, 44 A. 2d 870).

"Good faith", within subsection (b) (2) of this section, does not exist if the landlord's dominant purpose is to evict the tenant. McSweeney v. Wilson (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 48 A. 2d 469).

In landlord's suit to recover possession of house, whether landlords in good faith desired to obtain possession of house for personal use as a dwelling was a question for jury. Gordon v. Tino (D.C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 593).

This chapter does not undertake to regulate profits on the sale of property, and fact that co-operative group had paid a large profit on the purchase of building had no bearing on personal good faith of the purchaser of a co-operative apartment in seeking to evict a tenant in possession in order to obtain apartment for personal occupancy. Hicks v. Bigelow (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 55 A. 2d 924).

The fact that cooperative apartment plans may have the incidental effect of ousting present tenants by sufferance is not evidence of bad faith on the part of the purchasers of individual apartments, nor can such effect be, per se, construed as evidence of an intentional evasion of the Rent Act. Abbot v. Bralove (D.C.D.C. 1949, 81 F. Supp. 532, affirmed 176 F. 2d 64, 85 U.S. App. D.C. 189).

In a suit for possession for immediate and personal use, the crucial issue whether landlord seeks possession in good faith is an extraordinary issue of fact since it involves the state of mind or motives rather than the ascertainment of a fact in the ordinary sense. Dewey v. Clark (1950, 180 F. 2d 766, 86 U.S. App. D.C. 137).

In a suit for possession, the presence of the question of good faith as a crucial issue should cause the court to hesitate more than ordinarily before concluding that it is in a position to deny a trial. Id.

Immediate and personal use

The word "immediate", as used in this chapter permitting landlord to obtain possession in good faith for his immediate and personal use and occupancy as a dwelling need not always mean desperate. Gould v. Butler (D.C.D.C. 1943, 31 A. 2d 867).

Where landlord, suing hold-over tenant at sufferance for possession of leased property used as rooming house, did not say that he required property for his immediate personal use and occupancy as dwelling, but said that he proposed to continue operation thereof as rooming house, trial judge properly refused to oust tenant. Lingo v. Wolfe (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 270).

An intent to use part of residence as a dental office or to rent parts to roomers does not negative honest purpose to use and occupy premises as owner's dwelling as ground for dispossessing tenants, notwithstanding this section. Heindrich v. Dimas-Aruti (D. C. Mun. App. 1945. 42 A. 2d 138).

In suit by owner against occupant to recover possession of a four-story, 14-unit, walkup apartment building which owner allegedly purchased for use as a residence, evidence justified finding that need of owner was bona fide and immediate, within meaning of subsection (b) (2, 4) of this section. Brauer v. O'Daniel (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 89).

Prohibitions of this section provide protection for tenants by preventing their arbitrary ouster during the critical housing shortage, but this section containing the prohibitions does not ignore the rights of an owner who brings himself within provisions of this section and shows a real, immediate need for his own property. Id.

A landlord could not maintain a suit to recover possession of a dwelling house on the ground that she desired possession for her immediate and personal use, where she did not become owner of the premises and did not become landlord until nearly a month after filing of the original complaint, notwithstanding she was equitable owner when the original complaint was filed. Dewey v. Clark (D.C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 475, reversed on other grounds 180 F. 2d 766, 86 U.S. App. D.C. 137). See, also, Thompson v. Clark (D.C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 477, reversed on other grounds 180 F. 2d 766, 86 U.S. App. D.C. 137).

Where landlord, suffering from an incurable disease, sued for possession of another apartment in the same building for the use of her personal nurse whom she needed close by to minister to her in her illness, she is entitled to possession even though apartment is not to be actually occupied by landlord. Manogue v. Heilbroner (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 876).

Improvements

Where tenant of a row house, shortly before expiration of five-year lease, made improvements on the property at a cost of more than $200, but the only improvement landlord was cognizant of was the painting of front porch by tenant, such repairs were not sufficient to have bound tenant for a renewal term of five years, and hence did not constitute notice to landlord that tenant was exercising option contained in lease to renew for a five-year period, and landlord was at liberty, after expiration of lease, to terminate the tenancy and recover possession for landlord's personal occupancy. Warthen v. Lamas (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 759).

Inapplicable to United States

This chapter does not apply to government-owned, defense housing in the District. United States v. Wittek (1949, 69 S. Ct. 1108, 337 U.S. 346, 93 L. Ed. 1406).

Inspection of premises

Where tenant's possession depends upon this chapter, landlord has right to reasonable inspection of premises in order to determine whether remodeling or alteration is desirable or necessary and, if so, what form it will take; and likewise landlord has right to make such repairs as are necessary to protect his property from waste and deterioration and, for such purpose, is entitled to enter premises at reasonable times to inspect and to make repairs. Dunnington v. Thomas E. Jarrell Co. (D.C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 274).

The refusal of tenant whose possession depends upon this chapter to permit landlord to enter premises at reasonable times to inspect and to make such repairs as are necessary to protect property from waste and deterioration would not constitute a "nuisance" but would be a violation of implied obligation of tenancy. Id.

Lease, validity of

A landlord cannot by lease or other contract raise the rent ceiling previously established nor avoid the effect of it. Morning Star Lodge No. 40 v. Harris (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 93 A. 2d 288).

Under statute providing that any building occupied or offered for occupancy by five or more roomers was decontrolled, premises rented or offered for rental by tenant to no more than four persons or roomers were not decontrolled and therefore lease entered into under the mistaken assumption that decontrol had taken place was ineffective. Jess Fisher & Co. v. Hicks (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 86 A. 2d 177).

Rent Act is primarily concerned with protecting a tenant's right to possession so long as he pays rent and does not violate obligations of tenancy, and in maintaining rent ceilings and required standards. The Act provides means for enforcing these purposes, but to declare a lease made in violation of a general order void in its entirety and to hold that landlord has no rights under it would add a new penalty not provided by the act. Amos v. Cummings (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 67 A. 2d 87).

Lease violations

A tenant may not create new tenancy by removing from leased property and placing it completely in charge of sublessees in violation of terms of lease, as this chapter protects only actual tenants, not mere middlemen. Hall v. Henry J. Robb, Inc. (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 32 A. 2d 707).

A tenant's removal from leased property and subletting thereof in its entirety was breach of lease prohibiting subletting in whole or part, though lease had expired and tenant was holding over, so that landlord was entitled to recover possession of property. Id.

Where tenants brought their dogs into building after effective date of this chapter, right to keep dogs on leased premises was neither a "privilege" nor a "facility" within this chapter, and therefore this chapter did not preclude landlord from exercising right under lease to revoke permission to keep dogs. Mee v. Marlyn Apartment Co. (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 31 A. 2d 864).

Where lease expressly limited use of premises to use as a dwelling only, its use as a dwelling and for dressmaking without objection from landlords over a long period prior to enactment of this chapter, which was limited in its scope to property rented for living or dwelling purposes, neither took the premises out of the scope of this chapter, nor constituted a violation of her tenancy. Carow v. Bishop (D.C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 598).

A tenant who permitted some of her immediate family to live in leased premises and who had kept roomers, but who never removed furniture from leased premises and who was there daily and had access to all rooms, although she had purchased another house, did not thereby violate rental agreement prohibiting subletting. Simmons v. Weinsoff (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 58 A. 2d 497).

Malicious prosecution

Complaint alleging that after rent had been reduced to comply with this chapter, four suits had been instituted against plaintiff by or on behalf of defendants to recover possession of house and that all four suits were brought maliciously without just cause and in bad faith, stated a claim on which relief might be granted. Soffos v. Eaton (1946, 152 F. 2d 682, 80 U.S. App. D.C. 306).

A complaint which alleged that tenant left leased premises as result of stipulation signed by himself and his attorney and in compliance with resulting judgment in landlord's action under this chapter to secure possession, and which further alleged that landlord's statement in regard to his intention to immediately occupy designated premises as a dwelling were fraudulent, could not be upheld as stating a cause of action for "malicious prosecution," where it appeared that the action upon which suit was based terminated in landlord's favor. Simpkins v. Brooks (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 549).

Mandatory injunction

In suit for mandatory injunction requiring defendants to restore possession of an apartment, record supported findings that plaintiffs had breached obligation under verbal understanding pursuant to which they took possession, that defendants had given written notice to quit, and that defendants sought in good faith to recover possession of property for immediate and personal use as a dwelling. Leonardo v. Leonardo (1945, 145 F. 2d 849, 79 U.S. App. D. C. 258).

New housing

A landlord applying for increase of established rent ceiling on ground of increase in operating cost and peculiar circumstances could not for the first time in action for overcharges assert that increase in rent was justified on ground of new housing accommodation. Morning Star Lodge No. 40 v. Harris (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 93 A. 2d 288).

Congress, in passing this chapter, did not intend that an owner could regain possession only when he proposed to erect a new building, and therefore where landlord planned to raze demised building for parking lot project costing about $8,000, landlord was entitled to possession under such act. Ancher v. Lamb (D.C. Mun. App. 1952, 86 A. 2d 533).

Notice to quit

Notice to quit was waived by landlord's subsequent continuous acceptance of rent from statutory tenant. Dunnington v. Thomas E. Jarrell Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 274).

Notice to quit, served on tenant at sufferance who had sublet premises for definite period with landlord's consent on ground that tenant was violating obligation of tenancy within this section three weeks before any such alleged violation occurred, was premature, and had no anticipatory effect to reach future violations. Westchester Apartments v. Keroes (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 32 A. 2d 869).

In landlord's action to recover premises for his own use, defenses that court had no jurisdiction because landlord had served no notice to quit and that tenant's waiver of such notice had been conditioned upon ability to find new quarters which she failed to do, could have been raised at trial, and when advanced respectively on motion to quash writ of restitution and on motion for indefinite stay of execution, were too late. Morris v. Breaker (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 632).

Where tenant held over after expiration of lease and landlord desired premises for personal occupancy, 30-day notice to vacate was sufficient to terminate the tenancy notwithstanding that notice did not specify any one of the several grounds which, under this section, are made conditions to the right of a landlord to regain possession of residential property. Warthen v. Lamas (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 759).

This section does not require that tenant be given a notice stating grounds upon which landlord claims right to possession before an action for possession is instituted. Id.

Where one-year lease unambiguously gave lessor or his assignee right to terminate lease if property was sold during term of lease by giving lessee 90 days' notice, refusal to admit testimony to explain terms of lease, in action by purchaser of premises for possession thereof, to show that lessee was entitled to 90 days' notice to vacate where he held over after expiration of one year's tenancy and continued to pay rent, was not error. Arsenault v. Angle (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 709).

A roomer if he had failed to pay rent was not entitled to protection of this chapter and could be evicted without notice. Tamamian v. Gabbard (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 55 A. 2d 513).

Notice to quit rented premises was not ineffective because served upon only one tenant the other being in a foreign country, where defendants not only were cotenants of the property but also partners in a rooming house venture conducted thereon. Tatum v. Townsend (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 478).

Notice to quit rented premises was not ineffective because served upon only one tenant the other tenant being in a foreign country, where the evidence indicated that the notice reached the wife of the other tenant, who was also his attorney in fact. Id.

Nuisance

Where the complaint charged specifically that defendant was creating a nuisance by permitting a fire hazard in that she permitted the gas range to remain lighted during absence from premises, it was improper to consider in proof of the nuisance charge, the several incidents of burning of food which occurred while she was present in the apartment. Reese v. Wells (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 73 A. 2d 899).

Ordinary wear and tear

Where it was determined that the premises were housing accommodations under this chapter and there was no covenant regarding repairs, landlord could not recover for repairs due to ordinary wear and tear. Friedman v. Sherman (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 74 A. 2d 57).

Persons entitled to sue

Although caption of complaint designated plaintiff as agent, plaintiff could maintain suit against tenant for possession of demised premises, in view of facts that lease between the parties described lessor in same words, and that during course of trial plaintiff was granted leave to amend to conform with proof to show that plaintiff was not only lessor but also agent of designated principal. Ancher v. Lamb (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 86 A. 2d 533).

Where testator devised an apartment building in trust to three trustees, including testator's daughter, to manage the apartment building and pay one half of net income to testator's daughter, and after testator's death, daughter and her brother occupied apartments in the building rent free, the daughter could not, in her individual capacity, maintain an action under the rent act against a tenant in possession to recover possession of an apartment on ground that she required it for her personal use for a dwelling, since she was not a "landlord" within this chapter. Thomas v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 84 A. 2d 702).

Husband was entitled to maintain in his own name a suit against tenant for possession of an apartment in a building which he and his wife had purchased as tenants by the entirety. Sandler v. Wertlieb (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 222).

Pleading

Where complaint in action under this chapter stated only that landlord's rental agent failed to provide minimum service in violation of standards fixed by rent administrator, and neither claimed nor showed any other basis for liability, and neither Rent Act nor lease agreement imposed such duty on agent, under no stated facts which could be proved in support of tenant's claim would tenant be entitled to relief, and summary judgment for agent was properly granted. Reyman v. Edward H. Jones & Co. (D.C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 42).

Plaintiff's allegation in complaint to obtain possession of apartment for personal occupancy that defendant held the property as plaintiff's tenant at sufferance, coupled with other allegations, was sufficient to entitle plaintiff to trial on issue whether she was landlord. Williams v. Thomas (D.C. Mun. App. 1951, 79 A. 2d 783).

In action by landlords, who were husband and wife, to obtain possession of housing accommodations from tenants, where the landlords held the property as tenants by the entirety, verification of complaint by husband only was sufficient. Wynn v. Washington (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 53 A. 2d 275).

A complaint by landlord for possession of apartment alleging that tenants had refused to allow landlord to rent part of apartment to a suitable person in accordance with their agreement and with order of Rent Control Administrator stated a cause of action. Block v. Wilson (D.C. Mun. App. 1947, 54 A. 2d 646). See, also, Thompson v. Clark (D.C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 477, reversed on other grounds 180 F. 2d 766, 86 U.S. App. D.C. 137); Dewey v. Clark (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 475).

Informality of pleadings is the rule in landlord and tenant cases, but the court has never said that a suing landlord may allege one thing, and, over objection, prove another. Reese v. Wells (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 73 A. 2d 899).

Possession, right to

Where former tenant entered into a contract for the purchase of an apartment, but contract was void because former tenant thought apartment consisted of two bedrooms, as apartment then existed but landlord intended only to sell one bedroom as part of apartment, party who purchased adjoining apartment, which included disputed bedroom, was entitled to recover its possession for his immediate personal use and occupancy. Zlotnick v. Crisp et al. (1951, 185 F. 2d 502, 87 U. S. App. D. C. 339).

Where owner of rooming house occupied by tenant was faced with possibility of having to lease son-in-law's home because of son-in-law's inability on Army pay to continue her support, it was not necessary that owner wait until actually forced to leave before seeking to obtain possession of rooming house as a means of providing shelter and a living. Downs v. Karsh (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 33 A. 2d 620).

This chapter does not deprive an owner of right to occupy his own property in possession of tenants if occupancy is sought in good faith and is not for purpose of evading or defeating purposes of this chapter. Id.

Where tenant at sufferance twice sublet apartment for definite terms with express consent of landlord and landlord after it had knowledge that persons in addition to second sublessee were occupying apartment expressly consented that second sublease continue to its expiration date, and accepted rent throughout remaining period of sublease landlord had no right to demand possession because of anything which had occurred prior to expiration date of second sublease on ground that tenant was violating "obligation of tenancy" within this section. Westchester Apartments v. Keroes (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 32 A. 2d 869).

In testing landlord's right to possession under this chapter permitting landlord to obtain possession for immediate and personal use, the spirit as well as the letter of the law should be considered and flimsy showing should not form basis for ousting tenant. Gould v. Butler (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 31 A. 2d 867).

Where landlord sought possession of premises for his immediate and personal use as dwelling within this chapter, the fact that surrender of premises to landlord would result in ousting eight roomers who had rented from tenant and were not parties to action did not deprive landlord of right to possession. Id.

The fact that landlord worked in Alexandria, Va., did not deprive him of protective purview of this chapter which permits landlord in good faith to recover possession of property for his immediate and personal use and occupancy as a dwelling. Id.

Purchaser of residential property in order to obtain possession thereof as against vendor's tenant was required to establish his claim under exception in this section prohibiting maintenance of action for possession of housing accommodations against a tenant. Mason v. Curro (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 41 A. 2d 164).

Where there was no evidence to contradict landlord's good faith or her need of dwelling house for her own personal use and occupancy as a dwelling, she was entitled to possession under this section for her immediate and personal use and occupancy as a dwelling. Olessoff v. Osbourn (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 514).

The fact that landlord's sister and brother-in-law who proposed to move in with landlord had lived in their present quarters for 20 years, did not preclude landlord from recovering possession of house under this section for her immediate and personal use and occupancy as a dwelling. Id.

Where it is established that the sale of residence is made in good faith and the purchase is made for immediate personal use and occupancy as a dwelling, the right to recover possession against tenant under subsection (b) (3) of this section is not affected by fact that the purchaser contracted not directly with the legal owner but with one who contracted to buy from the legal owner, nor by fact that the sale was for a profit. Knowles v. Mosher (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 45 A. 2d 755).

Subsection (b) of this section, although prohibiting dispossession of tenant continuing to pay rent, does not preclude dispossession of tenant who fails to pay rent. Tamamian v. Gabbard (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 55 A. 2d 513).

Where in suit for possession of property purchased at foreclosure sale, defendant had previously owned the property but had defaulted on the second trust note, the defense that when the deed of trust was foreclosed, defendants automatically became tenants at will under § 45–822 and could not be ousted by reason of § 45–1605 is not applicable since the property does not constitute housing accommodations within the meaning of § 45–1611. Suratt v. Real Estate Exchange, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 76 A. 2d 587).

Contracts, where possible, are to be given their ordinary meaning. Tenants who purchased stock in a hotel operated on a semi-cooperative basis gained no estate in the land. Beck v. Bechtel Hotel (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 72 A. 2d 36).

Landlord's claim that she could not be required to restore the premises to tenant because she had spent money in improvements and had installed other tenants in the accommodations is without merit, since the improvements were made and premises rented to other tenants during the pendency of an appeal from a judgment in her favor. Quick v. Paregol (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 211).

Possession on the grounds of substantially altering or remodeling the property may be gained by the landlord only after the plans for remodeling have been approved and after suit has been filed in the court. Id.

Landlord's contention that restitution will not be ordered after the tenant's term has expired is without merit, since it ignores the effect of the Act which gives tenants the right to continued occupancy of the housing accommodations so long as rent control continues and so long as they pay their rent and comply with the terms of the tenancy. Id.

Presumptions

Where lack of good faith of landlord who sought to recover possession of housing accommodations for personal occupancy as a dwelling under subsection (b) (2) of this section had been established in prior suit, presumption was, in absence of evidence to contrary, that such lack continued to exist, especially in view of comparatively short time elapsing between the two suits, and landlord was required to produce evidence of new facts and changed situation to overcome previously established fact of absence of good faith and presumption of its continuance. Black v. Tamamian (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 547).

Prior judgment as bar

Action by owners for possession of residential property under this chapter, on ground that they desired possession for their immediate use as a dwelling, was not barred by prior judgment for defendant in action between same parties, where transcript showed that, when prior judgment was introduced in evidence, owners' attorney stated without contradiction that findings for defendant were based on fact that 30-day notice to quit required by § 45–904 to be served on tenant to terminate tenancy had been invalidated by acceptance of rent by owners' rental agent for a period extending beyond expiration date of notice, and present action was brought after expiration date of the second notice. Klein v. Fields (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 32 A. 2d 398).

Landlord was not entitled to possession because of allegedly unlawful use of leased premises by tenant where law was so modified while action for possession was pending that use complained of was no longer unlawful and such use had not injured physical property, estate or purse of landlord and was the very use contemplated under original letting. Cosby v. Shoemaker (D. C. Mun. App. 1943, 34 A. 2d 27).

Premises used for dwelling purposes were subject to this chapter and landlord could not recover possession except by establishing violation by tenant of provisions of this chapter. Id.

If complaint which alleged that tenant left leased premises as result of stipulation signed by himself and his attorney and in compliance with resulting judgment in landlord's action under this chapter to secure possession, and which further alleged that landlord's statement in the action in regard to his intention to immediately use designated premises as a dwelling were false, were construed as an attack on the judgment in the landlord and tenant proceeding, the complaint was a collateral attack on the judgment and did not state a cause of action. Simpkins v. Brooks (D.C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 549). See, also, Resnick v. Hammond (D.C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 495).

Proceeding to recover possession

In landlord's action to recover possession of apartment, where judgment for possession was entered December 2, 1941, with stay of execution until January 31, 1942, pursuant to stipulation of parties, and tenant paid rent for December and January, landlord's direction to clerk in March, 1942, to issue writ of restitution for possession constituted the "maintaining of a proceeding" against a "tenant in possession" of "housing accommodations" within this chapter, and therefore writ of restitution was improperly granted in absence of compliance with this chapter. Myers v. H. L. Rust Co. (1943, 134 F. 2d 417, 77 U.S. App. D. C. 218).

Where amount of rent overcharges was more than sufficient to offset the rent due the landlord, the landlord's claim for possession of premises from tenant was properly denied. Morning Star Lodge No. 40 v. Harris (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 93 A. 2d 288).

Where writ of restitution obtained by landlords against tenant expired, but tenant left the premises because of threats that other writs would be obtained and that she would be forcibly evicted, eviction did not constitute a wrongful eviction, even though landlords never occupied the property for their immediate and personal use and occupancy as dwelling house, but instead immediately after tenant had vacated, sold it to others. Smith v. Bozzi (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 83 A. 2d 436).

Under this section, the procedure in landlord's action against tenant for possession of premises, except for restrictions as to grounds upon which landlord may claim right of possession, remains the same as it was previously. Warthen v. Lamas (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 759).

The effect of this section restricting landlord's right to recover possession of housing accommodations is to create a noncontractual statutory right of possession in tenant, continuing at his option beyond expiration of his lease or rental agreement by depriving landlord, unless he claims under one of the permitted grounds, of right to maintain an action for possession. Id.

In proceeding in landlord and tenant court, where informality of pleading has always been the rule, to recover demised premises on the sole ground that tenancy had been terminated by notice failure of complaint to show that premises were exempt from this chapter did not require dismissal. United States v. Wittek (D.C. Mun. App. 1946, 48 A. 2d 805, reversed and remanded on other grounds 171 F. 2d 8, 83 U.S. App. D.C. 337, reversed and remanded on other grounds 69 S. Ct. 1108, 337 U.S. 346, 93 L. Ed. 1406).

Where complaint alleged termination of tenancy by notice and sought recovery of demised premises, even if premises were housing accommodations governed by this chapter, it was still possible that plaintiff could have stated a cause of action by alleging that tenants had violated a condition of their tenancy, and proper procedure was to grant motion to dismiss with leave to amend. Id.

Rent Act does not require that the person suing for possession be the owner of a fee simple title. It is sufficient if the plantiff be the landlord. Glennon v. Butler (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 66 A. 2d 519).

A landlord may recover possession of his property when occupancy is sought in good faith and not to evade or defeat the purpose of the Act, even though it is shown that he will not require the whole thereof as a personal dwelling but only when there has been a full disclosure of this information at the trial. Frankfurt v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 197).

Where housing development was originally built by the United States and later sold to a veteran's co-operative housing association, and a member thereof sued for possession of an individual apartment for personal use, decision does not turn on whether appellant is a landlord, but rather upon the legal effect of a series of contracts and transfers of title affecting the project as a whole and the individual apartment involved. Appellant's argument that the agreement to extend appellee's lease until the end of rent control was made without consideration to him and therefor void is unfounded because, if consideration exists, it is not necessary that it run to the person seeking to enforce the agreement. Owens v. Liff (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A 2d 921).

Purpose

The purpose of subsection (b) of this section was to protect tenant's possession and not to give to tenant means of effective subletting which tenant did not previously have. Keroes v. Westchester Apartment (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 36 A. 2d 263).

Subsection (b) (3) of this section permitting landlord to recover possession of premises when he has in good faith contracted to sell the property for immediate personal use is to protect tenant from being evicted under a simulated sale. Knowles v. Mosher (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 45 A. 2d 755).

Questions of fact

In tenant's suit against landlords to recover for certain alleged rental overcharges, whether landlords acted in good faith in collecting alleged above ceiling rental was properly submitted to jury. Parker v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 653).

When there is substantial evidence challenging good faith of landlord in accepting alleged over ceiling rent, a question of fact is raised for determination by jury or trial court. Id.

In action by landlord to recover possession of leased premises on ground that he has in good faith contracted to sell property for immediate and personal use and occupancy by purchaser, good faith is usually question of fact and in testing good faith of suing landlord all circumstances should be considered. Sigmond v. Kern (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 78 A. 2d 236).

When there is substantial evidence challenging good faith of the landlord, in seeking to recover possession of premises allegedly for his own personal use, a question of fact is raised for determination by the jury or trial court. Staves v. Johnson (D.C. Mun. App. 1946, 44 A. 2d 870).

Where there is substantial evidence challenging the good faith of a landlord seeking to recover possession of a house under this section, a question of fact is raised for determination by the jury or trial court. Olessoff v. Osbourn (D.C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 514).

The question whether the housing accommodations involved are new ones not rented on the critical date, or are old ones with substantial capital improvements or alterations, is a question of fact. Such a question must, unless evidence is compelling one way or the other, be decided by the jury. Martin v. Schlein (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 71 A. 2d 614).

Redress for dispossession

This chapter does not provide any civil remedy to a tenant who has been wrongfully dispossessed, and the wrongful ousting of a tenant under this act does not furnish grounds for an action for wrongful eviction, malicious prosecution or abuse of process. Smith v. Bozzi (D.C. Mun. App. 1951, 83 A. 2d 436).

Remodeling

In landlord's action to recover leased premises for immediate purpose of substantially altering and remodeling property, where landlord's plans had been filed and approved by commissioners, and he sought to recover possession in good faith, in absence of a showing of complete inability of landlord to remodel under a new order of National Production Authority, his claim for possession could not be defeated on ground that such order would prohibit anticipated construction. Conrad v. Pisner (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 79 A. 2d 780).

In suit by landlord to obtain possession of dwelling house from tenant for immediate purpose of making substantial alterations and remodeling, landlord was not required to elect whether work of remodeling would be performed by National Housing Agency or by private builder, with both of whom she had negotiated. Klein v. Hilton (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 77).

Landlords, who sought to recover possession of premises under subsection (b) (4) of this section for the immediate purpose of substantially altering and remodeling the property and replacing it with new construction, and who offered evidence that plans therefor had been approved by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia were not required to show, additionally, approval of the work by the Civilian Production Administration. Carow v. Bishop (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 598).

Where landlords seek to recover possession of premises under subsection (a) (4) of this section for immediate purpose of altering and remodeling the property and replacing it with new construction, recovery of possession might be defeated upon showing of complete inability of landlords to remodel because of Civilian Production Administration regulations, but failure to obtain approval of the work by the Administration would not bar the action although the regulations could properly be considered by the court on the question of good faith. Id.

Landlord's suit to recover possession of a dwelling house for the purpose of demolishing it and erecting apartment building on the lot was premature, where construction plans had not been approved by the District of Columbia Commissioners as required by subsection (b) (4) of this section at the time the suit was filed and notice of such approval was not given until almost two months later on the day before the trial of the case. Tatum v. Townsend (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 478).

Residential versus commercial property

Whether property is commercial and therefore free from control, or whether it is partly residential, is ordinarily a question of fact. In determining such an issue, due weight must be given to such factors as whether the parties nave treated the two portions as separate and distinct or as a unit, prior leases, acts of the parties, the time during which the landlord-tenant relationship has existed and the nature and services of the units involved. Such questions should be submitted to the jury. Bellmore v. Baum (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 588).

Where, in prior action against member-tenant for possession of apartment in a cooperatively owned apartment house, issue of rent overcharge was considered and determined by a court having jurisdiction of the parties and subject matter, such determination would have to be considered a final adjudication and would, so long as judgment in the prior action remained unmodified, be res judicata on issue of overcharge in subsequent action between the same parties for double the overcharge. Usher v. 1015 N. Street, N. W. Cooperative Association, etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 120 A. 2d 921).

Where, in prior action for possession of apartment in cooperatively owned apartment house for nonpayment of rent, member-tenant's contention that there had been an overcharge of rent was determined adversely to member-tenant, and judgment therein remained unmodified, such judgment, which was res judicata as to cooperative association, was also res judicata as to association's agents, who collected the rent, in subsequent action by member-tenant against association and the agents for double overcharges of rent for the apartment. Id.

The dismissal of a prior action for possession of housing accommodations brought almost three years before was not res judicata of question of good faith in landlord's present action. Williams v. Thomas (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 79 A. 2d 783).

Judgment of landlord and tenant court in favor of tenant in action by landlord to recover premises for his own use was res judicata in subsequent action in municipal court for same relief. Scholl v. Tibbs (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 36 A. 2d 352).

The fact that landlord, in first action to secure housing accommodations for his own use, described defendant as a tenant at will and in second action described defendant as a monthly tenant, did not avoid application of res judicata doctrine, particularly where briefs filed in first action also described defendant as a monthly tenant. Id.

Where judgment in first action followed a judicial determination of basic controversy as to whether landlord was entitled to maintain a possessory action against tenant, although no formal trial was held, such judgment was conclusive to same extent as if rendered after a formal trial. Id.

An adjudication that landlord in former suit did not seek possession of housing accommodations in good faith for personal occupancy as a dwelling under subsection (b) (2) of this section was not res judicata of question of good faith in landlord's subsequent action under same subsection. Black v. Tamamian (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 547).

Where tenant's petition for rent refund was dismissed for lack of jurisdiction of relief sought, and Administrator had undertaken to make findings on some of the questions in controversy, such findings are without effect and are not res judicata in any other proceedings involving the question. Levy v. Arsenault (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 62 A. 2d 642).

Right to appeal

Where tenant did not yield possession voluntarily but was forced to vacate by writ of restitution which issued after judgment for landlord seeking possession, the question of right to possession was not moot and tenant did not lose her right to appeal, as she would have had she yielded possession voluntarily. Ancher v. Lamb (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 86 A. 2d 533).

Showing premises

Landlord's right under this section to show rented premises for sale must be exercised reasonably and in good faith and cannot be used to harass tenant or unreasonably interfere with his enjoyment of possession. National Metropolitan Bank of Washington v. Judge (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 446).

Refusal by tenant, whose possession depended wholly on this chapter, to permit landlord to show property for sale at reasonable times, was a violation of an obligation of tenancy which, if persisted in, would authorize order for surrender of premises. Id.

Landlord's right to sell, reserved to landlord under subsection (b) (1, 3) of this section, includes right to show premises at reasonable times. Id.

Stage of proceedings

Where trial court misinterpreted decision on a former appeal when case was remanded, and reinstated its earlier ruling, such action constituted error. It follows that while the case was pending before the Administrator on such remand and until a new ceiling was fixed, the monthly rental continued to apply. Acuino v. Winthrop (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 602).

Stay of proceedings

Where judgment of another court first obtaining jurisdiction enjoined owner from conveying property to colored persons and subsequently the judgment was stayed pending an appeal, whereupon the property was bought by colored persons who instituted proceeding against tenant to obtain possession for their own personal use, dismissal of plaintiff's proceedings was error, but the proceedings should have been stayed until disposition of appeal in first case. Williams v. Pearson (D. C. Mun App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 663).

The Municipal Court for District of Columbia did not have the power, in order to accomplish ends of justice, to temporarily stay execution of judgment in favor of landlords suing tenant for possession of leased housing accommodations. Conrad v. Medina (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 562).

Subletting

Where § 45–1611 provides that the term "tenant" includes a person entitled to the use of any housing accommodations, but the definitions of said § 45–1611 are expressly limited to "as used in this Act [chapter]", such definitions are controlling for the purposes of this chapter but do not purport to make that a subletting, which was not a subletting prior to this chapter, and hence the taking of roomers does not violate a covenant against "subletting" without landlord's written consent. Beall v. Everson (D. C. Mun. App. 1943, 34 A. 2d 41).

Where tenant under verbal hiring by the month removed herself from rented apartment and sublet it to another with landlord's consent for a designated period, after expiration of such period, landlord was entitled to possession of the apartment on ground that tenant was violating "obligation of tenancy" within subsection (b) (1) (a) of this section. Keroes v. Westchester Apartments (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 36 A. 2d 263).

Tenant by sufferance

Tenancy under verbal hiring by the month, though deemed a tenancy at sufferance by § 45–820 is not an estate at sufferance within strict meaning of the common-law term, but is more in the nature of an estate, from month to month, or an estate at will, and until this section became effective was determinable at any time. Keroes v. Westchester Apartments (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 36 A. 2d 263).

A tenant continuing in possession and paying rent under an expired lease becomes a tenant at sufferance and such tenancy is impliedly subject to the provisions of the expired lease. Where with the implied consent of the landlord, the tenant used the major part of the premises for residence purposes, it is clear that the accommodations come within the meaning of the Rent Act. Friedman v. Sherman (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 74 A. 2d 57).

Tenant's rescission

This section, prohibiting actions by landlord to recover possession even though tenant has no lease or though his lease has expired, restricts landlord's right to evict tenant and does not apply to actions by tenants for rescission for landlord's violation of this chapter or regulation thereunder. Friedman v. Kennedy (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 72).

Terms of lease

To require a man and his wife and a child to sign separate rental agreements and use such agreements as a basis for charging a higher rental would constitute an obvious evasion of this chapter as it is entirely clear that the per person rental was not intended to apply to members of a family unit. Block v. Gates (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 295).

Unlawful eviction

A complaint which alleged that tenant left leased premises as the result of stipulation signed by himself and his attorney and in compliance with the resulting judgment in landlord's action under this chapter to secure possession failed to charge an "unlawful eviction," notwithstanding that it was alleged that landlord's statement in his action in regard to his intention to use premises for his own immediate personal use as a dwelling were fraudulent. Simpkins v. Brooks (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 49 A. 2d 549).

If complaint, which alleged that tenant left leased premises as result of stipulation signed by himself and his attorney and in compliance with resulting judgment in landlord's action under this chapter to secure premises for his personal use as a dwelling, was not intended as an attack on the previous judgment, but intended to relate only to events occurring since the judgment, mere allegation that premises were available March 15, and that landlord had not moved in by June 24 did not, without more, show that tenant was fraudulently evicted. Id.

Waiver

Whether there was constructive waiver of covenant in lease against subletting by landlord's acceptance of rent must be determined as of date when landlord's action to recover possession of leased property because of such subletting was commenced. Hall v. Henry J. Robb, Inc. (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 32 A. 2d 707).

A landlord's acceptance of monthly rent payment three days after commencement of his suit against tenant to recover possession of leased property because of defendant's breach of lease by subletting did not constitute "waiver" of such breach. Id.

Where landlord, at time premises were rented, understood that entire premises were to be occupied by a daughter of tenants, but tenants divided premises into apartments which they sublet and landlord, with full knowledge of the subletting, continued to accept monthly rent in advance for four years without making any protest regarding the subletting, landlord waived right to claim that subletting constituted a violation of an obligation of the tenancy so as to secure eviction of tenants under subsection (b) (1) of this section. Thompson v. Gray (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 594).

§ 45–1606. Administrator.

There is hereby created in and for the District of Columbia the Office of Administrator of Rent Control. The Administrator shall be appointed by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia and shall be a bona fide resident of the District of Columbia for not less than three years prior to his appointment. He shall devote his full time to the Office of Administrator and shall receive a salary at the rate of $12,000 per annum. The Administrator shall establish offices, acquire supplies and equipment, and employ such personnel subject to approval by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and in accordance with section 305, chapter 51, subchapter III of chapter 53, and sections 5341, 5342, 5504, 5509 and 7154, of title 5, U.S. Code [relating to the classification of government employees and related matters], without regard to race or creed, as may be necessary in the performance of his functions under this chapter. The Administrator shall submit a semiannual report to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia for transmittal to the Congress of the United States. (Dec. 2, 1941, 55 Stat. 791, ch. 553, § 6; June 30, 1951, 66 Stat. 103, ch. 192, § 1.)

CODIFICATION

The reference in this section to "section 305, chapter 51, subchapter III of chapter 53, and sections 5341, 5342, 5504, 5509 and 7154, of title 5, U.S. Code [relating to the classification of employees and related matters]" was substituted for "the Classification Act of 1949", on authority of § 7(b) of act Sept. 6, 1966, Pub. L. 89–554, set out in note under § 1–251. The Classification Act of 1949, as amended (Oct. 28, 1949, 63 Stat. 954, ch. 782, as amended), was repealed by act Sept. 6, 1966, 80 Stat. 632, Pub. L. 89–554, § 8(a) (of which § 1 revised and enacted title 5, U.S.C., into law), and is now covered by the provisions of title 5, U.S.C., cited.

AMENDMENTS

1952—Act May 8, 1952, increased the yearly salary of the Office of Administrator from $11,200 to $12,000, effective July 1, 1951.

1951—Act June 30, 1951, increased the administrator's salary from $7,500 per annum to $11,200 per annum and substituted "the Classification Act of 1949" for "the Classification Act of 1923, as amended".

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1951 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act June 30, 1951, effective July 1, 1951, see § 2 of act June 30, 1951, set out as a note under § 45–1601.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

Reorg. Order No. 44 of the Board of Commissioners dated June 23, 1953 established under the direction and control of a Commissioner, an Office of the Administrator of Rent Control headed by an Administrator. The order abolished the previously existing Office of the Administrator of Rent Control and transferred to the new Office all functions and positions of the old Office of the Administrator of Rent Control, and further provided that all personnel, property, records and unexpended balances relating to the functions and positions transferred were similarly transferred to the new Office of the Administrator of Rent Control. This order was issued pursuant to Reorg. Plan No. 5 of 1952. The order and plan are set out in the Appendix to title 1, Administration.

§ 45–1607. Obtaining information.

(a) The Administrator may make such studies and investigations, and obtain or require the furnishing of such information under oath or affirmation or otherwise, as he deems necessary or proper to assist him in prescribing any regulation or order under this chapter, or in the administration and enforcement of this chapter, and regulations and orders thereunder. For such purposes the Administrator may administer oaths and affirmations; may require, by subpena or otherwise, the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of documents at any designated place; may require persons to permit the inspection and copying of documents, and the inspection of housing accommodations; and may, by regulation or order, require the making and keeping of records and other documents. No person shall be excused from complying with any requirement under this section because of his privilege against self-incrimination, but the immunity provisions of the Compulsory Testimony Act of February 11, 1893 (U. S. C., 1934 edition, title 49, sec. 46), shall apply with respect to any individual who specifically claims such privilege. In the event of contumacy or refusal to obey any such subpena or requirement under this section, the Administrator may make application to the United States District Court for the District of Columbia for an order requiring obedience thereto. Thereupon the court, with or without notice and hearing, as it in its discretion may decide, shall make such order as is proper and may punish as a contempt any failure to comply with such order.

(b) The Administrator shall have authority to promulgate, issue, amend, or rescind rules and regulations, subject to approval by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and to issue such orders as may be deemed necessary or proper to carry out the purposes and provisions of this chapter or to prevent the circumvention or evasion thereof. (Dec. 2, 1941, 55 Stat. 792, ch 553, § 7; Sept. 26, 1942, 56 Stat. 759, ch. 564, § 2; June 30, 1951, 65 Stat. 103, ch. 192, § 1.)

AMENDMENTS

1951—Subsec. (b) was amended by act June 30, 1951, which deleted the last three sentences providing for the issuance of a license "as a condition of engaging in any rental transaction involving the subletting of any housing accommodations or the renting of housing accommodations in a rooming or boarding house, or in a hotel"; defining "rooming or boarding house"; and providing that there would be no fee charged for such license. The provisions of the license were restricted to those outlined by the chapter and those which could be prescribed by "regulation, order, or requirement thereunder".

1942—Subsec. (b) was amended by act Sept. 26, 1942, which deleted "two" and inserting in lieu thereof word "four" in third sentence.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1951 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act June 30, 1951, effective July 1, 1951, see § 2 of act June 30, 1951, set out as a note under § 45–1601.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Contracts

Where under this chapter, Administrator's regulation prescribed certain duties for rooming-house operators, including duty of filing schedules and of having maximum rentals established, this chapter entered into and formed a part of contract for sale of rooming-house business as if expressly referred to or incorporated in terms of contract. Tucker v. Beazley (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 57 A. 2d 191).

Validity of orders

Order of rent administrator requiring landlords of premises newly placed on rental market to file an application for determination of a maximum ceiling before any future tenancy begins, which order was duly issued and promulgated and was designed to keep landlords from fixing their own rent ceiling without prior approval by the administrator, is valid as being clearly consonant with basic purposes of this chapter. Watkins v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 227).

§ 45–1608. Procedure.

(a) Any petition filed by a landlord or tenant under section 45–1604 shall be promptly referred to an examiner designated by the Administrator. Notice of such action, in such manner as the Administrator shall by regulation prescribe, shall be given the tenant and landlord of the housing accommodations involved. If the petition be frivolous or without merit, the examiner shall forthwith dismiss it. Such order of dismissal may be reviewed by the Administrator in the manner provided in subsection (c) of this section. The examiner shall grant a hearing upon the petition except in cases dismissed under this subsection.

(b) Hearings under this section shall be conducted in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Administrator. The landlord and tenant shall be given an opportunity to be heard or to file written statements, due regard to be given the utility and relevance of the information offered and the need for expedition. In any such hearing the common-law rules of evidence shall not be controlling.

(c) The examiner, after hearing, shall make findings of fact and recommend an appropriate order. Copies of such findings and order shall be served upon the parties to the proceeding in such manner as the Administrator may prescribe by regulation. Within ten days after such service, any such party may request that the recommended order be reviewed by the Administrator. If there be no such request within such ten days, the findings and recommended order of the examiner shall thereupon be deemed to be the findings and order of the Administrator: Provided, That the Administrator may review the proceedings, as herein provided, on his own motion at any time within twenty days after service of the examiner's findings and order upon the parties. The Administrator may, in his discretion, grant a hearing upon the request. Upon such request or motion, the record in the case shall be forthwith transferred to the Administrator for review and he may, in his discretion, grant a hearing. He shall state his findings of fact or affirm the examiner's findings of fact which findings in either case shall be conclusive if supported by substantial evidence, and shall make an appropriate order. (Dec. 2, 1941, 55 Stat. 792, ch. 553, § 8; June 30, 1951, 65 Stat. 104, ch. 192, § 1.)

AMENDMENT

1951—Subsec. (c) was amended by act June 30, 1951, which substituted "ten days" wherever "five days" appeared, and "twenty days" for "ten days".

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1951 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act June 30, 1951, effective July 1, 1951, see § 2 of act June 30, 1951, set out as a note under § 45–1601.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Adjustment of rent

Under this chapter, Rent Administrator cannot set aside a valid and subsisting lease between parties providing for lower rentals than rent ceiling established by Administrator. Hildebrand v. Nee (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 54 A. 2d 640).

The proper method to be used in administering this chapter is that the examiner and the Administrator should consider the various items of operating expenses for the base year and for the last year of operation and should make such adjustments as are necessary, based upon expenses for the intervening years and other relevant data. Sharpe v. Goldwyn (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 185).

Administartive review, necessity

Where rent ceiling during period of tenants' occupancy was based on landlord's misrepresentations but examiner in proceedings for a redetermination of ceiling refused to set a new ceiling on ground that premises had been withdrawn from rental market, so that ceiling under which tenants had paid rent remained the only ceiling which had been fixed for property, and tenants did not seek administrative or statutory review of examiner's order, tenants could not establish over-ceiling charges for rent on which to base an action to recover double amount allegedly collected by landlord in excess of rent ceiling. Schachter v. Singer (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 45 A. 2d 364).

Construction with other laws

Without an existing maximum rent ceiling or maximum service standard as defined in § 45–1602, a proceeding for adjustment under § 45–1604 was unauthorized, and the procedural and review provisions of this section and § 45–1609 were inapplicable. Sager v. Stamps (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 113).

Dismissal

The Municipal Court has exclusive jurisdiction over actions by tenants to recover rent over-charges and Penalties. The Rent Administrator was correct in ordering a petition for such recovery dismissed since he has no jurisdiction. Levy v. Arsenault (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 62 A. 2d 642).

Equitable estoppel

Where landlord petitioned under § 45–1604 for an adjustment, and where Administrator made no determination, it did not preclude landlord from asserting as a defense to tenant's suit for damages that the examiner's recommended order was not a sufficient basis for tenant's suit. The principles of equitable estoppel do not apply where the legal position first asserted is not successfully maintained. Parker v. Sager (1949, 174 F. 2d 657, 85 U. S. App. D. C. 4).

Evidence

In proceedings on tenants' petitions for adjustments in rent and service, rent examiner did not err in permitting witnesses, who had no independent recollection, to read, from prepared statements, items of expenditures made by landlord. Reynolds v. Korman (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 362).

Findings conclusive

Where trial court found on conflicting evidence that there was no refusal of landlord to furnish services required by Rent Administrator's order, appellate court was bound by such finding. Hicks v. Behrend (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 78).

Where evidence sustained Rent Administrator's finding that landlord was entitled to a 10 percent increase in rents under section 1604 (b) of this title, Municipal Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia would be violating fundamental principles applicable to court review of administrative findings, to hold that administrator's conclusion was not supported by substantial evidence or was plainly wrong. Stokes v. Realest Corp. (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 532).

Findings of fact

Rent Administrator's finding of fact, concededly authorized and material to unappealed ruling made by him in proceeding to adjust upward the rent ceilings, could not subsequently be attacked in another proceeding between the same parties. Aiken v. Cogswell et al. (1953, 201 F. 2d 705, 91 U. S. App. D. C. 339).

In proceedings on tenants' petitions for adjustments in rent and service, rent examiner's findings and recommended orders failed to disclose basic findings of fact. Reynolds v. Korman (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 362).

Whether housing accommodations are new ones not rented on critical date under this chapter, or are old ones with substantial capital improvements or alterations, is a question of fact, which must be decided by trier of facts unless evidence is compelling one way or the other. Marcellino v. Gaither (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 86 A. 2d 529).

Rent Administrator on landlord's petition for adjustment in rent ceilings is not bound by common law rules of evidence and he has inherent right to take judicial notice of certain facts not presented in evidence, but is not allowed right to reach an ultimate fact determinative of case without the slightest attempt to incorporate into record the basic facts essential to his conclusion. Aquino v. Knox (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 237).

Findings of fact by Rent Administrator on landlord's petition for adjustment in rent ceilings need not be set out in detail but they must be shown with substantial particularity to enable petitioner seeking review of Administrator's order to rebut them, and a reviewing court to follow path which has been used. Id.

Where the Rent Administrator, upon review of the findings of the examiner, states his findings of fact or affirms the facts as found, such findings shall be conclusive if supported by substantial evidence. Winkler v. Ballard (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 669).

Findings of fact made by examiner and approved by the Administrator, that landlord had not violated the minimum service standard with respect to bed linen were beyond the power of the examiner or Administrator where the evidence showed laxity in cleaning petitioner's room. Levy v. Arsenault (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 62 A. 2d 642).

Orders reviewable

This chapter nowhere expressly authorizes control of meal charges. If, as the Administrator claimed, the meal rates were subject to control, such control rests on the premise that the furnishing of meals is a privilege or facility connected with the use and occupancy of the housing accommodations and therefore a part of the service standard. Until the service standard was completed, the rent ceiling could not be completed. Hearn v. Cogswell (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 219).

Petition

Landlord's complaint seeking to recover possession of dwelling property under this chapter would not be held bad because it did not contain an allegation that proceeding was in good faith. De Bobula v. Coppedge (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 255).

Rehearing

Where landlord insisted that a hearing de novo be ordered, new evidence be received, and new findings be made by District of Columbia Rent Administrator following a recommended order by examiner denying increase requested by landlord, landlord could not complain that effective date of the increase as ordered was postponed by reason of the second hearing and order. Thorn v. Miller (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 223).

Contention that landlord was denied a hearing is without foundation where the case had already been heard and was not remanded for a hearing on all the issues and where upon an inspection of the premises by the examiner in the presence of counsel for the Administrator, the landlord and his manager neither tendered nor offered additional evidence. These facts constituted a sufficient hearing. Block v. Tenants (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 70 A. 2d 59).

Res judicata

Where tenant's petition for rent refund was dismissed for lack of jurisdiction of relief sought, and Administrator had undertaken to make findings on some of the questions in controversy, such findings are without effect and are not res judicata in any other proceedings involving the question. Levy v. Arsenault (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 62 A. 2d 642).

Time for appeal

Where tenants' motions for rehearing by Rent Examiner and for review by Rent Administrator were filed within times permitted by regulations, and petition for judicial review was filed within ten days after Administrator's final order, appeal was timely, notwithstanding fact that more than 20 days had elapsed between entry of examiner's findings and filing of petition for judicial review. Reynolds v. Korman (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 362).

§ 45–1609. Court review.

(a) Within ten days after issuance of an order of the Administrator under section 45–1604, any party may file a petition to review such action in the District of Columbia Court of Appeals and shall forthwith serve a copy of such petition upon the Administrator. Thereupon, the Administrator shall certify and file with the court a transcript of the record upon which the order complained of was entered. Upon the filing of such transcript, the court shall have exclusive jurisdiction to affirm or set aside such order, or remand the proceeding: Provided, That the Administrator may at any time, upon reasonable notice and modify, or set aside, in whole or in part, any in such manner as he shall deem proper, rescind, such order of the Administrator at any time notwithstanding the pendency of the petition to review.

(b) No objection that has not been urged before the Administrator shall be considered by the court unless the failure to urge such objection shall be excused because of extraordinary circumstances. No order shall be set aside or remanded unless the petitioner shall establish to the satisfaction of the court that the order is not in accordance with law, or is not supported by substantial evidence. The commencement of proceedings under this section shall not, except as provided in subsection (d), operate as a stay of the Administrator's order.

(c) The District of Columbia Court of Appeals is hereby granted exclusive jurisdiction to review any order of the Administrator made pursuant to section 45–1604. The judgment and decree of the court shall be final, subject to review as provided by law relative to other judgments of the court.

(d) No court shall issue any interlocutory order or decree staying the effectiveness of any provision of this chapter or any regulation or order issued thereunder unless the person objecting to such provision, regulation, or order shall file with the court an undertaking with a surety or sureties satisfactory to the court for the payment, in the event such objection is not sustained, of the amount by which the maximum rent, if any, permitted under such provision, regulation, or order exceeds or is less than the amount actually received or paid while such stay is in effect. (Dec. 2, 1941, 55 Stat. 793, ch. 553, § 9; Apr. 29, 1948, 62 Stat. 206, ch. 243, § 3; June 30, 1951, 65 Stat. 104, ch. 192, § 1; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 78, Pub. L. 88–60, § 6.)

AMENDMENTS

1951—Subsec. (a) was amended by act June 30, 1951, which added "of the administrator" following "order" in the proviso.

Subsec. (c) was amended by act June 30, 1951, which deleted "Three judges of the municipal court, selected in such rotation as the judges of the court shall determine, shall sit in all proceedings under this section and shall participate in the decision of such cases."

CHANGE OF NAME

1948—Act Apr. 29, 1948, substituted "Municipal Court of Appeals" for "Municipal Court" in the first sentence of subsection (a) and first sentence of subsection (c).

Act July 8, 1963, § 6, substituted "District of Columbia Court of Appeals" for "Municipal Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia". Provisions identical with those of said section 6 were contained in act Oct. 23, 1962, 76 Stat. 1172, Pub. L. 88–873, § 6, which was replealed by act Dec. 23, 1963, 77 Stat. 629, Pub. L. 88–241, § 21(a). See section 11–101.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1951 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act June 30, 1951, effective July 1, 1951, see § 2 of act June 30, 1951, set out as a note under § 45–1601.

SUITS PENDING IN THREE-JUDGE COURT

Section 4 of act Apr. 29, 1948, provided that: "All cases now pending before the statutory three-judge court of the municipal court which have not been presented to that court for decision at the time this Act [amending §§ 45–1601, 45–1602, and 45–1609] takes effect shall forthwith be certified by said court to the Municipal Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. Nothing herein contained shall affect the validity of any judgment or decree of the statutory court (consisting of three judges of the municipal court as heretofore provided by law) rendered subsequent to the effective date [Apr. 29, 1948] of this Act in cases heretofore presented to that court and now awaiting decision."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Administrator's determination

The order of the Rent Administrator fixing the rent ceiling made under § 45–1602 (1) (c) is not appealable, and, furthermore, a finding of fact is not an appealable order. Weiner v. McMahon (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 67 A. 2d 525).

Affirmance

In tenant's proceeding before District of Columbia Rent Administrator on petition for adjustment of rent or services, wherein tenants sought determination only that premises were rented on statutory freeze date for claimed sum per month, and such matter was one which could properly be decided only by the Municipal Court, Administrator's dismissal of tenant's petition was proper and was affirmed notwithstanding it was based on wrong reason. Schlein v. Evans (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 35).

Burden of proof

One seeking a reversal in an appellate court has the burden of affirmatively establishing error. Jennings v. Gilbertson (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 74 A. 2d 839).

Compelling orders

Three-judge Municipal Court of District of Columbia could not require Administrator of Rent Control to promulgate an order that collection of rent for accommodations as to which no ceiling had been fixed is subject to refunding to tenant of excess over ceiling subsequently determined. Kern v. Cogswell (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 59 A. 2d 793).

Construction

Subsection (a) of this section must be read in conjunction with subsection (c) of this section. Fabianich v. Hart (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 31 A. 2d 881).

Construction with other laws

Without an existing maximum rent ceiling or maximum service standard as defined in § 45–1602, a proceeding for adjustment under § 45–1604 was unauthorized, and the procedural and review provisions of § 45–1608 and this section were inapplicable. Sager v. Stamps (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 113).

Equitable estoppel

Where landlord petitioned under § 45–1604 for an adjustment, and where Administrator made no determination, it did not preclude landlord from asserting as a defense to tenant's suit for damage that the examiner's recommended order was not a sufficient basis for tenant's suit. The principles of equitable estoppel do not apply where the legal position first asserted is not successfully maintained. Parker v. Sager (1949, 174 F. 2d 657, 85 U. S. App. D. C. 4).

Evidence

On appeal from order of Rent Administrator refusing rent ceiling adjustment to landlord for the furnishing of an apartment, evidence sustained administrator's finding that landlord's rent was sufficiently high in the first instance without requiring any upward adjustment to compensate him for the furnishings. Zenith Apartments v. Adams (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 90 A. 2d 223).

Final orders

Denial of a preliminary injunction is not a final order nor is it a form of an interlocutory order from which appeal lies. Levy v. Arsenault (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 671).

Findings of fact

In proceedings on tenants' petitions for adjustments in rent and service, rent examiner's findings and recommended orders failed to disclose basic findings of fact with that substantial particularity required by this chapter. Reynolds v. Korman (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 362).

Rent Administrator is not concerned with net income from housing accommodations, but only with increase in rent sufficient to compensate in whole or in part for increased operating expenses. Hall v. Ring Management Company (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 656).

Where examiner's findings that reduction in service did not form sufficient basis for an adjustment of maximum rent is supported by substantial evidence, it will not be set aside. Id.

Findings of fact and conclusions of law

It was not error for the trial court to deny appellant's request for findings of fact and conclusions of law, for trial court rules provide that in actions tried on the facts without a jury the court may, if requested by any party, find the facts specially and state separately its conclusions of law. The rule is permissive, not mandatory. Eide v. Traten (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 73 A. 2d 522).

Judgment

Judgment on reciprocal claims between different parties should be set off against each other and satisfaction of both should be entered in the amount of the smaller claim. Block v. Gates (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 215, modified on other grounds 68 A. 2d 898).

Judicial notice

Court will take judicial notice that during the war the government and various persons in official and unofficial positions urged that the public forego luxury items which consumed manpower and critical war materials. It cannot be said as a matter of law that the landlord's refusal to supply such items rendered him guilty of a service standard violation. Connolly v. B. F. Saul Co., Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 236).

Moot questions

Where payment of judgment in action to recover double rent under § 45–1610, if any, was an involuntary one, issue in case was not rendered moot. King v. McKnight (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 714).

Where in the record itself, nothing is revealed concerning an alleged payment, court cannot resolve dispute in respect thereof on the basis of contradictory statements in the brief. Acuino v. Winthrop (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 602).

Orders rescinded

Section 9 of the Rent Act authorizes the Administrator at any time to rescind, modify, or set aside a section 4 order, but a section 4 order cannot be summarily set aside and a new order entered without consideration of the evidence offered. Hearn v. Cogswell (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 219).

Orders reviewable

This section, giving municipal court exclusive jurisdiction to review any order of the administrator made "pursuant to" section 45–1604, refers to orders specifically provided for said § 45–1604, and does not authorize review of any order made in course of proceeding under § 45–1604. Fabianich v. Hart (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 31 A. 2d 881).

Under this section giving municipal court exclusive jurisdiction to review orders made pursuant to § 45–1604 and under § 45–1604, authorizing only orders definitely fixing new rent ceilings or adjusted minimum service requirements, municipal court had no jurisdiction to review order directing rehearing in proceeding under said section 45–1604. Id.

A general order of Administrator of Rent Control requiring landlords to file petitions for determination of maximum rent ceilings, and reciting that, until further notice, Administrator will assume, but not concede, that first rent collected by landlord is fair and reasonable, was not an adoption of rent then charged as a "maximum rent ceiling", and landlord's petition for court review of adjustment of rent or service on basis of such order was properly dismissed. Sager v. Stamps (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 38 A. 2d 113).

Municipal Court of Appeals was not required to pass upon the validity of an interpretative order of the Administrator under this chapter, where neither tenant nor landlord had sought a court review of such order. Hall v. Henry J. Robb, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 863).

Where petitioner asserts that there is nothing in the record to indicate by what means the examiner and the Administrator arrived at the ceiling fixed, the claim is without merit where the record shows that testimony was taken and exhibits were introduced and considered on a personal inspection by the examiner. Jennings v. Gilbertson (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 74 A. 2d 839).

Where an error charged relates to the refusal of the examiner to grant a continuance of the hearing, such a refusal is in the field of discretion and is seldom reviewable on appeal. Id.

Rent Act provides that objections not urged before the Administrator shall not be considered by the court, unless failure to urge them shall be excused because of extraordinary circumstances. Where no extraordinary circumstances are presented, orders are not reviewable. Id.

Where the evidence presented showed that the Administrator's determination of the ceiling was under § 2 of the Act, despite the contention of the claimant that it was under § 4, no appeal lies. Cox v. Cogswell (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 69 A. 2d 659).

Where examiner averaged the expenses for years 1942 through 1947, inclusive, and allowed a sufficient rental increase to make up for the excess of such averaged operating expenses over the operating expenses for 1941, such method was improper because it failed to take into account the various items of operating expenses for the base year and intervening years. Shapiro v. Bombardier (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 772).

Where there is a single tenancy and nothing in the record that either landlord or tenant ever regarded it as divisible, no separate toilet facilities for the housing and alleged commercial part thereof, only one heating unit, one meter for electricity, gas and water, it was error for Rent Administrator to rule that the unit was both a commercial and housing accommodation. Wayne v. Burke (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 669).

Contention of Administrator that an order entered under § 45–1607 is not reviewable because Act limits review of those under § 45–1604 is without merit. If this position were correct, then in any § 45–1604 proceeding, after time for review of the order has passed, the Administrator could issue an order under § 45–1607 abrogating or changing the § 45–1604 order and thereby effectively prevent court review of the § 45–1604 proceeding. Hearn v. Cogswell (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 219).

Where ceiling has been regularly and properly established and has stood unchanged throughout the term, it could be rendered invalid only by alteration, or change of the building, real estate, service or facilities. Sawyer v. Warner (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 73 A. 2d 653).

Where petitioner specifically requested Administrator to issue an order declaring a refund for over-charges, failure of the Administrator to bring suit is not reviewable on appeal where no objection was urged before the Administrator, no extraordinary circumstances were shown and no reason shown why petitioner should not have filed suit himself. Levy v. Arsenault (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 62 A. 2d 642).

Orders set aside

Order of Rent Administrator adjusting rent ceilings of various apartments on landlord's petition would be set aside on subsequent petition by landlord as not supported by substantial evidence, and as denying due process where Administrator made general finding that landlord's expenses had increased substantially and entitled landlord to increase to extent allowed and then further found that to give a larger increase would raise rents above those for comparable housing accommodations without showing what if any comparable housing accommodations were used in making up the order. Aquino v. Knox (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 237).

Where examiner and Rent Administrator compared the operating expenses for the last year of operations with those of the first year and granted an increase sufficient to produce in full the increase in expenditures determined by this method, such procedure is improper and must be set aside. Hall et. al v. Ring Management Company (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 656).

Failure of an examiner and Rent Administrator to make detailed findings of fact showing basis for rental increase allowed, and failure to make allowance for the fact that expenses for last year's operation is not typical, is improper and order must be set aside. Id.

Where Rent Administrator averaged expenses for the years 1941 to 1947 inclusive, deducted the 1941 expenses from such average, and granted a sufficient rent increase to produce the difference, such procedure is improper and orders based thereon must be reversed. Proctor v. Miller (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 665).

Petition for review

The petition for review must be dismissed where there is no final order of the Administrator which can be reviewed where the filing of a petition prevented the examiner's recommended order from becoming effective. Parker v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 71 A. 2d 770).

Question for jury

The question whether accommodations involved are new ones, or old ones with substantial capital improvement, is a question of fact for the jury. Sawyer v. Warner (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 653).

Questions not raised below

No objection that has not been urged before the Rent Administrator may be considered by the court unless the failure to urge such objection may be excused because of extraordinary circumstances. Crisp v. Giles (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 204).

Record

Where in District of Columbia Municipal Court tenant's brief described in detail proceedings before Rent Administrator but such statements were unsupported by record, appellate court could not determine whether tenant by applying to Rent Administrator for rent adjustment because of landlord's alleged failure to supply minimum service exhausted remedies and was precluded from recovering damages for failure to supply minimum services. Zindler v. Buchanon (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 616).

It may be that the rent increase ordered by the Administrator was justified by the record before him, but the record does not disclose what the total rent increase in dollars amounted to. On numerous occasions the court has pointed out the necessity of including in the record figures on which at least the approximate correctness of the Administrator's finding may be determined. Corey v. Fitzgerald (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 73 A. 2d 230).

Facts asserted by the petitioner's counsel, which do not appear in the examiner's Statement of Evidence or any other evidentiary form in the record and bear no approval or certification of the Rent Administrator, are not part of the record and cannot be considered on appeal. Bailey v. Maple (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 333).

Remedy as exclusive

The remedy provided by this section for review of the orders of the Administrator is exclusive, and a party dissatisfied with such order must pursue the remedy given, and cannot in an action brought for violation of that order collaterally attack it. Hall v. Henry J. Robb, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 863).

Right of appeal

Statutory authority of Municipal Court of Appeals to review orders of Administrator of Rent Control was not applicable to order of Administrator dismissing application of tenants to reopen case in which examiner recommended an order adjusting maximum rent ceiling, which order became final order of Administrator. Nolan v. Cogswell (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 91 A. 2d 832).

Rent Administrator, for benefit of all litigants, has right to use every available means, including that of appeal, to insure that his orders and regulations, when promulgated, are made effective. Cogswell v. Aiken (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 82 A. 2d 749).

Time for appeal

Where tenants' motions for rehearing by Rent Examiner and for review by Rent Administrator were filed within times permitted by regulations, and petition for judicial review was filed within ten days after Administrator's final order, appeal was timely, notwithstanding fact that more than 20 days had elapsed between entry of examiner's findings and filing of petition for judicial review. Reynolds v. Korman (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 362).

Where 10-day period under subsection (a) of this section for filing of a petition to review an order of Rent Administrator expired on a Sunday, and petition for review was filed with clerk of court on Monday, petition was timely. Wayne v. Burke (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 714). See, also, Wayne v. Burke (D.C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 669).

§ 45–1610. Enforcement—Penalties.

(a) If any landlord receives rent or refuses to render services in violation of any provision of this chapter, or of any regulation or order thereunder prescribing a rent ceiling or service standard, the tenant paying such rent or entitled to such service, or the Administrator on behalf of such tenant, may bring suit to rescind the lease or rental agreement, or, in case of violation of a maximum-rent ceiling, an action for double the amount by which the rent paid exceeded the applicable rent ceiling and, in case of violation of a minimum-service standard, an action for double the value of the services refused in violation of the applicable minimum-service standard or for $50, whichever is greater in either case, plus reasonable attorneys' fees and costs as determined by the court. Any suit or action under this subsection may be brought in the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions regardless of the amount involved, and the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions is hereby given exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine all such cases.

(b) No person shall be held liable for damages or penalties in any court on any grounds for or in respect of anything done or omitted to be done in good faith pursuant to any provision of this chapter or any regulation, order, or requirement thereunder, notwithstanding that subsequently such provision, regulation, order, or requirement may be modified, rescinded, or determined to be invalid. The Administrator may intervene in any suit or action wherein a party relies for ground of relief or defense upon this chapter or any regulation, order, or requirement thereunder. No costs shall be assessed against the Administrator in any proceedings had or taken in accordance with this chapter.

(c) Whenever in the judgment of the Administrator any person has engaged or is about to engage in any acts or practices which constitute or will constitute a violation of this chapter, or any regulation, order, or requirement thereunder, he may make application to the United States District Court for the District of Columbia for an order enforcing compliance with this chapter or such regulation, order, or requirement, and upon a proper showing a permanent or temporary injunction, restraining order, or other order, shall be granted without bond. (Dec. 2, 1941, 55 Stat. 794, ch. 553, § 10; Apr. 19, 1949, 63 Stat. 49, ch. 73, § 6; June 30, 1951, 65 Stat. 105, ch. 192, § 1; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

1951—Act June 30, 1951, redesignated subsecs. (c) and (d) as subsecs. (b) and (c).

1949—Subsec. (b) was repealed by act Apr. 19, 1949.

CHANGE OF NAME

Act July 8, 1963, § substituted "District of Columbia Court of General Sessions" for "municipal court for the District of Columbia". Said section 1 superseded act Oct. 23, 1962, 76 Stat. 1171, Pub. L. 87–873, § 1, which contained identical provisions.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1951 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act June 30, 1951, effective July 1, 1951, see § 2 of act June 30, 1951, set out as a note under § 45–1601.

RECONTROL OF ACCOMMODATIONS

See note under § 45–1601.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Accord and satisfaction

Agreement between the parties which stated that "in consideration of your having permitted us to sub-let the apartment during period that rent control is continued, we release you from and waive any claim against you," was an accord and satisfaction, relieving landlord from liability. Perper v. Danford (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 773).

On question whether a payment by a tenant to a landlord was rent, or whether such payment constituted an accord and satisfaction as to which party should pay for the installation of a new furnace in the rented premises, evidence sustained finding that it was in accord and satisfaction. Bond v. Pinchot (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 66 A. 2d 213).

Administrative findings

Under this chapter, administrator in a proceeding for adjustment of rent ceilings can properly inquire into subject of what premises rented for on freeze date for incidental purpose of enabling him to decide what rent should be, but his finding as to what rent was on that date would not be binding on municipal court in subsequent litigation between the parties for rent overcharges. Evans v. Schlein (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 32).

Admissibility of evidence

Where Municipal Court for District of Columbia in action by tenant against landlord to recover alleged rent overcharge admitted parol evidence of landlord's rent agent that when he made out written form showing ceiling rent he made a mistake, and on appeal Municipal Court of Appeals held that Municipal Court did not err in admitting the parol evidence because written form could be varied by parol testimony as the written form was collateral to fact in issue, and on second trial Municipal Court admitted parol testimony but did not consider parol testimony in making its decision, failure to consider parol testimony was reversible error. Bryant v. Abramowitz (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 44).

In tenant's suit for rent overcharges, wherein landlord contended that payments allegedly made in excess of Rent Act were in fact installment payments on purchase of furniture, erroneous admission of self-serving declaration, in form of landlord's income tax return, would require reversal, where there was evidence from which court could have found that transaction was a scheme and device to avoid this chapter and importance of erroneously admitted evidence was indicated by fact that landlord had persisted in offering it over strenuous objection. Prowant v. Burke (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 90 A. 2d 225).

In action by tenants against landlord and her rental agents to recover statutory penalty for rental overcharge and cross-claim by landlord against her agents for breach of agency agreement, evidence offered by agents to show landlord's lack of good faith was properly excluded, in view of fact that question of good faith was not proper issue. Shenk v. Gaudet (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 83 A. 2d 672).

In roomer's action against owners of rooming house for penalty provided by this section for depriving roomer of minimum service standards, and for damages for unlawful eviction, owner's evidence that roomers conduct constituted a nuisance was not properly admitted, though defense of nuisance was not affirmatively pleaded in the answer. Lindsey v. Watson (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 83 A. 2d 226).

Where plaintiff in action under this section to recover double amount of alleged over-ceiling rents charged was permitted to go outside lease to establish a prima facie violation of section 45–1602, exclusion of evidence rebutting such showing was error, where excluded evidence merely put the lease in its proper setting. Fulton R. Gordon, Inc. v. Schram (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 44 A. 2d 662).

In action under this section to recover double over-ceiling rent charge, where issue was whether landlord had received rent in excess of legal ceiling and lease was offered merely as evidence that defendants contracted for rent in excess of legal ceiling, and hence was collateral to the main issue, parol evidence was admissible to vary terms of lease. Id.

Where parol evidence was necessary to explain two items on face of lease, testimony that individual defendant leased furnished premises to plaintiff in dual capacity as agent of corporate defendant which owned property and as agent of third person who owned furniture and that, in distribution of rent received by individual defendant, corporate defendant did not receive more than maximum rent ceiling, was admissible in tenant's action to recover double amount of alleged over-ceiling rent charges. Id.

In prosecution of landlord for violating an order of rent administrator by failing to file application for determination of maximum rent ceilings before the beginning of a tenancy, negative evidence showing lack of receipt was competent to show landlord's failure to file, and mere statement by official witnesses that there was a possibility that papers might have been lost went only to weight of evidence. Watkins v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 227).

Amendment of pleadings

Where it appeared that defendant in action to recover double rent should have been permitted to restate his defense in an amended answer so that trial court would be able to determine whether complaint and answer presented any issues of fact or whether case was one turning entirely on question of law, refusal to grant defendant leave to file amended answer was improper. King v. McKnight (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 714).

Court's rules permit an amendment to the complaint as a matter of course at any time before a responsive pleading is served. Where defendant has not answered but has filed a motion to dismiss, such a motion is not a responsive pleading within the meaning of the rule. Lustine v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 900).

Amount of recovery

Proof of landlord's violation of the minimum service standard under this section may be made by showing failure to comply with the standard in one or more particulars, but the action is a single action, and where tenant does not prove the value of the services refused, recovery is limited to $50, though the standard was violated in many particulars. Hall v. Henry J. Robb, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 863).

This section is limited to receipt of rent in violation of this chapter or of any provision or order thereunder prescribing a rent ceiling, and finds no support in a failure, however contumacious to comply with Rent Administrator's orders of a different character. Dekelbaum v. Lloyd (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 41 A. 2d 174).

Where this chapter fixed maximum rent to which landlord was entitled for a lease of housing accommodations as $250, lease providing for a monthly rental of $265, was ineffective to raise the rent ceiling, and tenant was entitled to recover under subsection (a) of this section, double the amount paid in excess of the ceiling. Wilner v. Vartanian (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 55 A. 2d 88).

In tenants' action against landlords to recover for overcharge of rent and for failure to maintain minimum service standards under this section, amount of recovery is limited strictly to right to recover twice overcharge and double value of services refused. Evans v. Schlein (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 32).

Under subsection (a) of this section authorizing tenant's recovery only of value of services which landlord fails to furnish, or $50, whichever is greater, when value of services is not proved, only one item of $50 may be recovered. Zindler v. Buchanon (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 616).

A violation of this chapter is to be considered entire. If twice the total over-charge exceeds the $50.00 minimum, such larger amount is the maximum which may be recovered by a tenant and he may not recover $50.00 for each separate violation. Mancuso v. Santucci (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 69 A. 2d 274).

Attorneys' fees and costs

This section contemplates reasonable attorneys' fees in both trial and appellate proceedings, but allowance of such fees must be made by the trial court. Grady v. Prewitt (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 99 A. 2d 755).

Where landlord sought possession of two apartments and tenants counterclaimed for alleged overcharges of rent and trial court entered judgment for landlord and against tenants but only Rent Administrator appealed and framed the issues on appeal, and Municipal Court of Appeals directed trial court to enter judgment on tenants' counterclaims, allowance of counsel fees to tenants was mandatory but amount of fees was within trial court's discretion. Cogswell v. Aiken et al. (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 83 A. 2d 231).

Failure to submit proof of value of services of tenant's attorneys in action to recover double amount of rent paid in excess of maximum rent ceiling did not prevent trial judge from awarding a fee under subsection (a) of this section, since trial judge would be considered an expert on value of legal services. Tyler v. Dixson (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 57 A. 2d 648).

Where award of fees to tenant's attorney in action to recover double amount of rent paid in excess of maximum rent ceiling appeared to be generous in amount but not so manifestly excessive as to constitute an abuse of discretion, award would not be disturbed, but additional attorneys' fees for services rendered in connection with appeal would be denied. Id.

Appellee's request for additional allowance for attorneys' fees to cover appellate services is improper. Fees for such services whether in trial or appellate courts should be fixed by the trial court. Heitmuller v. Berkow (1949, 171 F. 2d 741, 83 U. S. App. D. C. 342).

There being no court rule allowing same, transcript cannot be taxed as costs nor are attorneys' fees on appeal allowable. Sawyer v. Warner (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 653).

It is a correct rule of law that attorney's fee allowed under a statute not providing specifically that it go to the attorney is an allowance to the party and not to the attorney, and may be credited in arriving at a net judgment between the parties. The court should set off the claim, costs and allowances of one party against those of the other; and also the claim of an attorney for a charging lien should not defeat such a setoff. Block v. Gates (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 898).

Bad faith

In tenant's suit against landlords to recover for alleged rental overcharges, fact that landlords had, prior to beginning of tenancy, rented premises to another person at the January 1, 1941, frozen rent ceiling of $41 a month, was sufficient to raise an inference of lack of good faith on part of landlords when they subsequently collected $77.50 a month rental. Parker v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 653).

Bill of particulars

A bill of particulars, which alleged that plaintiff as tenant in apartment called upon landlord to perform certain painting and refinishing necessary to bring apartment up to minimum service standard under § 45–1605 (a), that landlord refused to do so, and that plaintiff thereupon had the work performed, that reasonable value of such work was $115.08 and that, under this chapter, plaintiff was entitled to recover twice the value of his services, costs and attorney's fees was sufficient. Goldberg v. Roumel (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 253).

On its face, a bill of particulars stated an over-charge of rent for which the defendant would be liable for statutory damages irrespective of an erroneous theory as to the amount recoverable since an improper measure of damages is not a ground for dismissal. Mancuso v. Santucci (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 69 A. 2d 274).

Burden of proof

In tenants' action to recover double amount of rent overcharges against landlord who had converted accommodations on which rent ceiling had been established into new accommodations and who had made agreement with tenant for increased rentals without filing for new rent ceiling, burden of establishing that property was being used as housing accommodations on freeze date and that such housing accommodations were substantially the same as those to which tenants were entitled when they secured possession of property was improperly placed on tenants. Fowler v. Stanford (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 89 A. 2d 885).

Roomer could not recover against owners of rooming house for penalty provided by this section for depriving roomer of minimum service standards where roomer did not establish the minimum service standard under any of the tests enumerated in the act. Lindsey v. Watson (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 83 A. 2d 226).

Tenant claiming that landlord had refused to maintain minimum service standard with respect to decorating apartment occupied by its tenant, had burden of establishing such fact. Goldberg v. Roumel (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 790).

In prosecution of a landlord for violation of a general order of rent administrator, government had burden to prove that landlord failed to comply with terms of order and that failure to do so was a willful one. Watkins v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 227).

To prove violations of this chapter, it is incumbent on the tenant first to establish the existence of the ceiling and standard. Eide v. Traten (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 73 A. 2d 522).

Tenant by his answer and counterclaim admitted that he had not paid rent for the period from September 15 to October 31 and that he owed $97.50 for such period. Unless, as tenant claims, the landlord had collected rent in excess of the ceiling and had violated the minimum service standard, the allegation was an affirmative defense and the trial court properly ruled that the burden was on the tenant to proceed and prove his defense. Id.

In a suit by a tenant for damages for violation of minimum service standard for lack of heat, it was not error to dismiss claim where plaintiff failed to make out a prima facie case since there was no evidence that the minimum service standard included furnishing heat by the landlord. Bond v. Pinchot (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 66 A. 2d 213).

In order to obtain damages for violation of service standard, the tenant must show that he has been deprived of a service to which he was entitled as of right. Hutchinson v. Peacock (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 73 A. 2d 903).

Ceiling

For housing accommodations not rented within year ending January 1, 1941, no maximum rent ceiling exists until determined by Administrator of Rent Control, and until then, parties' rights are those fixed by lease agreement and there can be no violation of the ceiling. Kern v. Cogswell (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 59 A. 2d 793).

Where ceiling has been regularly and properly established and has stood unchanged throughout the term, it could have been rendered invalid only by alteration, or change of the building, real estate, service or facilties. Sawyer v. Warner (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 653).

Commercial user

Where tenant who had been renting first floor only for $50 rented entire building for $80 in 1939, and subsequently sublet second floor for $30 which had automatically become the rent ceiling for second floor, and first floor was not subject to this chapter because used commercially, this chapter was not violated. Ridolfi v. Benton (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 58 A. 2d 723).

Where landlord and tenant had consistently treated first and second floors of building as divisible, and use of one floor was not essential to use of the other, fact that the two floors were rented as a whole at time of passage of this chapter and on freeze date, did not require that premises be considered as a whole, nor preclude subsequent execution of separate leases, and rental for first floor, used mostly for barber shop, was a matter for agreement between parties. Id.

Criminal prosecutions

Where after conviction under this section, but before sentence, the section was stricken from the act, the pending prosecutions for violations committed while section was in force should have been continued because they were saved by the saving clause contained in U.S. Code, title 1, § 109. Quick v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 71 A. 2d 771).

Dismissal

Dismissal with prejudice by stipulation of parties of actions involving defendants' counterclaim for failure of plaintiff landlord to repair a refrigerator in apartment rented to defendants, did not dispose of defendants' counterclaim in subsequent action for failure to repair refrigerator concerning a period subsequent to the periods involved in the previous actions. Block v. Wilson (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 493).

Estoppel

Where landlord petitioned under § 45–1604 for an adjustment, and where Administrator made no determination, this did not preclude landlord from asserting as a defense to tenant's suit for damages that the examiner's recommended order was not a sufficient basis for tenant's suit. The principles of equitable estoppel do not apply where the legal position first asserted is not successfully maintained. Parker v. Sager (1949, 174 F. 2d 657, 85 U. S. App. D. C. 4).

Tenant's right to services supplied by landlord on statutory freeze date was guaranteed by § 45–1605 and was not lost by tenant's agreement to take the apartment "as is," neither did such agreement estop the tenant from maintaining action for damages under this section. Baker v. Rosen (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 58 A. 2d 687).

Fair trial

In prosecution of landlord for violation of rent regulation, alleged circumstances that cause was first prosecution of kind brought under subsection (b) of this section, that tenants who testified against landlord were motivated by malice engendered by a prior civil action between them and landlord, that assistant general counsel was appointed special prosecutor for the one case, and that witnesses caused prejudicial newspaper accounts to be published, in absence of an affirmative showing that such circumstances deprived landlord of a fair trial, were irrelevant. Watkins v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 227).

Good faith

In action by tenants against landlord for rent overcharges, good faith of landlord was not in issue, and constituted no defense, in absence of any showing by landlord that in overcharging tenants, he was relying on a rescinded or modified order or regulation of the Administrator. Jeziorski et al. v. Hollod (D. C. Mun. App. 1954, 106 A. 2d 698).

Landlord was not relieved of liability for above ceiling rent charges, on ground that landlord acted in good faith, because it obtained from Rent Administrator furnished ceilings on comparable apartments in same building and charged no more than those rates for apartments for which it did not first obtain furnished ceiling rates. Grady v. Prewitt (D.C. Mun. App. 1953, 99 A. 2d 755).

Where rental agents, who had no actual knowledge of rent ceiling order, collected rental charge over ceiling, but did not rely on any rescinded or modified order or regulation of rent administrator or statutory provision in collecting overcharge, good faith of agents was not in issue upon tenants' attempt to recover double amount of overcharge. Shenk v. Gaudet (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 83 A. 2d 672).

Intervention by administrator

Where landlord sought possession of two apartments for default in rent and tenants counterclaimed for alleged overcharges of rent, Rent Administrator, who intervened in trial court before judgments were entered for landlord and against tenants, could maintain independent appeal. Aiken v. Cogswell et al. (1953, 201 F. 2d 705, 91 U. S. App. D. C. 339).

Where trial court permitted intervention by rent administrator without requiring compliance with rule that intervenor shall serve motion to intervene on all parties affected thereby, accompanied by pleading setting forth claim, rent administrator would not be deprived of rights as intervenor because of such procedural defect. Cogswell v. Aiken (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 82 A. 2d 749).

Rent administrator, for benefit of all litigants, has right to use every available means, including that of appeal, to insure that his orders and regulations, when promulgated, are made effective. Id.

Where in the course of a trial, intervention by the Administrator was sought and granted, appellant's claim that such procedure tended to disrupt the orderly course of the trial by placing opposing counsel at a disadvantage is without merit. Generally, the Administrator should be required to make his decision on intervention at the commencement of the trial, but that is a matter resting largely in the discretion of the trial court. Turner v. Bowman (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 231).

Judgment

Entry of judgment for tenant in landlord's action against tenant for a non-payment of rent was wrong where defendant had admittedly paid no rent for a particular month. Kelley v. Hinnant (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 97 A. 2d 339).

In action by tenants against landlord and her rental agents to recover penalty for rental overcharge, since liability between agents was divided and judgment was joint and several one, payment of entire judgment by agents would entitled them to complete satisfaction of all judgments entered against them, including judgment recovered by landlord on cross-complaint, and would entitle landlord to complete satisfaction of judgment entered against her. Shenk v. Gaudet (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 83 A. 2d 672).

In action by tenants against landlord and her rental agents to recover statutory penalty for rental overcharge and cross-claim by landlord against her agents for breach of agency agreement, judgment, which was entered separately against agents and landlord for amount due tenants and which ordered recovery by landlord against agents for amount paid to tenants, did not order contribution. Id.

In action by tenants against landlord and her rental agents to recover statutory penalty for rental overcharge and upon cross-claim by landlord against her agents for breach of agency agreement, verdict for landlord on cross-claim was not inconsistent with verdict for tenants against landlord and her agents, even though jury found landlord did not act in good faith towards tenants. Id.

Jurisdiction

Municipal court had jurisdiction of counterclaim of defendant for rent overcharges and violation of minimum service requirements, interposed by tenant in an action brought by plaintiff-landlord for rent and water charges, irrespective of amounts involved in counter claim. McChesney v. Moore (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 78 A. 2d 389).

Exclusive jurisdiction is invested in municipal court by subsection (a) of this section to determine all actions for rent overcharges and includes power to decide all incidental and preliminary questions including specifically the question as to whether property was rented on the freeze date and at what rental. Evans v. Schlein (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 32).

The Administrator was correct in dismissing petition for refund of rent over-charges for lack of jurisdiction, inasmuch as the Municipal Court has exclusive jurisdiction over actions by tenants to recover rent over-charges and penalties for failure to provide minimum service standards. Levy v. Arsenault (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 62 A. 2d 642).

Liability of agent

In action by tenants against landlord and her rental agents to recover penalty for rent overcharge, upon cross-claim by landlord against her agents for breach of agency agreement, alleged fact that landlord did not act in good faith towards her tenant did not preclude recovery by her against her rental agents. Shenk v. Gaudet (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 83 A. 2d 672).

Real estate agent who signed rental agreement of residential premises, which called for monthly rental in excess of maximum permitted under law, was liable to tenants for monthly overcharge. Santucci v. Mancuso (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 78 A. 2d 671).

A defendant signing lease as agent for undisclosed landlord and contracting therein for payment of overceiling rent could not escape liability to tenant for excess rent by having turned over to landlord the monies unlawfully collected after deducting defendant's commissions. Mayer v. Buchanan (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 595).

A defendant signing lease "as agent for the owner only" did not thereby escape liability for double amount of overceiling rent collected, where defendant did not disclose identity of owner, notwithstanding that identity of owner was matter of public record. Id.

Where appellant's duties were more janitorial than managerial, and authority with respect to rent was limited to renting at rates fixed by owner, collecting them and turning them over, the amount of rent was no concern of the agent. Having no authority to fix them, the agent was under no duty to ascertain whether they were within the ceiling, and the agent was, therefore, not liable for rental over-charge. Delpan v. Karvosky (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 72 A. 2d 33).

Where broker is authorized to receive rent for landlord, he is a "person" within meaning of this section and liable to tenant for over-charges. It is no defense that he is not a party to the lease. Dunning v. Randall Hagner Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 770).

Where defendant was the undisclosed agent of the actual landlord but had described itself as the landlord and executed the lease in its own name, the tenant could not deny his landlord's title. Also, under these circumstances, the defendant could not deny he was the landlord and was liable for violation of the minimum service standard. Goldberg v. Charles C. Koones & Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 66 A. 2d 495).

Liability of landlord

The fact that tenant, as well as landlords, knowingly participated in arrangement for tenant's payment of more than ceiling rent was no defense to tenant's action against landlords for overcharges. Zeppos v. Lewis (D. C. Mun. App. 1954, 107 A. 2d 661).

In an action by tenant against landlord to recover rent overcharges, it is immaterial that tenant knew that he was being overcharged, since knowledge of tenant that he pays above ceiling rates does not make the payment legal or estop him to recover for the overcharge. Grady v. Prewitt (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 99 A. 2d 755).

The right to collect for rent overcharges may be pursued against an owner who has actually received excessive rents. Morning Star Lodge No. 40 v. Harris (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 93 A. 2d 288).

A landlord which knew amount of rent being collected by its agent from whom tenant leased premises, and which directed agent to collect such amounts was liable for statutory rent overcharges, notwithstanding that for a very brief period the landlord may have been an undisclosed principal. Id.

That a tenant, as between himself and his subtenants, violated this chapter in collecting rentals not fixed by the Administrator, did not relieve the landlord from responsibility for complying with this chapter. Hall v. Henry J. Robb (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 863).

Under § 45–1603 requiring for accommodations not rented during 1940 the rent and services generally prevailing for comparable accommodations, "as determined by the Administrator", an order by Administrator fixing maximum rent ceiling for particular premises effective March 16, 1943, was intended to apply only prospectively, and hence tenant could not recover excess of rent paid prior to effective date of order over ceiling fixed by Rent Administrator. Dekelbaum v. Lloyd (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 41 A. 2d 174).

Although there can be no violation of a rent ceiling until such ceiling is established by Rent Administrator, landlord cannot willfully refuse to comply with Administrator's order directing an immediate filing of applications for determination of rent ceilings without subjecting himself to criminal liability. Wilkerson v. Montgomery (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 102).

Where order of Rent Administrator fixing maximum rent ceiling on apartment was based on assumption that the ceiling was for furnished quarters, fact that tenant declined to use furniture in apartment and exercised her privilege of bringing into the apartment her own furniture would not show a violation of maximum rent ceiling by Administrator in charging maximum as fixed by Administrator's order. Id.

Where appellant bought a $10,000 property from stepfather with a down payment of only $300, followed by appellant's two suits seeking possession for personal use, and by extensive improvements, and the immediate renting of an apartment at a substantially higher rent, there was sufficient evidence to establish intent to evade this chapter. Frankfurt v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 65 A. 2d 197).

Though in a possessory action, the rights of the parties and the condition of plaintiff's claim are to be tested by the facts as they existed on the day the suit was filed, the rule is different in a criminal prosecution in which the government alleged a device or arrangement with intent to evade this chapter. Such an offense would not necessarily be reflected in a single act or limited to a single day. Id.

Motion for summary judgment

In motion for summary judgment, it is not enough for an affiant to state that he has personal knowledge of the facts, but he must state the facts themselves in detail. The burden of establishing the non-existence of any genuine issue is upon the moving party. Schwartz v. Sandidge (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 869).

Motion to dismiss

A motion to dismiss concedes all facts well pleaded and if the complaint states a cause of action, however loosely drawn it may be, it is not subject to dismissal. Such motion may ony be granted when it appears certain that the plaintiff would not be entitled to relief under any state of facts which could be proved in support of the claim. Mancuso v. Santucci (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 69 A. 2d 274).

Nature of action

An action to recover double amount of excess rent collected in violation of this chapter, was not an action for a statutory "penalty or forfeiture" within bar of one year statute of limitations of section 201 of Title 12. Heitmuller v. Berkow (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 51 A. 2d 302). See, also, Heitmuller v. Berkow (1948, 165 F. 2d 961, 83 U. S. App. D. C. 70, motion denied 171 F. 2d 741, 83 U. S. App. D. C. 342).

Action to recover for rent over-charges is not one in contract based on a lease, but one to recover a statutory obligation arising from an unlawful act. Dunning v. Randall Hagner Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 770).

New housing accommodations

Where housing accommodations rented at $70 per month on January 1, 1941, but in 1946 accommodations were so improved by repairs and construction as to constitute new accommodations and in 1950 landlord and tenant agreed upon rental of $180 per month, but landlord filed no application with Rent Administrator for determination of rent ceiling, the agreement was invalid leaving ceiling as it was on January 1, 1941, and landlord could not obtain possession because of non-payment of rent of $180 a month, and tenant could recover double excess charges. Janifer v. Werner (1952, 196 F. 2d 244, 90 U. S. App. D. C. 406).

A landlord applying for increase of established rent ceiling on ground of increase in operating cost and peculiar circumstances could not for the first time in action for overcharges assert that increase in rent was justified on ground of new housing accommodation. Morning Star Lodge No. 40 v. Harris (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 93 A. 2d 288).

New trial

In action for possession of premises for nonpayment of rent, wherein defendant counterclaimed for double an alleged overcharge in rent, trial court did not abuse discretion in refusing to grant a continuance of a hearing on a motion for new trial on order that defendant might successfully subpena a tenant of former owners of involved premises. Janifer v. Werner (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 78 A. 2d 669, reversed on other grounds 196 F. 2d 244, 90 U. S. App. D. C. 406).

Orders reviewable

Where petitioner specifically requested Administrator to issue an order declaring a refund for over-charges, failure of the Administrator to bring suit is not reviewable on appeal when no objection was urged before the Administrator, no extraordinary circumstances were shown, and no reason shown why petitioner should not have filed suit himself. Levy v. Arsenault (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 62 A. 2d 642).

Parties

Where, in action in Municipal Court for District of Columbia by first tenant against landlord to recover alleged rent overcharge, it appeared that first tenant and second tenant were cotenants of two apartments during part of time in question since they both had negotiated for renting of apartments and had shared rent, it was error to allow first tenant to recover second tenant's share of alleged overcharge, since such judgment would not preclude second tenant from later maintaining an independent action to recover alleged overcharge. Bryant v. Abramowitz (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 96 A. 2d 44).

Where wife rented premises as a home for her husband and herself, and both husband and wife paid rent, both husband and wife were proper plaintiffs in action for double overcharge of rent, notwithstanding wife alone signed rental agreement. Santucci v. Mancuso (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 78 A. 2d 671).

Fact that during a period of the tenancy rented premises were occupied not only by tenant but also by her "girl friend" and that the two shared the rental and expenses did not preclude tenant from bringing action to recover double amount of rent paid in excess of maximum rent ceiling prescribed by this chapter. Tyler v. Dixson (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 57 A. 2d 648).

Occupancy by several tenants of a housing unit under separate agreements with landlord did not prevent them from joining in an action for violation of a rent ceiling when their combined payments exceeded maximum ceiling for housing unit. Glassman v. Graver (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 56 A. 2d 160).

Penalties

This chapter provides means for enforcing violations of its provisions and to hold a landlord who has violated the chapter in one respect to be deprived of all rights under other provisions would be adding a new penalty not provided by statute. Ostrow v. Horning, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 69 A. 2d 277).

Prima facie case

In action by tenant against landlord to recover twice amount of alleged rental overcharges, wherein only question involved was whether legal rent at time of freeze date was $35 a month, as contended by tenant, or was $55 a month, as contended by landlord, and wherein tenant's wife testified that landlord admitted to her that former tenant occupied leased permises at monthly rental of $35, and wherein landlord testified that he did not make admission claimed by tenant's wife, court erred in ruling that tenant had not made out a prima facie case, and erred in granting landlord's motion for directed verdict. Petty v. Rowe (D.C. Mun. App. 1952, 91 A. 2d 331).

Question for jury

Implicit in rental formula for units rented on January 1, 1941, but improved so as to constitute new housing accommodations, under Act providing that maximum rent ceiling for housing accommodations not rented on January 1, 1941, nor within the year ending on that date, shall be rent and service generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations and determined by Administrator, is need for factual determination by Administrator, after application by landlord, as to rent and service generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations. Janifer v. Werner (1952, 196 F. 2d 244, 90 U. S. App. D. C. 406).

The question whether housing accommodations are new ones not rented on critical date under this chapter or are old ones with substantial capital improvements or alterations, is a question of fact, which, in tenant's action to recover double amount of excess rent, must, unless evidence is compelling one way or the other, be decided by jury. Delsnider v. Gould (1946, 154 F. 2d 844, 81 U. S. App. D. C. 54).

Whether landlord sued for rent overcharges created new housing accomodations which rendered inapplicable any pre-existing rent ceiling, by changing heating system, removing kitchen to another part of house, sealing off basement to tenant and subsequently re-decorating was a question for the trier of facts. Morning Star Lodge No. 40 v. Harris (D.C. Mun. App. 1953, 93 A. 2d 288).

In tenant's suit for rent overcharges, under conflicting evidence as to amount of rental charged on statutory freeze date, trial court did not err in granting relief sought. Morski v. Murphy (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 85 A. 2d 806).

In action against owners of rooming house for penalty for depriving plaintiff of minimum service standards, and for damages for unlawful eviction, question of whether plaintiff was a roomer which would give landlords right to reasonable entry into plaintiff's room, or a tenant, was properly submitted to jury. Lindsey v. Watson (D.C. Mun. App. 1951, 83 A. 2d 226).

In tenant's suit against landlords to recover for certain alleged rental overcharges, whether landlords acted in good faith in collecting alleged above ceiling rental was properly submitted to jury. Parker v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 653).

In action for statutory double damages based on rent overcharges, question as to whether housing accommodations involved are new ones not rented on critical date or are old ones with substantial capital improvements or alterations is question of fact which must, unless evidence is compelling one way or other, be decided by jury. Johnson v. Hawkins (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 467).

Whether real estate agent agreed to take care of everything necessary to establish rent ceiling was for jury. Norris v. Rael (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 766).

Whether housing accommodations are new ones not rented on the critical date, or old ones with substantial capital improvements or alterations, is a question of fact which must be decided by the jury unless the evidence is compelling one way or another. Id.

In prosecution of landlord for failure to file an application for determination of maximum rent ceiling as required by an order of rent administrator, conflicting testimony that application was not received by administrator's office and was not on file and testimony of landlord that application was filed was for jury. Watkins v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 227).

The question whether accommodations involved are new ones, or old ones with substantial capital improvement, is a question of fact for jury. Sawyer v. Warner (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 653).

Question for trial court

In an action for rental overcharges, resolution of sharply conflicting testimony as to type of housing accommodations rented was for trial court. Jones v. Clark (D.C. Mun. App. 1955, 112 A. 2d 500).

Reduction of services

Even if place or person for receiving rent could be considered a service supplied in connection with use and occupancy of housing accommodations, landlord could designate a different agent to receive rent without being liable under subsection (a) of this section for reduced services. Roumel v. Goldberg (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 46 A. 2d 114).

Finding that tenant had been denied service of a resident manager who would take charge of packages left for tenant in his absence, which service had been furnished tenant on freeze date under subsection (a) of this section, was insufficient to authorize tenant to recover damages from landlord for violation of service standard, in absence of further finding that such service was furnished to tenant on freeze date as a matter of right, and not gratuitously. Id.

Remedy as exclusive

A tenant may not minimize statutory liability for exceeding rent ceiling by suing for mere reimbursement, since statutory remedy is exclusive. Moore v. Coates (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 68).

Repairs, recovery for

Where there was no agreement by landlord to repair, landlord's only duty was to maintain minimum service standard provided in this chapter, and tenant, upon claiming that landlord breached such duty in refusing to paint walls and refinish floors of apartment, was required to rely upon remedies provided by this section, and he could not make the repairs himself and then sue for twice their cost. Goldberg v. Roumel (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 790).

In landlord's action for possession of rented apartment for failure of tenants to pay rent, wherein tenants counterclaimed for failure of landlord to repair refrigerator although refrigeration was a service standard prescribed by rent administrator, evidence sustained finding that landlord had inexcusably failed to supply refrigeration and that tenants were entitled to recover on their counterclaim as against contention that landlord was not notified of bad condition of refrigerator and did not refuse to repair. Block v. Wilson (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 493).

Where, in prior action against member-tenant for possession of apartment in a cooperatively owned apartment house, issue of rent overcharge was considered and determined by a court having jurisdiction of the parties and subject matter, such determination would have to be considered a final adjudication and would, so long as judgment in the prior action remained unmodified, be res judicata on issue of overcharge in subsequent action between the same parties for double the overcharge. Usher v. 1015 N. Street, N. W. Cooperative Association, etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 120 A. 2d 921).

Where, in prior action for possession of apartment in cooperatively owned apartment house for nonpayment of rent, member-tenant's contention that there had been an overcharge of rent was determined adversely to member-tenant, and judgment therein remained unmodified, such judgment, which was res judicata as to cooperative association, was also res judicata as to association's agents, who collected the rent, in subsequent action by member-tenant against association and the agents for double overcharges of rent for the apartment. Id.

Where tenants commenced proceedings before rent administrator to determine rent charged by landlord on freeze date but administrator made no affirmative finding on that issue and held that evidence failed to establish rent increase over that payable on freeze date or that premises were rented on freeze date, and dismissed petition administrator was without jurisdiction to determine that there had been an overcharge and dismissal was not res judicata of any issue in tenants' subsequent action before municipal court to recover for rent overcharges and failure to provide minimum services under this chapter. Evans v. Schlein (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 32).

Where tenant's petition for rent refund was dismissed for lack of jurisdiction of relief sought, and Administrator had undertaken to make findings on some of the questions in controversy, such findings are without effect and are not res judicata in any other proceedings involving the question. Levy v. Arsenault (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 62 A. 2d 642).

Where tenant sought an order restoring the services which had been withdrawn, or a corresponding reduction in rent, and failing to get either, then began present litigation seeking statutory damages for landlord's alleged refusal to furnish the services in question, he had no right to maintain suit because the issues had already been tried by the Administrator and determined against him. Connolly v. B. F. Saul Co., Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 236).

Rescind, definition of

In this section, authorizing tenant to sue to rescind lease if landlord receives rent or refuses to render services as required by § 45–1601 et seq. or regulation thereunder, "rescind" must be given its commonly accepted meaning, so that, when tenant obtains rescission, lease is annulled and abrogated. Friedman v. Kennedy (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 72).

Review

Where landlord sought possession of two apartments for default in rent and tenants counterclaimed for alleged overcharges of rent and trial court entered judgment for landlord and against tenants but tenants did not appeal, Rent Administrator, who had intervened in suits but was not party to judgments, could maintain independent appeal. Cogswell v. Aiken (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 82 A. 2d 749).

Set off

Where rent ceilings for certain apartments had been fixed on an unfurnished basis, and thereafter landlord furnished and rented the apartments at above ceiling rates without having first obtained furnished ceiling rates, and tenants brought actions against landlord to recover overcharges, landlord was not entitled to set off against tenants' claims a fair rental for use of furniture, since to allow landlord to collect additional amount for use of furniture would constitute an evasion of this chapter. Grady v. Prewitt (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 99 A. 2d 755).

Service standard

Under this section giving tenant entitled to a minimum service standard right of action against landlord for double value of "services refused" in violation of applicable minimum service standard, a refusal need not be explicit, and a repeated failure to perform a duty may be equivalent to a refusal. Lupin v. G. M. P. Corp. (D.C. Mun. App. 1951, 83 A. 2d 323).

Where inside repairs were included within the minimum service required to be maintained by landlord, existence of water leak in shower stall for over six months after notice of leak and failure to repair leak was tantamount to a refusal to do so, and tenant was entitled to an award under this section. Id.

The word "entitled" in provision of subsection (a) of this section and § 45–1602 authorizing tenant to recover damages from landlord upon proof of failure to furnish minimum service standard to which tenant was entitled on freeze date under this chapter, means having a right to, and indicates that service standard consists only of services tenant was entitled to as of right on freeze date, and not those which were furnished gratuitously or as a matter of courtesy. Roumel v. Goldberg (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 46 A. 2d 114).

In order to entitle tenant to recover damages from landlord for violation of minimum service standard under subsection (a) of this section and § 45–1602, such service need not be specifically contracted for in lease or rental agreement. Id.

Where apartment contained a refrigerator at time of rental to defendants, and administrator in determining rent for apartment, also determined that rent was based upon a minimum service standard including repairs, landlord was required to keep refrigerator in repair regardless of agreement relieving landlord of duty to keep refrigerator in repair. Block v. Wilson (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 493).

Where tenant claimed that there was a violation of the service standard because the furniture in her apartment was not of the value indicated by the landlord, it is the furniture and not the value of it which constitutes the service. The tenant should have applied to the administrator for a reduction in rent as she is permitted to do if she felt the apartment did not warrant the maximum rent. Astin v. Phillips (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 66 A. 2d 690).

Where tenants of an apartment house sued their landlord for damages for his alleged refusal to render services as required by the applicable minimum service standard, the evidence supported a finding that those services applied only to those rented on a daily or hotel basis and not to tenants' apartments. Id.

There was substantial evidence to support the view that the minimum service standard for the premises included the making of repairs to the roof by the landlord, and there was also substantial evidence to support the view that the repairs were refused. Bond v. Pinchot (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 66 A. 2d 213).

There was ample evidence in the record to support trial court's findings that landlord refused to supply the services requested, i. e., heat, hot water and maintenance of the apartment in habitable conditions. Block v. Gates (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 215, modified on other grounds 68 A. 2d 898).

A tenant is under no duty and generally has no right to attempt to repair those parts of a central system outside his own apartment. Goldberg v. Charles C. Koones & Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 66 A. 2d 495).

To have a refusal of services, the landlord must have some knowledge of the need for the services and an opportunity to furnish them. Bischoff v. Person (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 73 A. 2d 716).

Standard of recovery

Tenants must rely on this chapter for their remedies and consequently they must also rely on it for their standard of recovery. Mancuso v. Santucci (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 69 A. 2d 274).

Statute of limitations

The rule is well settled in this jurisdiction that a suit under this chapter for the recovery of rent overcharges is governed by the general three-year limitation contained in § 12–201, as an action, the limitations of which is not otherwise specially prescribed. Lustine v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 900).

Stipulations as to evidence

In landlord's suit for possession of apartment for alleged nonpayment of rents, where tenant filed counterclaim for double damages based on rent overcharges, stipulation by landlord's counsel in open court, to effect that if check dated during month of August 1950, endorsed by landlord in sum of $70 was presented to court such check should be entered in evidence and allowed as proof of payment of August 1950 rent, was binding upon landlord, and landlord would not be entitled to credit for nonpayment of rent for such month after such check had been introduced in evidence. Johnson v. Hawkins (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 467).

In action brought by tenants for double overcharge of rent, trial court properly failed to give effect to a stipulation entered in a previous action involving same subject matter, in view of fact that stipulation related to future proceedings in prior action, and since attempted enforcement of stipulation would have resulted in further delay of a matter which had already been in court too long, and since nonenforcement of stipulation did not prevent defendant who was party to stipulation from making available defenses. Santucci v. Mancuso (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 78 A. 2d 671).

Sufficiency of evidence

In suit to recover damages for rental overcharges for premises alleged to have been rented for residential purposes, evidence supported finding that premises had been used and were rented as physician's offices and were not subject to this chapter. Weinstein v. Rodger Corp. (D.C. Mun. App. 1952, 90 A. 2d 827).

Evidence on issue of whether repair and renovation of one of three common bathrooms, and whether keeping a window closed with shade drawn to keep out sun's heat, were reasonable or a deprivation of minimum service standards was sufficient to sustain verdict for owners. Lindsey v. Watson (D.C. Mun. App. 1951, 83 A. 2d 226).

In landlord's suit for possession of apartment for alleged nonpayment of rent, where tenant filed counterclaim for statutory double damages based on rent overcharges, evidence was not so compelling as to require trial judge to rule that case of new housing accommodations had been made out by landlord as matter of law. Johnson v. Hawkins (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 467).

Evidence justified landlord's recovery of rented premises on ground that they were rented for office purposes and were being used by tenant for living purposes, and denial of the tenant's counterclaim on ground that rent charged on a commercial basis was illegal under this chapter because the premises constituted "housing accommodations," within the meaning of § 45–1611. De Bobula v. Winston (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 57 A. 2d 742).

Evidence authorized conviction of landlord of violating this chapter by willfully violating order of rent administrator requiring the filing of an application for determination of a maximum rent ceiling. Watkins v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 227).

Evidence sustained finding that there had been no failure on part of landlord to render minimum services under this chapter to apartment tenant seeking damages. Zindler v. Buchanon (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 61 A. 2d 616).

Where, on statutory freeze date, service supplied by landlords included, among other things, window shades, refrigerator, and repairs inside and outside, and the uncontradicted evidence showed that landlords had refused to furnish window shades or refrigerator and had failed or refused to do any decorating or to make other essential repairs, a prima facie case was made out by tenant that he was entitled to some damages, if no more than the $50 named in this section. Baker v. Rosen (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 58 A. 2d 687).

Question whether repairs or remodeling constitute new housing is ordinarily a question of fact. Lustine v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 900).

Where landlord acted on claim that the premises, when rented at the lowest figure, were unfurnished, whereas they were rented furnished to the tenant and that the furnished premises were new accommodations not subject to the old rent ceiling and further, where tenant disputed this, claiming that the furniture never belonged to the landlord but was formerly owned by a previous tenant, trial court was justified in finding either that the furniture was not supplied by the landlord or if it was, that its addition did not result in new accommodations. Turner v. Bowman (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 68 A. 2d 231).

Where trial judge ruled as a matter of law that there had been no substantial change or alteration so as to constitute new accommodations, such ruling is substantiated where the findings of fact are supported by the evidence. Cummings v. Peters (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 66 A. 2d 516).

A refusal of services need not be explicit, and a repeated failure to perform a duty may be equivalent to a refusal. Bischoff v. Person (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 73 A. 2d 716),

Third party practice

Where a third party defendant was not served with notice of the motion for summary judgment, such a defendant was deprived of no rights by such failure and cannot complain. Court properly exercised its discretion in passing on the motion. Schwartz v. Sandidge (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 869).

Waiver of objections

In suit by landlord to recover possession of apartment for non-payment of rent, where tenant counterclaimed for statutory double damages based on rent overcharges, landlord waived objections to counterclaim by not making timely challenge in trial court, and his challenge of counterclaim for first time on motion for new trial was too late. Johnson v. Hawkins (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 467).

Willful violation

To establish a "willful" violation of this chapter, only proof of a knowing violation is required, and specific proof of malice or bad purpose is not contemplated. Watkins v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 227).

§ 45–1611. Definitions.

(a) The term "housing accommodations" means any building, structure, or part thereof, or land appurtenant thereto, or any other real or personal property rented or offered for rent for living or dwelling purposes in the District of Columbia, together with all services supplied in connection with the use or occupancy of such property; but the term "housing accommodations" shall not include (1) any of the accommodations in a hotel in which more than 60 per centum of the units devoted to living quarters for tenants and guests are used for furnishing accommodations for transients, or the building constituting such hotel; or (2) furnished non-housekeeping accommodations, whether or not in a hotel, which are rented as rooms without kitchen privileges or facilities for cooking (but not in a suite of two or more rooms); or (3) any building used as a licensed rooming house.

(b) The term "services" includes the furnishing of light, heat, hot and cold water, telephone, elevator service, furnishings, furniture, window shades, screens, awnings, and storage, kitchen, bath, and laundry facilities and privileges, maid service, janitor service, the removal of refuse, and the making of all repairs suited to the housing accommodations or necessitated by ordinary wear and tear, and any other privilege or facility connected with the use or occupancy of housing accommodations.

(c) The term "rent" means the consideration, including any bonus, benefit, or gratuity, demanded or received per day, week, month, year, or other period of time as the case may be, for the use or occupancy of housing accommodations or the transfer of a lease for such accommodations.

(d) The term "maximum-rent ceiling" means the maximum rent which may be demanded or received for the use or occupancy of housing accommodations or the transfer of a lease for such accommodations.

(e) The term "minimum-service standard" means the minimum service which may be supplied in connection with the renting or leasing of housing accommodations.

(f) The term "tenant" includes a subtenant, lessee, sublessee, or other person entitled to the use or occupancy of any housing accommodations.

(g) The term "landlord" includes an owner, lessor, sublessor, or other person entitled to receive rent for the use or occupancy of any housing accommodations.

(h) The term "person" includes one or more individuals, firms, partnerships, corporations, or associations and any agent, trustee, receiver, assignee, or other representative thereof.

(i) The term "documents" includes leases, agreements, records, books, accounts, correspondence, memoranda, and other documents, and drafts and copies of any of the foregoing. (Dec. 2, 1941, 55 Stat. 794, ch. 553, § 11; June 30, 1951, 65 Stat. 106, ch. 192, § 1.)

Amendment

1951—Act June 30, 1951, amended subsection (a) generally. Prior to said amendment, subsection provided that "The term 'housing accommodations' means any building structure or part thereof, or land appurtenant thereto, or any other real or personal property rented or offered for rent for living or dwelling purposes in the District of Columbia (including, but without limitation, houses, apartments, hotels, rooming- or boarding-house accommodations, and other properties used for living or dwelling purposes) together with all services supplied in connection with the use or occupancy of such property."

Effective Date of 1951 Amendment

Amendment of section by act June 30, 1951, effective July 1, 1951, see § 2 of act June 30, 1951, set out as a note under § 45–1601.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Animals on premises

Where tenants brought their dogs into building after effective date of this chapter, right to keep dogs on leased premises was neither a "privilege" nor a "facility" within this chapter, and therefore this chapter did not preclude landlord from exercising right under lease to revoke permission to keep dogs. Mee v. Marlyn Apartment Co. (D.C. Mun. App. 1943, 31 A. 2d 864).

The right to keep a dog in leased premises was neither a "privilege" nor a "facility" within this chapter, and therefore this chapter did not preclude landlord from exercising right under lease to revoke permission to keep dog. Shay v. Randall H. Hagner & Co. (D. C. Mun. App 1944, 38 A. 2d 617).

Counterclaims

This chapter permitting landlord to petition Rent Administrator for increased rentals based upon operating costs, or capital improvements or alterations, is exclusive, and landlord sued for penalty on account of exaction of rent in excess of ceiling could not maintain counterclaim for rental value of furnishings of apartment. Norris v. Rael (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 766).

Decontrolled exceptions

Rooming houses including establishments classified as lodging houses for certain purposes, were decontrolled so that a leased building, known as hotel, but operating under lodginghouse license, containing nonhousekeeping furnished rooms, and accommodating both transient and permanent guests, was not subject to rent control. Zeppos et al. v. Lewis (D.C. Mun. App. 1954, 107 A. 2d 661).

It is the actual use of premises, together with landlord's knowledge of or acquiescence in such use, that determines whether or not the decontrol provisions of this chapter apply. Kelley v. Hinnant (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 97 A. 2d 339).

The burden rests on landlord to prove that building is within a decontrolled exception to this chapter. Id.

Landlords suing for possession of leased housing accommodations as not subject to this chapter have burden of proving that building involved is within decontrolled exception of such chapter. Bernstein v. Lime (D.C. Mun. App. 1952, 91 A. 2d 841).

Housing accommodations

The term "housing accommodations" in this chapter means composite of rented realty, personal property, and appurtenances thereto and services connected therewith. Miller v. Boan (1955, 218 F. 2d 854, 95 U.S. App. D.C. 43).

Grouping of two housing accommodations, consisting of furnished basement and upper floors of house, as subject matter of one lease to single tenant, did not destroy character of two separate parts of house or create new housing accommodation, so that monthly rent ceiling fixed for entire building while unfurnished, was not only rent ceiling for whole premises and higher monthly rent in combined amount of ceilings subsequently fixed for basement and combined upper floors, respectively, was not illegal overcharge. Id.

Where lease provided that tenant was to operate leased property as licensed rooming house, and any building used as licensed rooming house was exempt from this chapter, tenant paying $100 monthly instead of $50 monthly rent in force on freeze date could not recover overcharges in absence of evidence as to whether property was being put to any different use than that prescribed in lease. Kelley v. Hinnant (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 97 A. 2d 339).

This section, excluding furnished nonhousekeeping accommodations rented as rooms without kitchen privileges from definition of term "housing accommodations" subject to control, eliminated rent ceilings on rooms rented without such privileges in a building, though building itself was not being used as rooming house, but did not discontrol entire building, while clause excluding any building used as licensed rooming house from such definition removed entire building so used from control. Bernstein v. Lime (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 91 A. 2d 841).

In landlords' action for possession of leased housing accommodations, alleged to be a licensed rooming house, trial court properly instructed jury that plaintiffs must prove not only that building involved was licensed rooming house, but also show that it was used as such. Id.

A building leased to one who rented rooms therein with housekeeping privileges to persons given exclusive control thereof was not a rooming house, though license permitting its use as such was issued; housing accommodations being under exclusive control of occupants. Id.

Exemptions from operation of this chapter must be narrowly construed, giving due regard to plain meaning of language thereof and Congress' intent. Id.

Under this chapter, the use of the premises as housing accommodations determines whether chapter is to apply. Weinstein v. Rodger Corp. (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 90 A. 2d 827).

In suit to recover damages for rental overcharges for premises alleged to have been rented for residential purposes, evidence supported finding that premises had been used and were rented as physician's offices and were not subject to this chapter. Id.

Under this chapter, whether property is commercial or residential and controlled, is ordinarily a question of fact to be determined by giving due weight to whether premises have been used for commercial or residential purposes, to prior leases, acts of parties, and time over which landlord-tenant relationship has existed, to whether a commercial portion is incidental to dwelling portion or whether property is primarily commercial with dwelling accommodation incident thereto, and whether the two portions can be and have been used independently of each other. Id.

Leased property, used and operated by hold-over tenant as rooming house, constituted "housing accommodations" within this chapter, so as to preclude landlord from recovering possession of property for purpose of continuing such operation, though tenant was operating establishment as business for profit and did not personally live in house. Lingo v. Wolfe (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 37 A. 2d 270).

Business property not used for dwelling purposes was not governed by this chapter. J. & J. Slater, Inc. v. Brainerd (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 714).

Where premises rented on critical date under this chapter, was a frame building described as a "shack", and after that date a new owner installed water, plumbing and electricity and a bathroom with tub and overhanging shower, finished walls, installed electric refrigerator and electrically controlled kerosene furnace, rebuilt front entrance, planted flowers in yard and made repairs and completely furnished the house except for silver and linen, the completely equipped and furnished house was a new "housing accommodation" within § 1602 (1) which was not rented on critical date so that ceiling rent was the rent generally prevailing for comparable housing accommodations. Delsnider v. Gould (1946, 154 F. 2d 844, 81 U. S. App. D. C. 54).

Where apartment in rear of first floor could not be rented or used conveniently except in connection with use of front room occupied by barber shop, and was never separately rented, but first floor was treated as a unit, rent being based primarily upon commercial use of the barber shop, second floor which was continuously used for dwelling and had separate entrance, but not first floor was within subsection (a) of this section. Ridolfi v. Benton (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 58 A. 2d 723).

The definition of housing accommodations seems plainly to prescribe that the use of the premises shall determine whether the Rent Act is to apply and this seems to be the test even though the property is zoned for commercial use. When so zoned, it must be used commercially to be free from the control of the Rent Act. White v. Allen (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 70 A. 2d 252).

Landlord

A landlord which knew amount of rent being collected by its agent from whom tenant leased premises, and which directed agent to collect such amounts was liable for rent overcharges, notwithstanding that for a very brief period the landlord may have been an undisclosed principal. Morning Star Lodge No. 40 v. Harris (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 93 A. 2d 288).

Where testator devised an apartment building in trust to three trustees, including testator's daughter, to manage the apartment building and pay one half of net income to testator's daughter, and after testator's death, daughter and her brother occupied apartments in the building rent free, the daughter could not, in her individual capacity, maintain an action under the rent act against a tenant in possession to recover possession of an apartment on ground that she required it for her personal use for a dwelling, since she was not a "landlord." Thomas v. Williams (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 84 A. 2d 702).

One who purchased an apartment in co-operative building and pursuant thereto acquired stock in corporate owner of building and a proprietary lease for 99 years with right of 100-year renewals was a "landlord" within subsection (g) of this section and was entitled to maintain suit for possession of her apartment for own personal use. Hicks v. Bigelow (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 55 A. 2d 924).

Under subsection (g) of this section the person suing for possession need not be the owner of a fee simple title, but it is sufficient if the plaintiff is the landlord. Mancuso v. Santucci (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 60 A. 2d 697).

This chapter contains no express reference to the United States as a landlord or to the application of the Act to government-owned housing of any kind, and does not apply to government housing in the District. United States v. Wittek (1949, 69 S. Ct. 1108, 337 U. S. 346, 93 L. Ed. 1406).

Evidence entitles the purchaser of perpetual use and equity contract to the rights of a landlord within this chapter when the substantial nature of these rights rather than the form of the transaction is considered. Abbot v. Bralove (D.C.D.C. 1949, 81 F. Supp. 532).

The defendant purchasers of a cooperative apartment, because of their proprietary rights, voice in the management of the building, voice in any proposed sale or mortgage of the property, plus the exclusive right to perpetual occupancy of an apartment in the dwelling, and other facts of ownership, are landlords within the definitions contained in this chapter. Id.

Person

Religious corporation which furnished free food and shelter to its students was a "person" and was capable of using house for "occupancy as a dwelling" within provision of § 45–1605 authorizing a landlord to recover possession from a tenant if he seeks in good faith to recover possession for his immediate and personal use and occupancy as a dwelling. Hoffman v. Apostolic Works (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 43 A. 2d 848).

A defendant signing lease as agent for undisclosed landlord and contracting therein for payment of overceiling rent was a "person" against whom tenant could bring action for overceiling rent under §45–1610. Mayer v. Buchanan (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 50 A. 2d 595).

Where broker is authorized to receive rent for landlord, he is a "person" within meaning of this section and liable to tenant for over-charges, and it is no defense that he is not a party to the lease. Dunning v. Randall Hagner Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 770).

Rent

In tenant's action for overcharges by lessor furnishing room and board, whether increase in rent related to meals alone, so as to preclude recovery, was for jury under conflicting testimony. Barnabo v. Lewis (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 659).

An increase in charge for room and board, representing increase in charge for meals alone, would not violate this chapter and court properly so instructed jury in action for overcharge. Id.

Landlord's contention that monthly payments were paid under an agreement for the right to sub-let is untenable. The payments constitute rent because the subletting was a use of the apartment and anything paid for such use constitutes rent. Perper v. Danford (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 63 A. 2d 773).

Making a security deposit in connection with the rental of housing accommodations constitutes both a detriment to the tenant and a benefit to the landlord within the classical definition of consideration and is within the term "rent." Block v. Gates (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 66 A. 2d 215, modified on other grounds 68 A. 2d 898).

Right to possession

Where plaintiff sued for possession of property purchased at foreclosure sale, against defendant who had previously owned the property but had defaulted on the second trust note, the defense that, when the deed to trust was foreclosed, defendants automatically became tenants at will under § 45–822 and could not be ousted by reason of § 45–1605, is not applicable as the property did not constitute housing accommodations within the meaning of § 45–1611. Surratt v. Real Estate Exchange, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 76 A. 2d 587).

Services

Meals furnished by lessor are not "services" within contemplation of this section, and are not subject to this chapter. Barnabo v. Lewis (D. C. Mun. App. 1951, 81 A. 2d 659).

Tenant

A lessee who has sued to rescind lease is not a "person entitled to the use or occupancy" of premises within definition of "tenant" in this chapter, and hence cannot retain possession. Friedman v. Kennedy (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 40 A. 2d 72).

A tenant who had sublet the leased premises and was not in possession thereof, although entitled to possession, was a "tenant" within meaning of this chapter and was entitled to the protection thereof until dispossessed by the landlord. Hall v. Henry J. Robb, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 863).

Where tenant terminated tenancy by notice acceptable to landlord but tenant's estranged wife remained in possession after lease was terminated, she was no longer "entitled" to occupancy within meaning of subsection (f) of this section. Scott v. H. G. Smithy Co. (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 53 A. 2d 45).

The occupant of one room in a house for whom owners provided furnishings, linens, towels, and daily maid service was a "roomer" and not a "tenant". Tamamian v. Gabbard (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 55 A. 2d 513).

The fact that occupancy relates to one room only is not decisive as to whether occupant is a "roomer" or a "tenant", since tenancy may exist with respect to a single room. Id.

Unit for rent ceilings

The unit for which a rent ceiling is fixed by this chapter is not the real estate or the premises but the combination of real estate, all personal property, all facilities and all services connected with the use or occupancy and for which rent was payable. Delsnider v. Gould (1946, 154 F. 2d 844, 81 U. S. App. D. C. 54). See, also, James v. Noorbolm (D. C. Mun. App. 1946, 47 A. 2d 105).

this subsection at any one time shall not exceed 15 per centum of the association's assets. (May 1, 1946, 60 Stat. 159, ch. 245, § 2.)

§ 46–301. Definitions.

As used in this chapter, unless the context indicates otherwise—

(a) The term "employer" means every individual and type of organization for whom services are performed in employment;

Any claim for benefits made in accordance with section 46–311(a) shall be deemed to be a 'valid claim' for the purposes of this subsection if the individual has during his base period been paid wages for employment by employers equal to not less than whichever is the lesser of (1) twenty-five times his weekly benfit amount, and (2) $250." for "The phrase 'weekly wage' as applied to any individual who has been engaged in employment for at least thirty hours in each of twenty-six or more weeks within the period of one hundred and four weeks ending with the week in which such individual was last engaged in employment, means the sum obtained by dividing the total of the wages earned in all the weeks within such period in which he was engaged in employment at least thirty hours by the number of such weeks; and, as applied to any individual who has not been engaged in employment for at least thirty hours in each of twenty-six or more weeks within such period of one hundred and four weeks, means the sum obtained by dividing the total of the wages earned in such period by the total number of weeks within such period in which he was engaged in employment."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Charitable or educational organization

Girl Scouts is an organization operated for "charitable purposes" within Unemployment Compensation Law exempting establishments operated exclusively for charitable purposes, the word "charity" being broader than relief of the needy or poor, and including a large group of activities for betterment of individuals or of the entire community. National Capital Girl Scout Council etc., v. District Unemployment Compensation Board etc., et al. (D.C.D.C., 1964, 231 F. Supp. 546).

The word "exclusively" within Unemployment Compensation Law exempting establishments organized and operated exclusively for religious or charitable purposes means "primarily" or "principally" or "in large part." Id.

The National Capital Girl Scout Council is not primarily or principally an educational establishment and hence is entitled to be exempt from unemployment insurance provision of District of Columbia Code exempting establishments organized and operated exclusively for religious or charitable purposes. Id.

In excepting from this chapter service performed in the employ of a corporation, community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational purposes, etc., Congress included every nonprofit organization designed and operating for the benefit and enlightenment of the community, the State or the Nation, or those organizations commonly designated "charitable" in the law of trusts. International Reform Federation v. District Unemployment Compensation Board (1943, 131 F. 2d 337, 76 U. S. App. D. C. 282, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 324, 317 U. S. 693, 87 L. Ed. 555).

In the enactment of this chapter it was within discretion of Congress to include charitable or educational institutions on the same terms as business or social organizations or if it included the former, to limit in such way as Congress thought proper the enjoyment of the preferred position, and the language of this section evinces a clear purpose to exclude charitable or educational institutions without limiting the enjoyment of their preferred positions and all that is requisite under this section is that the institution claiming exemption shall be organized and operated exclusively for one of the named purposes. Id.

In order to be classified as a "charitable corporation" entitled to exemption from payment into fund under this chapter, it is not necessary that corporation's principal objective be to provide for the poor, the sick and the needy. Id.

The International Reform Federation whose principal purpose and activities were promotion of sociological reform, suppression of gambling and political corruption, substitution of arbitration and conciliation for both industrial and international war, suppression of the white slave traffic, harmful drugs and kindred evils, was exempt as a "charitable or educational corporation" from the chapter, and was not affected by incidental political activities. Id.

Where New York corporation formed for improvement of its members in marksmanship, and to promote introduction of system of rifle practice as part of military drill of National Guard, and to provide suitable range, was organized under McKinney's N. Y. membership corporations law, for incorporation of societies for social and recreative purposes, the corporation was not "organized exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational purposes" within this section exempting corporation organized for such purposes from liability for unemployment contributions. National Rifle Ass'n of America v. Young (1943, 134 F. 2d 524, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 290).

In determining whether corporation is organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational purposes within exemption clause in this section, recourse must be had to its charter and the statute under the authority of which it was organized. Id.

A corporation, whose object in part, as indicated by its charter, was for the mutual welfare, protection, and improvement of business methods among merchants and for protecting the interests of certain classes of businesses to enable them to profitably conduct their business, was not exempt as organized exclusively for "educational or scientific purposes" from this chapter, notwithstanding corporation's purposes were to be accomplished by educational methods. Better Business Bureau of Washington, D. C. v. District Unemployment Compensation Board (D. C. Mun. App. 1943, 34 A. 2d 614).

Construction

Exemptions from taxation in general, and especially exemptions from unemployment contributions under this chapter, are to be strictly construed. National Rifle Ass'n of America v. Young (1943, 134 F. 2d 524, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 290).

This chapter should be liberally construed to accomplish their purposes and extend their coverage with consequent strict construction of exemption provisions of this section. Better Business Bureau of Washington, D. C. v. District Unemployment Compensation Board (D. C. Mun. App. 1943, 34 A. 2d 614).

The contributions required by this chapter are "taxes", and exemptions from such taxes are strictly construed. Id.

—— With other laws

In ascertaining whether a corporation organized under § 29–601 relating to benevolent, charitable, educational, and similar corporations was exempt from this chapter, said section must be considered but said section cannot be conclusive in face of specific objects selected by corporation for inclusion in its charter. Better Business Bureau of Washington, D. C. v. District Unemployment Compensation Board (D. C. Mun. App. 1943, 34 A. 2d 614).

Determination of exemption

To come within exemption of this section, corporation must be organized and operated exclusively for one or more of named purposes, and, though its primary purpose is within exemption, it cannot have benefit thereof if it has other purposes beyond scope of exemption. Better Business Bureau of Washington, D. C. v. District Unemployment Compensation Board (D. C. Mun. App. 1943, 34 A. 2d 614).

Employer

Where defendant operated a barber shop under a contract with a navy club and had complete responsibility for employment and payment of assistants and the club received ten percent of the gross income and defendant retained the balance, defendant was an "employer" within the District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Act and liable for contributions thereunder. Sokol t/a etc. v. McLaughlin et al. (D. C. Mun. App. 1959, 147 A. 2d 766).

Purpose

Where this section exempted service performed in the employ of a corporation, community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational purposes, without including the limitation that no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda or otherwise attempting to influence legislation, which appeared in other laws, intent of Congress was to make the exception apply where the primary and exclusive purpose was religious, charitable or educational. International Reform Federation v. District Unemployment Compensation Board (1943, 131 F. 2d 337, 76 U. S. App. D. C. 282, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 324, 317 U. S. 693, 87 L. Ed. 555).

§ 46–302. District Unemployment Fund.

(a) There is hereby established the District unemployment fund, as a special deposit in the Treasury of the United States, into which shall be paid all contributions received or collected pursuant to this chapter and from which shall be paid all benefits and refunds provided for under this chapter. The fund shall consist of three separate accounts: (1) A clearing account, (2) an unemployment-trust-fund account, and (3) a benefit account, and be managed and controlled by the Board in the manner provided in this chapter, and the Board shall keep complete and accurate accounts of the status of the fund and shall include a statement of such status in its yearly report to Congress. (Aug. 28, 1935, 49 Stat. 947, ch. 794, § 2; June 4, 1943, 57 Stat. 105, ch. 117.)

AMENDMENT

1943—Act June 4, 1943, amended the section by providing for special deposit in the United States Treasury and the three accounts.

§ 46–303. Employer contributions.

(a) Each employer who employs one or more individuals in any employment shall for each month, beginning with the month of January 1936 and ending December 31, 1939, pay contributions equal to the following percentages of the total wages payable (regardless of the time of payment) with respect to such employment by him during such month:

(1) With respect to employment during the calendar year 1936, the rate shall be 1 per centum;

(2) With respect to emp'oyment during the calendar year 1937, the rate shall be 2 per centum;

(3) With respect to employment during the calendar years 1938 and 1939, the rate shall be 3 per centum.

(b) Each employer shall pay contributions equal to 2.7 per centum of wages paid by him during the calendar year 1940 and thereafter, until the effective date of this chapter, with respect to employment after December 31, 1939.

(c) FUTURE RATES BASED ON BENEFIT EXPERIENCE.—

(1) The Board shall maintain a separate account for each employer, and shall credit his account with all of the contributions paid by him after June 30, 1939, with respect to employment subsequent to May 31, 1939. Each year the Board shall credit to each of such accounts having a positive reserve on the computation date, the interest earned from the Federal Government in the following manner: Each year the ratio of the credit balance in each individual account to the total of all the credit balances in all employer accounts shall be computed as of such computation date, and an amount equal to the interest credited to the District's account in the unemployment trust fund in the Treasury of the United States for the four most recently completed calendar quarters shall be credited prior to the next computation date on the pro rata basis to all employers' accounts having a credit balance on the computation date. Such amount shall be prorated to the individual accounts in the same ratio that the credit balance in each individual account bears to the total of the credit balances in all such accounts. In computing the amount to be credited to the account of an employer as a result of interest earned by funds on deposit in the unemployment trust fund in the Treasury of the United States to the account of the District, any voluntary contribution made by an employer after June 30 of any year shall not be considered a part of the account balance of the employer until the next computation date occurring after such voluntary contribution was made. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to grant any employer or individual in his service prior claims or rights to the amounts paid by him into the fund either on his own behalf or on behalf of such individuals.

(2) Benefits paid to an individual with respect to any week of unemployment which was based on an initial claim filed after June 30, 1939, and before July 1, 1940, shall be charged against the account of his most recent employer. Benefits paid to an individual on an initial claim for benefits filed after June 30, 1940, shall be charged against the accounts of his base period employers. The amount of benefits so chargeable against each base period employer's account shall bear the same ratio to the total benefits paid to an individual as the base period wages paid to the individual by such employer bear to the total amount of the base period wages paid to the individual by all of his base period employers. The principal base period employer shall be notified of each payment of benefits to a claimant at the time of such payment.

(3) The standard rate of contributions payable by each employer shall be 2.7 per centum.

(4) (i) No employer's rate of contribution for any calendar year or part thereof shall be reduced below the standard rate unless and until his account could have been charged with benefits paid throughout the thirty-six-consecutive-calander-month period ending on the computation date applicable to such year or part thereof: Provided, That for the calendar year 1963, and for each calendar year thereafter, any employer who is subject to this chapter by virtue of the amendment of section 43–301(b)(5)(G) by the Act of March 30, 1962, [Pub. L. 87–424] and who has not been subject to this chapter for a sufficient period to meet this requirement, may qualify for a rate less than the standard rate if his account could have been charged with benefit payments throughout a lesser period but, in no event, less than the twelve consecutive calendar months ending on the computation date (as herein defined) for that calendar year.

(ii) If the amount in the fund as of the computation date is less than 5 per centum of the total pay rolls subject to contributions under this chapter for the twelve-consecutive-month period ending on said computation date, the contribution rate for each employer shall be increased by the percentage differential between said 5 per centum of such total pay rolls and said fund's percentage of such total pay rolls, but in no event shall the contribution rate for any employer be more than 2.7 per centum. Said percentage differential for each employer shall be computed to the next highest one-tenth of 1 per centum.

(iii) If, on December 20 of any calendar year, the amount in the fund becomes less than 2.4 per centum of the total annual pay rolls subject to contribution under this chapter for the twelve-consecutive-month period ending on the preceding June 30, the Board shall make a declaration to that effect. Effective the quarter following such announcement, each employer's rate of contribution shall be the standard rate.

(iv) CONTRIBUTION RATES AFTER TERMINATION OF MILITARY SERVICE.—When the Board finds that the continuity of an employer's employment experience has been interrupted solely by reason of one or more of the owners, officers, managers, partners, or majority stockholders of such employer's employing enterprise having served in the armed forces of the United States of America or any of its allies during a time of war, such employer's employment experience shall be deemed to have been continuous throughout the period that such individual or individuals so served in such armed forces, including the period up to the time it again resumes the status of an employer liable for contributions under this chapter, provided it resumes such status within two years from the date of discharge of such individual or individuals or from the date of the termination of such war, whichever date is the earlier. For the purposes of this paragraph (iv), in determining an employer's contribution rate his average annual pay roll shall be the average of his last three annual pay rolls.

(5) The Board shall for any uncompleted portion of the calendar year beginning with the effective date of this chapter and for each calendar year thereafter classify employers in accordance with their actual experience in the payment of contributions and with respect to benefits charged against their accounts. Each employer's contribution rate for each subsequent year or part thereof shall be calculated on the basis of his records filed with the Board and benefit payments disbursed through the applicable computation date. The Board shall compute rates for the second six months of 1963 for all employers first acquiring the necessary twelve months' benefit experience under section 46–303(c)(4)(i) on the computation date June 30, 1963. Such rates shall be based upon such employer's experience in the payment of contributions and benefits charged against his account through June 30, 1963, prior to the crediting of his account with trust fund interest. All employers issued a rate for the second six months of 1963, under this subsection, shall have a computation date of September 30, 1963, for the calendar year 1964.

(6) If, as of the date such classification of employers is made, the Board finds that an employing unit has failed to file any report in connection therewith, or has filed a report which the Board finds incorrect or insufficient, the Board shall make an estimate of the information required from such employing unit on the basis of the best evidence reasonably available to it at the time, and notify the employing unit thereof by registered mail addressed to its last-known address. Unless such employing unit shall file the report or a correct or sufficient report, as the case may be, within fifteen days after the mailing of such notice, the Board shall compute such employing unit's rate of contribution on the basis of such estimates, and the rates so determined shall be subject to increase, but not to reduction, on the basis of subsequently ascertained information.

(7) (a) If 25 per centum or more of the business of any employer is transferred, the transferee shall be determined a successor for the purposes of this section.

(i) If the Board is unable to get information upon which to determine whether or not 25 per centum of the business has been transferred, it may, in its discretion, make such determination based upon the quarterly payrolls of the employers involved for the last complete calendar quarter prior to the transfer and the first complete calendar quarter after such transfer.

(ii) In the event of a transfer of 25 per centum or more of the assets of a covered employer's business by any means whatever, otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade, such transfer shall be deemed a transfer of business and shall constitute the transferee a successor hereunder, unless the Board, on its own motion or on application of an interested party, finds that all of the following conditions exist:

(1) The transferee has not assumed any of the transferor's obligations;

(2) The transferee has not continued or resumed transferor's goodwill;

(3) The transferee has not continued or resumed the business of the transferor, either in the same establishment or elsewhere; and

(4) The transferee has not employed substantially the same employees as those the transferor had employed in connection with the assets transferred.

(b) The successor, if not already subject to this section, shall become an "employer" subject hereto on the date of such transfer, and shall accordingly become liable for contributions hereunder from and after said date.

(c) The successor shall take over and continue the employer's account, including its reserve and all other aspects of its experience under this section, in proportion to the payroll assignable to the transferred business as determined for the purposes of this section by the Board. However, his successor shall take over only the reserve actually credited to the account of the transferor or for which the transferor has filed a claim with the Board at the date of transfer. The successor shall be secondarily liable for any amounts owed by the employer to the fund at the time of such transfer; but such liability shall be proportioned to the extent of the transfer of business and shall not exceed the value of the assets transferred.

(d) The benefit chargeability of a successor's account under subsection (c), if not accrued before the transfer date, shall begin to accrue on the transfer date in case the transferor's benefit chargeability was then accruing; or shall begin to accrue on the date otherwise applicable to the successor, or on the date otherwise applicable to the transferor, whichever is earlier, in case the transferor's benefit chargeability was not accruing on the transfer date. Similarly, benefits from a successor's account, if not chargeable before the transfer date, shall become chargeable on the transfer date, in case the transferor was then chargeable for benefit payments; or shall become chargeable on the date otherwise applicable to the successor or on the date otherwise applicable to the transferor, whichever is earlier, in case the transferor was chargeable for benefit payments on the transfer date.

(e) The account taken over by the successor employer shall remain chargeable with respect to accrued benefit and related rights based on employment in the transferred business, and all such employment shall be deemed employment performed for such employer.

(f) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, if the successor employer was an employer subject to this chapter prior to the date of transfer, his rate of contributions the remainder of the calendar year shall be his rate with respect to the period immediately preceding his date of acquisition. If the successor was not an employer prior to the date of transfer, his rate shall be the rate applicable to the transferor or transferors with respect to the period immediately preceding the date of transfer: Provided, That there was only one transferor or there were only transferors with identical rates; if the transferor rates were not identical, the successor's rate shall be the highest rate applicable to any of the transferors with respect to the period immediately preceding the date of transfer. The rate of the transferor, if still subject to the chapter, will not be redetermined and shall remain the rate with respect to the period immediately preceding the date of transfer.

For future years, for the purposes of subsection (c), the Board shall determine the "experience under this section" of the successor employer's account and of the transferring employer's account by allocating to the successor employer's account for each period in question the respective proportions of the transferring employer's payroll, contributions, and the benefit charges which the Board determines to be properly assignable to the business transferred.

(g) Repealed.

(8) Variations from the standard rates of contributions for each calendar year or part thereof shall be determined as of the applicable computation date in accordance with the following requirements:

(i) If as of the computation date the total of all contributions credited to any employer's account, with respect to employment since May 31, 1939, is in excess of the total benefits paid after June 30, 1939, then chargeable or charged to his account, such excess shall be known as the employer's reserve, and his contribution rate for the ensuing calendar year or part thereof shall be—

(A) 2.7 per centum if such reserve is less than 0.8 per centum of his average annual payroll;

(B) 2 per centum if such reserve equals or exceeds 0.8 per centum but is less than 1.3 per centum of his average annual payroll;

(C) 1.5 per centum if such reserve equals or exceeds 1.3 per centum but is less than 1.8 per centum of his average annual payroll;

(D) 1 per centum if such reserve equals or exceeds 1.8 per centum but is less than 2.8 per centum of his average annual payroll;

(E) 0.5 per centum if such reserve equals or exceeds 2.8 per centum but is less than 3.3 per centum of his average annual payroll;

(F) 0.1 per centum if such reserve equals or exceeds 3.3 per centum of his average annual payroll.

(ii) If as of the computation date the total amount of benefits paid and chargeable to an employer's account for the periods after June 30, 1939, is more than the total contributions credited to his account with respect to employment since May 31, 1939, then his contribution rate for the ensuing calendar year or part thereof shall be 2.7 per centum.

(iii) Except as otherwise provided in this section, whenever through inadvertence or mistake erroneous charges or credits are found to have been made to experience-rating accounts, the same shall be readjusted as of the date of discovery and such readjustment shall not affect any computation or rate assigned prior to the date of discovery but shall be used on the next computation date in calculating future contribution rates.

(iv) Any employer, at any time, may voluntarily pay into the unemployment compensation fund an amount in excess of the contributions required to be paid under the provisions of this chapter, and such amount shall be forthwith credited to his reserve account. His rate of contribution shall be computed, or recomputed, as the case may be, with such amount included in the calculation. To affect such employer's rate of contribution for any year, such amount shall be paid not later than thirty days following the mailing of notice of his rate of contribution for such year, and not later than one hundred and twenty days after the commencement of such year. Such amount, when paid as aforesaid, shall not be refunded or used as a credit in the payment of contributions in whole or in part.

(9) As used in this subsection—

(a) The term "annual pay roll" means the total amount of wages for employment paid by an employer during a twelve-month period ending ninety days prior to the computation date;

(b) The term "average annual pay roll", except for the purposes of paragraph (4) (iv) of this subsection, means the average of the annual pay rolls of any employer for the three consecutive twelve-month periods ending ninety days prior to the computation date: Provided, That for an employer whose account could have been charged with benefit payments throughout at least twelve but less than thirty-six consecutive calendar months ending on the computation date, the term "average annual pay roll" means the total amount of wages for employment paid by him during the twelve-month period ending ninety days prior to the computation date;

(c) The term "base period wages" means the wages paid to an individual during his base period for employment;

(d) The term "base period employers" means the employers by whom an individual was paid his base period wages;

(e) The term "most recent employer" means that employer who last employed such individual immediately prior to such individual's filing an initial claim for benefits.

(10) At least one month prior to the final date upon which the first contributions for any calendar year or part thereof become due from any employer at a contribution rate determined under this subsection, the Board shall notify such employer of his rate of contributions and of the benefit charges upon which such rate was based. Such determination shall become conclusive and binding upon the employer unless, within thirty days after the mailing of notice thereof to his last-known address, or in the absence of mailing, within thirty days after the delivery of such notice, the employer files an application for review and a redetermination, setting forth his reasons therefor. Upon receipt of such application, the Board shall voluntarily adjust such matter or shall grant an opportunity for a fair hearing and promptly notify the employer thereof. All such hearings shall be held before a Contribution Rate Review Committee composed of three members who shall be employees of the Board and appointed by the Board. The findings and decision of this Committee shall not be subject to review by the District Auditor. No employer shall have standing, in any proceeding involving his rate of contributions or contribution liability, to contest the chargeability of his account of any benefits paid in accordance with a determination, redetermination, or decision pursuant to section 46–311, except on the ground that the services on the basis of which such benefits were found to be chargeable do not constitute services performed in employment for him and only in the event that he was not a party to such determination, redetermination, or decision or to any other proceedings under this chapter in which the character of such services was determined. The employer shall be promptly notified of the Board's denial of his application or of the Board's redetermination, both of which shall become final unless, within thirty days after the mailing of such notice thereof to his last-known address, or in the absence of mailing, within thirty days after the delivery of such notice, a petition for judicial review is filed in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. In any proceedings under this subsection the findings of the Board as to the facts, if supported by evidence and in the absence of fraud, shall be conclusive and the jurisdiction of said court shall be confined to questions of law. Such proceedings shall be given precedence over all other civil cases except cases arising under section 46–312 and under section 36–501. An appeal may be taken from the decision of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia to the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia in the same manner as is provided in other civil cases.

(d) The contributions payable pursuant to subsections (b) and (c) of this section shall become due and be paid by each employer to the Board in accordance with such regulations as the Board may prescribe, and shall not be deducted in whole or in part from the wages of individuals in such employer's employ.

(e) From December 31, 1939, to January 1, 1955, wages, for the purpose of this section, shall not include any amount in excess of $3,000 paid by an employer to any person arising out of his or her employment during any calendar year. After December 31, 1954, wages shall not include any amount in excess of $3,000 (or in excess of the limitation on the amount of taxable wages fixed by the Federal Unemployment Tax Act (26 U. S. C. 1600, 1607), whichever is greater) actually paid by an employer to any person during any calendar year. After December 31, 1954, the term "employment" for the purpose of this subsection shall include services constituting employment under any employment security law of another State or of the Federal Government.

(f) In the event the District of Columbia should elect to cover employees under this chapter under the provisions of section 46–301 (b) (8) (i) in lieu of contributions required of employers under this chapter, the District of Columbia shall pay into the fund an amount equivalent to the amount of benefits paid to individuals based on wages paid by the District. If benefits paid an individual are based on wages paid by both the District of Columbia and one or more other employers, the amount payable by the District to the fund shall bear the same ratio to total benefits paid to the individual as the base-period wages paid to the individual by the District of Columbia bears to the total amount of the base-period wages paid to the individual by all of his base-period employers.

The amount of payment required under this section shall be ascertained by the Board quarterly and shall be paid from the general funds of the District at such time and in such manner as the Commissioners of the District of Columbia may prescribe except that to the extent that benefits are paid on wages paid by the District from special administrative funds, the payment by the District into the unemployment fund shall be made from such special funds.

(g) Contributions due under this chapter with respect to wages for insured work shall, for the purpose of this section, be deemed to have been paid to the fund as of the date payment was made as contributions therefor under another State or Federal employment security law if payment into the fund of such contributions is made on such terms as the director finds will be fair and reasonable as to all affected interests. Payments to the fund under this subsection shall be deemed to be contributions for purposes of this section. NOTES TO DECISIONS

A partnership leasing and operating corporation's plant had burden of proving that timely request was made that District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Board combine experience of partnership and corporation in determining partnership's unemployment compensation contributions. Schlosberg v. District Unemployment Compensation Bd. (1948, 167 F. 2d 881, 83 U. S. App. D. C. 220).

Change of ownership

A corporation and partnership leasing and operating corporation's plant were not parties to or subject of "merger, consolidation or other form of reorganization," and change effected was not mere "change in legal identity or form," but was complete change in substantial as well as formal ownership of business, and partnership was not "owned or controlled by substantially same interests as predecessor," and hence experience of corporation and partnership could not be combined in determining partnership's unemployment compensation contributions, notwithstanding that partnership retained corporation's manager and employees. Schlosberg v. District Unemployment Compensation Bd. (1948, 167 F. 2d 881, 83 U. S. App. D. C. 220).

Under this section requiring employers to pay contributions at different rates based on differences in experience, where admission of partners' wives into partnership caused no change in management or risk, partnership was the same employer after as before admission, and partnership was not required to pay contributions at a new rate. Cohen v. District Unemployment Compensation Bd. (1948, 167 F. 2d 883, 83 U. S. App. D. C. 220).

Collective bargaining agreements

Controversy regarding employer's failure to secure additional compensation benefits as specified in collective bargaining agreement had to be submitted to arbitration under mandatory provision for arbitration of labor disputes, and trial court should not have undertaken determination of merits prior to arbitration. C. D. Mayhew, Inc., v. J. L. Pate (D.C. App. 1964, 202 A. 2d 786).

Construction

This chapter should be interpreted in accordance with its purpose which is to protect employees. Cohen v. District Unemployment Compensation Bd. (1948, 167 F. 2d 883, 83 U. S. App. D. C. 220).

Determination of rate of compensation

The Unemployment Compensation Board's determination of employers' rate of unemployment compensation contributions for 1945 through 1947 became conclusive and binding on employers fifteen days after issuance of determination in absence of application by employers within such time for review and redetermination of rate by Board. Spencer v. Lampros (1954, 216 F. 2d 462, 94 U. S. App. D. C. 397).

Dissolution

Dissolution of corporation and acquisition of its business by purchasers of its stock as partners constituted "reorganization effecting a change in legal identity or form" within Unemployment Compensation Act, so as to require partners to request transfer to them of corporation's experience within specified time to be entitled to credit therefor and lower rate of unemployment compensation contributions than for new employers. Spencer v. Lampros (1954, 216 F. 2d 462, 94 U. S. App. D. C. 397).

Estoppel

Collection by District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Board of unemployment compensation contributions from partnership leasing and operating corporation's plant at rates paid by corporation did not estop board, after discovering change of ownership, from collecting contributions at proper rate. Schlosberg v. District Unemployment Compensation Bd. (1948, 167 F. 2d 881, 83 U. S. App. D. C. 220).

Evidence

Witness' oral testimony, that he requested in letter written three years before to District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Board that experience of corporation and partnership leasing and operating corporation's plant be combined in determining partnership's unemployment compensation contributions, warranted board's finding that timely request was not made. Schlosberg v. District Unemployment Compensation Bd. (1948, 167 F. 2d 881, 83 U. S. App. D. C. 220).

Nature of contributions

Compulsory unemployment contributions under this chapter are "taxes". National Rifle Ass'n of America v. Young (1943, 134 F. 2d 524, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 290).

Necessity for request

Subsection (c) (7) of this section enabling two or more employing units to combine their experience, on timely request, after a change in legal identity or form, did not require request by partnership which admitted wives of partnership into the firm without change in management or risk, in order to avoid necessity for paying contributions at different rates based on differences in experience, since there was only one employing unit. Cohen v. District Unemployment Compensation Bd. (1948, 167 F. 2d 883, 83 U. S. App. D. C. 220).

§ 46–303a. Employer contributions by the District of Columbia.

Appropriations for the District of Columbia shall be available for payment by the District of Columbia of its contributions as an employer, in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. (June 28, 1944, 58 Stat. 530, ch. 300, § 2.)

CODIFICATION

Section comprised the second par. of section 2 of act June 28, 1944, which was the District of Columbia Appropriation Act for 1945, and was not enacted as a part of the District of Columbia Unemployment Compensation Act which is classified to this chapter.

1943—June 27, 1942, ch. 452, § 2, 56 Stat. 458.
1942—July 1, 1941, ch. 271, § 2, 55 Stat. 538.
1941—June 12, 1940, ch. 333, § 2, 54 Stat. 341.

§ 46–304. Method of paying employer contributions.

(a) The contributions required by section 46–303 shall be paid to and collected by the Board, and shall, immediately upon collection, be deposited in the clearing account of the fund. All moneys so required to be paid to and collected by the Board shall be subject to audit by the District auditor.

(b) Not later than the last day of the following month after the close of each calendar quarter, or at such other time as the Board may by regulations prescribe, every employer shall make a return of, and shall pay the contributions which shall have accrued with respect to, wages paid during such quarter with respect to employment. Wages unpaid solely because of a court order appointing a fiduciary shall be deemed constructively paid when due. Each such return shall be filed with the Board, and shall contain such information and be made in such manner as the Board may by regulation prescribe. No extension of time for filing the return or for payment of the contributions shall be allowed to any employer, except as herein provided.

(c) (1) If contributions are not paid when due, there shall be added, as part of the contributions, interest at the rate of one-half of 1 per centum per month or fraction thereof from the date the contributions became due until paid: Provided, That interest shall not run against a court appointed fiduciary when the contributions are not paid timely because of a court order.

(2) If contributions or wage reports are not filed on or before the fifteenth day of the second month following the close of the calendar quarter for which they are due or contributions are not paid by that time, there shall be added as part of the contributions a penalty of 10 per centum of the contributions but such penalty shall not be less than $5 nor more than $25 and for good cause such penalty may be waived by the Board with the approval of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia.

(d) In the event of the death, dissolution, insolvency, receivership, bankruptcy, composition, or assignment for benefit of creditors of any employer, contributions then or thereafter due from such employer under this section shall have priority over all other claims, except taxes due the United States or the District, and wages (not exceeding $600 with respect to any individual) due for services performed within the three months preceding such event.

(e) If any employer liable to pay the contribution or tax imposed by section 46–303 neglects and refuses to pay the same after demand, the amount (including any interest) shall be a lien upon all of the property and rights to property, whether real or personal belonging to such person. Such lien shall not be valid as against any mortgagee, pledgee, purchaser, or judgment creditor until notice thereof has been filed by the Board with the Recorder of Deeds of the District of Columbia. The Board may cause a civil action to be filed in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia to enforce the aforesaid lien by sale of any property or rights to property, whether real or personal, of the delinquent employer affected by said lien. All persons having liens upon or claiming any interest in the property or rights to property sought to be sold, as aforesaid, shall be made parties to the proceedings and brought into court. The court shall proceed to adjudicate all matters involved therein and finally determine the merits of all claims to a lien upon the property and rights to the property in question, and in all cases where a claim or interest of the Board therein is established, may decree a sale of such property and rights of property by the proper officer of the court, and any sale made pursuant to such proceedings shall be made subject to any and all valid liens existing against said property or rights to property, at the date of filing of the notice of lien. Such action shall be heard by the court at the earliest possible date, and shall be entitled to preference on the calendar of the court over all other civil actions except petitions for judicial review of this chapter. In any suit to enforce a lien hereunder the owner of the property or rights of property affected by said lien may be allowed to file with the clerk of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia a written undertaking with two or more sureties to be approved by the court, or with corporate surety approved by the court, to the effect that he and they will pay the judgment that may be recovered and costs which judgment shall be rendered against all the persons so undertaking. Upon the approval of said undertaking the property or rights of property shall be released from such lien. No such undertaking shall be approved by the court until the owner of the property or rights of property in question shall have given at least two days' notice to the Board of his intention to apply to the courts therefor. Each notice shall give the names and residences of the persons intended to be offered as sureties and the time when the motion for such approval will be made, and such sureties shall make oath if required that they are worth over and above all debts and liabilities double the amount of said lien. The Board may appear and object to such approval. When corporate surety is offered and the undertaking bears a certificate of the clerk of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia that said corporation holds authority from the Secretary of the Treasury to do business in the District of Columbia and has a process agent therein, no notice shall be required. Such an undertaking as above mentioned may be offered before any suit is brought in order to discharge the property from such lien, in which case notice shall be given as aforesaid to the Board and the same proceedings shall be had as above directed in relation to the undertaking to be given after the commencement of the suit, except that when the surety is a corporation and the undertaking bears a certificate of the clerk of said United States District Court for the District of Columbia that said corporation holds authority from the Secretary of the Treasury to do business in the District of Columbia, and has a process agent therein, no notice shall be required; and said undertaking shall be to the effect that the owner of said property or rights of property and his said sureties will pay any judgment that may be rendered in any suit that may thereafter be brought for the enforcement of said lien. If such undertaking be approved before any suit is brought, the surety or sureties may be made parties to such suit; if the undertaking be approved after suit is brought, the surety or sureties shall ipso facto become parties to the suit, and in either case the decree of the court shall be against the surety or sureties as well as the owner. Subject to such regulations as the Board may prescribe, the Board shall issue a certificate of release of the lien if the Board finds that the liability for the amount of the contribution or tax imposed, together with all interest in respect thereof, has been satisfied or for any other reason deemed proper by the Board. Such lien shall continue to be valid for a period of ten years from the date of filing of the notice thereof with the Recorder of Deeds of the District of Columbia, unless the same shall have been released of record, as hereinbefore provided. The foregoing remedy of the Board shall be cumulative and no action taken by the Board shall be or be construed to be an election on the part of the Board to pursue any remedy hereunder to the exclusion of any other remedy for which provision is made in this chapter.

(f) Whenever any employing unit contracts with or has under it any contractor or subcontractor for any employment which is a part of its usual trade, occupation, profession, or business, said employing unit shall report to the Board, in accordance with applicable regulations, the name and address of each and every such contractor or subcontractor so employed. Unless such report is made the employing unit shall for all purposes of the chapter be deemed to employ each individual in the employ of each such contractor or subcontractor for each day during which such individual is engaged solely in performing such employment. Any employing unit who thus becomes liable for and pays contributions with respect to individuals in the employ of any such contractor or subcontractor, however, may recover same from such contractor or subcontractor.

(g) In payment of any contribution, a fractional part of a cent shall be disregarded unless it amounts to one-half cent or more, in which case it shall be increased to 1 cent.

(h) COLLECTIONS.—If, after due notice, any employer defaults in any payment of contributions or interest thereon, the amount due may be collected by the Board or its designated agent in the manner provided by law for the collection of taxes due the District on personal property in force at the time of such collection (including collection thereof by distraint), or by civil action in the name of the Board, and the employer adjudged in default shall pay the costs of such action. Civil actions brought under this section to collect contributions or interest thereon from an employer shall be heard by the court at the earliest possible date and shall be entitled to preference upon the calendar of the court over all other civil actions except petitions for judicial review of this chapter. This subsection shall not be construed to mean that the Board shall be required to use only this means of collecting delinquent contributions but it may use any other legal method which it deems advisable.

(i) REFUNDS.—If not later than three years after the date on which any contributions or interest thereon were paid, an employing unit which has paid such contributions or interest thereon shall make application for an adjustment thereof in connection with subsequent contribution payments, or for a refund thereof because such adjustment cannot be made, and the Board shall determine that such contributions or interest or any portion thereof was erroneously collected, the Board shall allow such employing unit to make an adjustment thereof, without interest, in connection with subsequent contribution payments by it, or if such adjustment cannot be made the Board shall refund said amount, without interest, from the clearing account or benefit account upon checks issued by the Board or its duly authorized agent. For like cause and within the same period, adjustment or refund may be so made on the Board's own initiative. Should benefits have been paid based upon work records filed by the employing unit, claiming an adjustment or refund, such benefit should be disregarded for purposes of figuring such adjustment or refund, and any such benefit payments already having been made at the time of the adjustment or refund, based upon records filed with this Board by such employing unit, shall to that extent be allowed and shall not be deemed to have been paid erroneously. All refunds paid pursuant to this subsection shall be subject to a prior audit by the District auditor.

(j) The Board in its discretion, whenever it may deem it administratively advisable, may charge off of its books any unpaid account due the Board or any credit due an employer who has been out of business for a period of more than three years. Whenever an account is charged off by the Board, there shall be placed in the minutes of the Board a reason for such action.

(k) The Board, or the executive officer provided for under section 46–315 (b), with the consent of the Board, may prescribe the extent, if any, to which any ruling, regulation, or decision relating to this chapter shall be applied without retroactive effect.

(l) The Board, with the approval of the corporation counsel and the District auditor, may compromise any civil case arising under this chapter. Whenever a compromise is made by the Board in each such case, there shall be placed in the minutes of the Board the opinion of an attorney of the Board with the reasons therefor, including a statement of (1) the amount of the contributions due, (2) the amount of interest due on such contributions, and (3) the amount actually paid in accordance with the terms of the compromise.

There is hereby established in the Treasury of the United States a special escrow account into which the Board shall deposit all funds received in connection with an offer of compromise. Such funds shall be kept in such escrow account until final action is had upon the offer of compromise and shall not be subject to offset for any indebtedness whatsoever. In the event the compromise is approved, the funds shall be transferred to the District Unemployment Compensation Funds. In the event the compromise is disapproved, the funds shall be immediately returned to the individual who made the offer of compromise. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Compulsory unemployment contributions were "taxes" which were expended for a public purpose, that is, the relief of unemployment; and action brought by District Unemployment Compensation Board to recover such contributions was one asserting a public right, and therefore no statute of limitations would run against board in such an action in view of Congress' failure to provide a specific statute of limitations for such an action. Stonewall Construction Company v. McLaughlin et al., etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1959, 151 A. 2d 535).

Recovery of contributions

Where Unemployment Compensation Board, after hearing, granted exemption from liability for unemployment contributions, but employer had not changed its position and was not injured by reason of Board's act, the employer was not entitled to recover contributions previously paid under protest, on grounds of "estoppel" and "res judicata" since the Board could reverse an erroneous ruling retrospectively as well as prospectively. National Rifle Ass'n of America v. Young (1943, 134 F. 2d 524, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 290).

§ 46–305. Service on nonresident employers.

Any nonresident employer, for whom services constituting employment subject to this chapter are performed, shall be deemed to have appointed the Director of Vehicles and Traffic of the District of Columbia as his true and lawful attorney upon whom may be served all processes in any action or proceedings against such nonresident arising out of, or incident to, this chapter, and said employment shall be a signification that any such process against him served, as herein provided, shall have the same effect and validity as if served on him personally in the District of Columbia. Service of such process shall be made by leaving a copy thereof (with a fee of $2) in the hands of the Director of Vehicles and Traffic of the District of Columbia, or other persons in charge of his office, and such service shall be sufficient service upon such nonresident: Provided, That notice of such service and a copy of the process are forthwith sent, by registered mail, by the plaintiff to the defendant and the defendant's return receipt attached to the writ and entered with the initial pleading. The court in which the action is pending may order such extensions as may be necessary to afford the defendant a reasonable opportunity to defend the action, and no judgment by default in any such action shall be granted until at least twenty days shall have elapsed after the notice of such service has been sent to the defendant as hereinabove prescribed. (Aug. 28, 1935, 49 Stat. 949, ch. 794, § 5, formerly § 6; renumbered and amended June 4, 1943, 57 Stat. 111, ch. 117.)

AMENDMENT

1943—Act June 4, 1943, substituted the provisions respecting service on nonresident employers for "There is hereby authorized to be appropriated to the District for each fiscal year, commencing with the fiscal year ending June 30, 1936, such sum as may be necessary to permit the District to pay the contributions required of it under this chapter."

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

The Department of Motor Vehicles headed by a Director to administer through the Office of the Director the nonresident employer process service provisions of this chapter, see Reorg. Ord. No. 54, as amended, set out in the Appendix to title 1, Administration.

§ 46–306. Deposit in unemployment trust fund.

All moneys received in the District unemployment fund from sources other than the unemployment trust fund, except as provided in section 46–304 (i) and section 46–301 (b) (5) (D), shall be immediately paid over to the Secretary of the Treasury to the credit of the unemployment trust fund, to be held in trust for the District upon the terms and conditions provided in section 1104 of title 42, U. S. Code. (Aug. 28, 1935, 49 Stat. 949, ch. 794, § 6, formerly § 7; renumbered and amended June 4, 1943, 57 Stat. 112, ch. 117.)

AMENDMENT

1943—Act June 4, 1943, inserted the exception provision.

§ 46–307. Amount and duration of benefits.

(a) On and after January 1, 1938, benefits shall become payable from the benefit account of the District unemployment fund. All benefits shall be paid through employment offices, in accordance with such regulations as the Board may prescribe.

(b) An individual's "weekly benefit amount" shall be an amount equal to one twenty-third (computed to the next higher multiple of $1) of his total wages for insured work paid during that quarter of his base period in which such total wages were highest, with such other following limitations. If an individual's weekly benefit amount is less than $8, it shall be $8. The Director shall determine annually a maximum weekly benefit amount by computing 50 per centum of the average weekly wage paid to employees in insured work, and shall on or before January 1 of the calendar year in which it shall be effective announce by publication in at least one newspaper of general circulation in the District, the maximum weekly benefit amount so determined. Such computation shall be made by determining total wages reported as paid for insured work by employers in each twelve-month period ending June 30, and dividing said total wages by a figure resulting from fifty-two times the average of mid-month employment reported by employers for the same period. For the period from the effective date of this Act to December 31, 1962, the maximum weekly benefit amount shall be determined and announced by the Director in accordance with the foregoing formula on the basis of wages and employment in the twelve-month period ending June 30, 1961. The maximum weekly benefit amount so determined and announced for a calendar year shall apply only to those claims filed in that year qualifying for maximum payment under the foregoing formula. All claims qualifying for payment at the maximum weekly benefit amount shall be paid at the maximum weekly benefit amount in effect when the benefit year to which the claim relates was first established, notwithstanding a change in said amount for a subsequent calendar year. If the maximum weekly benefit amount is not a multiple of $1, then said maximum weekly benefit amount shall be computed to the next higher multiple of $1.

(c) To qualify for benefits an individual must have (1) been paid wages for employment of not less than $130 in one quarter in his base period, (2) been paid wages for employment of not less than $276 in not less than two quarters in such period, and (3) received during such period wages the total amount of which is equal to at least one and one-half times the amount of his wages for the quarter in such period in which his wages were the highest. Notwithstanding the provisions of clause (3), any otherwise qualified individual, the total amount of whose wages during such period is less than the amount required to have been received during such period under such clause, may qualify for benefits if the differences between the amounts so required to have been received and the total amount of his wages during such period does not exceed $70, but the amount of his weekly benefit, as computed under section 7(b), shall be reduced by $1 if such difference does not exceed $35 or by $2 if such difference is more than $35. Wages received by an individual in the period intervening between the end of his last base period and the beginning of his last benefit year and paid by employers who were his base period employers in such last base period shall not be available for benefit purposes in a subsequent bene-year unless he has, subsequent to the commencement of such last benefit year, received remuneration for personal services, whether or not such services were performed in employment as defined in this chapter, in an amount equal to at least ten times the weekly benefit amount for which he qualifies in such last benefit year. Benefits payable to an individual with respect to a week shall be reduced, under regulations prescribed by the Board, by any amount received with respect to such week as a retirement pension or annuity under a public or private retirement plan or system provided, or contributed to, by any base period employer. An amount received with respect to a period other than a week shall be prorated by weeks. No reduction shall be made under the preceding two sentences for (A) any retirement pension or annuity received by reason of disability, or (B) any amount received under title II of the Social Security Act.

(d) Any otherwise eligible individual shall be entitled during any benefit year to a total amount of benefits equal to thirty-four times his weekly benefit amount or 50 percent of the wages for employment paid to such individual by employers during his base period whichever is the lesser. Such total amount of benefits, if not a multiple of $1, shall be computed to the next higher multiple of $1.

(e) Any individual who is unemployed in any week as defined in section 46–301 (e) and who meets the conditions of eligibility for benefits of section 46–309 and is not disqualified under the provisions of section 46–310 shall be paid with respect to such week an amount equal to his weekly benefit amount, less the earnings (if any) payable to him with respect to such week. For the purpose of this subsection, the term "earnings" shall include only that part of the remuneration payable to him for such week which is in excess of 40 per centum of his weekly benefit amount for any week. Such benefits, if not a multiple of $1, shall be computed to the next higher multiple of $1.

(f) DEPENDENT'S ALLOWANCE.—In addition to the benefits payable under the foregoing subsections of this section, each eligible individual who is unemployed in any week shall be paid with respect to such week $1 for each dependent relative, but not more than $3 shall be paid to an individual as dependent's allowance with respect to any one week of unemployment nor shall any weekly benefit which includes a dependent's allowance be paid in the amount of more than the established maximum benefit amount. An individual's number of dependents shall be determined as of the day with respect to which he first files a valid claim for benefits in any benefit year, and shall be fixed for the duration of such benefit year. The dependent's allowance is not to be taken into consideration in calculating the claimant's total amount of benefits in subsection (d) of this section. (Aug. 28, 1935, 49 Stat. 949, ch. 794, § 7, formerly § 8; July 2, 1940, 54 Stat. 732, ch. 524, § 1; June 4, 1943, 57 Stat. 112, ch. 117; Aug. 31, 1954, 68 Stat. 993, ch. 1139, § 1; Mar. 30, 1962, 76 Stat. 48, Pub. "(b) With respect to unemployment occurring within any period of fifty-two weeks, benefits shall be payable to every eligible unemployed individual (1) in the ratio of one-third of a week's benefit to each credit week which occurred within the period of one hundred and four weeks ending with the week in which he was last engaged in employment, until a total amount equivalent to sixteen times a week's benefit has been paid to him; and (2) after such total has been paid, in the ratio of one-twentieth of a week's benefit to each credit week which occurred within the period of two hundred and sixty weeks ending with the week in which he was last engaged in employment.

"(c) All payments of benefits under this section shall be charged, in accordance with the applicable ratio, against the earliest credit week or part thereof available for such purpose.

"(d) As used in this section, the term 'credit week' means a week in which the individual concerned performed some employment, against which no benefits have been charged, and with respect to which no benefits were paid to the individual: Provided, That any week occurring within the customary school vacation period shall not be counted as a credit week in the case of any individual who attended a school, college, or university in the last preceding school term, and returns to a school, or college, or university at the end of such vacation period."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Voluntary unemployment

Where Unemployment Compensation Board found that employee had voluntarily quit job without good cause and thereafter had reasonably and actively looked for work Board was entitled to impose a penalty of four weeks' benefits and thereafter restore eligibility for compensation. AEM, Inc., etc. v. I. H. Ecke, deceased and Dist. Unemployment Comp. Board (1959, 271 F. 2d 506, 106 U.S. App. D.C. 240).

In proceeding on appeal from award of Unemployment Compensation Board of benefits to claimant who had voluntarily quit employment without good cause, there was substantial evidence to support Board's finding that claimant after quitting had reasonably and actively sought work and as of a specified date had become eligible for unemployment benefits. Id.

§ 46–311. Determination of claims.

(a) Claims for benefits shall be made in accordance with such regulations as the Board may prescribe. Each employer shall post and maintain in places readily accessible to individuals in his service printed statements concerning such regulations or such other matters as the Board may by regulations prescribe. Each employer shall supply such individuals with copies of such printed statements or materials relating to claims for benefits as the Board may by regulation prescribe. Such printed statements or materials shall be supplied by the Board to each employer without cost to him.

(b) Promptly after an individual has filed a claim for benefits, an agent of the Board designated by it for such purpose shall make an initial determination with respect thereto which shall include a determination with respect to whether or not such benefit may be payable, and if payable, the week with respect to which payments will commence, the maximum duration thereof, and the weekly benefit amount, except that in any case in which the payment or denial of benefits will be determined by the provisions of section 46–310 (e), the agent shall promptly transmit such claim to an appeal tribunal which shall make a decision thereon after such investigation as it deems necessary, and after affording the parties opportunity for fair hearing in accordance with subsection (e) of this section, and the claimant and interested parties shall be given notice thereof and permitted to appeal therefrom to the Board and the courts as is provided in this chapter for notice of, and appeals from, decisions of appeal tribunals. An initial determination may, for good cause, be reconsidered. The claimant and other parties to the proceedings shall be promptly notified of the initial determination or any amended determination and the reasons therefor. Benefits shall be denied or, if the claimant is otherwise eligible, paid promptly in accordance with such initial determination except as hereinafter otherwise provided. The claimant or any party to the determination may file an appeal from such initial determination or from a reconsideration of such determination within ten days after notification thereof, or after the date such notification was mailed to his last known address. If upon such initial determination benefits are allowed but the record of the case indicates that a disqualification has been alleged or may exist, benefits shall not be paid prior to the expiration of the period for appeal as hereinafter provided. If an appeal is duly filed with respect to a matter other than the weekly benefit amount or maximum duration of benefits payable, benefits with respect to the period prior to the final decision of the Board shall be paid only after such decision: Provided, That if an appeal tribunal affirms an initial determination allowing benefits, such benefits shall be paid regardless of any appeal which may thereafter be taken. If, subsequent to such initial determination, benefits with respect to any week for which a claim has been filed are denied for reasons other than matters included in the initial determination, the claimant shall be promptly notified of the denial and the reasons therefor, and may appeal therefrom in accordance with the procedure herein described for appeals from initial determinations.

(c) To hear and decide appealed claims, the Board shall appoint one or more appeal tribunals to hold hearings in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Board at which all parties shall be given opportunity to present evidence and to be heard. In the conduct of such hearings, the parties shall not be bound by common law or statutory rules of evidence or other technical rules of procedure, but the appeal tribunal shall use due diligence to ascertain the true facts of the case.

(d) Each appeal tribunal shall consist of either an examiner regularly employed by the Board on a salaried basis or a body composed of an examiner who shall act as chairman, and, without regard to the civil-service laws otherwise applicable, of one representative of employees and one representative of employers, each designated by the Board. No representative shall be regularly employed by the Board, nor shall any person acting in any case on behalf of the Board have any interest, direct or indirect, in the case. In no case shall the hearings proceed unless the examiner designated as a member of an appeal tribunal is present; and if either or both of such representatives fail to appear for any such hearings or are disqualified from participating in any such hearings, the examiner shall proceed to hear the case: Provided, That the Board may designate alternates to serve in the absence or disqualification of any member of an appeal tribunal. Each such representative shall be paid for each day on which he actively engaged or was present and prepared to engage in the conduct of any such hearings, such sums, not in excess of $10, as the Board shall by regulation prescribe.

(e) An appeal tribunal, after affording the parties reasonable opportunity for fair hearing, shall, unless such appeal is withdrawn, affirm or modify the finding of facts and the initial determination. The parties shall be duly notified of the decision of such appeal tribunal, together with the reasons therefor. The Board, under regulations prescribed by it, may permit further appeal by any party or may, upon its own motion, affirm, reverse, or modify the decision of the appeal tribunal or may set it aside and order a rehearing or the taking of additional evidence before the same or a different appeal tribunal. Unless a petition for such appeal is filed within ten days after the date of notification or mailing of the decision of an appeal tribunal, or within such ten-day period the Board has taken action on its own motion in accordance with the provisions of this subsection, the decision of the appeal tribunal shall constitute the decision of the Board and shall be effective as such. Any decision of an appeal tribunal which is not so modified or so appealed within such ten-day period is final for all purposes, except as provided in section 46–312 (a), and is not subject to review by the District auditor. All decisions rendered by the Board affirming, reversing, or modifying any decision of an appeal tribunal shall become effective immediately, unless the Board shall otherwise order, and are not subject to review by the District auditor.

(f) A full and complete record shall be kept of all proceedings in connection with an appealed claim. All testimony at every hearing on any such claim shall be taken down by a stenographer, but shall not be transcribed except upon order of the Board or in the event of an appeal pursuant to section 46–312 (a). Upon any such appeal, a copy of all the testimony and of the findings of fact upon which the Board's decision was based shall be filed with the court, and the facts so found shall, if supported by evidence, be binding on the court.

(g) Witnesses subpenaed pursuant to this section shall be allowed fees at a rate fixed by the Board. Such fees shall be deemed part of the expense of administering this chapter. (Aug. 28, 1935, 49 Stat. 951, ch. 794, § 11, formerly § 12; renumbered and amended June 4, 1943, 57 Stat. 116, ch. 117.)

(f) DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION.—Except as hereinafter otherwise provided, information obtained from any employing unit or individual pursuant to the administration of this chapter and determinations as to the benefit rights of any individual shall be held confidential and shall not be disclosed or be open to public inspection in any manner, whether by subpena or otherwise, revealing the individual's or employing unit's identity. Any claimant (or his legal representative) shall be supplied with information from the records of the division, to the extent necessary for the proper presentation of his claim in any proceeding under this chapter with respect thereto. Subject to such restrictions as the Board may by regulation prescribe, such information may be made available to any agency of this or any other State, or any Federal agency, charged with the administration of an unemployment compensation law or the maintenance of a system of public employment offices, or the Department of Public Welfare of the government of the District of Columbia, or the United States Accounting Office or the Bureau of Internal Revenue of the United States Department of the Treasury, and information obtained in connection with the administration of the employment service may be made available to persons or agencies for purposes appropriate to the operation of a public employment service. Upon request therefor the Board shall furnish to any agency of the United States charged with the administration of public works or assistance through public employment, and may furnish to any State agency similarly charged, the name, address, ordinary occupation, and employment status of each recipient of benefits and such recipient's rights to further benefits under this chapter. The Board may request the Comptroller of the Currency of the United States to cause an examination of the correctness of any return or report of any national banking association rendered pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, and may in connection with such request transmit any such report or return to the Comptroller of the Currency of the United States as provided in section 1606 (c) of the Federal Internal Revenue Code.

(g) In the discharge of the duties imposed by this chapter, any member of the Board and any duly authorized representative thereof shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations, take depositions, certify to official acts, and issue subpenas to compel attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers, correspondence, memoranda, and other records deemed necessary as evidence in connection with a disputed claim or the administration of this chapter.

(h) In the case of contumacy by, or refusal to obey a subpena issued to, any person, the Board may invoke the aid of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia in requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, papers, correspondence, memoranda, and other records. Such court may issue an order requiring such person to appear before the Board or officer designated by the Board, there to produce records, if so ordered, or to give testimony touching the matter in question; and any failure to obey such order of the court may be punished by such court as a contempt thereof. Any person who shall, without just cause, fail or refuse to attend and testify or to answer any lawful inquiry or to produce books, papers, correspondence, memoranda, and other records, if in his power so to do, in obedience to the subpena of the Board, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be subject to a fine of not more than $1,000 or to imprisonment for a term of not more than one year, or both.

(i) No person shall be excused from attending and testifying or from producing books, papers, correspondence, memoranda, and other records before the Board or in obedience to the subpena of the Board or any member thereof or any officer designated by it, or in any cause or proceeding instituted by the Board, on the ground that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to incriminate him or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture; but no individual shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter, or thing concerning which he is compelled, after having claimed his privilege against self-incrimination, to testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, except that such individual so testifying shall not be exempt from prosecution and punishment for perjury committed in so testifying. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Confidential information

Evidence relating to the practices and methods of the D. C. Unemployment Compensation Board is excludible as the statute specifically prohibits the disclosure of information given it by employers, including the identity of the employer and it would be against the public interest to permit obtaining by indirection what is directly prohibited by statute. Orndorff v. Cohen (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 62 A. 2d 794).

Limitations

Compulsory unemployment contributions were "taxes" which were expended for a public purpose, that is, the relief of unemployment; and action brought by District Unemployment Compensation Board to recover such contributions was one asserting a public right, and therefore no statute of limitations would run against board in such an action in view of Congress' failure to provide a specific statute of limitations for such an action. Stonewall Construction Company v. McLaughlin et al., etc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1959, 151 A. 2d 535).

§ 46–314. Method of paying administrative expenses.

All moneys received by the Board from the United States under sections 501–503 of title 42, U. S. Code or from other sources for administering this chapter shall, immediately upon such receipt, be deposited in the Treasury of the United States as a special deposit to be used solely to pay such administrative expenses (including expenditures for rent, for suitable office space in the District of Columbia, and for lawbooks, books of reference, and periodicals), traveling expenses when authorized by the Board, premiums on the bonds of its employees, and allowances to investigators for furnishing privately owned motor vehicles in the performance of official duties at rates not to exceed $40 per month. All such payments of expenses shall be made by checks drawn by the Board and shall be subject to audit by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia in the same manner as are payments of other expenses of the District. Notwithstanding the provisions of this section and the provisions of sections 46–302 and 46–308, the Board is authorized to requisition and receive from its account in the Unemployment Trust Fund in the Treasury of the United States of America, in the manner permitted by Federal law, such moneys standing to the District's credit in such fund, as are permitted by Federal law to be used for expenses incurred by the Board for the administration of this chapter and to expend such moneys for such purposes. Moneys so received shall, immediately upon such receipt, be deposited in the Treasury of the United States in the same special account as are all other moneys received for the administration of this chapter. All moneys received by the Board pursuant to section 502 of title 2, U. S. Code shall be expended solely for the purposes and in the amounts found necessary by the Department of Labor for the proper and efficient administration of this chapter. In lieu of incorporation in this chapter of the provision described in section 503(a)(9) of title 42, U. S. Code, the Board shall include in its annual report to Congress, provided in section 46–313 (c), a report of any moneys received after July 1, 1941, from the Department of Labor under sections 501–503 of title 42, U. S. Code, and any unencumbered balances in the unemployment compensation administration fund as of that date, which the Department of Labor finds have, because of any action or contingency, been lost or have been expended for purposes other than, or in amounts in excess of, those found necessary by the Department of Labor for the proper administration of this chapter. AMENDMENTS

1954—Act Aug. 31, 1954, provided for the payment of premiums on employees bonds, increased the allowance for the use of privately owned motor vehicles from $24 to $40 per month, authorized the Board to requisition and expend for administration of this chapter moneys in its account in the Unemployment Trust Fund, provided for deposits in the special account, and changed "field men" to "investigators", "District auditor" to "Commissioners of the District of Columbia" and "Social Security Board" to "Department of Labor", wherever appearing, to conform to such change effected under 1949 Reorg. Plan No. 2.

1943—Act June 4, 1943, authorized the use of moneys to pay for rent, suitable office space, lawbooks, books of reference, periodicals, traveling expenses, and motor vehicle allowances to field men, and added to the paragraph the provisions relating to use of moneys for purposes and in the amounts found necessary for proper and efficient administration of the chapter and requiring reports to Congress, formerly designated as the second paragraph, substituting "section 13(c) of this Act" for "section 14(c) of this Act", codified in the text as "section 46–313(c)."

1941—Act July 1, 1941, added a second paragraph providing for use of moneys for purposes and in the amounts found necessary for proper and efficient administration of the chapter and requiring reports to Congress.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

Reorg. Order No. 37 of the Board of Commissioners dated June 16, 1953, established the District Unemployment Compensation Board under the direction and control of the Board of Commissioners. The previously existing District Unemployment Compensation Board was abolished and all of its functions and positions including the duties, powers and authorities of all officers and employees were transferred to the new Board, and all positions, personnel, property, records and unexpended balances relating to the functions and positions transferred were also transferred to the new Board. This order was issued pursuant to Reorg. Plan No. 5 of 1952. The order and plan are set out in the Appendix to title 1, Administration.

§ 46–316. Reciprocal arrangements.

(a) The Board is hereby authorized to enter into reciprocal arrangements with appropriate and duly authorized agencies of other States or of the Federal Government, or both, whereby—

(1) services performed by an individual for a single employing unit for which services are customarily performed by such individual in more than one State shall be deemed to be services performed entirely within any one of the States (i) in which any part of such individual's service is performed or (ii) in which such individual has his residence or (iii) in which the employing unit maintains a place of business, provided there is in effect, as to such services, an election, approved by the agency charged with the administration of such State's unemployment-compensation law, pursuant to which all the services performed by such individual for such employing unit are deemed to be performed entirely within such State;

(2) potential rights to benefits accumulated under the unemployment-compensation laws of one or more States or under one or more such laws of the Federal Government, or both, may constitute the basis for the payment of benefits through a single appropriate agency under terms which the Board finds will be fair and reasonable as to all affected interests and will not result in any substantial loss to the fund;

(3) wages or services, upon the basis of which an individual may become entitled to benefits under an unemployment-compensation law of another State or of the Federal Government, shall be deemed to be wages for employment for the purpose of determining his rights to benefits under this chapter, and wages for employment, on the basis of which an individual may become entitled to benefits under this chapter shall be deemed to be wages or services on the basis of which unemployment compensation under such law of another State or of the Federal Government is payable, but no such arrangement shall be entered into unless it contains provisions for reimbursements to the fund for such of the benefits paid under this chapter upon the basis of such wages or services, and provisions for reimbursements from the fund for such of the compensation paid under such other law upon the basis of wages for employment, as the Board finds will be fair and reasonable as to all affected interests; and

(4) contributions due under this chapter with respect to wages for employment shall for the purposes of section 46–304 be deemed to have been paid to the fund as of the date payment was made as contributions therefor under another State or Federal unemployment-compensation law, but no such arrangement shall be entered into unless it contains provisions for such reimbursement to the fund of such contributions and the actual earnings thereon as the Board finds will be fair and reasonable as to all affected interests.

(b) Reimbursements paid from the fund pursuant to paragraph 3 of subsection (a) of this section shall be deemed to be benefits for the purpose of sections 46–306 to 46–308. The Board is authorized to make to other State or Federal agencies and to receive from such other State or Federal agencies reimbursements from or to the fund, in accordance with arrangements entered into pursuant to subsection (a) of this section.

(c) The administration of this chapter and of other State and Federal unemployment-compensation and public-employment-service laws will be promoted by cooperation between the District and such other States and the appropriate Federal agencies in exchanging services and making available facilities and information. The Board is therefore authorized to make such investigations, secure and transmit such information, make available such services and facilities, and exercise such of the other powers provided herein with respect to the administration of this chapter as it deems necessary or appropriate to facilitate the administration of any such unemployment-compensation or public-employment-service law, and in like manner to accept and utilize information, services, and facilities made available to the District by the agency charged with the administration of any such other unemployment-compensation or public-employment-service law.

(d) To the extent permissible under the laws and Constitution of the United States, the Board is authorized to enter into or cooperate in arrangements whereby facilities and services provided under this chapter and facilities and services provided under the unemployment-compensation law of any foreign government may be utilized for the taking of claims and the payment of benefits under the employment-security law of the District or under a similar law of such government. (Aug. 28, 1935, 49 Stat. 954, ch. 794, § 16, formerly § 17; renumbered and amended June 4, 1943, 57 Stat. 121, ch. 117.)

The terms of all such agreements entered into by the Board shall be published at least once in a newspaper of general circulation in the District."

§ 46–317. Records and reports.

(a) Every employing unit, whether or not liable to pay contributions under section 46–303, shall keep such true and accurate work records with respect to all individuals employed by it as the Board may prescribe. Such records shall be open to inspection by the Board and shall be subject to being copied by the Board or their authorized representative at any reasonable time and as often as may be necessary.

(b) The Board may require from any employing unit any sworn or unsworn reports in connection with its business, covering employment, employees, wages, earnings, unemployment and related matters, as the Board deems necessary to the effective administration of this chapter. Except as hereinbefore provided in section 46–313 (f), information thus obtained may not be divulged. Any person who violates any provision of this section or section 46–313 (f) shall be fined not less than $20 nor more than $200 or imprisoned not longer than ninety days, or both. (Aug. 28, 1935, 49 Stat. 955, ch. 794, § 17, formerly § 18; renumbered and amended June 4, 1943, 57 Stat. 122, ch. 117.)

Subsec. (c) which provided that "Upon request therefor, the Board shall furnish to any agency of the United States or of the District charged with the administration of public works or assistance through public employment, the name, address, ordinary occupation, and employment status of each recipient of benefits and a statement of such recipient's rights to further benefits under this chapter." was deleted by act June 4, 1943.

§ 47–125. Disbursing officer's checks—Payment to holders of outstanding checks.

The payee or bona fide holder of any check drawn by the disbursing officer of the District of Columbia, or by any former disbursing officer of said District, the amount of which has been so covered back into the Treasury of the United States, shall, upon application accompanied with competent and sufficient proof, and the surrender of such check, be paid the amount thereof from the said appropriation account to be denominated "Outstanding liabilities, District of Columbia," upon a claim therefor duly audited and approved by the auditor of the District of Columbia, subject to like conditions and provisions as those imposed and required by the Revised Statutes of the United States, with respect to the payment of amounts represented by checks of disbursing officers of the United States which have been covered back into the Treasury to the credit of outstanding liabilities. (Apr. 28, 1904, 33 Stat. 574, ch. 1827, § 2.)

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

All functions of the Disbursing Office and the Office of Auditor including the functions of all officers, employees and subordinate agencies, were transferred to the Department of General Administration by Reorganization Order No. 3 of the Board of Commissioners dated Aug. 28, 1952, and effective Sept. 2, 1952.

The functions of the auditor with respect to the audit and approval of claims based on outstanding checks were transferred from the Auditor of the District of Columbia to the Accounting Officer, Finance Office, Department of General Administration by Reorganization Order No. 20 dated Nov. 10, 1952. This order was issued by the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1952. The orders and plan are set out in the Appendix to Title 1, Administration.

§ 47–126. Fees collected to be paid into Treasury of the United States.

Fees collected by the District of Columbia shall be paid for each fiscal year into the Treasury of the United States to the credit of the District of Columbia unless otherwise provided by law. (June 26, 1912, 37 Stat. 184, ch. 182, § 10; Feb. 22, 1921, 41 Stat. 1144, ch. 70, § 7; Apr. 24, 1926, 44 Stat. 322, ch. 176, § 1; June 7, 1926, 44 Stat. 697, ch. 480.)

CODIFICATION

This section has been reworded to conform to existing law. It formerly made provision for payment of fees into the Treasury to the credit of the United States and the District of Columbia in the same proportion as appropriations for the expenses of the government of the District of Columbia for such fiscal year are paid from the Treasury of the United States and the revenues of the District of Columbia. Act June 29, 1922, 42 Stat. 668, 669, ch. 249, § 1, provided as follows:

"Annually, from and after July 1, 1922, 60 per centum of such expenses of the District of Columbia as Congress may appropriate for shall be paid out of the revenues of the District of Columbia derived from taxation and privileges, and the remaining 40 per centum by the United States excepting such items of expense as Congress may direct shall be paid on another basis, * * * and that after June 30, 1922, any revenue derived from any activity or source whatever, including motor-vehicle licenses, not otherwise herein disposed of, which activity or source of revenue is appropriated for by both the United States and the District of Columbia, shall be divided between the two in the same proportion that each has contributed thereto."

The appropriation act of June 7, 1924, 43 Stat. 539, ch. 302, § 1, made a lump-sum appropriation as follows: "Any revenue (not including the proportionate share of the United States in any revenue arising as the result of the expenditure of appropriations made for the fiscal year 1924 and prior fiscal years) now required by law to be credited to the District of Columbia and the United States in the same proportion that each contributed to the activity or source from whence such revenue was derived shall be credited wholly to the District of Columbia, and in addition, $9,000,000 is appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, and all the remainder out of the combined revenues of the District of Columbia and such advances from the Federal Treasury as are authorized in the District of Columbia Appropriation Act for the fiscal year 1923, namely:"

Subsequent appropriation acts contained similar provisions, changing only the amount of the appropriation and the fiscal year (see act of June 12, 1940, 54 Stat. 307, ch. 333, § 1). These appropriation acts did not, however, provide for the repeal of the provisions of act June 29, 1922. This was done by the act of May 16, 1938, 52 Stat. 375, § 8, which added Title 10 to the District of Columbia Revenue Act of 1937, 50 Stat. 673, ch. 690.

From the foregoing it would seem that there is no longer any apportionment of expenses or segregation of revenues unless specific provision is made therefor by Congress subsequent to the repeal provision.

Provisions which related to specific fees were omitted since many were obsolete and they were not complete, and since the section is general in that it requires the payment of all fees into the Treasury of the United States.

§ 47–126a. Fees and fines.

There shall be credited to the District of Columbia that proportion of the fees and fines collected by the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, including fees and fines collected by the offices of the clerk of that court, of the Register of Wills of the District of Columbia, and of the United States marshal for the District of Columbia, as the amount paid by the District of Columbia toward salaries and expenses of such court and of the offices of the United States attorney for the District of Columbia and of the United States marshal for the District of Columbia bears to the total amount of such salaries and expenses; and such proportion of the fees and fines, if any, collected by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, including fees and fines, if any, collected by the office of the clerk of that court, as the amount paid by the District of Columbia toward the salaries and expenses of such court bears to the total amount of such salaries and expenses. (July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1107, ch. 367, title III; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 909, ch. 646, § 1; Aug. 2, 1949, 63 Stat. 491, ch. 383, § 7.)

AMENDMENT

1949–Act Aug. 2, 1949, inserted the words "of the Register of Wills of the District of Columbia" after the words "including fees and fines collected by the offices of the clerk of that court," and deleted the words "On and after July 1, 1939," at the beginning of the section.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1949 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act Aug. 2, 1949, effective July 1, 1949, see section 10 of act Aug. 2, 1949, set out as a note under section 19–401.

CHANGE OF NAME

Act June 25, 1948, eff. Sept. 1, 1948, substituted "United States Attorney" for "United States District Attorney." See 28 U.S.C. § 501.

§ 47–132. Money received from sale of animals and materials to be paid into Treasury.

All moneys received from the sales of animals or materials of any sort, purchased under appropriations made for the District of Columbia since July 1, 1878, other than for the water department, shall be paid into the treasury of the United States, to the credit of the District unless otherwise provided by law. (Mar. 2, 1889, 25 Stat. 808, ch. 370, § 3; Feb. 22, 1921, 41 Stat. 1144, ch. 70, § 7.)

Act June 29, 1922, which formed the basis for percentage liabilities, was repealed by act May 16, 1938, 52 Stat. 375, ch. 223, § 8, adding title X to act Aug. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 673, ch. 690 (§ 47–502 of this Code). However, acts making appropriations for the judiciary, have, since act Apr. 27, 1938, 52 Stat. 265, ch. 180, § 1, down to and including the Judiciary Appropriation Act, 1967 (act Nov. 8, 1966, 80 Stat. 1500, Pub. L. 89–797, title IV, § 402), contained the following provision: "Sixty per centum of the expenditures for the District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia from all appropriations under this title and 30 per centum of the expenditures for the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia from all appropriations under this title shall be reimbursed to the United States from any funds in the Treasury to the credit of the District of Columbia."

Later deficiency and supplemental appropriation acts, if they provided additional or supplemental appropriations for the District of Columbia, have contained, under the heading "Division of Expenses", the following provision: "The sums appropriated in this chapter for the District of Columbia shall, unless otherwise specifically provided for, be paid out of the general fund of the District of Columbia, as defined in the District of Columbia Appropriation Act for the fiscal year involved". See, for example, Deficiency Appropriation Act, 1964 (act June 9, 1964, 78 Stat. 206, Pub. L. 88–317, ch. III), Second Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1965 (act Apr. 30, 1965, 79 Stat. 82, Pub. L. 89–16, ch. II), and Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1966 (act Oct. 31, 1965, 79 Stat. 1134, Pub. L. 89–309, ch. II).

The Federal Government now makes a lump-sum appropriation for the District of Columbia. See §§ 47–2501a and 47–2501b.

47–502. Treasury Department to keep record of receipts and disbursements relative to District of Columbia.
47–503. Disposition of surplus funds—To be applied to succeeding year's expenditures.

§ 47–501. Assessment of taxes on real and personal property—Rate of taxation—Collection.

For the purpose of defraying such expenses of the District of Columbia as Congress may from time tc time appropriate for, there hereby is levied for each and every fiscal year, a tax at such rate on the real and personal property subject to taxation in the District as will, when added to the other taxes and revenues of the District, produce money enough to enable the District to pay promptly and in full all sums directed by Congress to be paid by the District, and for which appropriation has been duly made; and the Commissioners of the District of Columbia hereby are empowered and directed to ascertain, determine, and fix annually such rate of taxation as will, when applied as aforesaid, produce the money needed to defray the share of the expenses of the District during the year for which the rate is fixed; and the Commissioners of the District shall, in accordance with existing law, cause all such taxes and revenues to be promptly collected and, when collected, to be daily deposited in the Treasury to the credit of the District for the purposes herein set out. (June 29, 1922, 42 Stat. 669, ch. 249.)

CODIFICATION

Act June 29, 1922, also levied a tax "on such intangible personal property as is subject to taxation in the District of Columbia, at the rate of five-tenths of one per centum on the full market value thereof" and contained a further provision, "the rate fixed herein on intangible personal property not to be made less but which may be increased by the Commissioners in their discretion to any rate not in excess of the rate imposed upon real estate." These provisions have been omitted because the Revenue Act of July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1107, ch. 367, title IV, § 1, provided: "The tax on intangible personal property imposed by any law relating to the District shall not apply with respect to any year subsequent to the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939."

Where private act declared that property of club was exempt from taxation but was silent as to liability for taxes accrued prior to its approval by the President on July 2, 1956, property of the club was exempt from taxation for the fiscal year 1957 which commenced on Sunday, July 1, 1956, where the Commissioners were empowered to approve the list of exemptions on or before July 1, which being a Sunday, the Commissioners could have acted to recognize exemption from taxation throughout the entire day of the approval by the President. District of Columbia v. General Federation of Women's Clubs (1957, 249 F. 2d 503, 101 U.S. App. D.C. 411).

Migratory property

This section and § 47–1201 et seq. authorizing taxation by District of Columbia of all tangible "personal property subject to taxation" contemplates personal property having a definite and permanent situs in the District and not temporarily brought into District by nonresident, and this section and said § 47–1201 et seq. apply only to property that has acquired a fixed, definite and permanent taxable situs. Queen City Brewing Co. v. District of Columbia (1943, 134 F. 2d 44, 77 U. Personal property tax on bankrupt

Personalty of a bankrupt, in the hands of trustee in bankruptcy on July 1, 1954, was subject to district's personal property tax for the fiscal year commencing on that date, notwithstanding the fact that such date of assessment was subsequent to the date of bankrupt's adjudication in bankruptcy, and that the trustee did not conduct any business. Brown, Trustee in Bankruptcy, etc. v. Collector of Taxes for the District of Columbia (1957, 247 F. 2d 786, 101 U.S. App. D.C. 200).

(June 29, 1922, 42 Stat. 669, ch. 249; Aug. 17, 1937, ch. 690, title X, § 1, as added May 16, 1938, 52 Stat. 375, ch. 223, § 8.)

AMENDMENT

1938—Act May 16, 1938, repealed provisions of this section which read as follows: "and where the United States is the owner of ground or the holder thereof in trust for the public, upon which improvements have been made at the joint expense of the United States and the District of Columbia, the revenues therefrom shall be first be used to pay the United States 3 per centum of the full value of the ground as a ground rent, and the remainder shall be divided between them in the same proportion that each contributed to said improvements, and for such purposes the assessor for the District of Columbia shall fix the full value of the ground after he has first made oath that he will fairly and impartially appraise the same."

§ 47–503. Disposition of surplus funds—To be applied to succeeding year's expenditures.

If, for any fiscal year, the District of Columbia should raise and deposit in the treasury to its credit, more money derived from taxation, privileges, and other sources authorized in this chapter than may be necessary for the purposes therein, such excess shall be available the succeeding year, in the discretion of the Commissioners, either for the purpose of meeting the expense chargeable to the District of Columbia and/or for the further purpose of enabling the Commissioners to fix a lower rate of taxation for the year following the one in which said excess accrued than they might otherwise be able to do; and the agencies through which the District of Columbia collects its revenue derived from taxation shall also collect for the United States any revenues which by section 47–502 become the sole property of the United States, and said revenues shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States as "miscellaneous receipts"; and the Commissioners of the District of Columbia shall not be restricted in submitting to the Bureau of the Budget their estimates of the needs of the District, but they shall, as near as may be bring them within the probable aggregate of the fixed proportionate appropriations to be paid by the United States and the District of Columbia. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Deceased owners

Where wills of deceased nonresident owners of lots had not been probated in District of Columbia and it was not shown that commissioners were given notice of deaths of owners or who became owners under the wills, it was proper to assess lots in names of deceased owners. W. C. & A. N. Miller Development Co. v. Emig Properties Corporation (1943, 134 F. 2d 36, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 205, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 983, 318 U. S. 788, 87 L. Ed. 1155).

Realty held by devisees as tenants in common was properly assessed under this section in the name of their testatrix even after probate of her will. Deming v. Turner (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 220).

Notice of assessment

Where will placing record title to lot in husband and wife as trustees was probated after husband had acquired tax title in individual name, assessment in name of husband only was sufficient to give due notice of the assessment, within requirements of "due process of law". W. C. & A. N. Miller Development Co. v. Emig Properties Corporation (1943, 134 F. 2d 36, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 205, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 983, 318 U. S. 788, 87 L. Ed. 1155).

Persons owning undivided interests in realty in District of Columbia as devisees or heirs of deceased former owner are not prejudiced by assessment of such realty in name of their decedent because this section permitting such assessment places them on notice that assessment will be thus carried on tax rolls. Deming v. Turner (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 220).

Passing of possession

The quoted phrase as used in this section authorizing undivided real property of a deceased person to be assessed in name of such deceased person until it is divided, according to law, or has "otherwise passed into the possession of some other person or persons", refers to a passing other than by intestacy or the will itself. Turner v. Deming (1946, 155 F. 2d 181, 81 U. S. App. D. C. 113, certiorari denied 67 S. Ct. 80, 329 U.S. 727, 91 L. Ed. 629).

Realty which passed into possession of testatrix's four children as tenants in common under the will did not thereby pass into possession of "some other person or persons", within this section, and hence assessment of the realty in testatrix's name was authorized. Id.

Property not to be assessed

Poles, conduits, wires, and lamps are not to be assessed under the real estate tax law. Rudolph v. Potomac Elec. Power Co. (1928, 24 F. 2d 882, 58 App. D. C. 54, 57 A. L. R. 865).

Purpose

This section permitting assessment of undivided real property of a deceased person in the name of decedent was intended to relieve taxing authorities of the burden of tracing heirs and devisees and their heirs and devisees, all of whom might own undivided interests in the same property. Deming v. Turner (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 220).

Record owner

Taxes must be assessed in the name ot the record owner of the property. Tepper v. Fraser (1934, 70 F. 2d 778, 63 App. D. C. 174).

Tax title holder

Where tax deed was made in accordance with § 47–1003, it was proper to assess taxes in name of tax title holder. W. C. & A. N. Miller Development Co. v. Emig Properties Corporation (1943, 134 F. 2d 36, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 205, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 983, 318 U. S. 788, 87 L. Ed. 1155).

Where will placing record title to lot in husband and wife as trustees was probated after husband had acquired tax title in individual name, assessment in name of husband only was valid as being in name of "owner" within statutory requirement and the irregularity did not invalidate the assessment in view of "laches" in nonpayment of taxes from 1921 to 1929 and again from 1931 to 1934. Id.

Trustee

Where will placing record title to lot in trustee was probated after trustee had acquired tax title in individual name, even if assessment in name of record holder under will was required, assessment in name of the trustee individually was proper. W. C. & A. N. Miller Development Co. v. Emig Properties Corporation (1943, 134 F. 2d 36, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 205, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 983, 318 U. S. 788, 87 L. Ed. 1155).

Undivided real property

Realty owned by devisees as tenants in common was "undivided real property" within this section permitting assessment of undivided real property of a deceased person in decedent's name. Deming v. Turner (D.C.D.C. 1945, 63 F. Supp. 220).

Realty which was devised to testatrix's four children as tenants in common did not become "divided" when it passed to the children under the will, so as to preclude assessment of the realty in name of testatrix under this section. Turner v. Deming (1946, 155 F. 2d 181, 81 U. S. App. D. C. 113, certiorari denied 67 S. Ct. 80, 329 U. S. 727, 91 L. Ed. 629).

Validity

Conveyance of title would not affect validity of assessment in grantor's name where conveyance was not recorded until after the assessment. W. C. & A. N. Miller Development Co. v. Emig Properties Corporation (1943, 134 F. 2d 36, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 205, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 983, 318 U. S. 788, 87 L. Ed. 1155).

§ 47–702. Assessments to be made annually.

Assessments of real estate in the District of Columbia for purposes of taxation shall be made annually in the same manner and subject to the same limitations as heretofore provided by law for making biennial assessments of real estate in said District. (Aug. 14, 1894, 28 Stat. 283, ch. 287, § 3; Sept. 1, 1916, 39 Stat. 678, ch. 433; July 3, 1926, 44 Stat. 834, ch. 759, § 10.)

AMENDMENTS

1926—Act July 3, 1926, authorized annual assessments.
1916—Act. Sept. 1, 1916, provided for biennial instead of triennial assessments.

§ 47–703. Assessments to be by lot and square.

Real estate in the city of Washington, except such as may be exempt by law from taxation, shall be assessed according to the number of the squares and lots thereof, or parts of lots, and upon the number of the square or superficial feet in each square or lot, or parts of a lot, and in the county the agricultural lands shall be assessed by the acre, and suburban lots by the square foot, as in the city of Washington. (Mar. 3, 1883, 22 Stat. 569, ch. 137, § 5; Feb. 11, 1895, 28 Stat. 650, ch. 79.)

CODIFICATION

Act Feb. 11, 1895, incorporated Georgetown into the city of Washington and directed "that the squares in Georgetown" be "renumbered, so that no square shall hereafter bear a like number to any square in the city of Washington."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Front-foot rule

Assessment under front-foot rule was invalid. Johnson v. Rudolph (1927, 16 F. 2d 525, 57 App. D. C. 29). See, also, Dougherty v. American Secur. & Trust Co. (1930, 40 F. 2d 813, 59 App. D. C. 301, certiorari denied 51 S. Ct. 31, 282 U. S. 854, 75 L. Ed 757); Taliaferro v. Railway Terminal Warehouse Co. (1930, 43 F. 2d 271, 59 App. D. C. 376).

In applying this general law as to front-foot rule, which extends throughout the District, to a special assessment for street improvement not exclusively benefiting adjacent property-owners, the assessment cannot be upheld if it is in excess of the benefits and is not equal and fair in view of existing physical conditions, as where there is no relative equality in the value and depth of the abutting properties. John v. Rudolph (1927, 16 F. 2d 525, 57 App. D. C. 29).

In applying the front-foot rule under this act, the size, shape, improvements, or favorable location of property is not the test in determining validity of an assessment, but rather the relation of the property to other properties facing on the avenue and in the immediate vicinity. Taliaferro v. Railway Terminal Warehouse Co. (1930, 43 F. 2d 271, 59 App. D. C. 376).

A road improvement assessment under the front-foot rule was canceled as inequitable as applied to a triangular-shaped lot. Id.

The commissioners shall furnish each member of said Board of Assistant Assessors with the necessary maps and field books, which shall contain an accurate list of each tract, together with a pertinent description of the real property situate in the District of Columbia, and, as far as may be known, the owner thereof; and also such blanks, forms, books, surveys, and plats as may be necessary for a systematic statement of the property to be assessed, and shall also furnish the said Board of Assistant Assessors with the necessary conveyance to view said property for assessment. Upon the completion of the assessment the said Board of Assistant Assessors shall deposit with the assessor of the District of Columbia all maps, field books, surveys, and plats, and all notes and memoranda thereof, and same shall be open to inspection by any taxpayer of said District. (Aug. 14, 1894, 28 Stat. 283, ch. 287, § 6.)

Any five of said Board of Equalization and Review shall constitute a quorum for business, and, in the absence of the Assessor, a temporary chairman may be selected. They shall immediately proceed to equalize the valuations made by the board of assistant assessors so that each lot and tract and improvements thereon shall be entered upon the tax list at their value in money; and for this purpose they shall hear such complaints as may be made in respect of said assessments, and in determining them they may raise the valuation of such tracts or lots and improvements as in their opinion may have been returned below their value and reduce the valuation of such as they may believe to have been returned above their value to such sum as in their opinion may be the value thereof. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Exemption

Where private act declared that property of club was exempt from taxation but was silent as to liability for taxes accrued prior to its approval by the President on July 2, 1956, property of the club was exempt from taxation for the fiscal year 1957 which commenced on Sunday, July 1, 1956, where the Commissioners were empowered to approve the list of exemptions on or before July 1, which being a Sunday, the Commissioners could have acted to recognize exemption from taxation throughout the entire day of the approval by the President. District of Columbia v. General Federation of Women's Clubs (1957, 249 F. 2d 503, 101 U.S. App. D.C. 411).

Commissioners of District of Columbia had no power to exempt real estate of institutional owner where application for exemption came after property had been assessed for year, and an appeal within ninety days after the tax statement was mailed was its only remedy. Congregational Home of District of Columbia v. District of Columbia (1953, 202 F. 2d 808, 92 U.S. App. D.C. 73).

Next succeeding year

Where this chapter provided for annual assessment of real estate and that annual valuation of real estate should constitute basis of taxation "for the next succeeding year", the quoted phrase had reference to taxes which are levied for a designated fiscal period and did not include inheritance tax which is never part of an annual tax levy on the mass of property in a taxing district. Fisher v. District of Columbia (1948, 164 F. 2d 707, 82 U. S. App. D. C. 371).

§ 47–710. Real property and improvements becoming subject to taxation to be listed annually.

Annually, on or prior to July 1 of each year, the Board of Assistant Assessors, shall make a list of all real estate which shall have become subject to taxation and which is not then on the tax list, and affix a value thereon, according to the rules prescribed by law for assessing real estate; shall make return of all new structures erected or roofed, and additions to or improvements of old structures which shall not have theretofore been assessed, specifying the tract or lot of land on which each of such structures has been erected, and the value of such structure, and they shall add such valuation to the assessment made on such tract or lot. When the improvements on any lot or tract of land shall become damaged or be destroyed from any cause, the said board of assistant assessors shall reduce the assessment on said property to the extent of such damage: Provided, That the Board of Equalization and Review shall hear such complaints as may be made in respect of said assessments between September 1 and September 30 and determine the same not later than October 15 of the same year.

Any person aggrieved by any assessment or valuation made in pursuance of this section may, within ninety days after October 15 of the year in which said valuation or assessment is made, appeal from such assessment or valuation in the same manner and to the same extent as provided in sections 47–2403 and 47–2404: Provided, however, That if the taxpayer shall be notified in writing not later than September 1 of a particular year of the valuation of the real estate valued in accordance with this section, such taxpayer shall first make a complaint to the Board of Equalization and Review respecting such assessment as herein provided. (Aug. 17, 1937, ch. 690, title IX, § 5(b), as added May 16, 1938, 52 Stat. 372, ch. 223, § 8, and amended July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1109, ch. 367, title IV, § 5(b); July 10, 1952, 66 Stat. 545, ch. 649, § 3(c).)

CODIFICATION

The last sentence of this section is also classified to § 47–2405.

AMENDMENTS

1952—Act July 10, 1952, substituted "if the taxpayer shall be notified in writing not later than September 1 of a particular year of the valuation of the real estate valued in accordance with this section, such taxpayer shall first make a complaint" for "such person shall have first made his complaint."

1939—Act July 26, 1939, substituted "September 1 and September 30" for "July 1 and July 15", and "October 15" for "August 1" in two instances.

In addition to the annual assessment of all real estate made on or prior to July 1 of each year there shall be added a list of all new buildings erected or under roof prior to January 1 of each year, in the same manner as provided by law for all annual additions; and the amounts thereof shall be added as assessment for the second half of the then current year payable in the month of March. When the improvements on any lot or tract of land shall become damaged or be destroyed from any cause prior to January 1 of each year the said board of assistant assessors shall reduce the assessment on said property to the extent of said damage for the second half of the then current year payable in the month of March. The Board of Equalization and Review shall hear such complaints as may be made in respect of said assessments for the second half of said year between March 1 and March 31 and determine said complaints not later than April 15 of the same year. Any person aggrieved by any assessment made in pursuance of this section may, within ninety days after April 15 of the year in which such assessment is made, appeal from such assessment in the same manner and to the same extent as provided in sections 47–2403 and 47–2404: Provided, however, That if the taxpayer shall be notified in writing not later than March 1 of a particular year of the valuation of the real estate valued in accordance with this section, such taxpayer shall first make a complaint to the Board of Equalization and Review respecting such assessment as herein provided. (Aug. 17, 1937, ch. 690, title IX, § 5(c), as added May 16, 1938, 52 Stat. 372, ch. 223, § 8, and amended July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1109, ch. 367, title IV, § 5(b); July 10, 1952, 66 Stat. 545, ch. 649, § 3(c).)

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

Composition of Board of Equalization and Review and abolition of Board of Assistant Assessors, see transfer of functions note under § 47–604.

§ 47–712. Assessment of omitted property—Voided assessments, reassessment of property.

If the board of assistant assessors shall learn that any property liable to taxation has been omitted from the assessment for any previous year or years, or has been so assessed that the assessment was void, it shall be their duty at once to reassess this property for each and every year for which it has escaped assessment and taxation, and report the same, through the assessor, to the collector of taxes who shall at once proceed to collect the taxes so in arrears as other taxes are collected: Provided, That no property which has escaped assessment and taxation shall be liable under this section for a period of more than three years prior to such assessment, except in the case of property involved in litigation. In addition to the duties of the assessor hereinbefore provided, it shall be the duty of the assessor upon reassessment as herein provided to notify the taxpayer by writing of the fact of such reassessment. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Retroactive assessment

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia have no function with respect to statutory procedure prescribed for retroactive assessment of omitted property, and the only officials who have a duty in that process are members of Board of Assistant Assessors, who make the retroactive assessment, and Assessor, who notifies taxpayer of assessment by sending him a tax bill. Trustees of St. Paul Methodist Episcopal Church South v. District of Columbia (1954, 212 F. 2d 244, 94 U.S. App. D.C. 78).

Assessment of omitted property by Board of Assistant Assessors is not required to be submitted to or to be approved by Board of Equalization and Review or Commissioners of District, and is not subject to administrative review except in the Tax Court. Id.

In the absence of statutory provision for reassessment for prior years, none can validly be made. Tumulty v. District of Columbia (1939, 102 F. 2d 254, 69 App. D. C. 390).

Whenever a subdivision of any lot or parcel of land in the District of Columbia, or any portion of any such lot or parcel is made during the months of July, August, September, October, November, or December, the general tax due and payable upon such lot or parcel of land for prior years and for the first half of the then current fiscal year shall then be paid, and all water main and sewer assessments and special assessments of any kind thereon shall then become due and payable, and be paid before such subdivision shall be admitted to record in the office of the surveyor of the District of Columbia; and the general tax thereon for the last half of the then current fiscal year shall be due and payable in the following May. (July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 616, ch. 1352, § 5; Mar. 1, 1921, 41 Stat. 1195, ch. 95, § 1; June 29, 1922, 42 Stat. 669, ch. 249; July 3, 1926, 44 Stat. 833, ch. 759, § 4.)

CODIFICATION

Whenever such subdivision is made during the months of January, February, March, April, May, or June, the total general tax assessed against the original lot or parcel of land for prior years and for the then current fiscal year, and all water main and sewer assessments and special assessments of any kind thereon, shall become due and payable and be paid before such subdivision is admitted to record in the office of the surveyor of the District of Columbia. (Mar. 1, 1921, 41 Stat. 1196, ch. 95, § 2.)

§ 47–715. Redistribution of assessment on application by owner of unsubdivided tract.

Whenever application is made in writing to the assessor of the District of Columbia by the owner of any tract of land in said District not subdivided into lots and of record as a subdivision in the office of the surveyor of said District, for the redistribution of any general or special taxes or assessments then levied or due thereon, or whenever such application is made by the owner of any parcel of such tract for such redistribution, any such general or special taxes or assessments levied or due against the entire tract of which such parcel is a part shall be redistributed so that the owner of any such parcel may pay the proportion of such entire taxes or assessments equitably chargeable thereon. (Mar. 1, 1921, 41 Stat. 1196, ch. 95, § 3.)

§ 47–716. Application for redistribution or reassessment—Notice—Validity.

Notices in such case shall be served upon each lot or parcel owner if he or she be a resident of the District and his or her residence known, and if he or she be a nonresident of the District, or his or her residence unknown, such notice shall be served on his or her tenant or agent, as the case may be, and if there be no tenant or agent known to the Commissioners, then they shall give notice of such assessment by advertisement twice a week for two weeks in some newspaper published in said District. The service of such notice, where the owner or his tenant or agent resides in the District, shall be either personal or by leaving the same with some person of suitable age at the residence or place of business of such owner, agent, or tenant; and return of such service, stating the manner thereof, shall be made in writing and filed in the office of said Commissioners. Any person aggrieved by such reassessment or redistribution, may within ninety days after notice of such reassessment or redistribution, appeal from such reassessment or redistribution in the same manner and to the same extent as provided in sections 47–2403 and 47–2404.

Any reassessment or redistribution made under sections 47–713 to 47–717 shall be as valid and effectual upon the various parts of the property, in the same manner and to the same extent as if the tax or assessment so reassessed or redistributed had been laid originally thereon under the various laws appertaining thereto. No payment or failure to pay a tax or assessment upon any such part shall change or affect the liability of the other parts of such property for any tax or assessment so reassessed or redistributed. (Mar. 1, 1921, 41 Stat. 1196, ch. 95, § 4; Aug. 17, 1937, ch. 690, title IX, § 5(e), as added May 16, 1938, 52 Stat. 374, ch. 223, § 8.)

The property occupied by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, or by the Washington Terminal Company, under authority of this Act, together with the improvements which may be put thereon, shall be subject to tax by the District of Columbia the same as other property in the District of Columbia: Provided, That no assessment, valuation, or tax shall be made or levied on the railroad or terminals located, constructed, or maintained under the authority of this Act, in excess of that which would or could be lawfully made, laid, or levied if said railroad and terminals were so located, constructed, and maintained without the use of bridges, viaducts, retaining walls, and other structures necessary or properly employed to elevate the same as required by this Act, it being the true intent and meaning hereof that the railroad and terminals hereby authorized shall be assessed and valued for purposes of taxation and taxed on the same basis as if the same were not constructed and maintained by means of such bridges, viaducts, retaining walls, and other structures. The property occupied by the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company under authority of this section, together with the improvements which may be put thereon, shall be subject to tax by the District of Columbia the same as other property in the District of Columbia: Provided, That no assessment, valuation, or tax shall be made, laid, or levied on the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad Company on account of any bridges, tunnels, elevated tracks, or subway which shall be located, constructed, or maintained under the authority of this Act, and forming part of said railroad, in excess of that which would or could be lawfully made, laid, or levied if said railroad was wholly located and constructed on the surface of the ground; it being the true intent and meaning hereof that any such bridges, tunnels, elevated tracks, or subway forming a part of said railroad shall be assessed and valued for purposes of taxation and taxed on the same basis as any other equal portion of railroad situated within the said District of Columbia not constructed on, in, through, or upon any such bridges, tunnels, elevated tracks, or subway. § 47–801. Repealed. Dec. 24, 1942, 56 Stat. 1091, ch. 826, § 7 (c, g).

Section, acts Mar. 3, 1877, 19 Stat. 399, 402, ch. 117 §§ 8, 18; Aug. 15, 1916, 39 Stat. 514, ch. 342, listed specific property which was exempt from taxation and is now covered by § 47–801a.

§ 47–801a. Government property—Property of educational, charitable, religious or scientific institutions—Profits arising from sale of property.

The real property exempt from taxation in the District of Columbia shall be the following and none other:

(a) Property belonging to the United States of America.

(b) Property belonging to the District of Columbia.

(c) Property belonging to foreign governments and used for legation purposes.

(d) Property belonging to the Commonwealth of the Philippines and used for Government purposes.

(e) Property heretofore specifically exempted from taxation by any special Act of Congress, in force December 24, 1942, so long as such property is used for the purposes for which such exemption is granted. The Commissioners of the District of Columbia shall report annually to the Congress the use being made of such specifically exempted property, and of any changes in such use, with recommendations.

(f) Art gallery buildings belonging to and operated by organizations which are not organized or operated for private gain, and are open to the public generally, and for admission to which no charge is made on more than two days each week.

(g) Library buildings belonging to and operated by organizations which are not organized or operated for private gain and are open to the public generally.

(h) Buildings belonging to and operated by institutions which are not organized or operated for private gain, which are used for purposes of public charity principally in the District of Columbia.

(i) Hospital buildings, belonging to and operated by organizations which are not organized or operated for private gain, including buildings and structures reasonably necessary and usual to the operation of a hospital.

(j) Buildings belonging to and operated by schools, colleges, or universities which are not organized or operated for private gain, and which embrace the generally recognized relationship of teacher and student.

(k) Buildings belonging to and used in carrying on the purposes and activities of the National Geographic Society, American Pharmaceutical Association, The Medical Society of the District of Columbia, the National Lutheran Home, the National Academy of Sciences, Brookings Institution, the American Forestry Association, the American Tree Association, the Carnegie Institution of Washington, the American Chemical Society, the American Association to Promote the Teaching of Speech to the Deaf, and buildings belonging to such similar institutions as may be hereafter exempted from such taxation by special Acts of Congress.

(l) Cemeteries dedicated to and used solely for burial purposes and not organized or operated for private gain, including buildings and structures reasonably necessary and usual to the operation of a cemetery.

(m) Churches, including buildings and structures reasonably necessary and usual in the performance of the activities of the church. A church building is one primarily and regularly used by its congregation for public religious worship.

(n) Buildings belonging to religious corporations or societies primarily and regularly used for religious worship, study, training, and missionary activities.

(o) Pastoral residences actually occupied as such by the pastor, rector, minister, or rabbi of a church: Provided, That such pastoral residence be owned by the church or congregation for which said pastor, rector, minister, or rabbi officiates: And provided further, That not more than one such pastoral residence shall be so exempt for any one church or congregation.

(p) Episcopal residences owned by a church and used exclusively as the residence of a bishop of such church.

(q) Buildings belonging to organizations which are charged with the administration, coordination, or unification of activities, locally or otherwise, of institutions or organizations entitled to exemption under the provisions of sections 47–801a, 47–801b and 47–801c to 47–801f, and used as administrative headquarters thereof.

(r) (1) Grounds belonging to and reasonably required and actually used for the carrying on of the activities and purposes of any institution or organization entitled to exemption under the provisions of sections 47–801a, 47–801b and 47–801c to 47–801f.

(2) Additional grounds belonging to and forming a part of the property of such institutions or organizations as of July 1, 1942. Such exemption shall be granted only upon the filing of a written application to the Commissioners, supported by an affidavit that such additional grounds are not held for profit or sale but only for the enlargement and expansion of said institution or organization.

If, however, at any future date the grounds so exempted, or any portion thereof, shall be sold and a profit shall result from such sale the taxes thereon for each year from the date of acquisition of such property for which no tax has been paid shall immediately become due and payable, without interest: Provided, however, That the total of such taxes shall not exceed 50 per centum of the net profit derived from such sale. The Commissioners shall be furnished a copy of the contract of sale together with other evidence necessary to establish the amount of profit or loss therefrom at least ten days prior to the date of settlement of such sale. Taxes assessed under this subparagraph shall constitute a lien upon such property. (Dec. 24, 1942, 56 Stat. 1089, ch. 826, § 1; Apr. 9, 1943, 57 Stat. 61, ch. 41, § 1.)

AMENDMENT

1943—Act Apr. 9, 1943, amended par. (k) by inserting after "the American Forestry Association" the words "the American Tree Association."

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1943 AMENDMENT

Section 2 act Apr. 9, 1943, provided that: "The amendment made by this Act [to this section] shall take effect as of December 24, 1942."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Additional grounds

Where religious corporation, owning two contiguous lots, on one of which a synagogue stood where religious services were conducted regularly, claimed as to other contiguous lot that it was entitled in prior years to exemption from taxation as "additional grounds" within this section granting exemption for such additional grounds but with proviso for taxing, not in excess of 50% of net profit of sale in event land was later sold at a profit, corporation subsequent to sale of part of lot at an alleged profit was not estopped from claiming that such lot was entitled to an unqualified exemption as ground belonging to and reasonably required and actually used for carrying on activities of religious organization. District of Columbia v. Chevrah Tifereth Israel (C.A.D.C. 1960, 280 F. 2d 61).

This section imposing real estate tax upon "additional grounds" of religious institutions which are sold at profit after having been previously exempt, requires that taxing authority classify grounds involved as either those required and used for actually carrying on purposes of institution, or as "additional grounds". Simpson Memorial Methodist Ch. v. District of Columbia (1952, 199 F. 2d 169, 91 U. S. App. D. C. 105).

Administrative review

Under this section providing that payment of tax on property claimed to be exempt "shall not be prerequisite" to an appeal to Board of Tax Appeals, Congress intended such remedy to be an exclusive one for review of action of assessing authorities, and hence municipal court lacked jurisdiction of action by taxpayer, which did not appeal to the Board of Tax Appeals, to recover taxes on property claimed to be exempt. Workshop Center of Arts v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1958, 145 A. 2d 571).

Except in cases of absolute exemption, the tax exemption of each year is dependent on the use to which property is put, and original determination of exemption or absence thereof is largely an administrative question for the assessing authorities, and administrative review is available to the Tax Court and review of its decision is available in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. Id.

Application for exemption

Commissioners of District of Columbia had no power to exempt real estate of institutional owner where application for exemption came after property had been assessed for year, and an appeal within ninety days after the tax statement was mailed was its only remedy. Congregational Home of District of Columbia v. District of Columbia (1953, 202 F. 2d 808, 92 U.S. App. D.C. 73).

Charitable organizations

Where tax-exempt organization owned house in which its president lived and expected him to use same for its purposes, and he paid no rent, house and its yard were not subject to tax. District of Columbia v. The Brookings Institution (1958, 254 F. 2d 955, 103 U.S. App. D.C. 98).

Organization which operated a residential settlement house, including classes and social activities for adults and children and day care of children, which charged moderate fees for its services based on individual's ability to pay, which derived its income largely from charitable sources, and which paid its officers no salary, was a "charity" and its realty was exempt from taxation, though organization received fees from those who could afford to pay, and though a few of the beneficiaries could perhaps pay more than they did for services received. District of Columbia v. Friendship House Ass'n. (1952, 198 F. 2d 530, 91 U.S. App. D.C. 137).

It is not necessary for an organization, in order to qualify as a "charity" whose realty is exempt from taxation, that it confine its activities to the furnishing of bare necessities of life, such as food, shelter, and clothing, and an activity is equally a charity when it affords some of the amenities of a decent life to those who are unable to pay anything at all or the full price thereof. Id.

Under this section exempting from taxation buildings belonging to institutions of purely public charity except if any portion of building or grounds is larger than is absolutely required and actually used for its legitimate purpose and none other, where lessor was public charity but building and grounds were larger than were absolutely required and actually used for the lessor's legitimate purpose, the fact that lessee was also a public charity would not exempt the building from taxation. Hebrew Home for the Aged v. District of Columbia (1944, 142 F. 2d 573, 79 U.S. App. D.C. 64).

Where both lessor and lessee where public charities and lessee agreed to erect building which at expiration of term would become lessor's property, the building and the land were "larger than was absolutely required and actually used" for the lessor's legitimate purposes within this section granting exemption from taxation and therefore the building was not exempt from taxation. Id.

Under subsection (h) of this section granting exemption from taxation of buildings belonging to and operated by institutions which are not organized or operated for private gain, which are used for purposes of public charity principally in the District of Columbia, a concurrence of ownership and operation in one institution is not essential, but there must be use by charitable organization and ownership by a charitable organization. Catholic Home for Aged Ladies v. District of Columbia (1947, 161 F. 2d 901, 82 U. S. App. D. C. 195).

Where charitable organization transferred home to its charitable auxiliary which operated charitable home for old ladies, the home was exempt from taxation, notwithstanding the property was not used by owner. Id.

Congressional intent

Appellant's contention that the United States, to protect its lien, was obligated to pay District taxes assessed against the property after the federal lien arose, is without foundation since the general policy of the United States is not to pay real estate taxes to the District of Columbia in the absence of evidence of Congressional intent to create such suggested exception to this policy. Cobb v. United States (1949, 172 F. 2d 277, 84 U. S. App. D. C. 228).

Construction

District of Columbia tax exemption accorded organizations charged with administration, coordination, or unification of activities of exempt institutions or organizations does not require that organization claiming exemption administer, coordinate or unify only those activities in which it is dealing with third parties, and is not limited to organizations which have direct authority over their members. Conference of Major Religious Superiors of Women, Inc. v. District of Columbia (1965, 348 F. 2d 783, 121 U.S. App. D.C. 171).

Organization of religious superiors of women, active on behalf of members of religious orders or communities of which members of organization were respectively mother superior, was entitled to District of Columbia deed recordation tax exemption as organization charged with administration, coordination or unification of exempt organizations, although it did not deal with those activities of communities in which communities dealt with third parties and did not have direct authority over members. Id.

Organization of religious superiors of women, claiming District of Columbia tax exemption, was not required to establish that each of communities represented by its members was entitled to exemption, and prima facie showing was made by evidence sufficient to demonstrate status of constituent communities as representative. Id.

Under paragraph of this section relating to exemptions from taxation of realty owned by religious institutions, and providing in first numbered subparagraph for exemption of grounds required and used by such institutions, and in second numbered subparagraph for exemption of additional grounds, and in third unnumbered subparagraph for imposition of realty tax upon sale at profit in the future, third unnumbered subparagraph was part of second and indicated intention that such tax was to be imposed only in relation to sale of such additional grounds. Simpson Memorial Methodist Ch. v. District of Columbia (1952, 199 F. 2d 169, 91 U.S. App. D.C. 105).

Statute defining taxable income for income tax purposes has no bearing upon this section relating to imposition of real property tax upon previously exempt additional grounds of religious institution which have been sold at profit, and fact that determination of gain or loss on sale of church properties was not in accord with income tax statute could not invalidate assessment. Id.

Construction of exemption

Exemptions from taxation are construed strictly. Hebrew Home for the Aged v. District of Columbia (1944, 142 F. 2d 573, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 64). See, also, Bethel Pentecostal Tabernacle, Inc. v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1954, 106 A. 2d 143).

Tax exemptions must be strictly construed. Combined Congregations of District of Columbia v. Dent (1944, 140 F. 2d 9, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 254).

Date of exemption

Where charitable organization acquired a building in January, 1957, to house its activities, but extensive remodeling was required before the building could be used for the intended purpose, and a contract for construction and installation of an elevator was executed in May of 1957, building was exempt from realty taxes for fiscal year beginning July 1, 1957, notwithstanding fact contract for general renovation was not signed until July 9, 1957. District of Columbia v. The Salvation Army (1959, 264 F. 2d 371, 105 U.S. App. D.C. 85).

Educational purposes

Where corporation conducted school for preparation of young men for entrance examinations to military academies of United States and to afford the students training for a successful career in military and naval services of United States, and control of future of school was placed in hands of trustees but assets subject to such control could be used only for the designation of a school, college, university or fund not organized or operated for private gain, the corporation was not "organized" for private gain within this section exempting from taxation buildings belonging to and operated by schools not organized for private gain. Service Schools Foundation v. District of Columbia (1960, 276 F. 2d 517, 107 U.S. App. D.C. 271).

Where the Court of Appeals, contrary to District of Columbia Tax Court, determined that corporation operating a school was not "organized" for gain so as to be entitled to tax exemption under this section, and the Tax Court had not considered the question whether such school was "operated" for private gain, the Court of Appeals would not pass on such question initially but would permit the Tax Court to consider the matter. Id.

Where George Washington University, prior to assessment day, had purchased two buildings which required remodeling before they could be used for university purposes, and on assessment day the alteration of one of the buildings was actually in progress and on the other preliminary work which was necessary to prepare it for remodeling was then being done, the buildings were within provision of this section exempting from taxation "buildings belonging to and operated by" universities which are not organized or operated for private gain and which embrace the general recognized relationship of teacher and student. District of Columbia v. The George Washington University (1958, 262 F. 2d 36, 104 U.S. App. D.C. 324).

Automobile parking spaces owned by George Washington University and rented to students for nominal fee of 20 cents a half-day, a fee not shown to exceed cost of operation, were exempt from District of Columbia realty taxation under this section providing exemption for grounds belonging to and reasonably required and actually used for carrying on the activities and purposes of university not organized or operated for private gain. District of Columbia v. The George Washington University (1957, 243 F. 2d 246, 100 U.S. App. D.C. 140).

Parking lots owned by university for free use of its faculty members or employees were used for carrying on activities and purposes of university, and were reasonably required, within this section exempting such grounds from taxation by District of Columbia. District of Columbia v. The George Washington University (1955, 221 F. 2d 87, 95 U.S. App. D.C. 214).

In order to qualify under this section exempting real estate belonging to educational institutions from taxation in District of Columbia, institution must render service which relieves District of Columbia of burden it otherwise might assume. Washington Chapter of American Institute of Banking v. District of Columbia (1953, 203 F. 2d 68, 92 U.S. App. D.C. 139).

Where prime objective of institution was not education or elevation of public or of some reasonable cross-section thereof, but merely training of bank employees so as to render them more efficient, institution's real estate was not exempt from taxation under this section exempting real property of educational institutions from taxation in District of Columbia. Id.

Where, after institution of suit to obtain a declaratory judgment that certain property was used for educational purposes and therefore not taxable, Congress adopted this chapter declaring that the property and other similar property in District of Columbia was not taxable, determination in favor of owner of property was affirmed. District of Columbia v. American Pharmaceutical Ass'n (1943, 133 F. 2d 43, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 94).

Where university acquired realty, income from which was used only to accumulate funds for purchase of additional property with intention of erecting buildings on realty for use in connection with university's educational facilities and also acquired other realty, income from which was used for educational purposes, the realty was not exempt from taxation under Act Mar. 2, 1867, 14 Stat. 438, as amended by Act May 23, 1938, 52 Stat. 351, exempting property of university "used only for education of youth". Howard University v. District of Columbia (1946, 155 F. 2d 10, 81 U. S. App. D. C. 40, certiorari denied 67 S. Ct. 53, 329 U. S. 739, 91 L. Ed. 638).

Where education phase of corporation was at most incidental and collateral to the social, recreative, promotional, and propaganda phases which constituted its major reasons for existence, it was not exempt from tax. Hazen v. National Rifle Assn. (1939, 101 F. 2d 432, 69 App. D.C. 339).

Mt. Vernon Seminary was exempt from taxation as a corporation whose property was held solely for educational purposes, even though its receipts had exceeded its expenditures, resulting in a net profit to the institution. District of Columbia v. Mt. Vernon Seminary (1939, 100 F. 2d 116, 69 App. D.C. 251).

If school measures up to standards of curriculum and pedagogy set by the Government it comes within the reason for the subsidy which is implicit in a tax exemption. Id.

Questions of fact

Where record before Board of Tax Appeals was such as to permit findings of fact and conclusion to be made as to whether certain property was "additional grounds" of religious institution, with result that proceeds from sale thereof would be subject to imposition of realty tax to extent of one-half of profit, in absence of such findings having been made, court would not undertake to do so, but would remand case in order that findings might be made initially by the Board. Simpson Memorial Methodist Ch. v. District of Columbia (1952, 199 F. 2d 169, 91 U.S. App. D.C. 105).

Religious corporations

A Washington Ethical Society which holds regular Sunday services and has "leaders" to preach and minister to the members who are trained graduates of established theological institutions qualifies as a "religious corporation or society" and its building is one primarily and regularly used for public religious worship and entitled to tax exemption under this section. Washington Ethical Society v. District of Columbia (1957, 249 F. 2d 127, 101 U.S. App. D.C. 371).

Belief in or teaching of a Supreme Being or supernatural power is not essential to qualify for tax exemption accorded to "religious corporations," "churches" or "religious societies," under this section. Id.

Old church building, which was leased by church to another religious body for religious services, the church reserving the right to hold services at times which would not conflict with those of the lessee, was not primarily and regularly used by its congregation for public "religious worship", within this section granting tax exemption to church buildings so used. Trustees of St. Paul Methodist Episcopal Church South v. District of Columbia (1954, 212 F. 2d 244, 94 U.S. App. D.C. 78).

In this section granting exemption from taxation to a church building primarily and regularly used by "its" congregation for public religious worship, the antecedent of quoted word is the religious organization which owns the building, and hence concurrence of ownership and use is essential to the exemption. Id.

To entitle property owned by a religious corporation to exemption from taxation under subsection (n) of this section, two elements must be established, namely, that the building belongs to a religious corporation or society and that it is primarily and regularly used for religious worship, study, training, and missionary activities. Calvary Baptist Church Extension Ass'n v. District of Columbia (1947, 158 F. 2d 327, 81 U. S. App. D. C. 330).

Where church organization, desiring to construct a Sunday school building on its property, organized a separate corporation to avoid effect of a restrictive covenant in deed to the church limiting church indebtedness, and building constructed by separate corporation was used for Sunday school purposes and by other organizations of which the church organization was a part, the entire building so constructed was exempt from taxation under subsection (n) of this section. Id.

This section exempting "churches" from taxation refers to the building rather than the institution, and a separate structure maintained by Jewish Congregations for ceremonial baths was not within such exemption. Combined Congregations of District of Columbia v. Dent (1944, 140 F. 2d 9, 78 U.S. App. D.C. 254).

Under this section exempting churches from taxation and defining a church building as one primarily and regularly used by its congregation for public religious worship, building being prepared on tax day, for use as a church was not exempt, even though congregation gathered at irregular intervals to clean up building and engaged in prayer and singing in building before doing so. Bethel Pentecostal Tabernacle, Inc. v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1954, 106 A. 2d 143).

Under this section exempting churches from taxation, concurrence of ownership and use is essential to exemption, and religious corporation could not claim exemption for building, deed to which was not delivered until after tax day, even if the building had been used, on tax day, in a manner authorizing exemption. Id.

Review

On petition to review a decision of the District of Columbia Tax Court exempting from realty tax certain lots adjacent to a church building used for parking of church members' automobiles during services, evidence sustained finding that lots in question were reasonably required and actually used for the carrying out of the activities and purposes of the church. District of Columbia v. Church of the Pilgrims (1957, 247 F. 2d 59, 101 U.S. App. D.C. 68).

§ 47–801a–1. Disabled American Veterans property.

The property situated in square 153 in the city of Washington, District of Columbia, described as lot 132, owned, occupied, and used by the Disabled American Veterans, is hereby exempt from all taxation so long as the same is so owned and occupied, and not used for commercial purposes, subject to the provisions of sections 47–801b, 47–801c and 47–801e. (May 15, 1946, 60 Stat. 181, ch. 257, § 1.)

§ 47–801a–2. National Society of the Colonial Dames of America.

The property in the District of Columbia described as lot numbered 801, in square numbered 1285, together with the improvements thereon, known as premises number 2715 Q Street Northwest, and the furnishings therein, owned by the National Society of the Colonial Dames of America, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the District of Columbia, shall be exempt from taxation, national and municipal, so long as the same is used for nonprofit purposes. (Sept. 7, 1949, 63 Stat. 694, ch. 564.)

§ 47–801b. Income producing property of exempt institutions.

If any building or any portion thereof, or grounds, belonging to and actually used by any institution or organization entitled to exemption under the provisions of sections 47–801a and 47–801c to 47–801f are used to secure a rent or income for any activity other than that for which exemption is granted such building, or portion thereof, or grounds, shall be assessed and taxed. (Dec. 24, 1942, 56 Stat. 1091, ch. 826, § 2.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Rental of rooms

Where unmarried rector occupied rectory as part of his compensation, fact that rector rented three rooms in the rectory to persons other than his immediate family to help cover household expenses was not the use of the building "to secure income for an activity other than that for which the exemption was granted" so as to annul exemption from real estate taxes provided by § 47–801a for pastoral residence owned by church. District of Columbia v. Vestry of St. James Parish (1946, 153 F. 2d 621, 80 U. S. App. D. C. 314).

§ 47–801b–1. Use of property by agencies of the United States or American Red Cross—Abatement of unpaid taxes.

The use and occupancy of real property in the District of Columbia by any department, agency, or instrumentality of the United States of America, or by the American Red Cross, on a basis which does not result in the receipt of rent or income to the owner thereof within the meaning of section 47–801b, shall not operate to terminate the tax-exempt status of such property if exempted from taxation prior to such use and occupancy; and, further, that any taxes, penalties, or interest which may be due by reason of such change in the use and occupancy of such property and unpaid on November 30, 1945 shall be abated: Provided, That nothing contained in this section shall be construed as authorizing any refund of any taxes, penalties, or interest paid prior to November 30, 1945. (Nov. 30, 1945, 59 Stat. 589, ch. 501.)

§ 47–801c. Report as to use of exempt property.

Every institution, organization, corporation, or association owning property exempt under the provisions of paragraphs (d) to (q), inclusive, of section 47–801a shall, on or before March 1, 1943, and on or before March 1 of each succeeding year, furnish the Commissioners of the District of Columbia a report, under oath, showing the purposes for which its exempt property has been used during the preceding calendar year. Upon written application by the institution, organization, corporation, or association filed before March 1 of any year, the Commmissioners may extend the time for filing said report for a reasonable period. A copy of such report shall be forwarded to the Congress by the Commissioners.

If such report is not filed within the time provided herein, or as extended by the Commissioners, the property of the institution, organization, corporation, or association affected shall immediately be assessed and taxed until the required report is filed: Provided, however, That such tax shall be for a minimum period of thirty days. (Dec. 24, 1942, 56 Stat. 1091, ch. 826, § 3.)

§ 47–801d. Abatement or refund of tax assessed against exempt property.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia, upon written application by the owner of real property, filed within ninety days from December 24, 1942, are authorized to abate any tax assessed against any real property exempted by sections 47–801a, 47–801b and 47–801c to 47–801f where such tax was assessed after January 1, 1941, or to refund any such tax within the limitations of appropriations therefor. (Dec. 24, 1942, 56 Stat. 1091, ch. 826, § 4.)

§ 47–801e. Appeal.

Any institution, organization, corporation, or association aggrieved by any assessment of real property deemed to be exempt from taxation under the provisions of sections 47–801a, 47–801b and 47–801c to 47–801f may appeal therefrom to the Board of Tax Appeals for the District of Columbia in the same manner and to the same extent as provided in sections 47–2403 and 47–2404: Provided, however, That payment of the tax shall not be prerequisite to any such appeal. (Dec. 24, 1942, 56 Stat. 1091, ch. 826, § 5.)

REDESIGNATION OF BOARD OF TAX APPEALS

Board of Tax Appeals redesignated as the District of Columbia Tax Court and the member thereof to be known as the judge of the District of Columbia Tax Court, see § 47–2402.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Administrative review

Except in cases of absolute exemption, the tax exemption in each year is dependent on the use to which property is put, and original determination of exemption or absence thereof is largely an administrative question for the assessing authorities, and administrative review is available to the Tax Court and review of its decision is available in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. Workshop Center of the Arts v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1958, 145 A. 2d 571).

Amendment of pleadings

Where it was impossible to tell from complaint in action to remove certain property from tax rolls whether during certain years there was a synagogue as well as a place for taking ceremonial baths on premises involved, order dismissing amended complaint would be modified on appeal to allow an amendment so that it might be determined whether plaintiff was entitled to relief for such years. Combined Congregations of District of Columbia v. Dent (1944, 140 F. 2d 9, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 254).

Exclusive remedy

Under this section providing that payment of tax on property claimed to be exempt "shall not be prerequisite" to an appeal to Board of Tax Appeals, Congress intended such remedy to be an exclusive one for review of action of assessing authorities, and hence municipal court lacked jurisdiction of action by taxpayer, which did not appeal to the Board of Tax Appeals, to recover taxes on property claimed to be exempt. Workshop Center of Arts v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1958, 145 A. 2d 571).

Findings

Findings of Board of Tax Appeals for District of Columbia that a building was not primarily and regularly used for religious worship and study, and therefore was not exempt and there was no evidence upon which to base any apportionment of valuation were affirmed. Fellowship Foundation v. District of Columbia (1950, 179 F. 2d 56, 86 U.S. App. D.C. 40).

Time to appeal

Taxpayer could not toll running of 90 days period within which to appeal real estate tax assessment by merely returning to assessor the notice of assessment which taxpayer received and which determined beginning of the period. Jewish War Veterans, Etc. v. District of Columbia (1957, 243 F. 2d 646, 100 U.S. App. D.C. 223).

§ 47–801f. Rules and regulations.

The Commissioners are authorized to make and promulgate such rules and regulations as they may deem necessary to carry out the intent and purposes of sections 47–801a, 47–801b and 47–801c to 47–801f: Provided, That such rules and regulations shall include provision for mailing annually, on or before February 1 of each year, to each of the institutions, organizations, corporations, or associations required by section 47–801c to file annual reports, notice of its contingent tax liability under sections 47–801a, 47–801b and 47–801c to 47–801f, together with a copy of any standard form for such reports which shall have been prescribed by the Commissioners under authority of this section. (Dec. 24, 1942, 56 Stat. 1091, ch. 826, § 6; Sept. 29, 1943, 57 Stat. 568, ch. 248.)

(General Assembly of Virginia, Jan. 27, 1824; 4 Stat. 796, Appendix I, § 9; Mar. 3, 1825, 4 Stat. 101, ch. 52.)

S. 308, 4 Otto 308, 24 L. Ed. 161).

Construction with other laws

Sections 47–1001 to 47–1003 providing in part for public sale of delinquent tax property are not inconsistent with former section 800 of Title 20 of the 1929 D. C. Code providing an additional method for collecting taxes, and said former section 800 of former Title 20 did not repeal said §§ 47–1001 to 47–1003. W. C. & A. N. Miller Development Co. v. Emig Properties Corporation (1943, 134 F. 2d 36, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 205, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 983, 318 U. S. 788, 87 L. Ed. 1155).

Requirement of notice

Publication of notice for two weeks, once a week in one newspaper, was proper to comply with the provisions of the District Code requiring publication, morning and evening, once a week, for two weeks. Tayloe v. Kjaer (1949, 171 F. 2d 343, 84 U. S. App. D. C. 183).

§ 47–1001a. Notice to record owner of amount of tax levy.

Annually and subsequent to July 1, the assessor of the District of Columbia shall mail to the record owner of each lot or parcel of land upon which a real estate tax has been levied by the District of Columbia as of July 1 of the same year, a notice of the amount of such real estate tax, and of the manner in which the amount of such real estate tax is payable according to law; and such notice shall state whether there were any delinquent real estate taxes unpaid on July 1 of the year in which such notice is sent: Provided, That if the address of the owner be unknown, such notice shall be mailed to his agent, if known; and if there be more than one record owner of any lot or parcel, notice mailed to one of the owners shall be deemed compliance with this section: Provided further, That nothing in this section shall affect in any way the provisions of section 47–1103: Provided further, That failure of the property owner or his agent to receive such notice shall not relieve the property owner of the payment of any penalty or interest as required by law for the delinquent payment of real estate taxes. (June 25, 1938, ch. 702, § 12, as added Oct. 5, 1943, 57 Stat. 570, ch. 256.)

§ 47–1002. Sale of property—Purchase by District.

Upon the day specified in section 47–1001 the Commissioners shall proceed to sell or cause to be sold any and all property upon which such taxes remain unpaid, and continue to sell the same every secular day until all the real property as aforesaid in section 47–1001 shall have been brought to auction and sold. In case no other person bids the amount due, together with penalties and costs, on any lot, the said collector of taxes shall bid the amount due, together with penalties and costs, on the same and purchase it for the District. (Feb. 28, 1898, 30 Stat. 250, ch. 32, § 2; July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 633, ch. 1358, § 1(2).)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act July 1, 1902, inserted the words "together with penalties and costs" in both places where they appear.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Land subject to easements

Sale of real property for non-payment of taxes does not extinguish an easement with which the property is burdened. District of Columbia v. Capital Mortg. & Title Co. (D.C.D.C. 1949, 84 F. Supp. 788).

§ 47–1003. Deposit required—Certificate of sale—Tax deed—Redemption.

The collector of taxes shall require from every purchaser of property sold as aforesaid a deposit sufficient, in his judgment, to guarantee a full and final settlement for such purchase. Every purchaser other than the District of Columbia at any sale of property as aforesaid shall pay the full amount of his bid, including surplus, if any, to the collector of taxes within five days after the last day of sale, and in case such payment is not made within the time specified the deposit of the person so failing to make payment shall be forfeited to the District of Columbia, and said collector of taxes shall then issue the certificate of sale for such property to the next highest bidder, and if payment of the amount of the bid of said next highest bidder be not made within two days thereafter, the Commissioners of the District of Columbia shall set aside both sales for which the bids were made; and the said collector of taxes shall thereupon be held to have bid the amount due on the said lot and to have purchased it for the District. Immediately after the close of the sale, upon payment of the purchase money, the said collector of taxes shall issue to the purchaser a certificate of sale, and if the property shall not be redeemed by the owner or owners thereof within two years from the last day of sale, by payment to the collector of taxes of said District, for the use of the legal holder of the certificate, the amount for which it was sold at such sale, exclusive of surplus, and one per centum thereon for each month or part thereof, a deed shall be given by the Commissioners of the District, or their successors in office, to the purchaser at such tax sale, his heirs or devicees, or to the assignee of such certificates, which deed shall be admitted and held to be prima facie evidence of a good and perfect title in fee simple to any property bought at said sale herein authorized: Provided, That no deed shall be issued unless application therefor be made within five years from the last day of sale, and if no such application be made then the owner of any property sold as aforesaid, or any other person having an interest therein at the time of redemption, may redeem the property by paying to the collector of taxes for the legal holder of the certificate the amount for which it was sold at such sale, exclusive of surplus, plus interest thereon for the first two years after the date of such certificate of sale at the rate hereinabove provided, and for three years thereafter at the rate of 6 per centum per annum; that when the said property is redeemed as aforesaid, the collector of taxes shall, within five days thereafter notify the owner of record of such tax sale certificate at his last known address, by registered mail or by certified mail, of the redemption of such certificate; that within five years from the time that payment has been made to the collector of taxes to redeem such tax sale certificate, the owner thereof may apply for, and, upon the surrender of the certificate, shall receive from the District of Columbia the payment made as hereinbefore prescribed; that upon the failure of the owner of such tax sale certificate to apply within the period of five years, as hereinbefore prescribed, such money shall be forfeited to the District of Columbia, and be deposited by the collector of taxes in the Treasury of the United States to the credit of the general revenues of the District of Columbia: Provided, That no deed shall be issued until all taxes and assessments appearing upon the tax books against the property are paid, with penalties, interests, and costs, including taxes for the years for which the District purchased the property at tax sale: Provided, That no property advertised as aforesaid shall be sold upon any bid not sufficient to meet the amount of tax, penalty, and costs; but in case the highest bid on any property is not sufficient to meet the taxes, penalties, and costs thereon said property shall thereupon be bid off by the said collector of taxes, in the name of the District of Columbia; but the property so bid off shall not be exempted from assessment and taxation, but shall be assessed and taxed as other property; and if within two years thereafter such property is not redeemed by the owner or owners thereof, or their legal representatives, by the payment of the taxes, penalties and costs due at the time of the sale and that may have accrued after that date, and one per centum thereon for each month or part thereof, or if any property two years after having been so bid off at any sale in the name of said District under sections 47–1001 to 47–1009 or any other law in force is not or has not been so redeemed as aforesaid (unless it shall be shown that the sale for taxes was irregular and void), then the commissioners of the District, or their successors shall in the name of and on behalf of the District of Columbia, sell said property at public or private sale and issue to any purchaser of such property a deed, which deed shall have the same force and effect as the deed hereinbefore provided for in this section for property sold at the regular annual sale: Provided, however, That no deed shall be issued until all assessments, taxes, costs, and charges due the District, of whatsoever nature, shall have been paid in full: And provided also, That minors or other persons under legal disability be allowed one year after attaining full age or after the removal of such legal disability to redeem the property so sold, or bid off by the collector of taxes in the name of the District of Columbia as aforesaid, from the purchaser or purchasers, his, her, or their assigns, or from the District of Columbia, on payment of the amount of purchase money so paid therefor, with eight per centum per annum interest thereon as aforesaid, together with all taxes and assessments that have been paid thereon by the purchaser or his assigns between the day of sale and the period of redemption with eight per centum per annum interest on the amount of such taxes and assessments. When such property is redeemed from a purchaser other than the District of Columbia, and when such property shall be redeemed from the District of Columbia, it shall, except as to the period of redemption, be upon the terms and conditions hereinabove provided for in the case of redemption by persons not under legal disability: Provided, however, That failure on the part of the District, from any cause whatsoever, to enforce the liens acquired aforesaid shall not release the property from any tax whatsoever that may be due the District: Provided further, That at any time after any property shall have been bid off as aforesaid by the collector of taxes, and before the expiration of the time allowed for the redemption thereof, the collector of taxes of said District, may issue to any person or persons, upon the payment of a sum not less than the aggregate amount of the taxes, penalties, and costs due at the time the property was bid off by the collector and that may have accrued after that date, a certificate of sale, and if the property shall not be redeemed by the owner or owners thereof within two years from the date of such certificate, by payment to the collector of taxes of said District, for the use of the legal holder of the certificate, the amount exclusive of surplus paid by the person or persons to whom such certificate was issued and one per centum thereon for each month or part thereof, a deed shall be given by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, or their successors in office, to the legal holder of such certificate, which deed shall have the same force and effect as the deed hereinbefore provided for in this section for property sold at the regular annual sale; and that the foregoing provisions in this section in reference to the sale at public or private sale of property in the District of Columbia advertised for sale for taxes and bid off by the collector of taxes be, and the same are also hereby, made applicable to all property in the District of Columbia subject to taxation where taxes levied and in arrears on July 1, 1897, or at any time prior thereto, have not been paid, and which at any sale held previous to said date were bid off in the name of the District of Columbia; and when for any reason any tax sale of real property in the District of Columbia may be set aside or canceled, such property may be readvertised and sold at the next ensuing annual sale. (Feb. 28, 1898, 30 Stat. 250, ch. 32, § 3; July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 633, ch. 1358, § 1(3); June 25, 1938, 52 Stat. 1201, ch. 702, § 9; Feb. 22, 1944, 58 Stat. 20, ch. 29; June 11, 1960, 74 Stat. 203, Pub. L. 86–507, § 1(52).)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Conveyance for lesser amount

Under this section and §§ 47–1001 and 47–1002 providing for public sale of delinquent tax property, the commissioners had no authority to convey property for less than all assessments, taxes, costs, penalties, and charges due the District of Columbia. W. C. & A. N. Miller Development Co. v. Emig Properties Corporation (1943, 134 F. 2d 36, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 205, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 983, 318 U. S. 788, 87 L. Ed. 1155).

Where, under this section, commissioners had no authority to convey property for less than all assessments, taxes, costs, penalties, and charges due District of Columbia, the purpose of former section 800 of Title 20 of the 1929 D. C. Code creating such authority and a method for selling the property was, not to repeal this section, but rather to provide for disposition on terms not permissible prior thereto with safeguard of judicial approval when the sale should be made on the new terms. Id.

Protection of interests

Where interests under wills had apparently been extinguished by valid tax title to stranger before trustee under will acquired tax title in individual name, burden was on the trustee, not upon the commissioners, to act for protection of the beneficial interests, and the commissioners did not have burden of searching out the interests under the wills and making a decision regarding their validity. W. C. & A. N. Miller Development Co. v. Emig Properties Corporation (1943, 134 F. 2d 36, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 205, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 983, 318 U. S. 788, 87 L. Ed. 1155).

Redemption

Neither conservator nor his ward must wait for removal of legal disability to redeem property from tax sale, and conservator may not be denied right to redeem in proper case because he is conservator under District of Columbia statutes. Shenandoah Corp. v. E. F. Jackson (1962, 298 F. 2d 324, 111 U.S. App. D.C. 410).

Where the "date of redemption" column in assessor's tax record was used for both genuine redemptions within statutory period and payments made on issue of tax deed, tax deed was not objectionable on ground that sale made in January, 1932, stood redeemed on March 10, 1934, on tax records where evidence established that amounts entered in the "date of redemption column" were amounts paid by purchaser in return for tax deed. W. C. & A. N. Miller Development Co. v. Emig Properties Corporation (1943, 134 F. 2d 36, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 205, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 983, 318 U. S. 788, 87 L. Ed. 1155).

Tax deed

Under District of Columbia statute, if owner of property does not redeem it within two years of tax sale, purchaser of tax sale certificate at such sale may, within next three years, obtain tax deed to property by paying all taxes and charges then due and owing, but if property is subject of another tax sale resulting in issuance of tax deed, tax deed expunges all other interests in property and vests in holder new and complete title to property in fee simple. Gray Properties, Inc. v. Tobriner (1966, 357 F. 2d 829, 123 U.S. App. D.C. 150).

The provision in the Code that the District's tax deed shall be prima facie evidence of a good and perfect title in fee simple is not to be interpreted as indicating a Congressional intent that a junior District lien shall be superior to a senior federal lien. Cobb v. United States (1949, 172 F. 2d 277, 84 U. S. App. D. C. 228).

Tax title

A tax deed after sale for District of Columbia taxes to a lot over which lay an easement of passageway created by deed and appurtenant to another lot did not extinguish the easement. Engel v. Catucci (1952, 197 F. 2d 597, 91 U.S. App. D.C. 54).

Title evidenced by a tax deed given in compliance with statutory requirements expunges all interests which spring from record title and vests in the holder a new and complete title to the property in fee simple. W. C. & A. N. Miller Development Co. v. Emig Properties Corporation (1943, 134 F. 2d 36, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 205, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 983, 318 U. S. 788, 87 L. Ed. 1155).

No right of dower passed by the tax deed involved. If the deed had any effect at all it was to expunge the inchoate dower right. Cobb v. Shore (1950, 183 F. 2d 980, 87 U. S. App. D. C. 162).

§ 47–1004. Changed interest rates to apply only to sales after June 25, 1938.

The amendments of section 47–1003 by act June 25, 1938, shall apply only to tax sales held after June 25, 1938, and section 47–1003, without said amendments, shall remain in full force and effect as to all tax sales held prior to June 25, 1938. (June 25, 1938, 52 Stat. 1201, ch. 702, § 9 (d).)

§ 47–1005. Property sold for taxes redeemable within 2 years from sale.

The owner of any property sold as aforesaid, or any other person having an interest therein at the time of redemption, may redeem the same from such sale at any time within two years after the last day of sale by paying to the collector of taxes, for the use of the purchaser, his heirs and assigns, the sum mentioned in the certificate of sale therefor, exclusive of surplus with interest thereon at the rate of twelve per centum per annum after the date of such certificate of sale. (Feb. 28, 1898, 30 Stat. 250, ch. 32, § 4; July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 635, ch. 1358, § 1(4).)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act July 1, 1902, added the words "exclusive of surplus," reduced the percentage provision from 15% per annum to 12% per annum, and deleted the following words following the present last word: "Together with any tax or assessment which the holder of said certificate shall have paid between the days of sale and redemption, with interest on the same at the rate of ten per centum per annum," and the words "or authorized agent of the owner" following the word "owner" the first time it is used.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

In general

The Code provides for the sale of the real property subject to taxation on which said taxes are unpaid after the notice of sale and delinquent tax list shall have been advertised as required under the statute, and the redemption of the property so sold within two years. Tumulty v. District of Columbia (1939, 102 F. 2d 254, 69 App. D. C. 390).

The statute supplies remedial procedure by which to obtain necessary information where there has been a refusal to file return as requested by law. Id.

§ 47–1006. Report of tax sale to be filed with recorder of deeds—Disposition of surplus on redemption.

The collector of taxes shall, within twenty days, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, after the last day of the sale hereinbefore provided for as aforesaid, file with the recorder of deeds a written report, in which he shall give a statement of the property sold, other than that sold to the District of Columbia, to whom it was assessed, the taxes due, to whom sold, the amount paid, the date of sale, the cost thereof, and the surplus, if any. Any surplus remaining after the collection of taxes, penalties, and costs on any real estate shall be collected as hereinbefore provided for, and shall be deposited by the collector of taxes to the credit of the surplus fund, to be paid to the owner or owners, or their legal representatives, in the same manner as other payments made by the District: Provided, That if any property sold for taxes, as herein provided, is redeemed from such sale within two years from last day of sale, any surplus paid at time of sale shall be paid by the District of Columbia to the legal holder of certificate of sale. (Feb. 28, 1898, 30 Stat. 252, ch. 32, § 5; July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 635, ch. 1358, § 1(5).)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act July 1, 1902, added the words, "exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays," and the proviso; deleted the words "in sections one hundred and sixty-one and one hundred and sixty-two, chapter six, of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to the District of Columbia" and inserted in lieu thereof the words "as hereinbefore provided for."

§ 47–1007. Commissioners not to convey any property if sale is void.

The said commissioners shall not convey any property sold for taxes if they shall discover, before the conveyance, that the sale was for any cause invalid and ineffectual to give title to the property sold; but they shall cancel the sale and cause the purchase money, together with interest at the rate of six per centum per annum, and the surplus, if any, to be refunded to the purchaser, his representatives or assigns: Provided, That if any conveyance made by the said commissioners, of property sold for taxes, shall at any time be set aside by decree of any court as invalid, the party in whose favor the decree is rendered shall pay to the party holding such conveyance, his heirs or assigns, the amount paid for such taxes and conveyances, together with interest at the rate of six per centum per annum. (Feb. 28, 1898, 30 Stat. 252, ch. 32, § 6; July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 635, ch. 1358, § 1(6).)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act July 1, 1902, added the words, "together with interest at the rate of six per centum per annum, and the surplus, if any" and the proviso.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Limitations

Statute limits reimbursement by the District of Columbia to those instances where the Commissioners "discover, before the conveyance, that the sale was for any cause invalid and ineffectual to give title to the property sold." Cobb v. Shore (1950, 183 F. 2d 980, 87 U. S. App. D. C. 162).

§ 47–1008. Payment of expenses of advertising.

The expenses of advertising shall be paid by a charge of fifty cents for each lot or piece of property advertised. (Feb. 28, 1898, 30 Stat. 252, ch. 32, § 7; July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 635, ch. 1358, § 1(7); May 21, 1928, 45 Stat. 650, ch. 659.)

AMENDMENTS

1928—Act May 21, 1928, deleted the words "and the printing of said pamphlet" following the word "advertising."

1902—Act July 1, 1902, reduced the charge from one dollar and twenty cents to fifty cents.

CHARGE FOR PROPERTY ADVERTISED

The District of Columbia Appropriations Act of Aug. 6, 1958, Pub. Law 85–594, § 1, authorized the Commissioners to fix annually a charge "for each lot or piece of property advertised." Pursuant to this authority the commissioners issued the following order:

October 28, 1958. Order No. 58–1831.

Ordered: That, pursuant to and under authority of Public Law 85–594, 85th Congress (General Administration), approved August 6, 1958, making appropriations for the Government of the District of Columbia for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1959, and for other purposes, a charge of one dollar and thirty cents ($1.30) is hereby fixed for advertising for sale each lot or piece of property on which taxes were in arrears on July 1, 1958, also for all unpaid water charges, sanitary sewer service charges, and special assessments subject to sale, such tax sale to be made in accordance with Commissioners' Order No. 58–1837, dated November 4, 1958.

§ 47–1009. Assessor to furnish information.

The assessor of the District of Columbia shall furnish information with respect to taxes, special assessments, and valuations to any person having any interest in the property with respect to which such information is requested. (Feb. 28, 1898, 30 Stat. 252, ch. 32, § 8; July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 635, ch. 1358, § 1(8); June 25, 1938, 52 Stat. 1201, ch. 702, § 8.)

AMENDMENTS

1938—Act June 25, 1938, amended section generally. Prior to such amendment, section read as follows: "The assessor of the District of Columbia shall have the records of his office open to inspection of the public, free of charge at such time or times as the public interest will permit."

1902—Act July 1, 1902, eliminated provisions which authorized delivery of a copy of a pamphlet listing the property on which taxes are in arrears.

§ 47–1010. Assessor to keep list of property sold for taxes for public inspection.

It shall be the duty of the assessor for the District of Columbia to prepare and keep in his office, for public inspection, a list of all real estate in the District of Columbia heretofore sold, or which may hereafter be sold, for the nonpayment of any general or special tax or assessment levied or assessed upon the same, said list to show the date of sale and for what taxes sold; in whose name assessed at the time of sale; the amount for which the same was sold; when and to whom conveyed if deeded, or, if redeemed from said sale, the date of redemption. (Feb. 6, 1879, 20 Stat. 283, ch. 50; May 13, 1892, 27 Stat. 37, ch. 74; Mar. 3, 1917, 39 Stat. 1005, ch. 160; June 25, 1938, 52 Stat. 1202, ch. 702, § 11.)

CODIFICATION

The duties set forth in this section were created and placed upon the collector of taxes by act Feb. 6, 1879.

Act May 13, 1892, transferred them to the assessor.

Act Mar. 3, 1917, transferred these duties back to the collector by the following words quoted therefrom: "and the collector of taxes shall hereafter be charged with the duties heretofore required of the assessor in relation to * * * the preparation for public inspection of lists of all real estate in the District of Columbia heretofore sold, or which may hereafter be sold, for the nonpayment of any general or special tax or assessment."

Act June 25, 1938, transferred these duties back to the assessor. See § 47–603.

§ 47–1011. Liens on real estate for unpaid taxes—Enforcement—Redemption before sale.

Whenever any real estate in the District of Columbia has been, or shall hereafter be, offered for sale for nonpayment of taxes or assessments of any kind whatsoever, and shall have been bid off in the name of the District of Columbia, and more than two years shall have elapsed since such property was bid off as aforesaid and the same has not been redeemed as provided by law, the Commissioners of said District may, in the name of the District aforesaid, petition the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, sitting in equity, to enforce the lien of said District for taxes or other assessments on the aforesaid property by decreeing a sale thereof; and up to the time of the sale hereinafter provided for such property may be redeemed by the owner or other person having an interest therein by the payment of all taxes or assessments due the District of Columbia upon said property and all legal penalties and costs thereon, together with such other expenses as may have been incurred by said District prior to, and as a result of, the filing of the action herein provided for. (Mar. 2, 1936, 49 Stat. 1153, ch. 111, § 1; June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127.)

CHANGE OF NAME

Act June 25, 1936, substituted "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia" for "Supreme Court of the District of Columbia."

Act June 25, 1948, eff. Sept. 1, 1948, as amended by act May 24, 1949, substituted "United States District Court for the District of Columbia" for "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Land subject to easements

Sale of real property for non-payment of taxes does not extinguish an easement with which the property is burdened. District of Columbia v. Capital Mortg. & Title Co. (D.C.D.C. 1949, 84 F. Supp. 788).

Tax lien

Tax liens and sales of the District are governed by Title 47, and since no reference is made in the statute to a lien for taxes except in connection with taxes in arrears, it is a reasonable interpretation that the lien does not arise prior to the occurrence of a delinquency. Cobb v. United States (1949, 172 F. 2d 277, 84 U. S. App. D. C. 228).

§ 47–1012. Real estate to be sold—Notice to owner—Parties defendant—Court order—Validity of service and sale.

Before any such action shall be instituted, the aforesaid Commissioners shall cause notice to be given in the name appearing upon the records of the assessor as the owner of such property, by registered mail or by certified mail directed to the last known address of such person, and by publication once a week for three successive weeks in some daily newspaper published and circulated generally in the District of Columbia, against said person and "all other persons having or claiming to have any right, title, or interest in or to the real estate proposed to be proceeded against, their heirs, devisees, executors, administrators, and assigns," by such designation, to appear before them on a day certain, which day shall be at least ten days after the last publication of said notice, and show cause, if any they have, why the said real estate should not be proceeded against. For the purpose of the proceedings herein provided for, the person appearing by the assessor's records, at the time of the first publication of notice, as the owner of such property, and any other persons who may appear in response to the publication aforesaid and claim to have an interest in such property, shall be deemed proper parties defendant in any such proceedings. Upon the filing of the petition aforesaid, the court shall enter an order directed to the person or persons named as defendants therein and "to all other persons having or claiming to have any right, title, or interest in the real estate proposed to be sold, their heirs, devisees, executors, administrators, and assigns," by such designation, directing them to appear on a day certain, which day shall be not less than thirty days after the date of the last publication of said order, and show cause, if any they have, why said real estate should not be proceeded against and sold. The said order shall be published once a week for three successive weeks in some daily newspaper published and circulated generally in the District of Columbia, and such publication shall be considered as sufficient service upon such person or persons as cannot be found by the marshal within the District of Columbia or who are nonresident or unknown, their heirs, devisees, executors, administrators, and assigns; and the proceedings or sale of such real estate shall not be rendered invalid if the true owner or owners or any other person or persons having any right, title, or interest in said real estate shall not be included as a party to the suit, if it shall appear that the publication herein provided for shall have been duly made. (Mar. 2, 1936, 49 Stat. 1154, ch. 111, § 2; June 11, 1960, 74 Stat. 203, Pub. L. 86–507, § 1(53).)

AMENDMENT

1960—Act June 11, 1960, inserted words "or by certified mail" following "registered mail."

CROSS REFERENCE

Certified mail receipts as prima facie evidence of delivery, see § 14–506.

§ 47–1013. Court to decree sale by collector of taxes—No penalty if defect in tax sale.

Upon proof in said suit of the failure of the owner of any such property to redeem the same as provided by law, the court shall, without unreasonable delay, decree a sale of the property to satisfy the lien of the District of Columbia for taxes, assessments, penalties, interest, and costs, and any other costs or expenses that have been incurred by said District prior to or after the institution of suit and in connection therewith, which said costs shall include court costs, but in no such case shall there be any allowance by the court of a docket fee, attorney's fee, or trustee's commission. All such sales shall be conducted by the collector of taxes or his deputy, by public auction either in the office of said collector or in front of the premises to be sold, as the court may determine, after advertisement for ten consecutive days in some daily newspaper published and circulated generally in the District of Columbia: Provided, That if it shall appear that there were any substantial defects in any tax sale no part of the penalties and charges incidental to such sales shall be collectible; but nothing herein contained shall in any wise affect any cost incurred by the District of Columbia in the institution and prosecution of the suit. (Mar. 2, 1936, 49 Stat. 1154, ch. 111, § 3.)

§ 47–1014. Real estate sold—Confirmation of sale—Surplus paid into court—Delivery of deed.

Every such sale shall be reported to and confirmed by said equity court, and no sale shall be made for an amount less than such aggregate taxes, interest, and costs incurred in the institution of suit, including advertising and sale, unless by express order of the court. Any surplus remaining from sales made under sections 47–1011 to 47–1014 shall be paid by the collector of taxes into the registry of the court, to abide its further order for payment to the person or persons entitled thereto; and any such moneys remaining unclaimed for a period of five years after confirmation of any such sale shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States and credited to the revenues of the District of Columbia. Upon confirmation of such sale by order of court and payment of the purchase price, and upon full compliance with all of the terms of sale, the clerk of the court shall execute and deliver to the purchaser a deed to the property so sold, which deed shall convey to said purchaser all of the right, title, and estate of all persons whether named in such suit or not. (Mar. 2, 1936, 49 Stat. 1155, ch. 111, § 4.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

In general

If proceedings on which tax sale is predicated substantially comply with the statutory directions, courts should not be astute to search for technical grounds on which to set aside the conveyance. Deming v. Turner (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 220).

§ 47–1015. Validity of sales not affected by certain errors in computation.

No sale of any real property for taxes shall be impaired or made void by reason of any error of the proper officers in making a computation of the amount of taxes due, the expenses attendant on the advertisement and sale, or of the purchase-money and the interest thereon, notwithstanding the sum erroneously computed may have been paid by the purchaser, his heirs or assigns; but all such sales and the deeds which may be granted on the certificates then issued shall be valid and binding as if no such error had been made. (R. S., D. C., § 173.)

§ 47–1101. Protest against special assessment—Hearing—Report and exceptions—Decision.

Any property owner aggrieved by any special assessment levied by the District of Columbia for any public improvement, other than a special assessment levied by a jury in a condemnation proceeding, may, within sixty days after service of notice of such assessment as provided in section 47–1103, file with the Commissioners of the District of Columbia a protest in writing against such assessment setting forth specifically the grounds of such protest and may request a hearing thereon. No ground of protest not specifically set forth need be considered by the Commissioners. If a hearing is requested the same shall be held, in the discretion of the Commissioners, either before them or before one or more agents designated by them. At such hearing, physical facts which may be ascertained by view may be considered whether proved or not. If the hearing is held before an agent or agents, such agent or agents shall report in writing to the Commissioners the substance of the evidence taken and the arguments made at the hearing, together with the findings (which may include a statement of any physical facts not proved at the hearing but which may be ascertained by view) and the recommendations of such agent or agents. A copy of such report, findings, and recommendations shall be mailed to the protestant ten days before being presented to the Commissioners, and the protestant may, before such report, findings, and recommendations are presented to the Commissioners, file with such agent or agents exceptions to such report and findings, which exceptions shall be presented to the Commissioners with such report, findings, and recommendations. If the Commissioners find that the property of the owner so protesting is not benefited by the improvement for which said assessment is levied, or is benefited less than the amount of such assessment or is unequally or inequitably assessed with relation to other property abutting such improvement, said commissioners shall abate, reduce, or adjust such assessment in accordance with such findings. In computing the time hereinafter provided in which a special assessment may be paid without interest there shall be excluded therefrom the time between the date of the filing of any such protest and the date of mailing notice of the action thereon by the Commissioners. This section shall be effective only as to assessments levied for work completed subsequent to the passage and approval of sections 47–1101 to 47–1106. (June 25, 1938, 52 Stat. 1198, ch. 702, § 1.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Front-foot rule

Assessment under front-foot rule was invalid. Johnson v. Rudolph (1927, 16 F. 2d 525, 57 App. D. C. 29). See, also, Dougherty v. American Secur. & Trust Co. (1930, 40 F. 2d 813, 59 App. D. C. 301, certiorari denied 51 S. Ct. 31, 282 U. S. 854, 75 L. Ed. 757); Taliaferro v. Railway Terminal Warehouse Co. (1930, 43 F. 2d 271, 59 App. D. C. 376).

In applying this general law as to front-foot rule, which extends throughout the District, to a special assessment for street improvement not exclusively benefiting adjacent property-owners, the assessment cannot be upheld if it is in excess of the benefits and is not equal and fair in view of existing physical conditions, as where there is no relative equality in the value and depth of the abutting properties. Johnson v. Rudolph (1927, 16 F. 2d 525, 57 App. D. C. 29).

In applying the front-foot rule, the size, shape, improvements, or favorable location of property is not the test in determining validity of an assessment, but rather the relation of the property to other properties facing on the avenue and in the immediate vicinity. Taliaferro v. Railway Terminal Warehouse Co. (1930, 43 F. 2d 271, 59 App. D. C. 376).

A road improvement assessment under the front-foot rule was canceled as inequitable as applied to a triangular-shaped lot. Id.

Jurisdiction of municipal court

Municipal Court for District of Columbia, under its equity powers, lacked jurisdiction to entertain cause of action by property owners to cancel special assessment by District for certain paving improvements to sidewalks and alley. J. F. Paton and M. S. Paton v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1962, 180 A. 2d 844).

Paving and improving streets

A different rule prevails as to assessments for paving and improving streets than that which applies for laying water mains in the District, and the legislature may create taxing districts to meet the expense of local improvements and may fix the basis of taxation without encountering the Fourteenth Amendment unless its action is palpably arbitrary or a plain abuse. Johnson v. Rudolph (1927, 16 F. 2d 525, 57 App. D.C. 29).

Revision of assessments

The front-foot rule cannot be applied to the assessment of a lot for paving an alley, which had a boundary of 233.17 feet facing two alleys, which could not be used commercially, and when the lot is assessed 222 percent higher than average assessment of other lots bordering the alleys, the assessment must be revised. Willner v. Hazen (1940, 111 F. 2d 511, 71 App. D. C. 373).

One seeking to cancel an alley-paving assessment on a lot, facing two alleys, which, under zoning regulations was limited to one-family detached house, and which was assessed 222 percent higher than other lots, was entitled to trial on the merits, and dismissal of complaint was improperly granted. Id.

§ 47–1102. Abatement, reduction, or adjustment of special assessment.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia are authorized, but not directed, whenever in their judgment and discretion any property upon which a special assessment has been levied by the District of Columbia is not benefited by the improvement for which such special assessment was levied, or is benefited less than the amount of such assessment, or is unequally or inequitably assessed with relation to other property abutting such improvement, to abate, reduce, or adjust such assessment in accordance with such finding. This section shall not apply to any assessment levied by a jury in a condemnation proceeding, or to any assessment levied for work completed subsequent to June 25, 1938 or to any assessment levied under sections 7–622 to 7–634: Provided, however, That nothing in this section shall be construed as affecting protests filed under the provisions of sections 7–622 to 7–634 within the time prescribed in said sections. (June 25, 1938, 52 Stat. 1199, ch. 702, § 2.)

§ 47–1103. Notice of levying of special assessment—Publication—Payment of special assessment—Interest.

(a)(1) When any special assessment for a public improvement, with the exception of assessments levied in condemnation proceedings, is levied by the District of Columbia upon any lot or parcel of land, notice of the levying of such assessment shall be served upon the record owner thereof in the manner herein provided, and if there be more than one record owner of such lot or parcel of land notice served on one of the owners shall be sufficient. Such notice shall be deemed to have been served when served by any of the following methods: (a) when forwarded to the last known address of the owner as recorded in the real estate assessment records of the District of Columbia by registered or certified mail, with return receipt, and such receipt shall constitute prima facie evidence of service upon such owner if such receipt is signed either by the owner or by a person of suitable age and discretion located at such address: Provided, That valid service upon the owner shall be deemed effected under this clause (a) if such notice shall be refused by the owner and not delivered for that reason; or (b) when delivered to the person to be notified; or (c) when left at the usual residence or place of business of the person to be notified with a person of suitable age and discretion then resident or employed therein; or (d) if no such residence or place of business can be found in the District of Columbia by diligent search, then if left with any person of suitable age and discretion employed at the office of any agent of the person to be notified, which agent has any authority or duty with reference to the land or tenement to which said notice relates; or (e) if any such notice forwarded by registered or certified mail be returned for reasons other than refusal, or if personal service of such notice cannot be effected, then if published on three consecutive days in a daily newspaper published in the District of Columbia; or (f) if by reason of an outstanding unrecorded transfer of title the name of the owner cannot, by diligent search, be ascertained, then if served on the owner of a record in a manner hereinbefore provided. Any notice to a corporation shall, for the purposes of sections 47–1101 to 47–1106, be deemed to have been served on such corporation if served on the president, secretary, treasurer, general manager, or any principal officer of such corporation in a manner hereinbefore provided for the service of notices on natural persons holding property in their own right; and notices to a foreign corporation shall, for the purposes of sections 47–1101 to 47–1106, be deemed to have been served if served personally on any agent of such corporation, or if left with any person of suitable age and discretion residing at the usual residence or employed at the usual place of business of such agent in the District of Columbia. The cost of publication, if any, shall be paid out of the general revenues of the District. The notice herein provided for shall be in lieu of any and all other notice now required by law.

(2) In case such notice is served by any method other than personal service, a copy of such notice shall also be sent to the owner by ordinary mail.

(b) All special assessments authorized to be levied by the District of Columbia for public improvements, with the exception of assessments levied in condemnation proceedings, may be paid without interest within sixty days from the date of service of notice or of the last publication of notice as the case may be. Interest of one-half of 1 per centum for each month or part thereof shall be charged on all unpaid amounts from the expiration of sixty days from the date of service or last publication as the case may be. Any such assessment may be paid in three equal installments with interest thereon. If any such assessment or any part thereof shall remain unpaid after the expiration of two years from date of service of notice or last publication of notice as the case may be, the property against which said assessment was levied may be sold for such assessment or unpaid portion thereof with interest and penalties thereon at the next ensuing annual tax sale in the same manner and under the same conditions as property sold for delinquent general taxes, if said assessment with interest and penalties thereon shall not have been paid in full prior to said sale.

This subsection shall apply only to assessments for public improvements completed subsequent to June 25, 1938, and assessments for public improvements completed on or before June 25, 1938 shall be levied and collected and bear interest as if sections 47–1101 to 47–1106 had not been passed, except that where service sewers or water mains, or both, have been laid prior to June 25, 1938, but assessments therefor have not been levied for the reason that the property abutting the street, avenue, road, or alley in which the service sewer or water main is laid has not been subdivided, assessments for such sewers or water mains, or both, levied after June 25, 1938, because of the subdivision of the property or its connection with the sewer or water main or both, shall be levied, collected, and bear interest as provided in this subsection. (June 25, 1938, 52 Stat. 1199, ch. 702, § 3; June 17, 1959, 73 Stat. 75, Pub. L. 86–46, §§ 1, 3.)

AMENDMENT

1959—Subsec. (a) amended generally by act June 17, 1959. Prior to such amendment by section 1 of act June 17, 1959, the first paragraph of subsection (a) read as follows: "When any special assessment for a public improvement, with the exception of assessments levied in condemnation proceedings, is levied by the District of Columbia upon any lot or parcel of land, notice of the levying of such assessment shall be served upon the record owner thereof in the manner herein provided and if there be more than one record owner of such lot or parcel of land notice served on one of the owners shall be sufficient. If the address of the owner be unknown or if the owner be a non-resident, such notice shall be served on his tenant or agent. The service of such notice shall be either personal or by leaving the same with some person of suitable age at the residence or place of business of such owner, agent, or tenant. If there be no tenant or agent known to the Commissioners, then they shall give notice of such assessment by advertisement once a week for two successive weeks in some daily newspaper of general circulation published in the District of Columbia. The cost of such publication shall be paid out of the general revenues of the District. The notice herein provided for shall be in lieu of any and all other notice now required by law." Section 3 of act June 17, 1959 repealed the second paragraph of subsection (a) of this section which made the subsection applicable to all assessments (other than assessments in condemnation proceedings) notice of which had not been served prior to June 25, 1938.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1959 AMENDMENT

Section 2 of act June 17, 1959, provided that: "The amendments made by the first section of this Act [to subsec. (a) of this section] shall apply to all special assessments for public improvements (other than assessments in condemnation proceedings) notice of which has not been served prior to the approval of this Act [June 17, 1959]."

§ 47–1104. Payment of special assessment after ratification—Sale for nonpayment.

Special assessments authorized to be levied in condemnation proceedings instituted by the District of Columbia may be paid without interest within sixty days after the ratification or confirmation of the verdict of the jury. Interest of one-third of 1 per centum for each month or part thereof shall be charged on all unpaid amounts from the expiration of sixty days from the date of the ratification or confirmation of the verdict of the jury. Any such assessment may be paid in five equal installments with interest thereon. If any such assessment or any part thereof shall remain unpaid after the expiration of four years from the date of the ratification or confirmation of the verdict of the jury the property against which said assessment was levied may be sold for such assessment or unpaid portion thereof with interest and penalties thereon at the next ensuing annual tax sale in the same manner and under the same conditions as property sold for delinquent general taxes, if said assessment with interest and penalties thereon shall not have been paid in full prior to said sale. This section shall apply only to assessments ratified or confirmed by the court after June 25, 1938 and assessments ratified or confirmed on or before June 25, 1938 shall be levied and collected and bear interest as if sections 47–1101 to 47–1106 had not been passed. (June 25, 1938, 52 Stat. 1200, ch. 702, § 4.)

§ 47–1105. Assessment for removal of nuisance—Sale for nonpayment.

All assessments authorized to be levied by the District of Columbia to reimburse it for money expended in the removal of nuisances shall bear interest at the rate of one-half of 1 per centum per month or part thereof from the date such assessment was levied. If any such assessment shall remain unpaid after the expiration of sixty days from the date such assessment was levied the property against which such assessment was levied may be sold for such assessment with interest and penalties thereon at the next ensuing annual tax sale in the same manner and under the same conditions as property sold for delinquent general taxes, if such assessment with interest and penalties thereon shall not have been paid in full prior to said sale. (June 25, 1938, 52 Stat. 1200, ch. 702, § 5.)

§ 47–1106. Reassessment where special assessment set aside—Hearing—Agent's report to Commissioners.

The commissioners of the District of Columbia are hereby authorized and directed, in any case where a special assessment for public improvements in the District of Columbia, other than an assessment levied by a jury in a condemnation proceeding, has been or hereafter may be quashed, set aside, or declared void by any court for any reason other than the right of the public authorities to levy an assessment for such improvement, to reassess the property in accordance with the benefits received from such improvement, after notice to the owner of the property and an opportunity afforded him to be heard, the hearing to be had before such agent or agents as the commissioners may designate. At such hearing physical facts which may be ascertained by view may be considered, whether proved or not. Such agent or agents shall report in writing to the commissioners the substance of the evidence taken and the arguments made at the hearing, together with the findings (which may include a statement of any physical facts not proved at the hearing which may be ascertained by view) and the recommendations of such agent or agents. A copy of such report, findings, and recommendations shall be mailed to the protestant ten days before being presented to the commissioners, and the protestant may, before such report, findings, and recommendations are presented to the commissioners, file with such agent or agents exceptions to such report and findings, which exceptions shall be presented to the commissioners with such report, findings, and recommendations. The reassessment shall be made within one year from the date the judgment or decree quashing, setting aside, or declaring void the assessment becomes final and not subject to review. Notice of such reassessment shall be given the property-owner in the same manner as if such reassessment was an original assessment, and such reassessment shall bear interest and be collected in the same manner as if such reassessment was an original assessment. (June 25, 1938, 52 Stat. 1201, ch. 702, § 6.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Charge against owner of property

The personal property tax is a definite charge against the owner of the property and the real property tax is a definite charge against the property itself. Tumulty v. District of Columbia (1939, 102 F. 2d 254, 69 App. D. C. 390).

§ 47–1202. Personal property to be assessed at full value.

All personal property in the District of Columbia subject to taxation shall be listed and assessed at not less than the full and true value thereof in lawful money. (July 3, 1926, 44 Stat. 833, ch. 759, § 4.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Assignment of property

Evidence established that assignments of furniture and personal effects made by owner to an attorney who was to begin litigation for owner, which assignments were absolute in form, were to secure ultimate payments of attorney's fees, and were not a sale to attorney, and for purposes of personal property tax such furniture and personal effects belonged to assignor and attorney had only a lien on property and was not owner. Pearson v. Laughlin (1951, 190 F. 2d 658, 89 U.S. App. D.C. 130).

Basis of valuation

Where finance officer and taxpayer agreed that cost less depreciation should be basis for assessment of taxpayer's vending machines, but disagreed as to useful lives, District of Columbia Tax Court, on finding that officer's application of standard was incorrect, should have directed that assessment be made on basis of court's finding from evidence of useful life, rather than leaving officer's erroneous assessment standing for lack of proof of actual value. Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. of Washington, D.C. Inc. v. District of Columbia (1964, 337 F. 2d 109, 119 U.S. App. D.C. 73).

The assessor cannot be held to any fixed formula or specific catalog of data in determining his proposed personal property assessments and is entitled to base his action on the best information he can procure. District of Columbia v. Morris (1947, 159 F. 2d 13, 81 U. S. App. D. C. 356).

If valuation of personal property proposed by assessor is correct in dollar amount, as the fair cash value, not less than the full and true value in lawful money, the assessment should be upheld even if the data or method used by him is incomplete or even erroneous, but, if proposed assessment is incorrect in dollar amount, the final assessment must be based on correct value, even though assessor's data and method of computation were correct. Id.

Where property consisted of tugs, scows and launches which came into the District on the average of once a day and spent more time out of the District than in it, the District could constitutionally tax tangibles used exclusively in interstate commerce, upon a fair apportionment of value, but could not tax them at full value. Smoot Sand & Gravel Corp. v. District of Columbia (1949, 174 F. 2d 505, 84 U. S. App. D. C. 367, certiorari denied 69 S. Ct. 1515, 337 U. S. 939, 93 L. Ed. 1744).

Where home furnishings and effects were owned by the children in common, each annual assessment on the furnishings of the home should be given a single total valuation and allowed but a single exemption. National Bank of Washington v. District of Columbia (1949, 176 F. 2d 62, 85 U. S. App. D. C. 187).

In taxpayer's suit to recover money seized in payment of personal property tax, taxpayer's evidence, comprised solely of evidence of value computed by straight line depreciation was insufficient to sustain burden of proving that assessor's valuation was incorrect. District of Columbia v. Capital Laundry and Dry Cleaners (D. C. Mun. App. 1954, 106 A. 2d 695).

Construction with other laws

Congress' enactment of special detailed legislation for taxation of railroad locomotives and rolling stock in District of Columbia part of time did not negative such construction of general taxing statutes of District as would permit levy of apportioned taxes on other personal property, nor did Congress' special legislation taxing motor vehicles and mercantile establishments, including common carriers by vessels entering District, effect such result. District of Columbia v. Smoot Sand & Gravel Corp. (1951, 184 F. 2d 987, 87 U.S. App. D.C. 248, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 498, 340 U.S. 933, 95 L. Ed. 674).

Offer of payment

Where holder of liens on household furniture and personal effects offered to give collector of taxes an uncertified check for taxes assessed against personalty, but there was no offer to pay interest or expenses, and offer was made on non-business day, over telephone, while trucks and men were at hand to move personalty to auction rooms, and during preceding business week lien holder had asserted existence of his outstanding liens on personalty, and had subsequently asserted absolute ownership in himself, and at no time during such week had lien holder tendered payment of taxes, collector was justified in refusing to stay orderly course of collection proceedings, and refusal of Collector to accept offer did not preclude sale of personalty for taxes. Pearson v. Laughlin (1951, 190 F. 2d 658, 89 U.S. App. D.C. 130).

Review

Where the question of penalties and interest is not raised below, the court will not consider them on appeal since it is essential that the administrative remedy be fully available and exhausted before resort is had to judicial review. National Bank of Washington v. District of Columbia (1949, 176 F. 2d 62, 85 U. S. App. D. C. 187).

§ 47–1203. Assessor to prepare printed blank forms—Mode of assessment, returns—False affidavit, penalty.

The assessor of the District of Columbia, or his successor in office, shall annually cause to be prepared a printed blank schedule of all tangible personal property and all general merchandise or stock in trade, owned or held in trust or otherwise, subject to taxation under the provisions of sections 47–1201 to 47–1214, 47–1301 to 47–1305, 47–1701 to 47–1709, and of the classes of corporations and companies to be assessed, to which shall be appended a form in blank, setting forth that the foregoing presents a full and true statement of all such personal property, taxable capital, or other basis of assessment, or either, as the case may be. When said schedule is ready for delivery, notice thereof shall be given by the assessor by advertisement for three successive secular days in one or more of the daily newspapers published in said District, and a copy of said schedule shall be delivered to any citizen applying therefor at the office of the assessor Every person, association, corporation, firm, or company in said District liable to taxation hereunder, and every association, company, executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee holding personal property in trust liable to taxation hereunder, shall, within thirty days after the last publication of said advertisement, as aforesaid, fill out the proper blanks in said schedule with a full and true statement, as in this section hereinbefore required, which statement shall also contain, or be verified by, a written declaration that it is made under the penalties of perjury, such declaration to be signed by, and over the address in the District of Columbia of, said person, association, corporation, firm, company, executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee making the statement required hereby, thereupon said board of personal-tax appraisers, or any one of the members thereof, shall assess said property at its fair cash value, and enter the same in the columns upon said blanks provided for that purpose, and the amount thus ascertained shall be entered upon the books for taxation for each fiscal year: Provided, That if any person, firm, association, corporation, company, administrator, executor, guardian, or trustee shall fail to make and deliver to the assessor or one of the said appraisers, within thirty days after the date of the last advertisement of the notice hereinbefore required, the schedule of his or its said personal property owned, held in trust, or otherwise, as provided for in this section, then the said board of personal-tax appraisers hereinbefore provided for shall without delay, from the best information they can procure, make an assessment against such person, firm, association, corporation, company, administrator, executor, guardian, or trustee, to which they shall add twenty per centum thereof: Provided further, That if the said board of personal-tax appraisers be not satisfied as to the correctness of the return of personal property made by any person, firm, association, corporation, company, administrator, executor, guardian, or trustee, said board may reject said return, and said board, or any one of the members thereof, may, from the best information he or they can procure, or by making such examination of the personal property as may be practicable, assess the same in such amount as may to him or them seem just; and notice of the rejection of the return shall be given to the party interested by leaving the same at the address given in said return, and in all such cases there shall be a right of appeal from the action taken by said appraisers to the board of personal-tax appeals, or to their successors in office, within fifteen days after delivery of said notice of rejection as aforesaid: And provided further, That if any person, firm, association, corporation, company, administrator, executor, guardian, or trustee shall make a false statement touching the matters herein provided for, he or they shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to the penalties for that offense now provided by section 22–2501. (July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 617, ch. 1352, § 6, par. 1; May 18, 1954, 68 Stat. 116, ch. 218, title X, § 1003.)

AMENDMENT

1954—Act May 18, 1954, eliminated the requirement of making an affidavit on personal property tax returns.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1954 AMENDMENT

Section 1004 of act May 18, 1954, provided that: "The provisions of this title [amending this section and section 47–1208] shall become effective on July 1 next following the date of approval of this Act [May 18, 1954]."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

In general

This is the only power under the statute for the reassessment of personal property except as provided in § 759 (§ 47–1212). Tumulty v. District of Columbia (1939, 102 F. 2d 254, 69 App. D. C. 390).

Estoppel

Taxpayer was not estopped from denying, for personal property tax purposes, the figures set up by her in her income tax returns for depreciation purposes. District of Columbia v. Morris (1947, 159 F. 2d 13, 81 U. S. App. D. C. 356).

Measure of tax

Although the district code allows dealers in business to evaluate and make personalty tax returns based on their average stock in trade for a preceding year, such "measure" of the tax is a matter of convenience, and cannot be substituted for true value of personalty of a bankrupt in the hands of its trustee at the time of the assessment. Brown, Trustee in Bankruptcy, etc. v. Collector of Taxes for the District of Columbia (1957, 247 F. 2d 786, 101 U.S. App. D.C. 200).

Where district's assessment of personalty of bankrupt in trustee's hands was based upon average stock in trade of bankrupt in year prior to beginning date of fiscal year for which assessment was made, such valuation was incorrect unless the amount in dollars also represented a full and true value of such personalty in lawful money. Id.

Method of depreciation

The fair cash value of personal property for taxation purposes is generally equivalent to its actual or market value, and cannot be arrived at by using a straight line depreciation computation based on original costs. District of Columbia v. Capital Laundry and Dry Cleaners (D. C. Mun. App. 1954, 106 A. 2d 695).

Migratory property

Section 47–501 and this chapter authorizing taxation by District of Columbia of all tangible "personal property subject to taxation" contemplate personal property having a definite and permanent situs in the District and not temporarily brought into District by nonresident, and said § 47–501 and this chapter apply only to property that has acquired a fixed, definite and permanent taxable situs. Queen City Brewing Co. v. District of Columbia (1943, 134 F. 2d 44, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 213, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1330, 319 U. S. 767, 87 L. Ed. 1716).

To justify ad valorem assessment on migratory personal property belonging to a nonresident of taxing district, the statute must show not only the kind and character of migratory property to be taxed, but must provide a method of determining whether articles present on a particular day fairly average the kind, quantity and value of the replacement calculated on an annual basis, and there must be adequate machinery to determine and assess the valuation. Id.

Where Maryland beer manufacturer, which was not engaged in business in District of Columbia, delivered beer sold to District of Columbia distributor in containers which remained in District only until they were empty, containers which were found in the District on the statutory tax assessment date were not subject to ad valorem assessment, since the District of Columbia statutes do not place ad valorem assessment on migratory personal property belonging to nonresident not engaged in business in the District. Id.

Nonresident

Where this section, which required filing of return as basis for ad valorem assessment, applied only to persons, associations, corporations or companies in the District of Columbia, a company which did no business in the District and maintained no agencies therein was not required to pay a tax. Queen City Brewing Co. v. District of Columbia (1943, 134 F. 2d 44, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 213, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1330, 319 U. S. 767, 87 L. Ed. 1716).

To justify taxation of personal property belonging to nonresident not engaged in business in taxing district, the assessment on which tax is based must, in addition to other safeguards to insure fairness, be required by a statute definitely identifying the kind and character of the property subject to the tax. Id.

Place taxable

Personal property, in absence of a law to the contrary, follows the person of the owner and has its "situs" at his domicile, but one exception is that for purpose of taxation personal property may be taxed at the place where it is actually located. Queen City Brewing Co. v. District of Columbia (1943, 134 F. 2d 44, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 213, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1330, 319 U. S. 767, 87 L. Ed. 1716).

Property of bankrupt

Personalty of a bankrupt, in the hands of trustee in bankruptcy on July 1, 1954, was subject to district's personal property tax for the fiscal year commencing on that date, notwithstanding the fact that such date of assessment was subsequent to the date of bankrupt's adjudication in bankruptcy, and that the trustee did not conduct any business. Brown, Trustee in Bankruptcy, etc. v. Collector of Taxes for the District of Columbia (1957, 247 F. 2d 786, 101 U.S. App. D.C. 200).

A trustee in bankruptcy is such a "person" as is bound to make and deliver a return on personalty in his hands, under statute providing for taxation of all tangible personalty and all general merchandise or stock in trade owned or held in trust or otherwise. Id.

Special legislation

Congress' enactment of special detailed legislation for taxation of railroad locomotives and rolling stock in District of Columbia part of time did not negative such construction of general taxing statutes of District as would permit levy of apportioned taxes on other personal property, nor did Congress' special legislation taxing motor vehicles and mercantile establishments, including common carriers by vessels entering District, effect such result. District of Columbia v. Smoot Sand & Gravel Corp. (1950, 184 F. 2d 987, 87 U.S. App. D.C. 248, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 498, 340 U.S. 933, 95 L. Ed. 674).

Tax returns

This section and § 47–1206 require that every resident shall file with the assessor of the District a tax return as of July 1, of each year, containing a true statement of his personal property for the purpose of taxation. Hunt v. District of Columbia (1940, 108 F. 2d 10, 71 App. D. C. 143).

Validity of assessment

It is fundamental to tax validity that there be a valid assessment. Tumulty v. District of Columbia (1939, 102 F. 2d 254, 69 App. D. C. 390).

It is a rule without exception that if a property tax assessment is not properly made, there is no proper basis for a tax, and a tax attempted to be collected is void. Id.

§ 47–1204. Tangible personal property stored in transit.

Nothing in this Act contained, nor shall any prior Act of Congress relating to the District of Columbia be deemed to impose upon any person, firm, association, company, or corporation a tax based upon tangible personal property owned and stored by such person in a public warehouse in the District of Columbia for a period of time no longer than is necessary for the convenience or exigencies of reshipment and transportation to its destination without the District of Columbia. (July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1110, ch. 367, title IV, § 6.)

REFERENCES IN TEXT

"This Act", referred to in the text, means the District of Columbia Revenue Act of 1939, act July 26, 1939, ch. 367. For classification of this Act in this Code, see Tables.

§ 47–1205. "Resident of the District of Columbia" defined.

Any person maintaining a place of abode in the District of Columbia on the 1st day of July of a taxable year, and for the three months prior thereto, shall be considered as a resident for the purpose of assessment on intangible property wherever located, unless evidence shall be submitted to the assessor of the District of Columbia, satisfactory to him, that such intangible personal property or the income thereof is taxed to said person in some other jurisdiction, or that the assets of a corporation or association represented by shares or certificates constituting such intangible personal property are taxed by the state in which such corporation or association is chartered or organized and in which such person has a legal residence, in lieu of a tax upon such shares or certificates: Provided, That Cabinet officers and persons in the service of the United States Government elected for a definite term of office shall not be considered as residents of the District of Columbia for the purposes of this section. (July 3, 1926, 44 Stat. 833, ch. 759, § 2; Feb. 18, 1929, 45 Stat. 1227, ch. 259, § 4.)

AMENDMENT

1929—Act. Feb. 18, 1929, deleted the words, "January 1 of any year, and for six months or more" and inserted in lieu thereof the following: "The 1st day of July of a taxable year, and for three months."

TAXATION OF INTANGIBLE PERSONALTY

Tax on intangible personalty not to apply with respect to any year subsequent to the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939, see note under § 47–1201.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Business of handling and investing funds

Handling, investment, and reinvestment of substantial funds, by what must be a considerable staff of officers, agents, and employees, clearly constitutes the carrying on of business in the District within the meaning of the statute and the applicable decisions. Hazen v. National Rifle Assn. (1939, 101 F. 2d 432, 69 App. D. C. 339).

Constitutionality

One who questions the constitutionality of this act must show that he is within the class of persons with respect to whom the act is alleged to be unconstitutional, and the alleged unconstitutional feature injures him. Heald v. District of Columbia (1922, 42 S. Ct. 434, 259 U. S. 114, 66 L. Ed. 852).

Government employee

A resident of Boston who, upon his discharge from military service, entered the Government service in Washington, D. C., always intending to return to Boston when his service had expired, was not liable to tax on his intangible personalty imposed by the District, since Boston continued to be his domicil. Sweeney v. District of Columbia (1940, 113 F. 2d 25, 72 App. D. C. 30).

Payment of tax

Fact that appellant paid tax on home in District of Columbia did not create a residence there, for the statute expressly recognizes that persons "maintaining a place of abode" there may have a legal residence elsewhere Nixon v. Nixon (1938, 198 A. 154, 329 Pa. 256).

Resident

"Resident" as used in this section means "domiciled," which is the normal and usual meaning of "resident." Sweeney v. District of Columbia (1940, 113 F. 2d 25, 72 App. D. C. 30).

A nonstock co-operative membership corporation incorporated under Maryland laws and comprising some 1,150 dairy farmers as members, by carrying on commercial transactions in the District of Columbia, established its "commercial domicile" in the District and was "engaged in business" in the District and was thus subject to intangible personal property tax there, even though its "legal residence" was in Maryland. Maryland & Virginia Milk Producers' Ass'n v. District of Columbia (1941, 119 F. 2d 787, 73 App. D. C. 399, certiorari denied 62 S. Ct. 87. 314 U. S. 646, 86 L. Ed. 518).

Return

A resident of the District must file personal property return for taxation whether the taxing statute of 1926 is constitutional or not, since it would be taxable under the 1916 act. Cogger v. Hazen (1936, 85 F. 2d 695, 66 App. D. C. 196, certiorari denied 57 S. Ct. 191, 299 U. S. 598, 81 L. Ed. 441).

A report must be had of the appellant's property in order that an assessment may be made, and this is so whether it is under the act of 1916 or the amending act of 1926. Id.

Claim made by appellant concerning his payment of taxes upon the income of the stocks owned by him to the Federal collector at Baltimore was without merit, and it was still necessary to file a personal property return with the assessor of the District. Id.

§ 47–1206. Returns to be made in July of each year.

Returns of all personal property shall be made in the month of July in the fiscal year in which the assessment is levied and the value of such property shall be made as of the first day of that month except that merchants shall continue to return their average stock in trade as provided in section 47–1212. (July 3, 1926, 44 Stat. 833, ch. 759, § 6; Feb. 18, 1929, 45 Stat. 1227, ch. 259, § 6; May 18, 1954, 68 Stat. 112, ch. 218, § 607.)

AMENDMENTS

1954—Act May 18, 1954, deleted the words "other than automobiles", following "personal property."

1929—Act Feb. 18, 1929, amended section generally. Prior to such amendment, section read as follows: "That the returns of personal property provided for in section 6 of the said act of July 1, 1902, shall be made during the month of March in the fiscal year preceding the one under which the assessment is to be levied, and, except as otherwise provided by law, the value of tangible and intangible property shall be taken as of January 1 for a basis of assessment for the next fiscal year."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Error in valuation

Taxpayer complied with his duty. He made a true statement of his investment in marginal stocks according to the legal requirement and was taxed on the item. The difference between the amount of the investment and the value of the stocks was, at most, an error in valuation and not an omission, since omitted property means property which is not assessed at all and not property which is merely undervalued. Hunt v. District of Columbia (1940, 108 F. 2d 10, 71 App. D. C. 143).

Property of bankrupt

Personalty of a bankrupt, in the hands of trustee in bankruptcy on July 1, 1954, was subject to district's personal property tax for the fiscal year commencing on that date, notwithstanding the fact that such date of assessment was subsequent to the date of bankrupt's adjudication in bankruptcy, and that the trustee did not conduct any business. Brown, Trustee in Bankruptcy, etc. v. Collector of Taxes for the District of Columbia (1957, 247 F. 2d 786, 101 U.S. App. D.C. 200).

§ 47–1207. Rate of taxation—Exceptions.

On all tangible personal property, assessed at a fair cash value (over and above the exemptions provided in section 47–1208), including vessels, ships, boats, tools, implements, horses, and other animals, carriages, wagons, and other vehicles, there shall be paid to the collector of taxes of the District of Columbia the rate of tax provided by law. (July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 618, ch. 1352, § 6, par. 2; June 29, 1922, 42 Stat. 669, ch. 249.)

CODIFICATION

This section formerly provided for a tax of 1½ per centum of the assessed value of the property, but act June 29, 1922, provided that the rates should be fixed annually by the Commissioners.

Acts Sept. 1, 1916, 39 Stat. 717, ch. 433, § 11, and Mar. 3, 1917, 39 Stat. 1046, ch. 160, § 9, added the following paragraph: "The moneys and credits, including moneys loaned and invested, bonds and shares of stock (except the stock of banks and other corporations within the District of Columbia the taxation of which banks and corporations is herein provided for) of any person, firm, association, or corporation resident or engaged in business within said District shall be scheduled and appraised in the manner provided by paragraph one of said section six (section 47–1203) for listing and appraisal of tangible personal property and assessed at their fair cash value, and as taxes on said moneys and credits there shall be paid to the tax collector of said District not less than five-tenths of one per centum (.5%) of the value thereof: Provided, That savings deposits of individuals in a sum not in excess of five hundred dollars ($500) deposited in banks, trust companies, or building associations, subject to notice of withdrawal and not subject to check, shall be exempt from this tax: Provided, further, That such tax on moneys and credits shall not apply to bank notes or notes discounted or negotiated by any bank or banking institution, savings institution, or trust company, nor to savings institutions having no capital stock, building associations, firemen's relief associations, secret and beneficial societies, labor unions, and labor-union relief associations, nor to beneficial organizations paying sick or death benefits, or either or both, from funds received from voluntary contributions or assessments upon members of such associations, societies, or unions; nor shall the provisions of this section apply to life or fire insurance companies having no capital stock, nor to the shares of stock of business companies which by reason of or in addition to incorporation receive no special franchise or privilege, but all such corporations shall be rated, assessed, and taxed as individuals conducting business in similar lines are rated, assessed, and taxed: And provided further, That corporations, limited partnerships, and joint-stock associations within said District liable to tax under the laws of said District on earnings or capital stock shall not be required to make any report or pay any further tax under this section on the mortgages, bonds, and other securities owned by them in their own right, but such corporations, partnerships, and associations holding such securities as trustees, executors, administrators, guardians, or in any other manner shall return and pay the tax imposed by this section upon all securities so held by them as in the case of individuals." The provisions of this paragraph expired as of June 30, 1939, under act July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1107, ch. 367, title IV, § 1, except for certain purposes. See note under § 47–1201.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Bond exemptions

Considering the sweeping language of exemption in the bonding acts, there is no difficulty in holding that they apply to the District of Columbia as well as all other portions of the United States. District of Columbia v. Riggs Nat. Bank (1929, 30 F. 2d 873, 58 App. D. C. 349).

Cash used in business

Where this section required moneys and credits to be assessed at their fair cash value but Maryland corporation operating department stores in New York, Baltimore and Washington reported only cash on hand and in banks in District of Columbia on tax date, taxpayer constantly shifted cash as needs of stores required, and considerably more cash was usually deposited in local bank than was on deposit in local banks on the tax day, determination that all taxpayer's cash was available for use by its Washington store and assessment against taxpayer of a percentage of its cash wherever deposited, fixed by the ratio of Washington sales and profits to total sales and profits, was proper. Hecht Co. v. District of Columbia (1942, 129 F. 2d 353, 76 U. S. App. D. C. 142).

Constitutionality

Federal taxation of the District of Columbia is valid even though residents have not the suffrage and may not vote on the expenditure of money raised. Heald v. District of Columbia (1922, 42 S. Ct. 434, 259 U. S. 114, 66 L. Ed. 852).

Should it ultimately be determined that Congress, disregarding the authoritative rulings of the Supreme Court, intended in this act to tax here property located elsewhere, it would by no means follow that as to persons and property clearly subject to taxation here the act would be void. Heald v. District of Columbia (1921, 269 F. 1015, 50 App. D. C. 231).

Constitutionality of section which levies tax on intangible personal property cannot be questioned in a mandamus proceeding to compel the District resident to file a return of his personal property. Cogger v. Hazen (1936, 85 F. 2d 695, 66 App. D. C. 196).

Engaging in business

The handling, investment, and reinvestment of substantial funds, by what must have been a considerable staff of officers, agents, and employees, clearly constitutes the carrying on of business in the District of Columbia within the meaning of this section. Hazen v. National Rifle Assn. (1939, 101 F. 2d 432, 69 App. D. C. 339).

Original package doctrine

The original package doctrine urged by the petitioner concerns only the question whether the property is or is not an import, but the doctrine is immaterial in this case because the tax is imposed even if the property retains its character as an import. Mercury Press v. District of Columbia (1949, 173 F. 2d 636, 84 U. S. App. D. C. 203, certiorari denied 69 S. Ct. 1495, 337 U. S. 931, 93 L. Ed. 1738).

Power to tax

When Congress legislates for the District of Columbia alone, it acts under the direct authority of the Constitution and in so acting has plenary legislative power. There is no constitutional prohibition upon the Federal Government in respect to the taxation of imports and there was ample power for the tax in the case involved. Mercury Press v. District of Columbia (1949, 173 F. 2d 636, 84 U. S. App. D. C. 203, certiorari denied 69 S. Ct. 1495, 337 U. S. 931, 93 L. Ed. 1738).

Residents of District

As appellants are residents of the District and the property taxed is within the District, they are clearly subject to the provisions of this act. Heald v. District of Columbia (1921, 269 F. 1015, 50 App. D. C. 231).

Review

Where the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia attempts to interpret this statute it is not entitled to certify questions to the Supreme Court as to the validity of the statute, in view of prior decisions of this court holding that such interpretation would be subject to review by appeal to this court. Heald v. District of Columbia (1920, 41 S. Ct. 42, 254 U. S. 20, 65 L. Ed. 106).

Special legislation

Congress' enactment of special detailed legislation for taxation of railroad locomotives and rolling stock in District of Columbia part of time did not negative such construction of general taxing statutes of District as would permit levy of apportioned taxes on other personal property, nor did Congress' special legislation taxing motor vehicles and mercantile establishments, including common carriers by vessels entering District, effect such result. District of Columbia v. Smoot Sand & Gravel Corp. (1950, 184 F. 2d 987, 87 U.S. App. D.C. 248, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 498, 340 U.S. 933, 95 L. Ed. 674).

Vessels, ships, and boats

This section providing for general tax on all tangible personal property in District, including vessels, ships and boats, supports tax on foreign corporation's tugs, scows and launches, used by it for transportation of sand and gravel from adjoining states to storage places in District and thereafter to points of delivery in such states, on fair apportionment basis. District of Columbia v. Smoot Sand & Gravel Corp. (1950, 184 F. 2d 987, 87 U.S. App. D.C. 248, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 498, 340 U.S. 933, 95 L. Ed. 674).

Vessels, ships and boats, expressly included in tangible personal property subjected by this section to taxation by District of Columbia, may not be excluded merely because their domiciliary situs is not in District. Id.

§ 47–1208. Personal property exempt from taxation.

The following personal property shall be exempt from taxation.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Pecuniary interest

Statement by Court of Appeals in opinion that term "private gain" as used in this section, exempting from taxation scientific institutions not conducted for "private gain" has reference only to gain realized by any individual or stockholder, who has a "pecuniary interest" in corporation, can be considered correct only if term "pecuniary interest" is interpreted very broadly. District of Columbia v. Sport Fishing Institute (1958, 252 F. 2d 841, 102 U.S. App. D.C. 277).

Private gain

District of Columbia code provision making exempt from taxation the personal property of benevolent and charitable institutions "not conducted for private gain" uses the quoted phrase to modify "institutions" and not "personal property," and accordingly restaurant property of religious shrine which was leased to private operator under percentage agreement, with the monies derived by the shrine therefrom going to its further development, was exempt from taxation. District of Columbia v. The National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, Inc. (1963, 315 F. 2d 42, 114 U.S. App. D.C. 296).

Where District of Columbia Corporation, which was organized to promote sport fishing, had no capital stock and paid no dividends, but it was organized and existed primarily, though indirectly, for financial and commercial benefit and advantage of group of fishing tackle manufacturers, it was conducted for "private gain" within meaning of this section exempting from taxation scientific institutions not conducted for "private gain," and therefore, it was not exempt from taxation. District of Columbia v. Sport Fishing Institute (1958, 252 F. 2d 841, 102 U.S. App. D.C. 277).

Scientific institutions

National Wildlife Federation, being a scientific institution, incorporated under District laws and not conducted for private gain, is exempt from taxation of its personal property by District notwithstanding Federation activities in District are relatively minor when measured in terms of purely local benefits. District of Columbia v. National Wildlife Federation (1954, 214 F. 2d 217, 93 U.S. App. D.C. 387).

A university is "scientific institution" within provision of this section exempting from taxation personalty of scientific institutions incorporated under laws of United States or of District of Columbia and not conducted for private gain. District of Columbia v. Catholic Education Press (1952, 199 F. 2d 176, 91 U. S. App. D. C. 126, certiorari denied 73 S. Ct. 276, 344 U. S. 896, 97 L. Ed. 693).

Evidence established that a nonprofit, nonstock corporation having corporate purpose of preparing, publishing and distributing educational, literary, scientific and religious matter was a facility of university and was exempt from taxation under this section as being a scientific institution. Id.

§ 47–1209. Payment of taxes—To be made semiannually—Mandamus to compel filing sworn return—Expenses.

Real-estate taxes and personal taxes of all kinds shall hereafter be payable semiannually in equal instalments in the months of September and March. If either of said instalments on real or personal property shall not be paid within the months when the same is due, said instalments shall thereupon be in arrears and delinquent, and there shall be added and collected with said tax a penalty of 1 per centum per month upon the amount thereof for the period of such delinquency, and such instalment or instalments, with the penalties thereon, shall constitute a delinquent tax to be collected in the manner now provided by law.

If any person neglects or refuses to file a return of personal property as required by law, and the assessor certifies to the Board of Commissioners that, in his opinion, the best information obtainable does not afford a satisfactory basis for assessment, the Board of Commissioners may, by petition to the United States District Court for the District of Columbia for mandamus against such person, compel the filing of a sworn return, and in such case the court shall require the person at fault to pay all expenses of the proceeding. (July 3, 1926, 44 Stat. 833, ch. 759, § 5; Feb. 18, 1929, 45 Stat. 1227, ch. 259, § 5; June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127; May 18, 1954, 68 Stat. 112, ch. 218, § 606.)

AMENDMENTS

1954—Act May 18, 1954, deleted the words "excepting the tax on motor vehicles as herein provided" from the first sentence.

1929—Act Feb. 18, 1929, required real-estate taxes and personal taxes, excepting the tax on motor vehicles, to be paid semiannually in equal instalments in the months of September and March, and added the second paragraph.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1954 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act May 18, 1954, effective on April 1, 1955, see section 610 of act May 18, 1954, set out as a note under § 40–102.

CHANGE OF NAME

Act June 25, 1936, substituted "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia" for "Supreme Court of the District of Columbia."

Act June 25, 1948, eff. Sept. 1, 1948, as amended by act May 24, 1949, substituted "United States District Court for the District of Columbia" for "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Payment under protest

Where litigation, determining that trust companies were subject merely to tax of 4 per cent of their gross earnings after deduction of interest paid on savings deposits, had not been concluded at time they paid, under protest, gross earnings tax of 6 per cent, without deduction of interest paid on savings deposits; and they would have risked penalties of 1 per cent a month and summary distraint of their property by not paying, it could not be said that payments had been made "voluntarily," so as to preclude recovery. District of Columbia v. American Security & Trust Co. (1953, 202 F. 2d 21, 92 U.S. App. D.C. 33).

Returns

Receiver of insolvent bank is obligated to file tax return, although 100 percent assessment on stock had been levied. Hazen v. Hardee (1935, 78 F. 2d 230, 64 App. D. C. 346).

Claim made by appellant concerning his payment of taxes upon the income of the stocks owned by him to the Federal collector at Baltimore was without merit, and it was still necessary to file a personal property return with the assessor of the District. Cogger v. Hazen (1936, 85 F. 2d 695, 66 App. D. C. 196).

Commissioners are specifically authorized to compel the filing of a sworn return by any person required by law to file such a return. Hazen v. National Rifle Assn. (1939, 101 F. 2d 432, 69 App. D. C. 339).

Void assessment

A tax based upon a void assessment may be questioned or attacked wherever found. Tumulty v. District of Columbia (1939, 102 F. 2d 254, 69 App. D. C. 390).

Section 47–1211, act July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1108, ch. 367, § 4, related to the manner of assessment of motor vehicles having a situs within the District.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF REPEAL

Repeal of sections by act May 18, 1954, effective on April 1, 1955, see section 610 of act May 18, 1954, set out as a note under § 40–102.

§ 47–1212. Mercantile establishments and carriers by water.

Dealers in general merchandise of every description shall pay to the collector of taxes of the District of Columbia one and one-half per centum on the average stock in trade for the preceding year.

It shall be unlawful for any person or persons entering the District of Columbia subsequent to June 30th in each year and establishing a place of business for the sale of goods, wares, or merchandise, either at private sale or at auction, or engaging in the business of common carrier by vessels, ships, or boats, to conduct such business until a sworn statement of the value of such stock, vessels, ships, and boats has been filed with the assessor of the District of Columbia, who shall thereupon render a bill for the unexpired portion of the fiscal year at the same rate as other personal taxes are levied: Provided, That this shall not apply to vessels, ships, or boats if it shall be made to appear by affidavit that any vessel, ship, or boat has been assessed for taxation and the taxes paid elsewhere.

The assessor is hereby authorized to reassess said stock whenever in his judgment it has been undervalued. The goods, wares, and merchandise of any person or persons who shall fail to pay the tax required by this section within three days after beginning business shall be subject to distraint, and it shall be the duty of the assessor to place bills therefor in the hands of the collector of taxes, who shall seize sufficient of the goods of the delinquent to satisfy said tax: Provided, That said owner shall have the right of redemption within thirty days on payment of said tax, to which shall be added a penalty of one per centum, together with the cost of seizure. The collector shall sell such goods as are not redeemed at public auction, after advertisement for the three days preceding said sale. (July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 618, ch. 1352, § 6, par. 3; Apr. 28, 1904, 33 Stat. 563, ch. 1815, § 2.)

AMENDMENT

1904—Act Apr. 28, 1904, added words "or engaging in the business of common carrier by vessels, ships, or boats" after the word "auction" as it appears in the first paragraph; the words "vessels, ships, and boats" after the word "stock" as it appears in the first paragraph; and, the proviso in the first paragraph.

RATE OF TAX ON AVERAGE STOCK IN TRADE

The rate prescribed by the first sentence of the section is no longer applicable. The rate is fixed by the Commissioners as authorized by § 47–501.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Measure of tax

Although this section allows dealers in business to evaluate and make personalty tax returns based on their average stock in trade for a preceding year, such "measure" of the tax is a matter of convenience, and cannot be substituted for true value of personalty of a bankrupt in the hands of its trustee at the time of the assessment. Brown, Trustee in Bankruptcy etc. v. Collector of Taxes for the District of Columbia (1957, 247 F. 2d 786, 101 U.S. App. D.C. 200).

Where district's assessment of personalty of bankrupt in trustee's hands was based upon average stock in trade of bankrupt in year prior to beginning date of fiscal year for which assessment was made, such valuation was incorrect unless the amount in dollars also represented a full and true value of such personalty in lawful money. Id.

Merchandise taxable

This section relates to the assessment of merchandise belonging to persons who enter the District subsequent to June 30th and establish a place of business for the sale of goods, wares, and merchandise either at private sale or at auction. Tumulty v. District of Columbia (1939, 102 F. 2d 254, 69 App. D. C. 390).

Regulations

Where regulations provided that average inventory means net cost of goods delivered or the actual cost of goods minus any cash discounts from which a further deduction of 5 per cent, will be allowed, and taxpayer estimated its cost according to retail inventory method of accounting by deducting from resale price the average percentage of markup over cost, the taxpayer was not entitled to an additional 8 per cent, for markdown, since no markdown from resale price could affect cost. Hecht Co. v. District of Columbia (1942, 129 F. 2d 353, 76 U.S. App. D.C. 142).

Where taxpayer made incorrect returns and underpaid its personal property taxes, assessor's practice of applying new regulations permitting greater deductions in determining value of accounts receivable was unauthorized and taxpayer's tax liability was to be determined in accordance with regulations in force when tax returns were filed. Id.

Special legislation

Congress' enactment of special detailed legislation for taxation of railroad locomotives and rolling stock in District of Columbia part of time did not negative such construction of general taxing statutes of District as would permit levy of apportioned taxes on other personal property, nor did Congress' special legislation taxing motor vehicles and mercantile establishments, including common carriers by vessels entering District, effect such result. District of Columbia v. Smoot Sand & Gravel Corp. (1951, 184 F. 2d 987, 87 U.S. App. D.C. 248, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 498, 340 U.S. 933, 95 L. Ed. 674).

Stock in trade

This section imposing on dealers in general merchandise a tax of one and one-half per centum on average stock in trade levies a tax not on title, but on merchandise, which is the stock in trade. District of Columbia v. Bartz & King (1957, 243 F. 2d 248, 100 U.S. App. D.C. 142).

Where merchandise was held by taxpayers under memorandum arrangement permitting them to display and hold it out for sale and transfer valid legal title to customer upon delivery without prior approval of the legal owners, the merchandise was part of the "stock in trade" of the taxpayers and subject to the District of Columbia tax on average stock in trade. Id.

Where merchandise was specially ordered by taxpayers for showing to an unidentified customer for which if not sold was returned to the supplier promptly on learning that the customer would not buy it, the merchandise did not become a part of the "stock in trade" of the taxpayers so as to be subject to this section imposing tax on stock in trade. Id.

§ 47–1213. Board of Personal Tax Appeals—Constitution—Proceedings.

The Board of Assistant Assessors hereinbefore provided for, with the assessor of the District of Columbia as chairman, shall compose a Board of Personal Tax Appeals, and as such Board of Personal Tax Appeals shall convene in a room, to be provided therefor by the said assessor, on the first Monday of September each year and shall continue in session to and including the first Monday of March of the following year, or until such time as their work shall have been completed, and public notice of the time and place of such meeting shall be given by advertisement for two consecutive secular days in two daily newspapers published in the District of Columbia. All appeals to said board shall be made within thirty days after notice of fixing an assessment. It shall be the duty of the Board of Personal Tax Appeals to hear all appeals made by any person or persons against the assessments made by the Board of Personal Tax Appraisers and to impartially equalize the value of said personal property as a basis for assessment. Any four members of the said board shall constitute a quorum for business, and in the absence of the assessor a temporary chairman shall be selected. They shall be empowered to diminish or increase such assessments as they may believe to have been returned at other than their true value to such amount as, in their opinion, may be the value thereof, and the action of said board in such cases shall be final. Said board of assistant assessors shall also perform such other official duties as may be required of them by the assessor of the District of Columbia: Provided, That in case the personal tax appraisers shall fail to complete any of the duties in sections 47–1201 to 47–1214, 47–1301 to 47–1305, 47–1701 to 47–1709 to be by them performed within the time provided therefor the taxation provided by this section shall not by reason thereof be invalid; but such appraisers shall proceed with all reasonable diligence to complete such duties, and their acts shall be valid as if performed within the time fixed therefor. If, at any time within any current year, property subject to taxation under the provisions of sections 47–1201 to 47–1214, 47–1301 to 47–1305, 47–1701 to 47–1709 shall have been omitted from assessment, said Board of Personal Tax Appraisers shall immediately proceed to assess the same for the then current year, giving notice in writing to the persons or corporations so assessed, who shall have a right of appeal within ten days from date of said notice. (July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 620, ch. 1352, § 6, par. 11; July 3, 1926, 44 Stat. 834, ch. 759, § 7; Feb. 18, 1929, 45 Stat. 1228, ch. 259, § 7.)

AMENDMENTS

1929—Act Feb. 18, 1929, changed the time for convening and continuing in session in the first paragraph.

1926—Act July 3, 1926, added the second sentence of the first paragraph.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

The Board of Personal Tax Appeals was superseded by the Board of Tax Appeals, which was later designated as the District of Columbia Tax Court. See sections 47–2402 and 47–2403.

Transfer of functions of Assessor and Board of Assistant Assessors, see notes under §§ 47–601 and 47–604.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Notice

The statute provides that notice must be given and the opportunity presented to be heard in respect to the assessment of omitted property. Tumulty v. District of Columbia (1939, 102 F. 2d 254, 69 App. D. C. 390).

The admission of the District that no such notice of the assessments was ever given to the company is fatal to the entire claim of the District. Id.

Reassessment

It is not the policy of the law to favor reassessments. Unless the taxing statute expressly provides for a reassessment, such action is void. Hunt v. District of Columbia (1940, 108 F. 2d 10, 71 App. D. C. 143).

When taxpayer complied with the duty and made a true statement of his investment in marginal stocks according to the legal requirement and was taxed on the item, the tax authorities could not reassess on a new basis on the theory that the shares of stock were omitted property, since omitted property means property which is not assessed at all and not property which is merely undervalued. Id.

§ 47–1214. Clerk of Board of Personal Tax Appraisers—Appointment.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia are authorized and directed to appoint a clerk and assistant clerk to said Board of Personal Tax Appraisers, and three inspectors, all of whom shall perform such duties as may be assigned to them by the chairman of said board. (July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 622, ch. 1352, § 6, par. 19.)

CODIFICATION

Provisions which prescribed the salaries of the employees were omitted as covered by the Classification Act of 1949, which has since been repealed by act Sept. 6, 1966, Pub. L. 89–554, § 8(a), 80 Stat. 632, and is now covered by section 305, chapter 51, subchapter III of chapter 53, and §§ 5341, 5342, 5504, 5509, and 7154 of title 5, U.S.C.

§ 47–1215. Taxation of rolling stock of railroad, sleeping-car, tank-car, etc., companies—Location within District—Location without District—Applicability of personal property tax laws—Effective date.

(a) The rolling stock of railroad companies, refrigerator-car companies, parlor-car companies, sleeping-car companies, tank-car companies, express companies, car-renting companies, and all other companies owning parlor, sleeping, dining, tank, freight, or any other cars which are operated or run over or upon the line or lines of any railroad or terminal company in the District of Columbia, shall be deemed to be located in said District for purposes of taxation, whether or not the individual units are continuously in the District or are constantly changing, and such property shall be reported, assessed, and taxed within the time, and at the rates prescribed by law for the reporting and taxation of other personal property in the District of Columbia.

(b) Such rolling stock as is primarily located in the District of Columbia shall be reported and taxed at its full and true value on the last day of the calendar year preceding the tax date.

(c) Such rolling stock as is not primarily located in the District of Columbia shall be reported and taxed in the manner following:

(1) Every railroad company operating rolling stock over or upon the line or lines of any railroad or terminal company in the District shall report to the Assessor of the District of Columbia the various classes of such rolling stock so operated by such company whether owned by it or any other railroad company; the number of miles traveled by each class of such rolling stock within the District during the calendar year next preceding the tax date; the total number of miles traveled by each class of such rolling stock on all lines over which such company operates during the calendar year next preceding the tax date; the total full and true value of each class of such rolling stock owned by such company on the last day of the calendar year next preceding the tax date; and such other facts and information as said assessor may require. The taxable portion of the rolling stock of each such company shall be determined by applying the mileage traveled in the District by the various classes of such rolling stock operated in the District by such company to the total mileage traveled by the various classes of such rolling stock on all lines over which such company operates, and the tax shall be assessed on that portion of such rolling stock owned by such company on the last day of the calendar year next preceding the tax date. The mileage and value of the rolling stock owned by such company which is permanently located outside of the District of Columbia shall not be included in the computation of such assessment.

(2) Every parlor-car company and sleeping-car company owning parlor and sleeping cars (except those owned by railroad companies and described in paragraph (1) of this subsection) which are operated in the District over or upon the tracks of any railroad or terminal company, shall report to the Assessor of the District of Columbia the total number of miles traveled by all such cars, and also the miles traveled by such cars within the District, during the calendar year next preceding the tax date; the total full and true value of all of such cars so used as of the last day of the calendar year next preceding the tax date; and such other facts and information as said assessor may require. The taxable portion of the value of the cars owned by any such company and used within the District shall be determined by applying to such value the ratio between the mileage traveled by such cars in the District and the total mileage traveled by such cars within and without the District.

(3) Every car company, mercantile company, corporation or individual (other than railroad, parlor-car and sleeping-car companies described in paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subsection) owning or leasing any stock cars, furniture cars, fruit cars, refrigerator cars, meat cars, oil cars, tank cars, or other similar cars, which are run over or upon the line or lines of any railroad or terminal company in the District of Columbia, shall furnish to the Assessor of the District of Columbia, on forms prescribed by said assessor, a true, full, and accurate statement, verified by the affidavit of the officer or person making the same, showing the aggregate number of miles made by their several cars over or upon the several lines of railroad within the District of Columbia during the calendar year next preceding the tax date; the average number of miles traveled per day within the District of Columbia by the cars covered by the statement in the ordinary course of business during the year; and such other pertinent facts and information as said assessor may require.

Every railroad company whose lines run through or into the District of Columbia shall annually furnish to the said assessor a statement showing the name and address of every car company, mercantile company, corporation, or individual (other than railroad, parlor-car and sleeping-car companies described in paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subsection) whose cars made mileage over its tracks in the District of Columbia during the calendar year next preceding the tax date, and the total number of miles made within the District of Columbia by each during said period.

It shall be the duty of the said assessor to ascertain from the best and most reliable information that can be obtained and from said statements the number of cars required to make the total mileage of each such car company, mercantile company, corporation, or individual within the District of Columbia during the period aforesaid, and to ascertain and fix the valuation upon each particular class of such cars, and the number so ascertained to be required to make the total mileage within the District of Columbia of the cars of each such car company, mercantile company, corporation, or individual within said period shall be assessed against the respective car companies, mercantile companies, corporations, or individuals. The valuation thus obtained shall be the full and true value and shall be the taxable portion of the cars owned by any such car company, mercantile company, corporation, or individual and used within the District of Columbia.

(d) All of the provisions of law relating to the filing of returns, assessment, payment, and collection of personal property taxes in the District of Columbia shall be applicable to the companies described in the foregoing subsections.

(e) Any individual, partnership, unincorporated association, or corporation aggrieved by any assessment of taxes made pursuant to the provisions of this section may appeal therefrom to the Board of Tax Appeals for the District of Columbia in the same manner and to the same extent as set forth in sections 47–2403, 47–2404, 47–2407 to 47–2411.

(f) The provisions of this section shall be applicable to the taxable year beginning July 1, 1945, and each taxable year thereafter. (Dec. 15, 1945, 59 Stat. 610, ch. 579.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

In general

There is no provision in the statute for a lien on personal property; there is no provision of the statute to assess taxes on personal property when the owner is unknown; and there is no provision for the assessing of personal property taxes after the end of the current fiscal year. Tumulty v. District of Columbia (1939, 102 F. 2d 254, 69 App. D. C. 390).

Payment under protest

Where litigation, determining that trust companies were subject merely to tax of 4 per cent of their gross earnings after deduction of interest paid on savings deposits, had not been concluded at time they paid, under protest, gross earnings tax of 6 per cent, without deduction of interest paid on savings deposits; and they would have risked penalties of 1 per cent a month and summary distraint of their property by not paying, it could not be said that payments had been made "voluntarily," so as to preclude recovery. District of Columbia v. American Security & Trust Co. (1953, 202 F. 2d 21, 92 U.S. App. D.C. 33).

Property to be distrained

Any goods and chattels of the person charged with the taxes may be distrained. Tumulty v. District of Columbia (1939, 102 F. 2d 254, 69 App. D. C. 390).

§ 47–1302. Sale of distrained goods for nonpayment of taxes.

When the collector of taxes shall distrain any goods and chattels in order to enforce payment of such taxes, the goods and chattels so seized shall be kept in a safe and convenient place until the day of the sale thereof; and the sale of said goods and chattels shall be at public auction, at such place as the collector of taxes may designate: Provided, however, That no such goods and chattels shall be sold upon any bid not sufficient to meet the amount of tax, penalty, and costs; but in case the highest bid therefor is not sufficient to meet the amount of tax, penalty, and costs thereon, said property thereupon shall be bid off by the said collector of taxes in the name of and by the District of Columbia, and the Commissioners of the District of Columbia may sell the same at private sale to satisfy the tax penalty, and cost thereafter without further notice. (Apr. 28, 1904, 33 Stat. 564, ch. 1815.)

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

The authority of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to sell goods distrained for non-payment of taxes at private sale on failure to receive a sufficient bid at public sale was delegated to the Collector of Taxes, Finance Office, Department of General Administration by Reorganization Order No. 20, as amended Mar. 19, 1953. This order was issued pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1952. The order and plan are set out in the Appendix to Title 1, Administration.

§ 47–1303. Penalties.

Any person or persons violating any of the provisions of sections 47–1201 to 47–1214, 47–1301 to 47–1305, and 47–1701 to 47–1709 shall be liable to a penalty of not exceeding five hundred dollars for each offense, said penalty to be imposed, upon conviction in the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions, as other fines and penalties are imposed, and said court is hereby invested with jurisdiction thereof; and in default of the payment of said penalty the person or persons so convicted shall be imprisoned, in the discretion of the court, not exceeding six months. (July 1, 1902, 32 Stat. 622, ch. 1352, § 6, par. 18; Apr. 1, 1942, 56 Stat. 190, ch. 207, § 1; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

Act July 8, 1963, § 1, substituted "District of Columbia Court of General Sessions" for "Municipal Court for the District of Columbia". Said section 1 superseded act Oct. 23, 1962, 76 Stat. 1171, Pub. L. 87–873, § 1, which contained identical provisions.

§ 47–1304. Remedies for collection of intangible tax—Common-law and equitable remedies available for collection of all taxes and assessments.

The remedies provided in sections 47–1201 to 47–1214, 47–1301 to 47–1305, 47–1701 to 47–1709 for the collection of taxes on tangible personal property, shall be available also for the collection of taxes on intangible property.

In addition to the statutory remedies, all common-law and all equitable remedies shall also be available, either separately or concurrently with statutory remedies, as may be deemed advisable, for the collection of all taxes and special assessments of any kind whatsoever. (Feb. 18, 1929, 45 Stat. 1226, ch. 259, § 1.)

§ 47–1305. Sale of real estate to satisfy personal tax.

Where real estate is levied upon for the nonpayment of personal taxes of any kind, and the best price offered at an auction sale is not sufficient to pay taxes, interest, and penalties, said real estate may be sold under decree of the equity court as provided by law. (Feb. 18, 1929, 45 Stat. 1226, ch. 259, § 2.)

Such summons may be served by any member of the Metropolitan police department. If any person, having been personally summoned, shall neglect or refuse to obey the summons issued as herein provided, then in that event the assessor, or any assistant assessor, may report that fact to the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, or one of the judges thereof, and said court or any judge thereof hereby is empowered to compel obedience to said summons to the same extent as witness may be compelled to obey the subpenas of that court. Any person in custody or control of any books, papers, records, or memoranda bearing upon the matters required to be included in such returns, who shall refuse to permit the examination by the assessor or any person designated by him of any such books, papers, records, or memoranda, or who shall obstruct or hinder the assessor or any person designated by him in the examination of any books, papers, records, or memoranda, shall upon conviction thereof be fined not more than $300. All prosecutions under this section shall be brought in the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions on information by the corporation counsel of the District of Columbia in the name of the District of Columbia. NOTES TO DECISIONS

In exercising its power to legislate for the District of Columbia, Congress acts as a legislature of national character and is not subject to constitutional limitations imposed on State legislatures, and, therefore, this chapter is not invalid as a violation of the commerce clause or the 14th amendment. Neild v. District of Columbia (1940, 110 F. 2d 246, 71 App. D. C. 306).

This chapter is an exercise of the power of Congress to legislate for the District of Columbia and not an exercise of its power to regulate commerce, and, therefore, is not invalid on the theory that the burden imposed must be uniform throughout the Nation, or that the exercise of this power is improvident. Id.

Lien for delinquent taxes

Congress took notice of the problem of taxes on personalty and among other things provided a method for the obtainment of a lien against a taxpayer delinquent in the payment of personal property taxes. Tumulty v. District of Columbia (1939, 102 F. 2d 254, 69 App. D. C. 390).

Power to tax

The delegation to Congress of power to exercise exclusive legislation in all cases over the District of Columbia, includes the power to tax. Neild v. District of Columbia (1940, 110 F. 2d 246, 71 App. D. C. 306).

§ 47–1402. Neglect or refusal to pay personal property taxes—Collection by distraint—Levy—Public notice of intended sale—Sale to be public—Report—Disposition of surplus above taxes.

If any person liable to pay any personal property tax to the District of Columbia neglects or refuses to pay the same within ten days after notice and demand, it shall be lawful for the collector of taxes for the District of Columbia, or any person designated by him, to collect the said taxes, with interest and penalties thereon, by distraint and sale in the manner hereinafter provided, of the goods, chattels, or effects, including stocks, securities, bank accounts, evidences of debt, and credits of the person delinquent as aforesaid. In case of such neglect or refusal of the person delinquent as aforesaid the collector, or the person designated by him, may levy upon all such property and rights to such property belonging to such person for the payment of the sum due with interest and penalties thereon and the costs that may accrue and the collector of taxes shall immediately proceed to advertise the same by public notice to be posted in the office of said collector and by advertisement three times in one week in one or more daily newspapers in said District, stating the time when and the place where such property shall be sold, the last publication to be at least six days before the date of sale and if the said taxes, with interest and penalties thereon, and the costs and expenses which shall have accrued thereon, shall not be paid before the date fixed for such sale, which shall not be less than ten days after said levy or taking of said property, the collector shall proceed to sell at public auction such property or interest therein or so much thereof as may be needed to pay such taxes, interest, penalties, and accrued costs and expenses of such distraint and sale. Said collector shall report in detail in writing every distraint and sale of personal property to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and his accounts in respect of every such distraint or sale shall forthwith be submitted to the auditor of the District of Columbia and shall be audited by him. Any surplus resulting from such sale over and above such taxes, interest, penalties, costs, and expenses shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States to the credit of the District of Columbia, and upon being claimed by the owner or owners of the property aforesaid shall be paid to him or them by the accounting officers of said District upon the certificate of the collector of taxes stating in full the amount of such excess. (Aug. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 673, ch. 690, title I, § 2.)

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

Reorganization Order No. 19 of Nov. 10, 1952, established the Internal Audit Office headed by an Internal Audit Officer in the Department of General Administration. Under this order the functions of the Auditor described in this section relating to the auditing of accounts of the Collector of Taxes in respect to distraint or sale were transferred to the Internal Audit Officer. This order was issued pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1952. The order and plan are set out in the Appendix to Title 1, Administration.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Injunction to prohibit sale

Where plaintiff in action to enjoin sale of furniture and personal effects for property taxes had only a lien on property, so that plaintiff's claims furnished no basis for saying distraint was illegal, and Collector of Taxes had given assurances that sale would be subject to outstanding liens, sale would not be enjoined. Pearson v. Laughlin (1951, 190 F. 2d 658, 89 U.S. App. D.C. 130).

Offer of payment

Where holder of liens on household furniture and personal effects offered to give collector of taxes an uncertified check for taxes assessed against personalty, but there was no offer to pay interest or expenses, and offer was made on non-business day, over telephone, while trucks and men were at hand to move personalty to auction rooms, and during preceding business week lien holder had asserted existence of his outstanding liens on personalty, and had subsequently asserted absolute ownership in himself, and at no time during such week had lien holder tendered payment of taxes, collector was justified in refusing to stay orderly course of collection proceedings, and refusal of Collector to accept offer did not preclude sale of personalty for taxes. Pearson v. Laughlin (1951, 190 F. 2d 658, 89 U.S. App. D.C. 130).

§ 47–1403. Surrender of property to collector unless subject to attachment.

Any person in possession of property or rights to property subject to distraint upon which a levy has been made shall, upon demand by the collector, or the person designated by him, surrender such property or rights to such collector or the person designated by him, unless such property or right is at the time of such demand subject to an attachment or execution under any judicial process. (Aug. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 674, ch. 690, title I, § 3.)

§ 47–1404. Liability for failure to surrender property.

Any person who fails or refuses so to surrender any of such property or rights shall be liable in his own person and estate to the District of Columbia in a sum equal to the value of the property or rights not so surrendered, but not exceeding the amount of the taxes including interest and penalties for the collection of which such levy has been made, together with costs and interest thereon, from the date of such levy. (Aug. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 674, ch. 690, title I, § 4.)

§ 47–1405. Exhibition of evidence or statements relating to subject of distraint—Penalty.

All persons and officers of companies and corporations are required, on demand of the collector, or the person designated by him, about to distrain or having distrained on any property or rights of property, to exhibit all books containing evidence or statements relating to the subject of distraint or the property or rights of property liable to distraint for the tax due. A violation of this section shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding $500 or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or both, in a prosecution filed in the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions by the corporation counsel of the District in the name of the District of Columbia. (Aug. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 674, ch. 690, title I, § 5; Apr. 1, 1942, 56 Stat. 190, ch. 207, § 1; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

CHANGE OF NAME

"Muncipal Court for the District of Columbia" was substituted for "police court of the District of Columbia" to conform to act Apr. 1, 1942, which consolidated the Police Court and the Municipal Court.

Act July 8, 1963, § 1, substituted "District of Columbia Court of General Sessions" for "Municipal Court for the District of Columbia". Said section 1 superseded act Oct. 23, 1962, 76 Stat. 1171, Pub. L. 87–873, § 1, which contained identical provisions.

§ 47–1406. Certificates of delinquent personal tax—Filing—Lien—Enforcement.

In case of the neglect or refusal of any person to pay a personal-property tax within ten days after notice and demand, the collector of taxes, or the person designated by him, may file a certificate of such delinquent personal tax with the Recorder of Deeds of the District of Columbia, which certificate from the date of its filing shall have the force and effect, as against the delinquent person named in such certificate, of the lien created by a judgment granted by the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, which lien shall remain in force and effect until the taxes set forth in said certificate, with interest and penalties thereon, shall be paid and said lien may be enforced by a bill in equity filed in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. (Aug. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 674, ch. 690, title I, § 6; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127; July 5, 1966, 80 Stat. 266, Pub. L. 89–493, § 18.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Priority of lien

District of Columbia had a lien which arose and existed on date District income taxes were withheld or were required to be withheld by employer, and lien had priority over other claims, such as claim for unpaid rent, even though District had not filed a certificate of delinquent taxes. District of Columbia v. Hechinger Properties Co. (D.C. App. 1964, 197 A. 2d 157).

§ 47–1407. Wrongful distraints—Recoveries.

When a recovery is had in any suit or proceeding against the collector of taxes, or any person designated by him, under this Act for a wrongful distraint or any other act done by him or for the recovery of any money exacted by or paid to him and by him paid into the Treasury of the United States in the performance of his official duty and the court certifies that there was probable cause for the act done by the collector or the person designated by him or that he acted under the directions of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, no execution shall issue thereon, but the amount so recovered shall, upon final judgment, be paid by the District of Columbia in the same manner as judgments against the said District are paid. (Aug. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 675, ch. 690, title I, § 7.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Civil liability

If in performance of his official duties the Collector of Taxes for the District of Columbia misinterpreted the statute authorizing collection, he is not subject to a civil liability for injury resulting from such act. Goldstein v. Pearson (D.C. Mun. App. 1956, 121 A. 2d 260).

Taxpayers were not entitled to recovery of damages for injuries allegedly suffered by them as result of erroneous levy of taxes by the Collector of Taxes, since the Collector is a public official charged with the duty of collecting taxes and is not subject to civil liability for injury resulting from an alleged misinterpretation of the statute. Id.

§ 47–1408. Time for assessment of tax—False returns—Delinquency.

(a) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section the taxes imposed upon personal property shall be assessed or reassessed within three years after the return was filed. For the purposes of this subsection, a return filed before the last day prescribed by law for the filing thereof shall be considered as filed on such last day.

(b) In the case of a false or fraudulent return with intent to evade tax or of a failure to file a return, the taxes may be assessed at any time.

(c) Where the assessment of personal property taxes has been made within the period properly applicable thereto, such taxes may be collected by distraint or by a proceeding in court, but only if begun within three years after the date of the assessment of such taxes. (Aug. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 675, ch. 690, title I, § 8; May 16, 1938, 52 Stat. 357, ch. 223, § 1(b); July 10, 1952, 66 Stat. 543, ch. 649, § 1.)

In the case of a false or incorrect return, whether in good faith or otherwise, or of a failure to file a return within the time prescribed by law or of a failure to include taxable property or assets belonging to the taxpayer in any return filed by such taxpayer, whether in good faith or otherwise, the tax may be assessed at any time, and the tax may be collected by distraint or by proceeding in court within three years after the assessment of such tax."

1938—Act May 16, 1938, amended section generally. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Additional assessments

Under this section and section 47–1409, an additional assessment of business privilege tax could properly be made after tax year during which tax was assessed and paid, the same as additional assessments of intangible personal property taxes could be made after tax years in which they were assessed and paid, and the Board of Tax Appeals had authority to affirm, cancel, reduce, or increase assessments. Maryland & Virginia Milk Producers' Ass'n v. District of Columbia (1941, 119 F. 2d 787, 73 App. D. C. 399, certiorari denied 62 S. Ct. 87, 314 U. S. 646, 86 L. Ed. 518).

A taxpayer had no "vested right" in the fruits of incorrect or incomplete returns made for intangible personal property tax purposes for fiscal years ended on June 30 in 1936, 1937, and 1938, and this section and section 47–1409 and additional assessments made under their authority in August 1938, imposed no new taxes but merely provided a new remedy in addition to remedies available, as against contention that, because taxpayer made returns and paid during fiscal years in question taxes assessed during those years, assessors could not after those years make additional assessments. Id.

Incorrect returns

Where District Board of Tax Appeals concluded, on basis of findings supported by evidence, that corporation's personal property tax returns for years involved in determining whether assessments of such property were barred by statute of limitations were incorrect, assessments were not barred. District of Columbia v. Smoot Sand & Gravel Corp. (1959, 184 F. 2d 987, 87 U.S. App. D.C. 248, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 498, 340 U.S. 933, 95 L. Ed. 674).

Limitations

This section authorizing District of Columbia taxes against personal property to be collected by distraint if begun within three years after the date of assessment, means that no distraint or proceeding in court for collection of the taxes shall be begun after three years from the date of the assessment. Goldstein v. Pearson (D.C. Mun. App. 1956, 121 A. 2d 260).

Filing of a claim in bankruptcy of taxpayer for delinquent personal property taxes while constituting a "proceeding in court" within this section authorizing taxes to be collected by distraint or by a proceeding in court begun within three years after date of assessment, terminated when the bankrupt was discharged and the case was closed as a "no asset" case and an attempt to collect the taxes by distraint and after the allowable period had passed, was unauthorized. Id.

§ 47–1409. Remedies under this chapter considered additional.

The remedies provided by this chapter for the collection of personal property taxes are in addition to any other remedies available for the collection of said taxes. (Aug. 17, 1937, 50 Stat. 675, ch. 690, title I, § 9.)

§ 47–1410. Failure to file return—Penalty.

Any person required to file a return or schedule, by the terms of an Act entitled "An Act making appropriation to provide for the expenses of the government of the District of Columbia for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, and for other purposes," approved July 1, 1902, as amended, who shall fail or refuse to file the same within the time required by said Act as amended shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not more than $300 for each and every failure or refusal and each and every day that such failure or refusal continues shall constitute a separate and distinct offense. All prosecutions under this section shall be brought in the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions on information by the corporation counsel of the District of Columbia in the name of the District of Columbia. The penalty herein provided shall be in addition to the other penalties provided in said Act of July 1, 1902, as amended. (Aug. 17, 1937, ch. 690, title I, § 10, as added May 16, 1938, 52 Stat. 357, ch. 223, § 1(c), and amended Apr. 1, 1942, 56 Stat. 190, ch. 207, § 1; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

CHANGE OF NAME

"Muncipal Court for the District of Columbia" was substituted for "Police Court of the District of Columbia" to conform to act Apr. 1, 1942, which consolidated the Police Court and the Municipal Court.

Act July 8, 1963, § 1, substituted "District of Columbia Court of General Sessions" for "Municipal Court for the District of Columbia". Said section 1 superseded act Oct. 23, 1962, 76 Stat. 1171, Pub. L. 87–873, § 1, which contained identical provisions.

§ 47–1411. Definitions.

As used in this chapter—

(a) The term "person" includes any individual, firm, copartnership, joint adventure, association, corporation (domestic or foreign), trust, trustee, estate, or receiver.

(b) The term "return" means any return required to be filed by this title. (Aug. 17, 1937, ch. 690, title I, § 11, as added May 16, 1938, 52 Stat. 357, ch. 223, § 1(c).)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Trustee in bankruptcy

A trustee in bankruptcy is such a "person" as is bound to make and deliver a return on personalty in his hands, under this chapter providing for taxation of all tangible personalty and all general merchandise or stock in trade owned or held in trust or otherwise. Brown, Trustee in Bankruptcy etc. v. Collector of Taxes for the District of Columbia (1957, 247 F. 2d 786, 101 U.S. App. D.C. 200).

§ 47–1412. Secrecy of returns.

Except in accordance with proper judicial order and as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the Commissioners of the District of Columbia or any persons having an administrative duty under this chapter to divulge or make known in any manner any information contained in any return required under this chapter. The persons charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them in any action or proceeding in any court except on behalf of the United States or the District of Columbia or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter, when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding in either of which events the court may require the production of and may admit in evidence so much of such returns or the facts shown thereby as are pertinent to the action or proceeding, and no more. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a taxpayer or his duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return filed by him in connection with his tax, nor prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the corporation counsel of the District of Columbia or any of his assistants of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon, or against whom an action or proceeding has been instituted for the collection of a tax or penalty and failure to file any return or schedule required by law. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Burden of proof

Under subsection (a) of this section, the taxing authority is warranted in treating as prima facie taxable any person quartered in the District on tax day whose status is deemed doubtful, and it is not an unreasonable burden on the individual to require him to establish domicile elsewhere if he is to escape the tax. District of Columbia v. Murphy (1942, 61 S. Ct. 303, 314 U.S. 441, 86 L. Ed. 329).

A person who has at any time become domiciled in the District of Columbia has the burden of establishing a change of status upon which he relies to escape the income tax imposed by subsection (a) of this section. Id.

Domicile—In general

To ascertain the meaning of the word "domicile" as used in subsection (a) of this section, the Supreme Court would consider the congressional history of the section, the situation with reference to which it was enacted, the existing judicial precedents with which the Congress might be taken to have been familiar in at least a general way, and the unusual character of the national capital. District of Columbia v. Murphy (1942, 62 S. Ct. 303, 314 U.S. 441, 86 L. Ed. 329).

A person does not acquire a "domicile" in the District of Columbia, within subsection (a) of this section, simply by coming to the District to live for an indefinite period of time while in the government service. Id.

Under subsection (a) of this section, Congress did not intend that a person living in the District indefinitely while in the government service should be held to have acquired a "domicile" in the District simply because he does not maintain a domestic establishment at his former place of abode. Id.

Subsection (a) of this section was not intended to lay a tax only on those persons having an affirmative intent to remain in the District for the rest of their days. Id.

A person in government employment does not acquire a "domicile" in the District of Columbia so as to be subject to income tax there simply by coming into the District to live for an indefinite period of time, and whatever the motive inducing change of domicile, to effect a change there must be the absence of a present intention of not residing in the District permanently or indefinitely. Beedy v. District of Columbia (1942, 126 F. 2d 647, 75 U.S. App. D.C. 289).

—— Determination

Exercise of political rights elsewhere cannot be considered as meant to be conclusive on the issue of taxability in the District of Columbia under subsection (a) of this section. District of Columbia v. Murphy (1942, 62 S. Ct. 303, 314 U.S. 441, 86 L. Ed. 329).

Whether or not a person votes where he claims domicile is highly relevant, but by no means controlling on the question whether he is domiciled in the District of Columbia within subsection (a) of this section, nor is failure to vote elsewhere conclusive that domicile is in the District. Id.

In determining whether a person is domiciled in the District of Columbia within subsection (a) of this section, the nature of the position which brings a person to or keeps him in the service of the government is of great significance, the manner of living in the District, taken in consideration with the person's station in life, and all facts which go to show the relations retained to the former place of abode are relevant, and the question whether taxes similar in character to those laid by this section have been paid elsewhere should also be considered. Id.

To hold taxable a person who contends that he is not domiciled in the District of Columbia within subsection (a) of this section, the Board of Tax Appeals of the District need not find the exact time when the attitude and relationship of person to place which constitutes "domicile" were formed, so long as it finds they were formed before the tax day, nor need the board find just when the intent to return to the place of former abode was finally dissipated, but it is enough for the board to find that that has happened before the tax day. Id.

Evidence was insufficient to sustain finding of Board of Tax Appeals of District of Columbia that petitioners had abandoned former domicile in Massachusetts and had acquired domicile in District of Columbia and were subject to District of Columbia income taxes for the years 1939 and 1940. Butler v. District of Columbia (1946, 153 F. 2d 617, 80 U.S. App. D.C. 310).

Evidence that petitioner after ending his congressional career in 1935 made a professional connection with a law firm in the District of Columbia intending to remain in Washington for a limited time only, and to spend the remainder of his life in Maine, that he maintained a room and part of his wardrobe in Portland, Maine, and returned there several times a year and regularly during summer vacations, and that he paid all applicable taxes including a poll tax in Maine, and regularly voted there, showed that petitioner had his "domicile" in Maine and not in the District of Columbia, and hence he was not subject to District of Columbia income tax. Beedy v. District of Columbia (1942, 126 F. 2d 647, 75 U.S. App. D.C. 289).

In determining whether a person is domiciled in the District of Columbia and so subject to income tax there, or in his place of origin, there must be a conjunction of physical presence and animus manendi in the new location to bring about a domiciliary change. Id.

—— Intention to return to former domicile

Persons who live in the District of Columbia, and have no fixed and definite intent to return and make their homes where they were formerly domiciled, acquire a "domicile" in the District within subsection (a) of this section, and, to keep from acquiring a domicile in the District, the intention to return must be fixed, though the date need not be, and must be unconditional, though the time may be contingent. District of Columbia v. Murphy (1942, 62 S. Ct. 303, 314 U.S. 441, 86 L. Ed. 329).

Under subsection (a) of this section, a person who comes to the District to enter government service, to retain his former domicile, must always have a fixed and definite intent to return and take up his home there when separated from the service, and a mere sentimental attachment will not hold the old domicile nor is residence in the District with a nearly equal readiness to go back where one came from or to any other community offering advantages upon the termination of service enough. Id.

On the question of the taxability of an individual's income under subsection (a) of this section the individual's testimony with regard to his intention to return to his former place of abode should be given full and fair consideration, but it is subject to the infirmity of any self-serving declaration. Id.

For District of Columbia income tax purposes, a person in government employ here does not retain his former domicile unless he has a fixed and definite intent to return to it, since without any intent one way or the other, he is domiciled here if he is here. Arbaugh v. District of Columbia (1949, 176 F. 2d 28, 85 U.S. App. D.C. 97).

Where civil service employee came to District of Columbia to live for an indefinite period of time while in government service and for no other reason and, so far as evidence showed, he had a fixed intention to return to New Hampshire, only the date being indefinite, he did not have a domicile in the District of Columbia for income tax purposes. Collier v. District of Columbia (1947, 161 F. 2d 649, 82 U.S. App. D.C. 145).

The Court in determining whether taxpayer, who was concededly domiciled in Maine until January 1, 1935, was domiciled in the District of Columbia in 1939 so as to be subject to District of Columbia income tax, would follow a ruling of the Supreme Court placing the burden on an individual quartered in the District of establishing domicile elsewhere to escape the tax, and making the question of domicile one of fixed and definite intent to return and take up his home at the place of origin. Beedy v. District of Columbia (1942, 126 F. 2d 647, 75 U.S. App. D.C. 289).

Intent of Congress

Congress must be presumed to have passed this subchapter imposing tax on income from District of Columbia "sources" in the light of the established principle that unless a different legislative intention appears, the geographical source of income from the manufacture and sale of purchase and sale of goods is in the jurisdiction where the sale is made. Eastman Kodak Co. v. District of Columbia (1943, 131 F. 2d 347, 76 U.S. App. D. C. 339).

Presumptions

The place where a man lives is properly taken to be his "domicile" until facts adduced establish the contrary. District of Columbia v. Murphy (1942, 62 S. Ct. 303, 314 U.S. 441, 86 L. Ed. 329).

Question of fact

Under subsection (a) of this section, the question of domicile is a question of fact to be settled only by a realistic and conscientious review of the many relevant indicia of where a man's home is, and according to the established modes of proof. District of Columbia v. Murphy (1942, 62 S. Ct. 303, 314 U.S. 441, 86 L. Ed. 329).

Whether a Treasury Department employee who maintained his status as a registered voter in Michigan and voted in elections and primaries there, and a chief clerk of the Personnel and Organization Division of the National Guard Bureau with offices in Washington who was born and reared in Pennsylvania and paid poll and occupational taxes and voted in Pennsylvania, were domiciled in the District of Columbia within subsection (a) of this section, presented "questions of fact" to be settled by the Board of Tax Appeals for the District, and did not call for rulings of nontaxability as a matter of law because of a decision of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. Id.

Sources of income

Where parent corporation's entire income consisted of dividends from three subsidiary corporations, all of which (1) were organized under District of Columbia law, (2) had their principal offices and businesses in District, and (3) were engaged in business therein, parent corporation received its income from "sources" within the District and was therefore subject to income and franchise taxes, and it was immaterial that some of business of subsidiaries was done elsewhere, since court was not concerned with sources of their income but only with sources of parent corporation's income. Consolidated Title Corp. v. Dist. of Columbia (1960, 275 F. 2d 885, 107 U.S. App. D.C. 221).

Corporate motion picture producer receiving percentage of money paid by District of Columbia film exhibitors to producer's wholly owned subsidiary for privilege of exhibiting producer's films in District must pay income tax on money so received by virtue of subsection (b) of this section imposing tax on income of corporation from District sources, whether relation of producer and subsidiary under contract between them was that of joint adventure, lease or employment, since in any event, the money was income derived from sources within the district. Warner Bros. Pictures v. District of Columbia (1948, 168 F. 2d 157, 83 U.S. App. D.C. 158).

A condition that credit of purchaser be approved without District of Columbia before order solicited by salesman in District be filled required "acceptance without the district" before becoming binding on seller within proviso of subsection (b) of this section excluding income from sources without the District in computing income taxes. District of Columbia v. H. D. Lee Co. (1947, 161 F. 2d 646, 82 U.S. App. D.C. 136, certiorari denied 68 S. Ct. 63, 332 U.S. 760, 92 L. Ed. 346).

Under written contract entered into by taxpayer, which was a New Jersey corporation maintaining a branch office but no warehouse or stock of merchandise in District of Columbia, with one to act as its wholesale distributor in District, the title to goods passed from taxpayer to distributor when delivery was made by taxpayer to carrier outside of the District, so that the sales made to distributor were not required to be reported as gross income from sources within the District, notwithstanding that taxpayer agreed to pay cost of transportation and reserved the right to select the carrier. Electric Storage Battery Co. v. District of Columbia (1946, 155 F. 2d 867, 81 U.S. App. D.C. 135).

Unless a different legislative intention appears, geographical "source" of income from the manufacture and sale or purchase and sale of goods is in the jurisdiction where the sale is made. Eastman Kodak Co. v. District of Columbia (1943, 131 F. 2d 347, 76 U.S. App. D.C. 339).

That from an economic point of view a large portion of income was attributable to activities which took place outside the District of Columbia was not material to the question whether the income came from "sources" within the District within this section taxing income from District of Columbia sources. Id.

Taxable income

Where taxpayer's laundry plant was located in Virginia and many of its customers were located in the District of Columbia and to some of its customers it supplied its own articles which it cleaned and laundered and picked up and delivered and such work was performed outside the District, it was not "work done and services performed" in the District within the income tax statute and the charges therefor were not apportionable or allocable to the District in calculating income taxes. Industrial Coverall Laundry Corp. v. District of Columbia (1951, 188 F. 2d 669, 88 U.S. App. D.C. 266).

Where taxpayer had a laundry plant in Virginia and many of its customers were located in the District of Columbia and to some customers, taxpayer furnished a supply of its own articles each week for a consideration with pick up and delivery service and the cleaning thereof was done in the plant in Virginia, source of income from the arrangement was the use or rental of the articles with pick up and delivery incidental thereto and in addition the cleaning and laundry, the latter being service and the income fairly attributable to the use or rental of the articles should be allocated to the District, in calculating income tax. Id.

The term "net income" means the gross income of a taxpayer less the deductions allowed by this subchapter. (July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1088, ch. 367, title II, § 3.)

REPEAL

Section repealed with respect to taxable years or portions thereof beginning on and after January 1, 1947, see note preceding § 47–1501.

§ 47–1504. Gross income and exclusions therefrom.

(a) Definition.—The words "gross income," as used in this subchapter include gains, profits, and income derived from salaries, wages, or compensation for personal services of whatever kind and in whatever form paid, including salaries, wages, and compensation paid by the United States to its officers and employees to the extent the same is not immune from taxation under the Constitution, or income derived from professions, vocations, trades, businesses, commerce, or sales or dealings in property, whether real or personal, growing out of the ownership, or use of, or interest in, such property; also from rent, royalties, interest, dividends, securities or transactions of any business carried on for gain or profit, or gains or profits, and income derived from any source whatever.

(b) Of corporations.—In the case of any corporation, gross income includes only the gross income from sources within the District of Columbia. The proper apportionment and allocation of income with respect to sources of income within and without the District may be determined by processes or formulas of general apportionment under rules and regulations prescribed by the Commissioners.

(c) Exclusions from gross income.—The following items shall not be included in gross income and shall be exempt from taxation under this subchapter:

(1) Life insurance.—Amounts received under a life insurance contract paid by reason of the death of the insured, whether in a single sum or otherwise (but if such amounts are held by the insurer under an agreement to pay interest thereon, the interest payments shall be included in gross income).

(2) Annuities, and so forth.—Amounts received other than amounts paid by reason of the death of the insured and interest payments on such amounts and other than amounts received as annuities) under a life insurance or endowment contract, but if such amounts (when added to amounts received before the taxable year under such contract) exceed the aggregate premiums or consideration paid (whether or not paid during the taxable year) then the excess shall be included in gross income. Amounts received as an annuity under an annuity or endowment contract shall be included in gross income; except that there shall be excluded from gross income the excess of the amount received in the taxable year over an amount equal to 3 per centum of the aggregate premiums or consideration paid for such annuity (whether or not paid during such year), until the aggregate amount excluded from gross income under this subchapter in respect to such annuity equals the aggregate premiums or consideration paid for such annuity. In the case of a transfer for a valuable consideration, by assignment or otherwise, of a life insurance, endowment, or annuity contract, or any interest therein, only the actual value of such consideration and the amount of the premiums and other sums subsequently paid by the transferee shall be exempt from taxation under paragraph (1) of this paragraph.

(3) Gifts, bequests, and devises.—The value of property acquired by gift, bequest, devise, or inheritance (but the income from such property shall be included in gross income).

(4) Tax-free interest.—Interest upon (A) the obligations of a State, Territory, or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia; or (B) obligations of a corporation organized under Act of Congress, if such corporation is an instrumentality of the United States; or (C) the obligations of the United States or its possessions.

(5) Compensation for injuries or sickness.—Amounts received, through accident or health insurance or under Workmen's Compensation Acts, as compensation for personal injuries or sickness, plus the amount of any damages received, whether by suit or agreement on account of such injuries or sickness.

(6) Ministers.—The rental value of a dwelling house and appurtenances thereof furnished to a minister of the gospel as part of his compensation.

(7) Income exempt under treaty.—Income of any kind to the extent required by any treaty obligation of the United States.

(8) Dividends from China trade act corporations.—In the case of a person, amounts distributed as dividends to or for his benefit by a corporation organized under the China Trade Act, 1922, if, at the time of such distribution, he is a resident of China, and the equitable right to the income of the shares of stock of the corporation is in good faith vested in him.

(9) Income of foreign governments.

(10) Payments of benefits made to or on account of a beneficiary under any of the laws relating to veterans.

(July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1088, ch. 367, title II, § 4; Mar. 2, 1940, 54 Stat. 39, ch. 37, § 4; Feb. 2, 1942, 56 Stat. 43, ch. 33, § 1 (b).)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Determination of tax

The 1939 income tax of a corporation from District of Columbia "sources" was properly determined by applying to total apportionable net income the ratio of District of Columbia sales to total sales. Eastman Kodak Co. v. District of Columbia (1943, 131 F. 2d 347, 76 U.S. App. D.C. 339).

Passage of title

In absence of contrary statutory definition, the source of income from sales for District of Columbia income tax purposes is the place at which title to the property passes. District of Columbia v. Upjohn Co. (1951, 185 F. 2d 992, 88 U.S. App. D.C. 34).

While questions of District of Columbia taxation must be determined according to District law, the question where title to goods passes for tax purposes must be determined by general rules of law where the District law provides that source of income from sales is at place at which the title passes but does not specify the place at which title passes for tax purposes. Id.

Sources within District of Columbia

Where parent corporation's entire income consisted of dividends from three subsidiary corporations, all of which (1) were organized under District of Columbia law, (2) had their principal offices and businesses in District, and (3) were engaged in business therein, parent corporation received its income from "sources" within the District and was therefore subject to income and franchise taxes, and it was immaterial that some of business of subsidiaries was done elsewhere, since court was not concerned with sources of their income but only with sources of parent corporation's income. Consolidated Title Corp. v. Dist. of Columbia (1960, 275 F. 2d 885, 107 U.S. App. D.C. 221).

Corporate income from sales of lumber bought from mill outside the District and delivered to corporation's customers outside the District was not "income from sources within the District of Columbia" within subsection (b) of this section, though the contracts of sale were executed or confirmed at the office of the corporation in the District. District of Columbia v. Johnson & Wimsatt (1947, 160 F. 2d 913, 82 U.S. App. D.C. 81, certiorari denied 68 S. Ct. 63, 332 U.S. 760, 92 L. Ed. 346).

Taxable income

Where taxpayer's laundry plant was located in Virginia and many of its customers were located in the District of Columbia and to some of its customers it supplied its own articles which it cleaned and laundered and picked up and delivered and such work was performed outside the District, it was not "work done and services performed" in the District within the income tax statute and the charges therefor were not apportionable or allocable to the District in calculating income taxes. Industrial Coverall Laundry Corp. v. District of Columbia (1951, 188 F. 2d 669, 88 U.S. App. D.C. 266).

Where taxpayer had a laundry plant in Virginia and many of its customers were located in the District of Columbia and to some customers taxpayer furnished a supply of its own articles each week for a consideration with pick up and delivery service and the cleaning thereof was done in the plant in Virginia, source of income for the arrangement was the use or rental of the articles with pick up and delivery incidental thereto and in addition the cleaning and laundry, the latter being service and the income fairly attributable to the use or rental of the articles should be allocated to the District, in calculating income tax. Id.

§ 47–1505. Deductions from gross income.

(a) Items of deduction.—In computing net income there shall be allowed as deductions:

(1) Expenses.—All the ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the taxable year in carrying on any trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for salaries or other compensation for personal services actually rendered; traveling expenses (including the entire amount expended for meals and lodging) while away from home in the pursuit of a trade or business; and rentals or other payments required to be made as a condition to the continued use or possession, for purposes of the trade or business, of property to which the taxpayer has not taken or is not taking title or in which he has no equity.

(2) Interest.—All interest paid or accrued within the taxable year on indebtedness.

(3) Taxes.—Taxes paid or accrued within the taxable year, except—

(A) income taxes;

(B) estate, inheritance, legacy, succession, and gift taxes;

(C) taxes assessed against local benefits of a kind tending to increase the value of the property assessed; but this paragraph shall not exclude the allowance as a deduction of so much of such taxes as is properly allocable to maintenance or interest charges; and

(D) taxes paid to any State or Territory on property, business, or occupation the income from which is not taxable under this subchapter;

(4) Losses in trade or business.—Losses sustained during the taxable year and not compensated for by insurance or otherwise, if incurred in trade or business, the income from which is subject to taxation under this subchapter.

(5) Losses in transactions for profit.—Losses sustained during the taxable year and not compensated for by insurance or otherwise, if incurred in any transaction entered into for profit, which profit would be subject to taxation under this subchapter, though not connected with the trade or business.

(6) Intercompany dividends.—In the case of a corporation, the amount received as dividends from a corporation which is subject to taxation under this subchapter.

(7) Bad debts.—Debts ascertained to be worthless and charged off within the taxable year or, in the discretion of the assessor, a reasonable addition to a reserve for bad debts; and when satisfied that a debt is recoverable only in part, the assessor may allow such debt, in an amount not in excess of the part charged off within the taxable year, as a deduction.

(8) Insurance premiums.—All fire, tornado, and casualty insurance premiums paid during the taxable year in connection with property held for investment or business.

(9) Depreciation.—A reasonable allowance for exhaustion, wear, and tear of property used in the trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence; and including in the case of natural resources allowances for depletion as permitted by reasonable rules and regulations which the Commissioners are hereby authorized to promulgate.

(10) Charitable contributions.—Contributions or gifts actually paid within the taxable year to or for the use of any corporation, or trust, or community fund, or foundation, maintaining activities in the District of Columbia and organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, military, or educational purposes, no part of the net income of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual: Provided, That such deductions shall be allowed only in an amount which in all of the above cases combined does not exceed 15 per centum of the taxpayer's net income as computed without the benefit of this subparagraph.

(11) Wagering losses.—Losses from wagering transactions shall be allowed only to the extent of the gains from such transactions.

(b) Allocation of deductions.—In the case of a taxpayer, other than an individual, the deductions allowed in this section shall be allowed only for and to the extent that they are connected with income arising from sources within the District and taxable under this subchapter to a nonresident taxpayer; and the proper apportionment and allocation of the deductions with respect to sources of income within and without the District shall be determined by processes or formulas of general apportionment under rules and regulations to be prescribed by the Commissioners. The so-called charitable contribution deduction allowed by subparagraph (10) of paragraph (a) of this section shall be allowed whether or not connected with income from sources within the District.

(c) Corporations to file return of total income.—A corporation shall receive the benefits of the deductions allowed to it under this subchapter only by filing or causing to be filed with the assessor a true and accurate return of its total income received from all sources, whether within or without the District. (July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1089, ch. 367, title II, § 5; Feb. 2, 1942, 56 Stat. 43, ch. 33, § 1 (c).)

AMENDMENT

1942—Subsec. (a) (5) amended by act Feb. 2, 1942, which substituted "which profit would be" for "which would be."

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1942 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act Feb. 2, 1942, applicable to the taxable year 1941, and succeeding taxable years, see section 2 of act Feb. 2, 1942, set out as a note under § 47–1502.

REPEAL

Section repealed with respect to taxable years or portions thereof beginning on and after January 1, 1947, see note preceding § 47–1501.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Basis of depreciation

If property is acquired while income tax law is in effect, cost of its acquisition is logical starting point for computing depreciation allowance, but if property is acquired prior to existence of tax law, there is no logical reason for taking cost as primary figure. Connecticut Inv. Corp. v. Pearson (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 685).

"Basis" of depreciation for income tax purposes means the starting point or primary figure. Id.

Subsection (a) (9) of this section uses "reasonable" as referring to basis for depreciation as well as rate thereof. Id.

Where taxpayer acquired property before enactment of this subchapter, basis for computing depreciation thereof for 1941 and 1942 income tax purposes was value as of January 1, 1939, rather than original cost, regardless of basis applicable under federal income tax law. Id.

Burden of proof

Burden of establishing deductibility of all profits of a closely held corporation for income tax purposes over a period of years by payment thereof in salaries to stockholders was even greater than burdens which a taxpayer undertakes in an ordinary tax case when he attacks findings of assessor and those of Board of Tax Appeals. Connecticut Ave. Cafe v. District of Columbia (1948, 169 F. 2d 304, 83 U.S. App. D.C. 272).

Conclusiveness of findings

Finding by Board of Tax Appeals that salaries paid by closely held corporation to its stockholders amounting to virtually all of the total profits during the tax years 1942, 1943, and 1944 were excessive for purpose of determining amount deductible in computing corporation's income taxes for such years was not clearly erroneous. Connecticut Ave. Cafe v. District of Columbia (1948, 169 F. 2d 304, 83 U.S. App. D.C. 272).

Construction with other laws

Provision in instruction for computation of District of Columbia income tax that it is "permissible" to compute depreciation on same basis as used in federal law, shows that subsection (a) (9) of this section was not construed as requiring that basis be the same as under 26 U. S. C. §§ 113(b), 114 [I.R.C. 1939]. Connecticut Inv. Corp. v. Pearson (D.C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 685).

Ordinary course of trade or business

The finding of the Board of Tax Appeals that houses, at and before the times of the sales, were held by petitioner primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of petitioner's "trade or business" was correct, since they were not capital assets within the meaning of the statute and proceeds therefrom were taxable as income. Riggs Development Co. v. District of Columbia (1950, 184 F. 2d 698, 87 U.S. App. D.C. 305, certiorari denied 71 S. Ct. 351, 340 U.S. 918, 95 L. Ed. 663).

§ 47–1506. Gains or losses from sale of assets.

(a) No gain or loss from the sale or exchange of a capital asset shall be recognized in the computation of net income under this subchapter. For the purposes of this subchapter, "capital assets" means property held by the taxpayer for more than two years (whether or not connected with his trade or business) but does not include stock in trade of the taxpayer or other property of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of a taxpayer if on hand at the close of the taxable year, or property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of his trade or business.

(b) Gains or losses from the sale or exchange of property other than a capital asset shall be treated in the same manner as other income or deductible losses, and the basis for computing such gain or loss shall be the cost of such property or, if acquired by some means other than purchase, the fair market value thereof at the date of acquisition. (July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1091, ch. 367, title II, § 6.)

REPEAL

Section repealed with respect to taxable years or portions thereof beginning on and after January 1, 1947, see note preceding § 47–1501.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Capital assets

Evidence sustained determination that bonds and stocks acquired by corporation at time of its organization in 1930 were capital assets and that neither gains nor losses resulting from sale in 1942 were allowable in computing income tax. Henry J. Robb, Inc. v. District of Columbia (1946, 152 F. 2d 283, 80 U.S. App. D.C. 246).

Exchange in reorganization

The Board of Tax Appeals did not consider certain phases of the case obviously for the reason that the District of Columbia statute does not levy a tax on gains from the sale or exchange of capital assets. Hence, the Board was not concerned with the taxability of the exchange in a reorganization. Seaboard Realty v. District of Columbia (1950, 184 F. 2d 269, 87 U.S. App. D.C. 258).

Questions of fact

Where taxpayer, organized for purpose of lending money on real estate, acquired realty by foreclosure, question whether profits on sales of realty were taxable under this section as income derived from capital assets or as ordinary income was one of fact. Real Estate Mortgage & Guaranty Corporation v. District of Columbia (1944, 141 F. 2d 361, 78 U.S. App. D.C. 390).

Sale of realty

Where substantially all of corporation's income for many years accrued from purchase and sale of real estate mortgage notes and from interest collected thereon, profits resulting from sale of realty acquired as result of default in payment of indebtedness represented by mortgage notes were taxable as ordinary "income". Wardman Real Estate Inv. Corp. v. District of Columbia (1946, 152 F. 2d 285, 80 U.S. App. D.C. 248).

Where corporation was in business of lending money on realty, managing and renting property, collecting rents, selling insurance, and such other matters as generally pertain to real estate business, profits from sale of realty acquired through foreclosure of mortgages were taxable as ordinary "income". Henry J. Robb, Inc. v. District of Columbia (1946, 152 F. 2d 283, 80 U.S. App. D.C. 246).

Sale or exchange

Where a sum of money was paid by the lessors to the lessee who consented to cancel a lease that had some years to run, such transaction was not a sale or exchange of capital assets and gains therefrom were taxable, since a lease that is cancelled is not transferred but terminated and termination or destruction is not a sale or exchange. United Cigar-Whalen Stores Corp. v. District of Columbia (1949, 176 F. 2d 952, 85 U.S. App. D.C. 301).

Sales of securities

The assessment by the District of Columbia of income tax on gains which taxpayers derived from sales of securities was proper where the securities had been held less than two years. Garrett v. District of Columbia (1947, 159 F. 2d 457, 81 U.S. App. D.C. 374, certiorari denied 67 S. Ct. 971, 330 U.S. 835, 91 L. Ed. 1282).

Validity of limitation period

In defining capital assets as property held by taxpayer for more than two years and providing that the sale or exchange of property other than the capital assets shall be treated in the same manner as other income or deductible losses, the purpose of Congress was to distinguish between investment and speculation and this section cannot be held invalid on the ground that the two-year limitation is unreasonable. Garrett v. District of Columbia (1947, 159 F. 2d 457, 81 U.S. App. D.C. 374, certiorari denied 67 S. Ct. 971, 330 U.S. 835, 91 L. Ed. 1282).

§ 47–1507. Exchanges.

Where property is exchanged for other property, the property received in exchange for the purpose of determining the gain or loss shall be treated as the equivalent of cash to the amount of its fair market value; but when in connection with the reorganization, merger, or consolidation of a corporation a taxpayer receives, in place of stock or securities owned by him, new stock or securities of the reorganized, merged, or consolidated corporation, no gain or loss shall be deemed to occur from the exchange until the new stock or securities are sold or realized upon and the gain or loss is definitely ascertained, until which time the new stock or securities received shall be treated as taking the place of the stock and securities exchanged; provided such reorganization, merger, or consolidation is a "reorganization" within the meaning of the term "reorganization" as defined in section 112 (g) of the Federal Revenue Act of 1936. (July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1091, ch. 367, title II, § 7.)

REPEAL

Section repealed with respect to taxable years or portions thereof beginning on and after January 1, 1947, see note preceding § 47–1501.

§ 47–1508. Deductions not allowed.

(a) General rule.—In computing net income no deductions shall be allowed in any case in respect to—

(1) personal, living, or family expenses;

(2) any amount paid out for new buildings or for permanent improvements or betterments, made to increase the value of any property or estate;

(3) any amount expended in restoring property or in making good the exhaustion thereof for which an allowance is or has been made; and

(4) premiums paid on any life insurance policy covering the life of any officer or employee or of any person financially interested in any trade or business carried on by the taxpayer when the taxpayer is directly or indirectly a beneficiary under such policy.

(b) Holders of life or terminable interest.—Amounts paid under the laws of any State, Territory, District of Columbia, possession of the United States, or foreign country as income to the holder of a life or terminable interest acquired by gift, bequest, or inheritance shall not be reduced or diminished by any deduction for shrinkage (by whatever name called) in the value of such interest due to the lapse of time, nor by any deduction allowed by this subchapter (except the deductions provided for in subsections (l) and (m) of section 23 of the Federal Revenue Act of 1936, as amended) for the purpose of computing the net income of an estate or trust but not allowed under the laws of such State, Territory, District of Columbia, possession of the United States, or foreign country for the purpose of computing the income to which such holder is entitled. (July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1091, ch. 367, title II, § 8.)

CODIFICATION

Section, in the original, read "subsections (l) and (m) of section 23 of the Federal Revenue Act of 1926 as amended." The Revenue Act of 1926 contained no section 23. The Federal Revenue Act of 1936 does contain a section 23 which contains subsections (l) and (m) and these subsections contain subject matter which is pertinent. Therefore, the words "Act of 1926" have been changed to read "Act of 1936."

REPEAL

Section repealed with respect to taxable years or portions thereof beginning on and after January 1, 1947, see note preceding § 47–1501.

§ 47–1509. Personal exemptions and credit for dependents.

(a) Credits.—There shall be allowed to individuals the following credits against net income:

(1) Personal exemption.—In the case of a single person or married person not living with husband or wife, a personal exemption of $1,000; in the case of the head of a family or a married person living with husband or life, a personal exemption of $2,500; a husband and wife living together shall receive but one personal exemption, the amount of such personal exemption shall be $2,500. If such husband and wife make separate returns the personal exemption may be taken by either or divided between them.

(2) Credit for dependents.—$400 for each person (other than husband or wife) dependent upon and receiving his chief support from the taxpayer if such dependent person is under eighteen years of age or is incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective.

(b) Change of status.—If the status of the taxpayer, insofar as it affects personal exemption or credit for dependents, changes during the taxable year, the personal exemption and credit shall be apportioned under rules and regulations prescribed by the Commissioners, in accordance with the number of months before and after such change. For the purpose of such apportionment a fractional portion of a month shall be disregarded unless it amounts to more than half a month in which case it shall be considered as a month.

(c) In return for fractional part of year.—In the case of a return made for a fractional part of a year, the personal exemption and credit for dependents shall be reduced respectively to amounts which bear the same ratio to the full credits provided as the number of months in the period for which the return is made bears to twelve months. (July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1092, ch. 367, title II, § 9.)

REPEAL

Section repealed with respect to taxable years or portions thereof beginning on and after January 1, 1947, see note preceding § 47–1501.

§ 47–1510. Accounting periods.

The net income shall be computed upon the basis of the taxpayer's annual accounting period (fiscal year or calendar year, as the case may be) in accordance with the method of accounting regularly employed in keeping the books of such taxpayer; but if no such method of accounting has been so employed, or if the method employed does not clearly reflect the income, the computation shall be made in accordance with such method as in the opinion of the assessor does clearly reflect the income. If the taxpayer's annual accounting period is other than a fiscal year as defined in section 47–1543 or if the taxpayer has no annual accounting period or does not keep books, the net income shall be computed on the basis of the calendar year. If the taxpayer makes a Federal income-tax return, his income shall be computed, for the purposes of this subchapter on the basis of the same calendar or fiscal year as in such Federal income-tax return. (July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1092, ch. 367, title II, § 10.)

REPEAL

Section repealed with respect to taxable years or portions thereof beginning on and after January 1, 1947, see note preceding § 47–1501.

§ 47–1511. Period in which items of gross income included.

The amount of all items of gross income shall be included in the gross income for the taxable year in which received by the taxpayer unless, under methods of accounting permitted under section 47–1510, any such amounts are to be properly accounted for as of a different period. In the case of the death of a taxpayer there shall be included, in computing net income for the taxable period in which falls the date of his death, amounts accrued up to the date of his death if not otherwise properly includible in respect to such period or a prior period. (July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1092, ch. 367, title II, § 11.)

REPEAL

Section repealed with respect to taxable years or portions thereof beginning on and after January 1, 1947, see note preceding § 47–1501.

§ 47–1512. Period for which deductions and credits taken.

The deductions and credits provided for in this subchapter shall be taken for the taxable year in which "paid or accrued" or "paid or incurred," dependent upon the method of accounting upon the basis of which the net income is computed unless, in order to clearly reflect the income, the deductions or credits should be taken as of a different period. In the case of the death of a taxpayer there shall be allowed as deductions and credits for the taxable period in which falls the date of his death, amounts accrued up to the date of his death if not otherwise properly allowable in respect to such period or a prior period. (July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1093, ch. 367, title II, § 12.)

REPEAL

Section repealed with respect to taxable years or portions thereof beginning on and after January 1, 1947, see note preceding § 47–1501.

§ 47–1513. Installment basis.

(a) Dealers in personal property.—Under regulations prescribed by the Commissioners, a person who regularly sells or otherwise disposes of personal property on the installment plan may return as income therefrom in any taxable year that proportion of the installment payments actually received in that year which the gross profit realized or to be realized when payment is completed bears to the total contract price.

(b) Sales of realty and casual sales of personalty.—In the case of (1) a casual sale or other casual disposition of personal property (other than property of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the taxable year) for a price exceeding $1,000, or (2) of a sale or other disposition of real property, if in either case the initial payments do not exceed 30 per centum of the selling price, the income may, under regulations prescribed by the Commissioners, be returned on the basis and in the manner above prescribed in this section. As used in this section the term "initial payments" means the payments received in cash or property other than evidences of indebtedness of the purchaser during the taxable period in which the sale or other disposition is made.

(c) Change from accrual to installment basis.—If a taxpayer entitled to the benefits of subsection (a) elects for any taxable year to report his net income on the installment basis, then in computing his income for the year of change or any subsequent year, amounts actually received during any such year on account of sales or other disposition of property made in any prior year shall not be excluded.

(d) Gain or loss upon disposition of installment obligations.—If an installment obligation is satisfied at other than its face value or distributed, transmitted, sold, or otherwise disposed of, gain or loss shall result to the extent of the difference between the basis of the obligation and (1) in the case of satisfaction at other than face value or a sale or exchange—the amount realized, or (2) in case of a distribution, transmission, or disposition otherwise than by sale or exchange—the fair market value of the obligation at the time of such distribution, transmission, or disposition. Any gain or loss so resulting shall be considered as resulting from the sale or exchange of the property in respect to which the installment obligation was received. The basis of the obligation shall be the excess of the face value of the obligation over an amount equal to the income which would be returnable were the obligation satisfied in full. This paragraph shall not apply to the transmission at death of installment obligations if there is filed with the assessor, at such time as he may by regulation prescribe, a bond in such amount and with such sureties as he may deem necessary, conditioned upon the return as income, by the person receiving any payment in such obligations, of the same proportion of such payment as would be returnable as income by the decedent if he had lived and had received such payment. (July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1093, ch. 367, title II, § 13.)

REPEAL

Section repealed with respect to taxable years or portions thereof beginning on and after January 1, 1947, see note preceding § 47–1501.

§ 47–1514. Inventories.

Whenever in the opinion of the assessor the use of inventories is necessary in order clearly to determine the income of any taxpayer, inventories shall be taken by such taxpayer upon such basis as the assessor may prescribe as conforming as nearly as may be to the best accounting practice in the trade or business and as most clearly reflecting the income. (July 26, 1939, 53 Stat. 1094, ch. 367, title II, § 14.)

Blank forms of returns for income shall be supplied by the assessor.
